IN EUROPE.

Leaving New York at eleven o'clock A. M. I flew to London in just 20 hours. A flight to London shows how the world is growing smaller. Our relations with other countries are becoming much more intricate as the globe shrinks, and our great need is better understanding which will bring wisdom.

For 20 years I have had a great personal interest in studying the secret of national prosperity, which of course is the sum of each individual's prosperity within the nation. This interest was first awakened when in 1925 I observed the poverty of China for the first time.

More Than Resources.
Countries having equal resources are not always equally prosperous. That is an axiom most of our people accept readily. They have come to know, sometimes subconsciously, that our democracy is mixed of more, and perhaps finer, ingredients than statistical reports of national resources will show.

Surely, what makes one nation happy, peaceful, wealthy, need not make another nation troublesome and ripe for revolution from within. Truly, there are many ingredients in the recipe for national well-being.

Like Good Deeds.
Today when the popular catchword, even internationally, is "security," we know that one of the most valued ingredients is prosperity. If people everywhere could understand and achieve the conditions necessary for prosperity, every home-neighbor and every world-neighbor would benefit. This is like a good deed that pays off for everybody.

Currently, the writer is concluding a stay of eight weeks in Europe, the full benefit of which, the readers of this column will have opportunity to share. On the itinerary are England, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, the Netherlands, Belgium, Switzerland, and France.

What Is the Secret?
The objective is to study political, economic, social, and religious conditions in each country, with a hope of arriving at definite and significant conclusions regarding the secret of individual and national prosperity.

If we can be sure why it is that American wage earners and farmers can purchase with their earnings two times as much food, clothing, shelter, and transportation as the workers on any other continent can purchase with their wages, we shall then understand the factors we must preserve as vital to all of us in our period of reconstruction.

Beginning next week, this column will survey postwar England, and will then proceed with some significant observations of continental nations.

OPA Rollback May Ruin Many Small Restaurants, Said

AUSTIN, Sept. 17. (AP)—An OPA rollback on restaurant prices to the level of April 4-10, 1943, is a "death sentence" for thousands of small restaurants, Patrick J. Morland, executive vice president of the State Restaurant Association of Texas, said here today.

Mrs. J. G. Stuteville Died Sunday Afternoon at 3

Mrs. J. G. Stuteville died very suddenly at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at her home in the Dan Horn community. She had not been ill and her passing was a distinct shock to family and friends.

Born July 4, 1896, in Eastland county, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Speegle and had been married twice.

Her first husband was Alvin Hawkins King, who died in 1928. In July, 1932, she married Mr. Stuteville, who survives her. She had been a member of the Methodist church since childhood and had always resided in the county.

Funeral was held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the Scranton Methodist church, with burial in Scranton cemetery. The officiating ministers were Rev. H. J. Sanders and Rev. M. L. Agnew. Thomas funeral home was in charge of the burial. Despite the rainy weather there was a large attendance at the last rites and the floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

Survivors in addition to the husband are as follows: Four sons and a stepson—Maj. Walter S. King, army air field, Enid, Okla.; Herbert Lee King, Brownfield, Tex.; Mahlon V. Stuteville, Elkhart, Tex.; Alvin Hawkins King and John Stuteville, at home. There are also four brothers and three sisters—A. G. Speegle, Goshen, Calif.; Raymond Speegle, Putnam, Tex.; M. D. and J. W. Speegle, Cisco; Mrs. W. A. Laster, Colorado City, Tex.; Mrs. P. C. King, Goshen, Calif.; Mrs. J. W. Blackburn, Odessa, Tex.; and one grandson.

PRESIDING BISHOP.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 17. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Shirill, bishop of Massachusetts, was elected today as the new presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church in the U. S. A. He succeeds the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker of Richmond, Va., who has held the office since 1937 and will retire on age December 31.

CAN'T MARRY GERMANS.

FRANKFURT, Ger., Sept. 17.—Americans in the U. S. army's European theater were given permission today to marry Hungarians, Bulgarians and Romanians—but they still may not marry Germans.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—Acting Sec. of State William L. Clayton said today that he assumed all future foreign policy speeches by Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace would be cleared with the state department before delivery.

Wallace announced yesterday that he would continue to discuss U. S. foreign policy in future addresses. The statement climaxed the controversy over his ease-upon-Russia speech last Thursday, which President Truman first apparently endorsed and then subsequently disavowed.

Clayton said his statement covered any future speech on foreign policy by Wallace. Wallace's next speech is scheduled here next Monday night.

If the speech does not conform to U. S. foreign policy, there is nothing the state department could do to prevent its delivery. In Wallace goes through with his plan to oppose state department foreign policy, a campaign year explosion which would rock the administration seemed likely.

Poland Delegate Attacks Byrnes' Stuttgart Speech

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 17. (AP)—Delegate Oscar Lange of Poland today attacked before the United Nations Security Council Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' declaration that Poland's western frontier with Germany have not been fixed finally.

Lange's attack did not mention Byrnes by name, but he left no doubt as to his target. His statement was made in the course of supporting the Ukraine case against Greece and was the first reaction by an official Polish spokesman here to Byrnes' Stuttgart speech.

Sen. Pepper Joins Whitney in Rebuke of the President

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Sept. 17. (AP)—Sen. Claude Pepper, D., Fla., today endorsed the stand of Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace on American foreign policy, and he joined President A. F. Whitney of the Brotherhood of Railway trainmen in a stinging rebuke of President Truman's handling of labor.

Chester Bowles Lost Nomination for Governor Bid

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 17. (AP)—Chester Bowles, former OPA director, failed in his bid today to obtain the Democratic nomination for governor.

The party's convention nominated Lieut. Gov. Wilbert Snow, 62-year-old Wesleyan college professor, on the first ballot.

STOP MEAT EXPORT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17. (AP)—The agriculture department today halted all allocations of meat for export.

NEW AUTO STRIKE.

DETROIT, Sept. 17. (AP)—Briggs Manufacturing company announced today that a strike of 1,800 workers at its outer drive plant had forced a layoff of 15,500 other Briggs workers and shut down assembly lines of two auto producers. Nearly 30,000 auto workers were idle in the Detroit area.

Jaycees to Sell Season Football Tickets: 4 Games

Cisco Jaycees met in regular session last night. President Charlie Burke presided and appointed several new committees.

Season football tickets were distributed to the Jaycees, who have charge of the sale of tickets to the four games to be played on the home grounds this year.

The north bleachers have been divided into two sections—A and B—and the seats have been numbered. The tickets being sold are in book form, with four tickets, and purchasers of a book will have a reserved seat and may occupy the same seat at each game played in Cisco.

Pete Nance, president of the Cisco school board, was introduced by President Burke as guest speaker. Mr. Nance stated that the new bleachers to be erected at Chesley Field are under construction, but that completion would be delayed because of the difficulty of securing lumber. Mr. Nance also stated that under present conditions football fans must necessarily purchase a book of reserved seat tickets from one of the Jaycees in order to have a seat in the north bleachers. The speaker also gave a brief explanation of the new plans for reorganizing Cisco County club, and asked that the Jaycees help as much as possible on that subject.

During the session of the Quarterback club, which will be held at each Jaycee meeting during the football season, Coach Harold Fischer explained the changes in rules, and then answered questions regarding certain plays and penalties at the Cisco-Cleburne game Friday night.

Later a moving picture was shown of the A&M-Texas University game of last year. This proved one of the best features of the program and plans have been made to show a picture of some southwest conference game at each meeting.

At a meeting of board of directors, it was voted that the Jaycees sponsor the Cub Scout troop that is now being organized in Cisco.

ARCH BINT IS BETTER.

Arch Bint, county commissioner, who is ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Roy Farley, on Fifth street, is a very sick man, but word from his physician this afternoon was to the effect that he is rallying nicely and that there is every reason to believe he is on the road to recovery. Mr. Bint's many friends will be glad to hear this.

Once a Ciscoan Always a Ciscoan, Says House

On the sixth floor of the Laguna Hotel, Boyce House, author of several "best sellers," is writing a book.

He arrived here Monday afternoon and will spend five or six days in Cisco because he finds the atmosphere suitable to his undertaking. Since quite a bit of the book will deal with happenings and personalities here, House is piecing out his own recollections by talking to a number of "old timers."

House, incidentally, undertook the book at the suggestion of his long-time friend, E. A. Butler, manager of the Cisco chamber of commerce, who succeeded House, many years ago, as editor of the old Eastland Daily Oil Belt News.

Two weeks ago, relaxing here after a strong but unsuccessful race for lieutenant governor, House was talking to Butler about the old days in Eastland county during and after the real oil rush and Butler said, "You ought to put all that in a book."

So the book has been started and House is making steady progress. The manuscript is being written in the same way that Mark Twain, Dickens and other old-time authors did their writing: in pen-and-ink. After having written untold millions of words on a typewriter as a newspaperman, House finds that writing with pen-and-ink, being slower, is the better way to compose, because its very slowness gives one time to choose the most effective words and also allows new ideas to arise in the mind.

House edited the old Cisco Daily News here for several months in 1924 and then had headquarters here as West Texas correspondent for the Fort Worth Record. Previous books of his include "Were You in Ranger?" "Oil Boom" and three volumes of humor, "I Give You Texas," "Tall Talk from Texas" and "Texas—Proud and Loud." This trio has sold nearly a quarter of a million copies. "Cowtown Columnist" will be off the press soon.

On his radio program last Sunday, House gave a little publicity to Cisco. The program, heard at 12:45 each Sunday noon, has an audience estimated at several hundred thousands.

"Cisco (where I used to edit the paper and where my friend A. B. O'Flaherty is now editor and publisher) has always been noted for its enterprise," House said on the air. "It is said that if a passenger jumps off the T. & P. train in Cisco, grabs a ham, sandwich and jumps back on the train, then—10 years later—is elected to congress in California or gets hit by a truck in Seattle, the Cisco paper writes him up as 'a former Ciscoan!'"

DISTILLER DIES.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 17.—Richard Eugene Wathen, 60, member of one of Kentucky's leading families of distillers, died last night at a hospital here. His great-grandfather began making whiskey in Kentucky in 1788.

LONDON "SQUATTERS"—Mrs. C. J. Mullins feeds her son, Christopher, center, and daughter, Maureen, right, in the apartment in which they refuse to be evicted. Mr. Mullins, a veteran, and his dependents are one of more than 40 families who took possession of swank apartments there.

OBSTETRICIAN—Dr. Milo P. Rindge, 74, sits with three of his "babies" whom he delivered. The doctor who has delivered over 2,000 babies in Connecticut was honored by the townspeople of Madison. Dr. Mila Rindge, right, follows the profession of her father.

DUTCH HARVEST.

When the dykes of Holland were broken and salt water swept over the fertile land during the Canadian campaign to rid the country of German forces, the future of the farmlands looked barren. Americans remember that it seemed one of the unavoidable tragedies of the war, that rich areas of that small country should be made unproductive by salt soaking into the soil.

Today, one year after the once-beautiful island of Walcheren was a desolate scene of water, gray and mud shattered houses. Dutch farmers are back there, ready to harvest flourishing crops.

The people knew it might take five years to redeem the land, but they started the job last fall. They rebuilt the dykes, where the sea had been washing through three big gaps. They cleaned up the sad-looking island with its mud and dead trees, repaired the farmhouses with used lumber, and began to tend their fields. Heavy rains last spring were in their favor. The salt was washed down into the earth, leaving the shallow surface soil clean for planting. Sun and care did the rest to bring up good crops of wheat, vegetables and flowers.

As usual, the Dutch have shown that they can take care of themselves, and they certainly are more than deserving of the help from the weather gods this year.

ZERO DATE IN EGYPT.

First is not always first, at least not in records of ancient Egypt. There history is divided into periods according to the various royal houses which governed the country in turn. The pyramids were built by rulers of the third and fourth dynasties, and the historical record has been traced back to Menes, unifier of Egypt and founder of the first dynasty.

That things happened in Egypt before the first dynasty, of B. C. 3200, has long been known to historians. Now excavations reveal pottery bearing the symbol of King Ka, otherwise unknown. So primitive is the pottery that it must be earlier than the first dynasty, and Ka is perhaps the earliest recorded king in history.

To place Ka in the accepted historical framework, his reigning house is called "Zero Dynasty." If later discoveries unearth still earlier periods, historians will have to start a Below Zero series.

WOMAN'S RESTRAINT.

How many people, having written a best-seller, would refrain from trying their luck once more? After all, their name would sell a fair number of copies even if they wrote nothing more than a laundry list.

Yet Margaret Mitchell, author of "Gone With The Wind," has steadily refused to write another book. She has even declined to tell the curious whether Rhett Butler ever came back to Scarlett O'Hara.

Should not her self-restraint bring some sort of medal?

OTHER EDITORS

Confusion, Disaster, Dallas News: Sometimes it looks as if America were reconverting into a sort of Tower of Babel.

Take the front page of a recent issue of The News as a page out of the record of our manifest confusion.

Starting in at Column 1, we read that the people of Mission, Texas, are proposing to move into a United States Army camp and occupy its house as a squatter invasion, on the model of the British Communists who are taking over private property in London.

Next we find that in the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church 44 votes (out of a total of 110 votes) seemed to favor a liberalization of the marriage and divorce canons of the church so as to permit recognition of the remarriage of the guilty party in divorce proceedings on grounds of adultery.

In Column 2 we find that the soldiers of the Army of Occupation are maintaining such a black market in Germany that the Army has had to take the most drastic action to stop it.

Again, in the same column, we find a great CIO union meeting in Milwaukee denouncing Jimmy Byrnes, Tom Connally and Arthur Vandenberg for not favoring Russia sufficiently in their peace-conference representation of the United States.

Column 4 records the split in the Cabinet of the United States over the Wallace attack upon Byrnes while Byrnes is abroad fighting for world peace without Russian domination.

Columns 5 and 6 tell how OPA gives advance warning of a 20-per-cent rise in the price of sugar Wednesday, Sept. 18, and says nobody must hold sugar for the bigger price, but everybody must sell what he has at the old price (leaving you to guess where the sugar can come from which will get the increase, of course).

Columns 7 and 8 tell how Uncle Sam settles one strike (AFL) by raising wages without raising the wage formula and gets another strike (CIO) to raise some more wages without raising the wage formula, while CIO-UAW says that if anybody gets more wages without raising the wage formula, then CIO-UAW contracts recently signed aren't very good, anyhow, and CIO-UAW wants another helping of gravy, too.

With the Arabs, the Jews and the Russians raising hob hither and yon, this is a lovely world we are having this morning, and the Devil take the hindmost.

The Devil is doing right well at it, too.

ROADS.

ALWAYS a road is going Somewhere, somewhere— Into a town, a city, A country fair;

Down by a lake, a river, A wayside church— Never just miles of pine, Never just miles of birch.

There was a road I journeyed Long ago with you.

A road where sweetest blossoms And silence grew, And though we walked from sunrise Till tonight's purple air, I never remember its turning, Leading anywhere.

Always a road is going Somewhere, somehow Into a town, a city, A hilltop's busy brow; Into a lighted valley, Stopping suddenly— Never just miles of silence, Never just you and I.

— Daniel Whitehead Hicky, in the New York Times.

MORE TO COME—This little fellow is having his first hair cut and does a little pouting during operation. He and his playmates are orphans at the Divine Providence Temporary Shelter for children in New York City.

NEIGHBORS—Leading Wagnerian soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Co., Helen Traubel, chats with her neighbor, Victor Mature, during vacation at Laguna Beach, California. Miss Traubel will tour the U. S. this fall and winter.

THE FISHERMAN — During his recent cruise in Bermuda waters, President Truman puts aside domestic and foreign problems and gets down to the serious job of fishing. This series of pictures shows the President connecting with a good one.

... is the popular way of saying that we act before we think. It is a state of mind not confined to the ignorant, nor to the mentally ill, but to all classes of people, some at times, others at all times. For instance, we buy property without an abstract. We spend several thousand dollars for improvements. Along comes a buyer who thinks before he acts and offers to purchase but wants an abstract first. How about your title, Mr. Seller?
