Eighteen men were enrolled here and twelve satisfactorily completed the course and will receive unit certificates.

Men receiving certificates are as follows: I. J. Dobbins, R. J. Sprawls, Gene Emsley, Everett Reeves, E. S. Townsend, J. M. Latimer, R. C. Scott, Dick Thackerston, C. E. Owens, Fred Hayes, Pete Clements, S. E. Carter.

Class meetings were held at the chamber of commerce and were sponsored and brought here through the cooperation of the chamber of commerce. Mr. Frede expressed himself as well pleased with the number enrolled and the enthusiastic acceptance of the course.

Geo. Dealey, Dallas News Head, is Dead; He Was 86

DALLAS, Feb. 26. (AP)—George Bannerman Dealey, 86, chairman of the board of the A. H. Belo Corp., publishers of the Dallas Morning News, died at his home today.

Dealey, who had been with the publishing firm since 1874 when he started in as an office boy on the Galveston News at the age of 13, died at 1 p. m. He had been ill only a few hours. Members of the family said he had suffered an attack of indigestion last night.

The corporation which Dealey headed operated in addition to the Dallas Morning News, 50,000 watt radio station WFAA, radio station KGKO, and published the Texas Almanac.

British-born Dealey was one of the first employees of the corporation to be sent to north Texas with establishment of the Dallas Morning News. He was business manager at first and in 1894 became manager of all departments. In 1901, with the death of Col. A. H. Belo, Dealey was named a vice president and was named general manager. After the death of Alfred H. Belo, Jr., in 1906, Dealey became executive head of the News and was made president in 1920.

Until his death, he was active as chairman of the board of directors and, in his 71st year of service to a single publication, has set a record in journalism.

Foolish Tennessee Negroes In Serious Race Riot

COLUMBIA, Tenn., Feb. 26. — One hundred state highwaymen, backed by 400 state guardsmen, moved swiftly into the Negro district of Columbia at dawn today after a night of riotous disorders and by midnight more than three score arrests had been made.

At least 10 persons were wounded in the disturbances which developed from the shooting of four policemen, one seriously, Monday night in the Columbia section known as "Mink Slide."

The shooting followed an altercation Monday afternoon in which Sheriff J. J. Underwood said William Fleming, 28-year-old radio repairman, was pushed through a plate glass window of his shop by a Negro woman and her son.

Lynn Bomar, state safety commissioner, said that among the 65 persons under arrest were a number who were believed to have been the ringleaders. Twelve of the suspects were seized in a raid by highway patrolmen upon the home of a Negro undertaker.

These 12, Bomar said, were charged with attempting murder. He added that in their possession were found four shotguns, two .22 rifles and a revolver.

Mayor Eldridge Denman said "the situation still is grave" and that he was considering a request for a declaration of martial law.

Meat Hikes Necessarily Follow the Raising of Wages

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—The government announced today that meat prices will be increased one and one-half per cent for the average family within the next month as a result of wage increases in the meat packing industry.

At the same time, the wage stabilization board released three orders to clear the way for settlement of the wage disputes which resulted in a nationwide strike and government seizure Jan. 26 of most of the meat packing industry.

This was shown in figures released by the treasury. The report said the 1945 federal tax take on alcoholic beverages ran almost $286,500,000 higher than that for 1944, an upswing exceeding 10 per cent.

While this indicated rising consumption as well as production, it was partly attributed to greater full-year effects of increases in excise tax rates (to $9 from $8 a gallon for whiskey, gin and brandy and to $8 from $7 a barrel for beer) effected April 1, 1944.

U.S. Collected Over 2 Billion From Alcoholics

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26. (AP)—Beers, liquor and other alcoholic beverages yielded the federal government a record $2,370,000,000 last year—more than a nickel out of every dollar it collected in taxes.

This was shown in figures released by the treasury. The report said the 1945 federal tax take on alcoholic beverages ran almost $286,500,000 higher than that for 1944, an upswing exceeding 10 per cent.

FOOLISHNESS.

Speaking in general, the way for either a nation or an individual to prosper is to work steadily and intelligently in whatever field has been chosen for that purpose. It is true of organized labor as it is of individuals. The logical method is peaceful and steady pursuit of the course chosen. The steeper the pursuit is, the more prosperous is the result, whether for manual workers or office workers.

Viewed in this simple way, it cannot be said that either of these economic groups has benefitted much lately from the opportunities open and beckoning on all sides. To take a conspicuous example, the strikers in General Motors plants are reported as having recently lost more than $100,000,000 in wages. And nobody knows how much more will be lost on both sides.

Obviously it doesn't make sense, in any language or any locality or any group. Both sides of the industrial system are caught in a stiff and stubborn economic system which shuts its eyes to logic, common sense and cooperation. A group of squirrels, talking things over in a tree-top, might do better.

LOOSE MONEY.

Here is a sensible little statement about the economic situation, from Sumner Slichter, writing in Time Magazine:

"By far the most important reason for expecting prices to remain is the good sense and self-restraint of the stable people. The government has no controls adequate to keep the huge quantities of purchasing power, which people now hold, from producing an upward rush in prices, if millions of persons were to decide that they prefer to hold much less money and much greater quantities of goods."

Fortunately a large number of Americans are not naturally inclined to follow the latter course, and have been pretty well trained lately to keep their surplus money in the bank until it is needed for useful purposes.

UNTAPPED OIL RESERVES.

OCTOGENARIANS WED. LEBANON, Ore. (AP)—Life begins at 80, that is the way Mr. and Mrs. Edward Turner describe their romance. The two octogenarians were married recently in the Christian Church parsonage here. The REICH-PLAMBECK WEDDING, FEB. 17.

Miss Laverne Louise Reich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Reich, and Park P. Plambeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Plambeck of Carpenter, Wyoming, were united in marriage at Christ Lutheran church at 7:30 o'clock Sunday Feb. 17. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. T. Nauman. Charles Wende, cousin of the bride, lighted the candles. Lt. Ernest Reich and Seaman Edward Wende, cousins of the bride, served as ushers. Music for the occasion was played by Miss Dora Wende.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a formal white net gown with a sweetheart neckline and a lace trimmed finger tip veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and was attended by Miss Bertha Reich as maid of honor, who wore a pink net gown and carried a bouquet of white snapdragons. AIRY PASTRY

"One of the trade secrets in pastry making is rapid cooling and heat ing," John Lezan, French pastry chef at the Marguery Restaurant, New York City, tells Mrs. Harry Weir. "These custards are hot when I put them into the pastry shells, but the electric fan cools them in a hurry and keeps the shells from getting soggy. Cold utensils and cold ingredients help too, to make pastry short and flaky."

... it is apparent that there is a growing interest on the part of many people in land titles. Every day we have folks in the office who are interested in buying a place but seem to be more interested in the title. This is a healthy sign. They certainly are on the right track. For, after all, it's the title, not so much the location or the nature of the improvements, that determines the value of all real estate.

If a baby does not make a favorable response to food, the fault might be in the fact that his attendant might be confusing him by using too many methods of approach.

Babies are creatures of habit and they seem to prefer having life go on in the same way, day after day, rather than being subjected to change.

Feeding the infant in the same place is one means of avoiding confusion. It takes a surprisingly short time for babies to associate certain rooms, certain furniture arrangements and other specific environmental conditions with eating. If these conditions remain the same for every meal, developing the proper mental set toward food is automatically partially accomplished.

Consistency in the attitude of the mother, or other attendant, is important. Calm indifference one meal, a gushing, over-solicitous manner the next, and a cross, irritable approach the third can so confuse the child that his acceptance of food is definitely affected.

Needless to say, the mother who, regardless of her inner feelings, always presents food to her baby with a pleasant, calm and matter of fact approach, is the one who can expect consistent response and acceptance on the part of the infant.

A Message from President Truman

It is of the utmost importance that the American people understand the status and significance of our new Regular Army. It will be the duty of this volunteer Army to help protect the freedoms and maintain the peace we have won at so great a cost.

Atomic power has increased rather than decreased the necessity for our preparation, both in manpower and material. In the coming atomic age, the United States must maintain its military strength—to insure our national security and to promote world order.

Such grave responsibilities obviously cannot be met by anything less than the highest caliber of men. For this reason, I asked Congress for legislation to increase the opportunities of the soldier in the Regular Army. This legislation has been passed and signed by me, and is now in effect.

In serving his country, a man can now get good pay, education, travel and security—with family allowances for his dependents and a new 20-year retirement plan that compares with or exceeds anything in American industry. These, and the many other advantages of the new Regular Army, should be made known to all our service men and their families.

The Army has embarked upon a worldwide campaign to enlist enough men so that, in demobilizing, we shall not strip our services below the peacetime need. It is imperative that public support be given to this program. We must replace as soon as possible men who have served long and arduously, and who wish to return to civil life. We must also build an Army of volunteers adequate to all our requirements—at home and abroad—until the long-range peace terms and military policies are worked out.

I hope that every individual and group will give earnest and enthusiastic co-operation to this great effort to rebuild our Regular Army. The success of this campaign is vital to the performance of our tremendous task of securing the peace.

Harry Truman
