House Vote Sends Opa Bill to Conference for Revision

Car Driven By an Draft Boards Get Eastland Man Hit Orders to Induct Scooter; Girl Dies 25,000 in Sept.

WASHINGTON, July 16. (U.P.)— Selective service today drastically tightened draft deferment provisions and ordered the induction in September of 25,000 men, 19 through 29 years of age.

The current draft holiday ends Sept. 1.

In a telegram to state draft directors, Selective Service Chief Lewis Hershey also authorized the re-induction of veterans in the 19-29 age group who neither served in this country more than six months nor went overseas.

Farmers still will enjoy deferment under provisions of the so-called Tydings Amendment, which banned induction of men essential to agriculture.

Two other young people were with Mr. Douglas and Miss Coats, but the other scooter riders were leading the accident victims in the return to Cisco, and only learned of their trouble when they rode back towards Eastland to see why they had been delayed.

Lane, who waived examining trial, will await action of the Eastland county grand jury, which meets August 5.

College Student Admits Killing Suzanne Degnan

CHICAGO, July 16. (U.P.)— William Heirens, 17-year-old college student has admitted the premeditated slaying and dismemberment of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, the United Press learned from reliable sources today, and the states attorney announced intentions of seeking his indictment on two murder charges.

The youth has made oral admissions that he kidnaped and killed the Degnan child and that he killed two women, former Wave Frances Brown, and Mrs. Josephine Ross, a housewife.

CONFERENCE HELPED.

WASHINGTON, July 16. (U.P.)— Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., told the Senate today that world peace hinges on effective cooperation of the United Nations, outlawing the atomic bomb and a full understanding between the United States and Russia.

Vandenberg said the Paris foreign minister conference "put us closer" to the goal of a just world peace, despite occasional "roadblocks" raised by Russia.

Sellers Hit Both Rainey and Jester at Ft. Worth

FORT WORTH, July 16. (U.P.)— Grover Sellers told reporters in his race for governor Monday that developments of the past few days "have thrown all polls out of the window."

Sellers said the reaction to his meetings for men only, which is "the only place I am able to discuss the book over which my professor-opponent was fired," have been amazing.

"When voters see for themselves that the book contains words that can't be printed in decent newspapers, can't be read over the radio or shown on the screen and can't be repeated in polite society, they are ready to call that man out of the race," Sellers said.

"And they feel the same way about my holdover commissioner-opponent who now praises Franklin D. Roosevelt but was so noticeably quiet two years ago when Mr. Roosevelt was alive and running on the Democratic ticket." Without mentioning names he was attacking Dr. Homer P. Rainey and Railroad Commissioner Beauford Jester.

Sellers spoke informally at a luncheon at the Hotel Texas, attended by leaders of the Tarrant County Medical and Dental societies. He also let them read from the book, "U.S.A.," and later conferred with supporters at a reception, where he also let friends read the book.

He spoke in the afternoon at a rally at Arlington, and at night addressed two rallies for county candidates in Fort Worth.

Sellers told the Fort Worth group his friends predict he will lead the ticket on July 27.

"Mine is the platform they try to copy and my record in the party is the one they try now to emulate," he said.

Striking hard at the book from which he refuses to read in public, Sellers said "men of Texas can't believe that a man who defended such a book would offer himself for governor, and they say it is no wonder he lost his job as president of the university."

In a conference with Fort Worth newspapermen, Sellers asked where his holdover commissioner-opponent was during the Democratic party strife of 1914.

HOLE THE LINE.

The Office of Price Administration died officially June 30. Before it had been operative two weeks, everybody whose life and work were affected by it knew the nation had sustained no serious loss. Calamities that were supposed to fall upon the consumers of America did not happen. Some prices rose a little; others fell. The law of supply and demand had not been on vacation.

In the building industries, among real estate and lumber people, timid home seekers had predicted the wildest or run-away prices because of the unprecedented housing demand. Everything necessary to make prices sky-rocket was present, but the crepe hangers were disappointed. Industrial leaders went into huddles and resolved for modification, regardless of pressure from eager buyers.

Chance to Revive.

The dead bureau may be resurrected by political pressure. Indeed it might be brought suddenly to life after this paper is printed and before it is delivered to its readers, but this seems most unlikely now. The longer we live without OPA the more useless it appears. If finally it comes to life, the chief factor will be the influence of thousands of bureaucrats whose easy jobs are at stake.

Individuals who want to stay in government, whether they serve any useful purpose there or not, will try to leave no price rise unheralded for the next few months. Price advances in some branches of industry are inescapable.

For example, industries that have been operating under subsidy have been selling at FALSE quotations.

These will show increases because part of the price has been taken FROM taxes.

Look for Advances.

Even in subsidized industries, where sharp advances were expected, operators have practiced moderation in making all upward revisions. While industrial leaders "held the price line," channels of trade have been filling steadily with new production and growing supplies hold prices down. Meat is only an example. Livestock burries to market. Steaks and chops are on the menu again.

There will be exceptions! It is likely that the human race will never be free from opportunists ready to profiteer when there are no restraints and crafty enough to run black-markets when restrictions are in force. Maybe there actually was an unhappy couple in California whose sandwiches advanced in price from 15 cents to 40 cents while they were being toasted. Anyway it was a good story.

Good Citizenship.

We, the American people, are heirs of a dearly bought liberty. It is our opportunity now to prove that we are worthy to inherit it. We can do this, if the OPA stays dead, by holding prices steady. Whether we are manufacturers, marketers or consumers, we have a part to play. We can do without anyone to take the role of dicta-

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 16. (U.P.)— The administration today won its first major test on the Senate-approved OPA Renewal Bill when the House voted 211 to 64 to send the measure to a senate-house conference for revision.

Action came after administration leaders in the House voiced confidence that senate-house conferees would work out a "satisfactory" bill and avert a second presidential veto of legislation to revive OPA until next July 1.

President Truman Sunday described the Senate bill as being in "terrible shape." The bill would abolish price controls on most food items and other commodities.

Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R., O., spearheaded an unsuccessful Republican fight to defeat the move to send the bill to conference.

He sought, instead, to get immediate House consideration of the battered Senate bill.

Rep. Wright Patman, D., Tex., was named to the seven member House group on the conference committee.

Munition Combine Handed Out Xmas Expediting Gifts

WASHINGTON, July 16. (U.P.)— Washington representatives of a midwest munitions combine under senate scrutiny passed out $50 silver vanity sets and other expensive "expediting" gifts at Christmas time, the Senate War Investigating Committee was told today.

Allen E. Gellman, key executive in the 16-firm syndicate, said he never was told who received the lavish presents at Christmas time in 1942, 1943 and 1944. But he added he didn't think it was "morally wrong" if some of them went to government employees.

Earlier Chairman James Mead, D., N. Y., of the committee asserted the inquiry has disclosed "gross laxity on the part of the government in scrutinizing applicants for war contracts."

LIVESTOCK POURS IN.

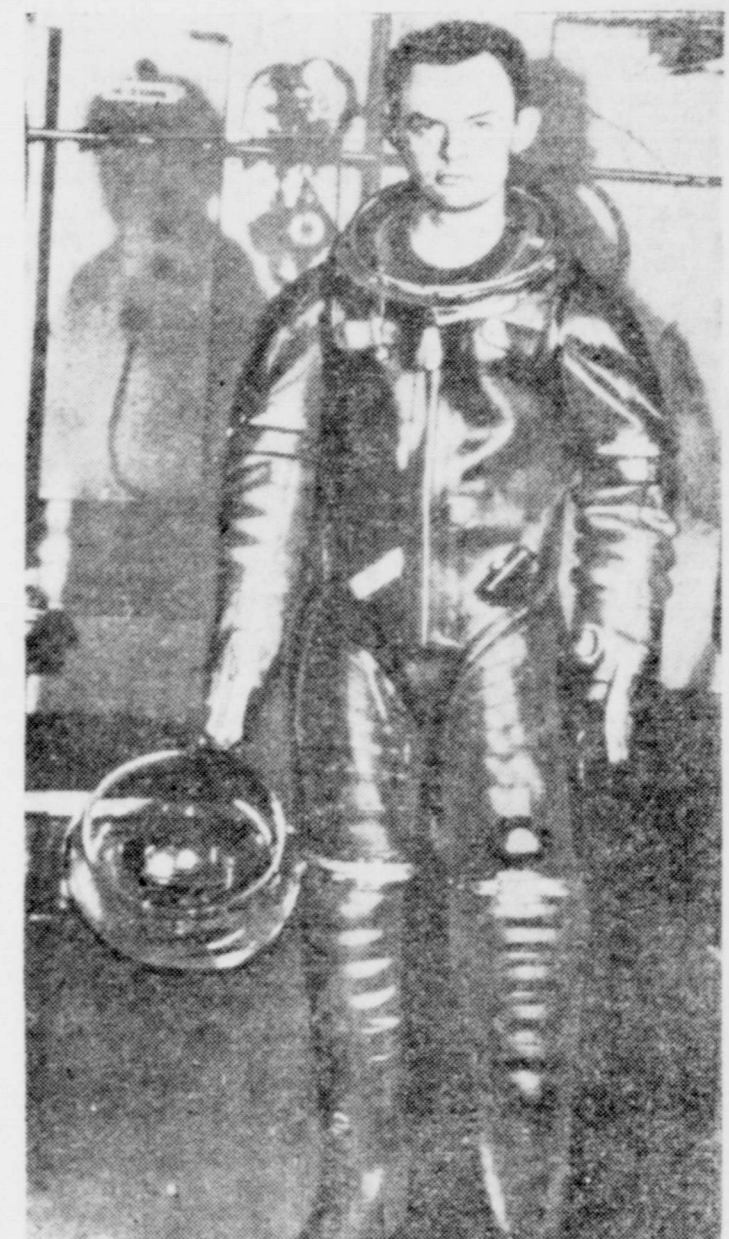

FT. WORTH, July 16. (U.P.)— Another large run of cattle, calves and sheep was reported at the Fort Worth stockyards yesterday. Receipts by 9:30 a. m. were 10,263 cattle and calves and 19,244 sheep. Major packers reported employment was expanding in their plants.

SWORD KILLED CHILD.

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, July 15. (U.P.)— A child, Hector Cortes, was killed at a bullfight Sunday when a bull shook off and sent into the grandstand a sword that a matador had just thrust into its back.

PICKETS ARE ROUGH.

CORSICANA, July 16. (U.P.)— An automobile which sought to pass through picket lines at the strike-bound Corsicana Cotton Mills was rushed by pickets and almost overturned here today. The incident occurred despite a heavy guard of Texas Rangers, state highway patrolmen and local officials stationed at the gates after the company's announcement Monday the mills would be open today for those who wished to return to work.

THAT'S NO DEEP SEA DIVER, that's an Army Air Force crew member wearing the new pressure suit that will enable airmen to live while flying as high as 62,000 feet. Both high altitude flying and deep sea diving depend on pressurized equipment. Extremely high altitudes would mean instant death without the suit.

Hazel Coats, Auto Victim, Buried at Moran Yesterday

East Cisco Baptist church and grounds were literally packed with friends, relatives and sympathizers at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon for the funeral of Miss Hazel LaVerne Coats, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris A. Coats of Cisco, who died in a Gorman hospital at 5:15 Sunday afternoon following an automobile accident Saturday night.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Evan Holmes and burial was in the cemetery at Moran, by Thomas funeral home of this city. Floral tributes at the church were numerous and beautiful.

Miss Coats was born at Gorman, October 20, 1929, but had resided in Cisco for a number of years and had many friends here among the younger set.

Palbearers, all chosen from among her close friends and school mates, were Charles Pence, Robert Coats, Billy Fred Warren, Billy Albert Barron, Donald Blackburn and Lee Kinard.

Survivors in addition to the bereaved parents include the grandmother, Mrs. Jim Nunley of Cisco; a sister Jean, two brothers Herbert Arnold and H. L. Coats and the following half brothers and sisters — Mrs. W. H. Collins, Cisco; J. R. Coats, Mrs. J. W. Rains, Los Angeles; Mrs. R. W. Watson, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. C. R. Gaske, Ranger; Doyle D. Mason, Gatesville; Marvin Mason, Sparranburg, S. C.

Maj. Walter King of Route 4 Enters US. Regular Army

Major Walter S. King, route four, Cisco, was one of 22 officers stationed at Enid Army Field, Enid, Okla., to receive a regular army commission last week.

Major King entered on active duty with the army forces in May of 1943. He served overseas in the Pacific from November of 1943 until November of 1945 as a twin-engine pilot.

King flew over 99 missions against the Japanese and holds the distinguished flying cross with oak leaf cluster, the air medal with two clusters, the purple heart, the Philippine Liberation ribbon, and Asiatic Pacific theater ribbon with seven battle stars.

Poll Exemption Ruling to Give Vote to Many

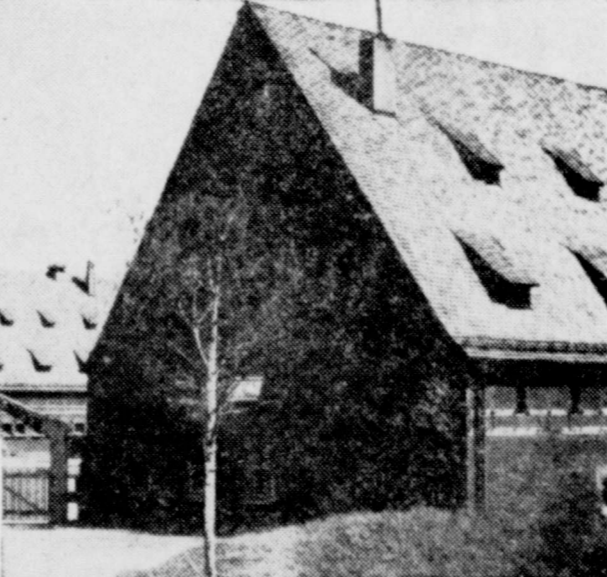

AUSTIN, July 16. (U.P.)— A law requiring citizens over the age of 60 in cities of 10,000 population or more to renew their exemption certificates annually as a prerequisite to voting was held unconstitutional in an attorney general's opinion today.

The law questioned by H. Pat Edwards, civil district attorney of Dallas who requested the opinion, was passed by the last legislature. While the attorney general's opinion does not have the weight of a court decision, such constructions of the law are usually followed by election officials or others seeking opinions in the absence of court decisions.

Competent observers estimated the effect of the opinion would be to enfranchise at least 100,000 persons over 60 who otherwise would not have been able to vote in the July primary.

JUSTICE FOR 100 YOUNG JEWS—Julius Streicher, inset, was Hitler's arch Jew-baiter. From Nazism he built a fortune and established an immense farm where he lived in luxury while the victims of his terror went to concentration camps. Today Streicher is a prisoner, on trial as a war criminal. But 100 young Jewish men and women, rescued by peace from the concentration camps, are learning to start life anew on Streicher's farm. The Joint Distribution Committee operates the farm as a training center. Helen Witkin, upper left, Chicago, field representative of the J.D.C., makes friends with a lamb that once was the property of Streicher. The farm itself, upper right, is near Nuremberg, where Streicher is held prisoner. First Passover since Hitler rose to power was celebrated with a special service at the farm. Young Jew, lower left, feeding cattle, hopes to go to Palestine and set up a farm of his own after his training at the farm is completed. Man in uniform is UNRRA representative for the area. The peaceful pastoral scene, lower right, is in sharp contrast to the turbulent days when Streicher used his farm homestead as a sounding board of hatred against the Jews.

Presbyterians and Friends to Picnic at Lake Wednesday

The Presbyterian Sunday school picnic will be held Wednesday afternoon — 5 until 8 o'clock — at Lake Cisco Presbyterian encampment grounds.

Those who can, says Mrs. P. R. Warwick, are urged to meet at the church at 4:30, where transportation will be furnished.

Swimming will be enjoyed by those who desire.

Those who cannot gather at the church at 4:30 are asked to be at the encampment grounds promptly at 6 for the picnic supper. An evening vesper service will be held before returning home, Mrs. Warwick stated.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES.

Wilbur J. Bruns in Chicago Journal of Commerce: If you are looking for up-to-date forms of entertainment for the smaller children during the summer vacation, don't pass up "This Is My Nose," "Tea Kettle" or "White Men and Indians." These are a few of the intriguing subtleties of a neatly bound book put out by the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor.

And while the little tykes improve their techniques you are privileged to ponder the more abundant life, the size of the federal payroll and how many people actually are needed to run the government.

Rep. Earl Wilson (R., Ind.) said recently that Uncle Sam's work in Washington could be done by 75 percent fewer employees. This may seem an excessive estimate but it isn't so far from the mark. Anyway, it would be interesting to know how many men and women put in how many man-hours composing, printing and distributing the book games -- and at what cost to you as a taxpayer.

The Byrd federal expenditures has called attention time and again to the fact that the old-line non-war payroll of the government has actually increased since VJ-Day. These agencies got along with 467,650 employees prior to December, 1932, but by the end of 1939, they employed 706,700 men and women. As of January this year, they employed 1,044,505 persons. The increase since the fall of Japan has been $6,822 persons.

The significant fact about the increase is that it was brought about by a transfer of men and women from liquidated emergency war agencies. Only 10,381 of the wartime emergency employes have left government for other work. The taxing public had every right to expect that the emergency payrolls would be cut immediately, but the figures show the reductions to be insignificant.

In May, the Byrd committee recommended that Congress put a ceiling on the number of federal employees. Senate and House conferees agreed on certain ceilings in the pending bill to raise the salaries of government employes by a flat 14 per cent above present compensation with provision for a minimum raise of $250 a year.

Government workers must eat wear clothes and pay rent. If other workers are entitled to salary and wage increases to cover increased living costs, these men and women are certainly entitled to the same consideration. But the new ceilings on their numbers won't effect any economy in government. The net additional cost of their pay raise, despite the ceilings, will be more than $300,000,000 a year.

Before we became accustomed to the more abundant life, all departments of government managed fairly well (or so it seemed at the time) on 363,805 workers. Including the reduction in war and navy department non-combatant personnel since VJ-Day, the total is now 2,983,670. Under the general federal employes classification act of 1922, the minimum salary of these workers was $1,400. The current minimum is $1,704. If the pay raise proposal agreed upon by Senate and House conferees is adopted, the minimum will be upped to $1,954.

By this time, the kiddies are deep in "Tea Kettle." This gives you an opportunity to practice elementary mathematics by multiplying 1,954 by 2,983,670.

It Never Makes the Headlines—

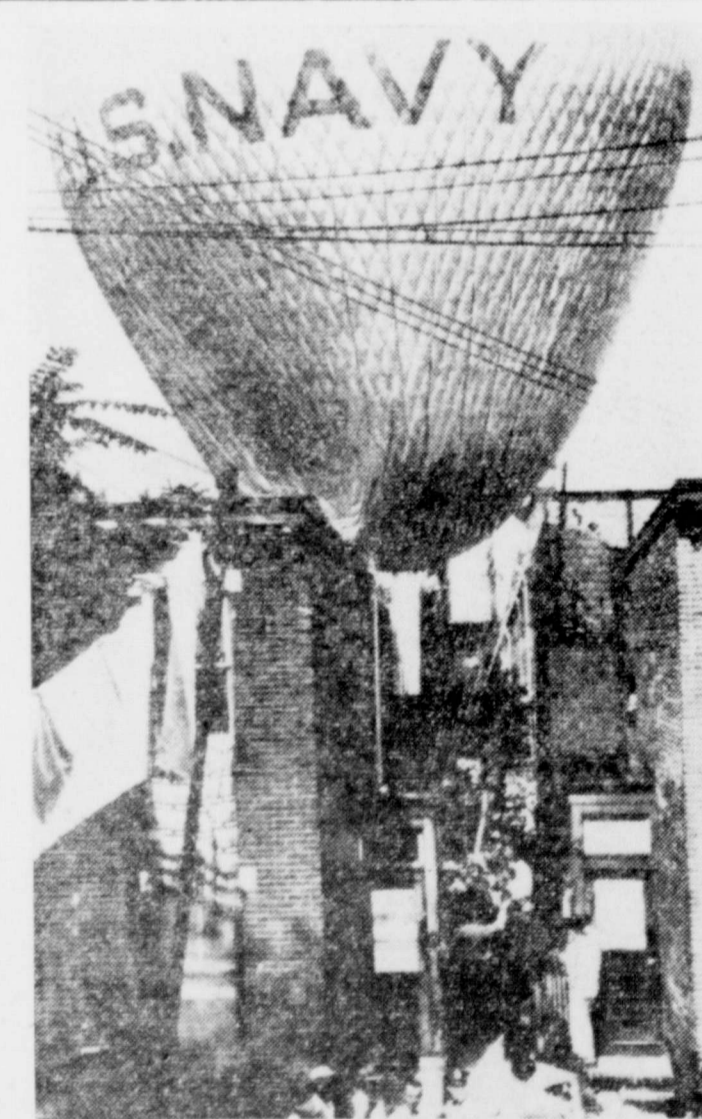

... but the rather common occurrence of a purchaser buying real estate that the seller does not own is news that editors would like to headline if they were only in the abstract business and knew about it. It may be a serious matter for the buyer when he realizes that he purchased the property hurriedly and did not wait for an abstract. Among other things, the abstract reveals the record owner, the correct location and the title defects and liens, if any.

Can The SOAP SHORTAGE Get WORSE?

IT'S REALLY SERIOUS! The worldwide shortage of fats and oils to make soaps is desperate. We've got to depend on used fats from your kitchen, Mrs. Housewife! It's the only extra source we have...

Yes, it can—unless EVERY housewife gets back to saving Used Fats!

MORE USED FATS are needed! So get back in the habit of scraping and skimming. Tell your neighbor to do the same. Every drop is needed for soap and other peacetime goods.

JAY WARREN

has opened a barber shop in room adjacent to Jake Courtney Shoe Shop (rear of Shockley grocery). Friends and former customers are asked to call and see him.

If telephone service is slower...here's why!

We're taking emergency steps to bring telephone service to people who are waiting.

We're adding more telephones to switchboards already heavily loaded—more telephones than the switchboards were ever intended to handle. This may slow up telephone service here at the busiest times of the day.

In normal times we wouldn't even consider such action. But many people are waiting for service. And new equipment is hard to get and takes considerable time to make and install. The size of the job staggers imagination. Telephone equipment is needed everywhere in large volume.

That's why it is necessary to load the present switchboards to the very limit.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

As fast as we can in the face of material shortages we're pushing our construction program. Our first goal is to serve everybody who is waiting. Then we'll restore service to prewar standards as quickly as we can. It will cost a good deal. This year we plan to spend 47 million dollars in the five states we serve.

Sometimes you may not hear "Number, please?" promptly

With switchboards here heavily loaded, the operator may not always be able to answer your signal as promptly as she and you would like. This may be true especially during the busy calling hours, in midmorning and early evening.

If you do not hear the operator's "Number, please?" for a few seconds after you lift your receiver, we hope you'll understand why. She will answer just as soon as she can.
