Rev. Otis Strickland New Pastor of First Baptists

Rev. Otis Strickland, pastor of the Baptist church at Crowell, Tex., for the past three years, has accepted a call to the pastorate of Cisco First Baptist church and will preach his first sermon as pastor here on November 3.

The minister is a native of Fort Worth, is married and has two children — Carlisle, age 7, and Charles, age 5. He started out in life with the intention of becoming a professional base ball player and played with Ft. Worth teams until he was about 22 years of age, when he decided to study for the ministry. He is a graduate of Howard Payne College and also attended Southwestern Theological seminary.

Mrs. Strickland, a daughter of Rev. Paul Bell, missionary in the Panama Canal Zone, is also a graduate of Howard Payne College. At present Mr. Strickland is holding a revival at Hamburg, Ark.

DEMOCRACY and COMMUNISM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. (AP)—Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., warned tonight that peace cannot be found on a one-way street and called on Russia to "fully reciprocate" this country's efforts to allay mutual fear, suspicion and distrust.

He said the United States is doing "everything consistent with her honor, her security and her ideals" to bring about a "live-and-let-live" spirit between Communism and Democracy, on which he asserted true peace depends.

"But the Soviet Union must fully reciprocate in kind," he said. "They are far from doing so today."

It was his first formal statement since he returned this week from the 79-day Paris peace conference with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Without mentioning names, the Michigan senator uttered several barbed remarks about "missionaries of confusion" at home, whose attacks on U. S. foreign policy muddle the peace negotiations.

Vandenberg also said that Russia and the United States are both "in the United Nations to prevent war — I hear much more war talk over here than I did in Paris."

U. S. policy toward Russia is a policy of peace, not war, and will succeed "unless it is scuttled here at home." It is a policy of "friendly firmness" instead of "get tough."

To prevent misunderstanding, he must be "wholly frank with Russia — say what we mean and mean what we say."

Strike Talk Holds Little Terror for Auto Makers Now

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. — Enthusiasm of CIO auto workers for leading off with demands for new round of wage increases, starting this time with Chrysler, will be tempered by fact that strike threats hold little terror for automobile industry just now.

Industry leaders claim they are in stage of "profitless production." Furthermore that shortages of sheet metal, lead and many other basic materials will make steady operation increasingly difficult for rest of 1946. They might welcome strikes as opportunity for closing plants a month or so, meanwhile trying to build up stocks of scarce materials and planning improved models — letting unions take onus for closings.

Additional reason why Murray and other labor leaders aren't eager for new wave of strikes is that this time they can't expect President Truman to give them administration support by advocating wage increases as he did in 1945, since Mr. Truman now is determined to stop government interference with collective bargaining. And probable large Republican gains in congress, interpreted as rebuke to labor political action, almost certainly would mean quick passage of union - responsibility legislation, opposed by labor leaders, if new Congress meets in atmosphere of big strikes and industrial warfare.

By United Press

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 19. — Approximately 75 of 3,000 war veterans who marched on the state capitol in a demand for housing, took over the state senate chamber today and voted to "stay until Governor Thomas E. Dewey calls a special session of the state legislature."

Regular capitol guards stationed at gates closing off the upper floors of the big grey stone capitol, were unable to prevent the marchers filtering through to the senate chamber.

State police were called, but by that time some 75 veterans had occupied the chamber and had organized themselves into a "committee of action."

The capitol gates were locked as more than 2,000 other veterans and sympathizers clamored outside while the committee was deciding whether to "sit it out" in the senate chamber.

The veterans, all members of the American veterans committee, arrived from New York City on two special trains shortly before noon. They were joined by other marchers from upstate communities.

Commodity Markets Crack; Living Costs Drop

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19. — Commodity markets have cracked. It means cost of living is starting down, should show marked decline soon.

Situation has government economists confused. They didn't expect it, don't know what to say or do.

Meat, chickens, butter, eggs, corn products, wheat products will follow stock market downward. So will clothing, cotton goods.

Don't count on cost of living reaching pre-war scale. It will level off on new plateau, below wartime peak. Wages are higher, taxes are higher, will prevent return to prices of the 30's.

Wall St. Hints Exchanges May Remain Closed

NEW YORK, Oct. 19. (AP)—Cotton exchanges were closed by their management across the country today in the wake of the wildest break in cotton prices in years and the threat of federal and congressional investigations into alleged market manipulations.

The board of managers of the New York cotton exchange ordered suspension of the short Saturday session just before its scheduled opening at 10 a. m. The managements of the Chicago, New Orleans, Dallas, Houston, Tex., and smaller exchanges quickly followed suit.

All specified that the markets would reopen Monday with varying qualifications — the New York managers said "unless circumstances intervene."

But Wall Street and other financial communities speculated on the possibility that they wouldn't reopen then.

The Department of Agriculture announced it intended investigating three days of wild trading in cotton futures ending Friday night, in which prices were beaten down $10 a bale each day, the daily maximum permitted, for a total loss of $30 a bale.

Consumer Resistance to End Present Price Boom

FT. WORTH, Oct. 19. — "Consumer resistance" will end today's unhealthy price boom within the next year, but an economic depression will not necessarily result, the president of one of the world's largest insurance companies declared here today.

"I don't look for anything like a depression, but we'll be in a readjustment period within a year's time," said Carroll Shanks, 48-year-old president of Prudential Insurance Co. of America.

Increasing consumer resistance to goods selling at inflated prices already is hastening the "leveling off" period, he observed.

Praising Texas and the Southwest as "the potentially richest industrial area in the United States," the executive today announced plans of the company to return to Texas after an absence of 39 years.

He said the company will invest additional millions in mortgage loans and bonds in the state. The company's present Texas investments exceed $40,000,000.

HELPING OUT—Dr. Wilson Compton, president of Washington State College, Pullman, Wash., gets on the business end of his wife's vacuum cleaner as he helps students ready housing units for veteran students and their families.

Eastland Co. Vocational Schools For GI Students

Eastland county has four government - operated vocational schools at which former GIs may secure training in commercial shops of various kinds.

Two of these shops are located in Eastland, one at Ranger and the other at Gorman. H. R. Garrett, formerly an instructor in the Cisco schools, is one of four instructors stationed in Eastland. Mr. Garrett still maintains his home in Cisco.

The Eastland shops are Freeman's Wood Shop, in which building trades students receive instructions; Wade Massingale's plumbing and tinshop, where those two trades may be learned. At Gorman Jack Bennett's students study radio repairs and refrigeration. At Ranger Odis L. Hill teaches welding and general machine repairs.

The Vocational School has purchased materials for each shop for instructional work and practice, and trainees may thus receive various kinds of instruction to qualify them to engage in almost any sort of work in line with the trade they choose. For instance, training in cooking, meat cutting and painting are among the courses offered.

Additional equipment recently installed was obtained from the State Board of Vocational Education and the War Assets Administration.

Any veteran who may be interested, said Mr. Garrett Saturday, is invited to contact the Eastland office at once.

MR. CLUCK IN WACO.

R. N. Cluck, superintendent of Cisco schools, left Saturday for Waco, where he will attend a meeting of public school administrators. The meeting will be held at the Roosevelt hotel, Sunday and Monday. Proposed school legislation will be discussed and analyzed, and considerable time will be devoted to study of the situation that has developed through the shortage of science teachers. More than 100 science departments in the public schools of Texas have been closed because of the lack of teachers, Mr. Cluck stated.

WEATHERFORD LOST.

MINERAL WELLS, Oct. 19. — The Mineral Wells Mountaineers won their first District 9 AA game here Friday night by trouncing the Weatherford Kangaroos, 30-0.

50 PILOTS TO BE ADDED.

DALLAS, Oct. 19. — A 25 percent expansion in pilot personnel by Jan. 1 has been announced by Braniff Airways. R. V. Carleton, chief pilot, said 50 new flying officers will be added. The expansion is required because of extended service into Latin America.

Cisco USO Quota is $600; Lions Will Head Drive

With a quota of but $600 for Cisco, the Lions club is sponsoring what will very likely be the last call for funds by the USO, said E. L. Jackson, chairman of the Lions USO committee. On the committee with Mr. Jackson are J. D. Lauderdale and Standlee McCracken. The campaign will open Tuesday.

Continuing, Chairman Jackson said: USO has three major obligations to meet in 1947.

1. To serve veterans of the war who will not yet have been released from hospitals or military service by the end of 1947.

2. To provide interim activities for the peacetime Armed Forces until some permanent plan for morale services for the enlarged Army and Navy has been completed.

3. To accomplish its own orderly demobilization at such a tempo that it does not add to the general confusion, but remains a steadying influence during the transition to permanent peace.

To achieve these objectives, the goal of $19,000,000 will finance the following operations next year: USO clubs near camps and hospitals in the United States; station lounges and Travelers Aid services; USO clubs overseas; and USO-Camp Shows in hospitals.

AFL Bans CIO-Delivered Beer to New York Cafes

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 19.—Restaurants, hotels and cafes of the district Saturday faced the threat of an AFL-enforced food embargo if they continued to sell beer delivered by CIO-brewerymen.

The threat was contained in an ultimatum issued Friday over the signature of Albert Dietrich, president of the AFL-teamsters joint Council No. 40.

Dietrich said any "retail outlet" handling CIO-delivered beer would not receive deliveries or service from AFL-teamsters. Such deliveries include milk, food, luxuries and even the collection of garbage.

VASSAR'S FIRST WOMAN PRESIDENT—Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, right, receives the college charter and seal from Mrs. Morris Hadley, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, at ceremony in campus chapel in Poughkeepsie, N.Y., where Miss Gibson became Vassar's first woman president.

INFREQUENT APPEARANCE—Earl Baldwin, 79-year-old former British Prime Minister, walks with the aid of a cane as he attends ceremony awarding honorary degree to Gen. Eisenhower at Cambridge.

BURIED TREASURE—Billy Sullivan, left, and Edward Tiggert examine the "buried treasure" they uncovered while working on a construction job in Mobile, Ala. Coins, dated in early 1800's, have actual value of about $150, but collectors' price is much higher.

LAND OF FEAR.

If the story told in "I Chase Freedom," by Victor Kravchenko, is true — and it is told with circumstantial detail which sounds like truth — then, indeed, Russia behind the iron curtain is in a bad way. It is the account of the life of a young engineer managing one factory after another under the USSR. He finally rose to a place on one of the purchasing commissions for lend-lease and was sent to this country in 1945. He remained at this work long enough to learn his way about, and then fulfilled a long-held dream of resigning and staying in America. He was one of the few higher-ups able to get out from under the net of spies, secret police and sadistic cruelty which the Soviet regime imposes on all its workers.

People who have read Russian history and know about conditions under the Czars are apt to think almost any regime of modern times must be better than the poverty and cruelties endured so long. They knew the Revolution of 1917 was intended to improve conditions and they believe it has done so. They approve the Constitution of 1935 without realizing that it has never been put into practice.

But according to Kravchenko, the revolutionaries who wanted the better things for Russia have mostly been killed or imprisoned in the various purges. The group now in power lives in an atmosphere of fear and hate. It is by the network of espionage, this NKVD which succeeded the old GPU and which works exactly as Hitler's Gestapo worked, that the present regime keeps going. The story is at once so incredibly horrible and so quietly factual that the reader is left wondering: If this be true, how long must it endure? No dictatorship of such a nature can hold out many years. It has in itself too many seeds of disruption. But it can make a lot of trouble for a decent world while it lasts.

PLEA SHOULD FAIL.

"She is not the only guilty one. Why pick on her?" Thus the officer defending the former WAC captain convicted of stealing the Hesse jewels pleaded for mercy for his client. This type of plea is often heard in court, usually in behalf of defendants for whom nothing else can be said. It amounts to this: Unless all violators are brought into court, no one should be punished. This plea is, of course, unsound. But arguments of this sort too often influence American justice.

A cheering note comes from a traveler who reports that in a large southwestern hotel the bellboys are beginning to look for the owners of bags in the lobby. Not long ago the bag-owners had to look for the bellboys.

Music of the Church.

In recent weeks we have learned that VOCAL music is clearly authorized in the Bible for use in the New Testament church. Mechanical music is not authorized. But some say, "It does not say to not use instruments." No, neither does it say to NOT use ice cream in the Lord's Supper! Why not use it? Oh, but it DOES tell us what to use in the Lord's Supper, i. e. BREAD and THE FRUIT OF THE VINE, so that excludes using any other element. That is right. Likewise it tells us the kind of music to offer to God—VOCAL (Singing, Eph. 5:19). That excludes all kinds of music not mentioned! If not, why not?
God told NOAH to build an ark of Gopher wood. Ha! He just told him to build an ark, and had not designated the wood, Noah could have used his own judgment. But since God told Noah the kind to use, to have used some other kind would have been DIS-OBEDIENCE.
God tells us to SING (I Cor. 14:15). To say sing and PLAY is to disobey God. If He had just said, "Make music," we could have used our own judgment as to the kind, but the moment He said SING, all music except VOCAL Music is excluded.
To change God's worship is to cast a reflection on His ability to reveal to us what He wanted!
