Clayton Tells UNRA US. Through Furnishing Relief

Mayor Lee Asks Citizens to Aid in Mosquito Fight

Confronted with a problem of dealing with the worst mosquito menace in years, officials of the city of Cisco today urged citizens of the community to assist them in counter-measures to rid the city of the insects.

It was believed that the increase in the pests is due to the operation of home cooling systems and owners of these coolers were asked to check the run-off from them to be sure that no accumulation of water is caused in which the mosquitoes can breed. Sometimes, it was pointed out, water from the coolers may run under the house and cause standing pools for the larvae to hatch in. Residents were asked to check for possible conditions of this kind and deal with them immediately.

Suggestions were invited from citizens as to possible sources of mosquito breeding. An inspector will be sent to the spot immediately, Mayor Edward Lee said.

"We are doing everything possible to cope with the condition," he said. The city has continued, and is continuing, to oil all storm sewers and other places where waste water accumulates, but this has not prevented large numbers of the insects from appearing. Since this increase has coincided with the peak season for cooling system use, it is suspected that accumulation of little pools in flower beds, under houses and in the lawns from run-off of these systems is responsible for the condition.

STATEWIDE PEOPLE'S CONFERENCE IS PLANNED BY JESTER AFTER THE AUGUST 24 RUNOFF

DALLAS, Aug. 7. — Beauford Jester revealed Tuesday night that he plans to convoke a "people's production conference" shortly after the runoff election Aug. 24.

"I shall ask representative citizens from every section of the state to meet with me so that we may advise together on plans for keeping our factory wheels humming and bringing about the establishment of more factories; to give employment to our people; to develop our resources; to build a sounder economic structure in Texas."

In a radio broadcast, the candidate for governor said he would "insist" that representatives of management and labor attend, although the conference attendance would not be restricted to them.

All Will Be Heard. Jester planned, he said, to invite ranchers, farmers, professional men, merchants "and men who work with their hands," so that he could "get the answers the people have and lay down a plan of action approved by the people."

As sample questions he would present to this meeting, Jester offered:

How can we increase industrial and commercial production in Texas?

How can we avoid the conflict between labor and management that so often clogs the wheels of our industrial machine and slows down our economic progress?

How can irresponsible labor leadership be made responsible? How can unenlightened management be brought to face the facts of industrial life as they exist today?

Jester asserted the meeting would not be a labor-baiting conference or a down-with-management conclave. "It will be a conference of the people to lay plans for the sound economic development of Texas."

No New Taxes. As governor, Jester said, "I pledge that I will use the full weight of my office to keep this great opportunity (for industrialization) from being ruined by either bad labor leadership or bad management."

The most important plank in his platform, the Railroad Commissioner said, was that specifying that no new taxes would be necessary to carry out his program.

He reported the "stupendous sum" of $35,000,000 lay to the credit of the general fund and of that amount $25,000,000 was pure surplus, awaiting appropriation by the legislature.

Jester made a thinly veiled reference to his opponent, Dr. Homer P. Rainey, whose sustained argument with the board of regents of the University of Texas resulted in Rainey's dismissal as president.

Jester said he wanted to raise teachers' salaries and build up the state's educational system and said, "In addition, I wish to state that I bitterly oppose making the University of Texas, or any other state-supported institution, a political football."

Plans for School Cash. Jester said he believed lump sum appropriation should be made for state colleges "so that the administrators of those colleges can pay faculty members what they are worth. This will keep us from losing so many of these capable professors and teachers to colleges outside the state which offer more money."

He also suggested a central school fund sufficient to "make funds available to independent school districts when local conditions forbid the maintenance of ample school district funds." He said many schools are not properly supported and "have to scrape around for teachers and adequate schoolhouses and equipment."

Jester promised to work for a home-building program, adding "We are not going to run to Washington for help. We will do this with Texas capital, Texas labor and Texas materials."

The people, he said, must unite against extreme political pressures from the right and left, one which would crush labor and the other which would subjugate management and destroy free enterprise.

Jester also repeated previous stands for a veterans commission to obtain homes, "their just dues," and to protect their rights; for states' rights; Democratic party unity, full pension payments, assistance to the farmers, and a separate university for Negroes.

By United Press.

GENEVA, Switzerland, Aug. 7. — Undersecretary of State William Clayton told the final conference of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration today that the United States was through contributing to UNRRA and that the nations of Europe must begin looking toward the restoration of world trade instead of relief.

Clayton's speech followed that of Fiorello H. LaGuardia, who, in a two-hour funeral oration over UNRRA, accused the Russians of contracting to sell 15,000 tons of sorely-needed Austrian oil to Czechoslovakian firms.

LaGuardia, who is UNRRA director-general said that was a violation of UNRRA agreements that goods and supplies produced within a country shall be used to benefit the economy of that country.

Man Who Killed Idiot Son Goes to Jail for Life

BOSTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—John F. Noxon Jr.'s death sentence for murdering his defective infant son was commuted to life imprisonment today by Gov. Maurice J. Tobin with the approval of the executive council.

The wealthy 49-year-old Pittsfield lawyer was to have died this month in the electric chair — the same form of death he improvised for his six-month-old idiot son, Lawrence.

VOLUNTARY FILINGS.

Big 4 to Hear 5 Ex-Enemy States at Saturday Meet

PARIS, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—The peace conference rules committee tonight invited Italy, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Finland to present to the full conference Saturday their pleas for changes in the draft treaties prepared for them by the Big Four foreign ministers.

The personal hearing for the five ex-enemy states was adopted on the proposal of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, with a Russian amendment providing that conference committees might also hear the satellite delegates if desired.

Proceeding with almost painful politeness and unanimity after surviving last night a major crisis on voting procedure, the rules committee adopted a series of proposals and then ran into another argument.

Chairman Paul-Henri Spaak moved that United Nations Assembly procedure apply in all cases not specifically covered by special conference rules.

Russia and Norway at once objected and Byrnes and Great Britain supported Spaak. The argument was ended shortly afterwards when, on Russia's proposal, it was agreed that principles and precedents of UN rules, if not UN rules themselves, should apply.

SHUGAR ARRESTED AGAIN.

OTTAWA, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—Dr. David Shugar, 39, former government official who once was cleared of charges of espionage was arrested again today on a new charge that he conspired to furnish secret information to agents of the Soviet government.

DENY TAYLOR CHARGES.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—The Association of American Railroads again has accused Sen. Glen H. Taylor, D. Ind., of "inaccuracy" and again denied that former railroad men in army uniforms overcharged the government for wartime freight shipments.

BLUE UNIFORMS FOR ARMY.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. (U.P.)—The Army said today it plans to authorize soldiers from privates to generals to wear a smart new blue dress uniform. Meanwhile, the Navy gave its officers until Oct. 15, 1948, to wear out their gray summer uniforms.

Baptist Minister Raps U. S. For Using the A-Bomb

AUSTIN, Aug. 7. — Use of the atomic bomb against the Japanese was condemned Tuesday by an Austin minister.

Dr. Blake Smith, pastor of the University Baptist church, said on a commercially sponsored radio program that the United States had lost the confidence of many nations when they used the atom bomb against human beings.

Smith, who succeeded Dr. Homer P. Rainey as the speaker on the weekday program, "Religion in Life," contended the war was nearly over and that it was inhumane to use the atom bomb on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

"When the United States, without warning, used those bombs against human beings they destroyed the confidence many nations had in the United States and injured our leadership in the pursuit of peace for the world," Dr. Smith asserted.

The minister contended Japan was on the verge of quitting the war when the atomic bombs were dropped on the two cities.

Japan surrendered eight days after the dropping of the second bomb and official statements from Japanese were that they could not fight against such weapons.

Dr. Smith used part of his broadcast period explaining that the program did not lean toward Communism. He said he had received numerous letters, inquiring whether the program tended to be Communist.

He explained the program was conceived and paid for by a religious man, J. C. Jacques, machine manufacturer, as a means of getting the religious word to the people.

Communism has no place in a religious program, Smith said.

Lions Challenge Rotarians For Water Polo Duel

Cisco Lions met at Laguna hotel today for luncheon, but the usual program was omitted. Most of the discussion had to do with arrangements for the rapidly approaching Homecoming of August 11-13.

Lions Ralph Glenn and John Webb were appointed to represent the club in the Water Polo event, to be held Monday afternoon at 6, on E avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets.

The Lions took time to issue a challenge to the Rotary club to name two men to meet Glenn and Webb in a water polo duel.

The club also unanimously appointed their club sweetheart, Miss Barbara Grist, to represent the Lions in the Homecoming Bathing Beauty Revue.

Blanton received a big majority of votes in Shackelford county in the primary.

HENRY FORD.

A classic example of the success story so typical of the generations preceding the present crop of youngsters is the career of Henry Ford. The words which describe his story have become old-fashioned in their connotation: simplicity, fragility, perseverance, self-reliance.

All these qualities and tendencies could have been ascribed to many men of Ford's generation, but to them he added mechanical and inventive genius. This ability has been given to others whose achievements have been a mere flash in the pan, because they were not backed up by homely, old-fashioned virtues.

His 53rd birthday finds him retired from active management of his 40-year-old industry, but still in good health and optimistic about the future of the world. Unlike many older men, Ford has faith in the young people of today. He urges them to dedicate themselves to "clear and long-range thinking and planning, and above all to work hard." Not bad advice for anyone, old or young.

LIVING NOTABLES.

The author of "Sweet Adeline" is still living. Richard G. Husch, who wrote the song under the name of Richard H. Gerard, has just proved his existence by resigning, on reaching the age of 70, his position in the New York City post office.

"Sweet Adeline" has been a part of American life so long that it is hard to realize that it is so recent. Similarly a great many people were surprised to learn lately that Robert W. Service, whose songs of the frozen north thousands know by heart, is still living.

How many other notables are still in our midst without our knowing it?

It Pays to Be on the Safe Side . . . by having your title abstracted at regular intervals. All those familiar with titles know that title neglect is the landowner's worst enemy. Like keeping physically fit, or making regular visits to the dentist, the title, too, needs constant attention. By having the title regularly abstracted, the abstracter in most cases can build a strong and perfect chain. Don't wait until you get ready to sell or get a loan, but be on the safe side — have your title abstracted somewhat in advance of an anticipated need.
