November Living House Told That Costs Reached Reds Are Fomenting An All-time High in Revolution

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. — The government's cost-of-living index hit a new all-time high in mid-November, topping the previous peak set in June, 1920, by 1.5 per cent.

Spiraling food prices were mainly responsible for the new record. The Bureau of Labor statistics said its November index stood at 151.7 compared with the prewar 1935-39 average of 100. This was 2.2 per cent higher than mid-October.

The BLS index is based on the expenses of moderate income families in large cities.

BLS said the index jumped 17.3 per cent in the 12 months ending Nov. 15. During that period food items climbed 34 per cent, clothing 13.4 per cent and housefurnishings 14.6 per cent. The index rose 18.8 per cent between June and November.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities today received from its general counsel a report charging that American Communists seek to gain political control of the United States and are bent on fomenting a "revolution" through a general strike. The report was prepared by Ernie Adamson.

Geologists to Try to Perfect Way For Finding Oil

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Dec. 26. Geologists at Pennsylvania State College are turning the calendar back 450 million years in a search for new gas and oil reserves in the Keystone state.

Under a $50,000 grant by the state legislature, the college's school of mineral industries is studying the prehistoric formation of rocks in order to perfect methods of locating new reserves and recovering known supplies of oil.

Oil and gas were formed millions of years ago by the burial of plant and animal life at the bottom of the seas which at one time spread over the Appalachian region and tend to collect in unroofed or domed areas of that ancient sea floor.

The subterranean rock layers of western Pennsylvania and New York rise to the surface along the flanks of the Adirondacks and again in great folds in central Pennsylvania. In addition deep wells have been drilled along Lake Ontario and near the Pennsylvania-Ohio line.

Armed with knowledge of the surface, geologists study the possible oil bearing character of rock in the laboratory. Aerial photographs, data recorded by airborne magnetometers and surface geological studies locate domes in the sedimentary rocks.

Once this information has been assembled the geologists hope to be able to say where oil and gas reserves are likely to be found and then leave it to the oil man's drill.

FIREWORKS TRAGEDY.

FT. WORTH, Dec. 26. — Marvin D. Padgett Jr., 16, of Handley, a Polytechnic high school football player, today was expected to recover but may lose the sight of one or both eyes as the result of a fireworks explosion at 5900 E. Lancaster Wednesday night.

STAMFORD GETS FIELD.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. — Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, R., Mich., charged today that Eastern "international monied interests" and a "few Republicans in official positions" are trying to grab control of congress. He warned that this might adversely affect GOP presidential chances in 1948.

Hoffman, in a lengthy statement on the fight over the House Republican leadership, in effect told all GOP presidential hopefuls to mind their own business and to let Congress alone.

He did not identify the eastern financial interests but he did single out Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York as one of those jockeying to get a favored candidate named GOP floor leader in the House.

"Neither Congress as a whole nor its individual members has any time for political scheming, jockeying for position in the presidential race of 1948," Hoffman said.

"Let the politicians keep their hands off Congress."

Reed Gives Advice.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP) — Sen. Clyde M. Reed, Minnesota Republican said today that he has urged Sen. Wallace H. White, R., Me., to declare himself out of the three-way race for the commerce committee chairmanship in the new Congress.

White is scheduled to be elected Republican floor leader at a GOP party conference next Monday. In a letter to him, Reed said:

"If there is any one place, in my opinion, that requires the full mental and physical energy of the Senator holding it, it is the majority lead."

Houston Seems to Have Edge for Negro University

AUSTIN, Dec. 26. — Houston seems to have the edge on being selected as a site for the proposed university for Negroes that will give professional advanced courses, not now available at Prairie View University.

First step will likely be the opening of the law school for Negroes there. While the exact site in Houston has not been announced for this school, it is expected that there soon will be an announcement of an offer of buildings as well as the law school.

Waco, also, has decided to put in a bid for the Negro university and Austin still contends that if a constitutionally authorized Negro branch of the University of Texas is established it must be in Austin.

GAS PLANT STRIKERS.

JERSEY CITY, Dec. 26. (AP) — Gas pressure for heating millions of homes in Northern New Jersey may be reduced at 6 p. m. today despite threats of a cold wave if a two-day strike of gas plant employees is not settled by that time, a public service commission spokesman announced.

University State Librarian Wants His Appropriation Doubled

AUSTIN, Dec. 26. — University of Texas officials remembering the mountainous task of registering a record bulging enrollment of 17,000 students this fall, have hit upon a better plan for registering students for the spring semester.

Signing for courses in a pre-registration period by mail has been begun. Registration Supervisor H. A. Calkins said students had been mailed preliminary cards to be filled out, and appointments with faculty advisers had been arranged.

Eliminating long hours of standing line the mail plan will have accounted for all students when the regular registration period rolls around just before the beginning of a semester except new students. If successful, the plan will be continued for spring and fall semesters indefinitely, Prof. Calkins said.

INVITE HELP.

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (AP) — Dr. David M. DeLo, chief of the scientific manpower branch of the war departments division of scientific research and development, said today that the army has "taken the lid of secrecy off" most fundamental scientific research to encourage increased effort by civilian scientists.

AUSTIN, Dec. 26. — The Texas State Library needs a minimum of $100,000 a year to perform the duties assigned to it, State Librarian Francis H. Henshaw says in the first report issued since he took the post of librarian.

Present appropriation is $48,454. Based on the same per capita rate appropriation as that in Louisiana for library purposes, the Texas State Library would get $513,186 a year. If the per capita were the same as in New Mexico and Arkansas, the Texas library could count on $192,444 a year. If the Oklahoma rate prevailed, the library income would be $128,296.

Henshaw's report contains some photographs illustrating how state archives now must be kept, and how employees have to be gymnasts to get at the documents. One photograph titled "Operation Mop-Up" shows the porter at work where heavy rain and poor drainage has flooded library space.

TOWARD LABOR PEACE.

The city of Philadelphia has embarked on an effort to prove that labor peace, like charity, begins at home. With the theory that each locality has its own labor problems, which can and should be solved locally, an effort is being made in that city which is expected to prevent labor disputes from developing into strikes.

Edgar L. Warren, director of the United States Conciliation Service, announces the organization of an assembly consisting of ten representatives of management and ten union leaders, with the addition of two lawyers for each group. Monthly meetings will be held where disputes will be threshed out, and unscheduled meetings will be called when the need arises. A similar plan has worked successfully in Toledo, and if Philadelphia can make it work, the idea will be tried out in other industrial centers.

Small group of reasonable men, working toward amicable relations in industry, sounds more effective for the mutual good of labor and management than most other plans.

SLANDERING PRESIDENTS.

Slandering presidents and their families is an old American custom. "Legends That Libel Lincoln," a new book by Montgomery S. Lewis, records that hostility to the Civil War President took the cowardly form of attack on his wife. Because her brother-in-law, Ben Helm, was a Confederate general, she was charged with being a Southern spy.

Finally a secret meeting of the Senatorial Committee on the Conduct of the War was held to look into the charge. Suddenly without warning President Lincoln was announced. Speaking slowly, with infinite sorrow in his voice, he said:

"I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, appear of my own volition before this Committee of the Senate to say that I, of my own knowledge, know that it is untrue that any of my family hold treasonable communication with the enemy."

Then he went silently away. So greatly affected were the Committee that they adjourned, and nothing further was ever heard of the charge.

Scandal-mongers have been in the world ever since its beginning. The part of wisdom is to give them no credence.

Striking Doesn't Pay.

Dallas News: Most grown Americans will agree that on the average, something for nothing is not a paying proposition.

Sooner or later, it turns out that a workman who expects to be paid for work not performed is going to be disappointed.

Free money is usually expensive. We all know that, but we all forget it sometimes.

The union miners and John L. Lewis have forgotten it.

The United States has figured it out that the striking miners lost an average of $850 in wages in three strikes they have staged within fourteen months.

As a result of those three strikes they got a pay raise of 18 1/2c an hour. Eighteen and one-half cents will go into $850 a little over 4,378 times.

In other words, if a union miner should work 4,378 hours at the new and higher wage, the total increase would be about $850, thus wiping out his loss by the strike in fourteen months.

Four thousand, three hundred and seventy-eight hours would make 488 days' work of 9 hours each, or 97 weeks of 5 days each—pretty nearly 2 years.

In other words, if a miner works on a pay scale that Lewis won for him in the strike last spring, and keeps on working at it steadily, it will be some time in 1948 before he makes good the loss the three strikes have cost him.

But that is not all. The present hourly wage won't buy what the original hourly wage bought when the strikes began. The real wages of the miner are less than he started with.

So when 1948 is done, the miner would still be worse off than when he started, unless prices take a nose-dive.

You see, the union leaders argue that everybody can work less and have more. Some people are wise enough to see that such a thing simply cannot be arithmetic.

It simply can't be common sense. Some know that at a glance.

Others follow the advice of the Reuthers and Lewises—and learn the hard way.

Don't Be Sorry — Be Safe... is good, sound advice well worth taking especially in those cases where heavy risks are involved. One of these risks is buying real estate without an abstract. Most buyers in these modern days don't take risks — they get an abstract. And if the seller is about to convince you that his title is good and you don't need an abstract, better play safe. The abstract, among other things, reveals the condition of the title and is always worth far more than it costs. Earl Bender & Co., Abstractors, Eastland Since 1923 Texas.
