LANE OF UNIONS.

In Stockholm this summer I had a delightful visit with Mr. Gunnar Anderson, vice president of the Swedish Federation of Trade Unions. Mr. Anderson is a well informed, intelligent man, who recognizes clearly the problems of both management and labor as well as the rights and responsibilities of each. He answered questions I put to him in a forthright manner, giving statistics and figures from memory. Labor unions in Sweden have been operating for more than 50 years. The printers' union claims an age of 100 years. These craft organizations are much older than our own unions. The federation is composed of 46 separate unions representing trades or divisions of trades. Membership totals 1,106,000, a most amazing number in view of the total Swedish population of only 6,000,000. The Socialist Democratic party, strongest among the ranks of labor, is also the controlling party in the government. No closed shop. Yet, despite the preponderance of labor's voice in the affairs of Sweden, Mr. Anderson told me that labor FEARS THE CLOSED SHOP. Said he: "Our federation opposes the closed shop. We oppose it on the ground of individual freedom. We believe any citizen should have freedom to join a union or not to join a union and to work where he wishes. This plan has worked well in Sweden. Most of the workers recognize the value of the union and do join the union, but they are not compelled to do so." Labor-management relations are excellent throughout most of Swedish industry. One reason for this is the constant effort put forth by the Federation to improve understanding between employers and employees. Many special committees made up of both management and labor are continually at work for better understanding. Most of the employers, according to Mr. Anderson, try to be fair with workers and pay as high wages as they can. As compared with our American economy, however, the wages are not as high as in this country. Outside Influence. Disagreements and strikes are not common in Sweden. It is a land of little labor trouble. But when the need arises, "negotiation" committees attempt to reach an agreement, but if that fails the parties involved resort to "conciliation." Mr. Anderson stated that conciliation is preferred to arbitration because it keeps the responsibilities of the parties involved. However, an important strike affecting 100,000 metal workers raged five months last year. "The strike was really unfortunate," said Mr. Anderson. "The strikers did not gain more than one-third of a cent per hour more than they were offered before the strike. Of course, that amount will never repay what they lost in wages during the strike, the cost of which was 45 million kroner. I advised against the strike from the beginning." Later I was told that the strike actually was caused by Communist influence in the metal workers union. Which Do You Prefer? The nationalization issue has been discussed extensively in Sweden. However, there is no intention on the part of labor to ask for nationalization, chiefly because private enterprise is, as Mr. Anderson pointed out, "doing all right." Labor has no reason to think it would fare better under nationalization, and it was Mr. Anderson's view that even the status of labor unions would be questionable under complete nationalization. Growing thoughtful, Mr. Anderson continued: "Private corporations and government managed corporations could not be expected

By United Press. LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 17. Possible Soviet rejection of the United States atomic control plan was averted in the United Nations atomic energy commission today when the American representative withdrew his demand for an immediate showdown vote. The threat of a far-reaching split over atomic control between Russia and the western countries developed when Andrei Gromyko of Russia announced that "unanimous agreement" would be impossible now if the United States insisted on an immediate showdown vote on the American control plan. Bernard M. Baruch, 76-year-old chief American delegate on the 12-nation body, then agreed to wait until another commission meeting on Friday "in the hope that by granting the Soviet delegates' request we will achieve unanimity." Baruch had asked for action now on his proposal that the substance of the American plan for international atomic development and control be adopted as "the sense" of the atomic body in its forthcoming report to the UN Security Council.

US. Farmers Produced the Biggest Crops in History

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (UP)—The agriculture department said today that farmers produced their biggest crops in history this year, topping even the previous record output in 1942. In its final 1946 report, the department said record yields of corn and wheat, coupled with record or near-record harvests of many other crops, resulted in the largest production in history.

Jr. College Registrar Emphasizes Value of Football

R. F. Webb, registrar of Cisco Junior College, was guest speaker at the Junior chamber of commerce meeting last night, held in the basement of First Methodist church. Webb's topic was "The Athletic Program of Cisco Junior College, the Part It Can Play in Making the College Grow." Plans for this year included football, but it was impossible to obtain equipment, it was stated. Basketball is being conducted, but the boys have only a half court to practice on, and can not play in Cisco for want of a gym. Plans of the Lions club to furnish a tennis court have not materialized. Mr. Webb asked the Jaycees to help arouse public interest in athletics at the college, especially when so many fine athletes are available, as was shown by the Cisco-Breckenridge exes game, and said the school board was negotiating with a coach, now on the staff at Rice Institute. The Jaycees unanimously approved a plan for a banquet for thirty or more prospective Junior college football players from Cisco, Eastland, Ranger and Breckenridge, names to be furnished by Mr. Webb. Tentative plans include guest speakers, Jimmie Park and his staff from Kilgore Junior college and special guests, Dub King of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, sports editors from Brownwood and Abilene, and the coach for Cisco Junior College, yet to be named. In appreciation of the fine community spirit shown by the ex-Lobos, the club appropriated sufficient funds to buy the meal for the entire squad following the game with Breckenridge Friday night. O. C. Leveridge presented his Cub Scouts in Indian dances and skits. He also presented ten mother pins to Mrs. Simon Coplin, Mrs. Bill Mitcham, Mrs. Joe Tullios and Mrs. Bobbie Deen.

TWO-EPIISODE COMEDY.

The public is asked not to forget the comedy, "Suppressed Desires," to be presented at high school auditorium tonight at 7:30. The two-episode play under the direction of Miss Jeanne Waid will be interesting and admission will be free. The cast includes Hope Starr, Clara Faye McElreath and Martin Cleveland. Rocky Clough is the student director. The play will be presented by Cisco Junior College Speech club.

Battle of Foot Balls Exes Here Friday Night, 8

The big, fast teams of Buckaroo and Cisco football Exes put on as good a show of football as has been seen in these parts last Saturday night at Breckenridge, the Buckaroo grads winning by a score of 13 to 6 in the last half. Both teams battled to a scoreless tie in the first half with the Cisco team, smartly coached and playing a hard, fast game, grinding to the eight-yard line for the most serious threat of the period. In the third period the Buckaroos scored on a breath-taking pass play to take the lead. The Lobos, taking advantage of a pass interference penalty in the end zone which gave them the ball on the one-yard line, plunged through the beefy Buckaroo line for their count in the fourth, but the Buckies on another impossible pass play, cinched the victory a short while later. The two teams were evenly matched, which presages a real battle when they collide at Chesley Field Friday night at 8 o'clock in the second game of the series. Both played clean, fast, hard football. The Cisco team, tutored by Cisco's high school mentor, Harold Fischer, showed remarkable form for the short time the boys had worked out. Fourteen of the twenty on the Lobo squad will be members of the Cisco Junior College team which starts spring training next March or April. Cisco fans supported the game well with their attendance at Breckenridge. Since the two clubs demonstrated their ability to play bang-up football, a larger crowd is expected at the Cisco game. Cisco's share of the proceeds will be given to the Lobo band. The Ex-Buckaroos operate from a T-formation and the Ex-Lobos from a single wing.

Students, Vets Negro Denied Admission to Texas U. Law School

CANYON, Tex., Dec. 17. (UP)—A student strike which had closed West Texas State College since Saturday was called off today, but there was some doubt whether the school would be reopened until after the Christmas holidays. Announcement of the ending of the strike in protest against the policies of the school's business manager, Virgil Henson, was made shortly after noon by Frank Barrett, president of the student senate, and the seven-man executive committee of the West Texas State College Veterans' Association. Barrett and the veterans group had called the strike last Friday in protest against Henson and most of the school's 1,241 students joined in the demonstrations that caused the regents to close the school Saturday. Since the regents ordered the school closed indefinitely, it will take regent action to reopen it. CROOK IS FRIGHTENED. NEW YORK, Dec. 17. (UP)—The alleged gambling plot to fix last Sunday's national football league championship game took a new and dramatic turn today. A member of the New York police department says a threat has been made on the life of Alvin Paris, the man who admittedly tried to bribe the two members of the New York Giants football team. DRILLER DECAPITATED. RANGELY, Colo., Dec. 17. (UP)—O. Johnson of Vernal, Utah, employed as a driller in the Rangely oil field, was decapitated when he became entangled in the cable of a drilling rig Johnson, about 38, was adjusting the cable. HOPE AROUSED. OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 17. (UP)—Hope that a missing marine transport plane with 32 aboard had been located was aroused today when state forest patrol headquarters reported sighting a signal fire on the slopes of Mt. Rainier where the plane was believed to have gone down in a storm last week. NON-OPERATIVES HIRED. WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (UP)—The non-operating employees of 14 short-line railroads got welcome news today. An emergency board recommended that the workers be given an 18 1/2 cent hourly wage boost. Sixteen cents of that would be retroactive to the first of the year. WASTE IS ASTOUNDING. WASHINGTON, Dec. 17. (UP)—The House Merchant Marine committee charged today that it recently cost Uncle Sam two and a half million dollars to get rid of $39,000,000 worth of shipbuilding materials.

NAPLES BLACK MARKET—American cigarettes are sold side by side with vegetables and fruit on the streets of Naples' notorious black market. A seemingly unending supply of cigarettes, for which Italians pay as much as eight cents each, is a headache to police, both Italian and Allied.

DUCKY WEATHER—Soaring mercury that registered an unseasonable 3 degrees in New York City brought Agnes McCue, left, and Helen Decyk to Central Park to feed the ducks. The lalmy weather, which offered slim promise that Christmas would be white, brought the highest temperature for a New York December.
