Truman Declares World War Hostilities at End

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31—President Truman today officially proclaimed the end of world war II hostilities and cleared the way for a slash in excise taxes on liquor, furs, jewelry and other items estimated to save the taxpayers $1-250,000,000 yearly.

The tax cut will be effective July 1.

The president's action immediately cancelled 20 wartime statutes.

Most important of these was one giving the government power to seize strike-threatened mines and factories.

Thirty-three other wartime laws will expire automatically at later dates unless extended by congress.

These include the 1943 increases in 24 excise taxes. These will return to previous levels next July 1 unless congress changes the situation.

The treasury said this would mean a tax cut of $1,250,000,000 a year on the basis of present consumer spending.

Not affected are sugar rationing and rent controls.

Most important immediate effect of today's proclamation was to end the government's specific power to seize strike-threatened plants, mines or other essential productive activities.

Mines or plants already seized may be held until June 30. This means that in six months the government must give up control of the soft coal mines seized last May.

Mr. Truman specified that today's proclamation did not end the state of emergency declared by the late President Roosevelt in 1939 and 1941.

Nor did it end the state of war itself.

Only congress can declare the formal end of them.

Portal to Portal Suits Total Billion and a Half

By United Press.

The year ended with the nation's unions seeking more than one and a half billions in suits against employers for retroactive portal-to-portal pay.

Suits filed in federal courts across the country totaled $186,244,500, bringing the year's total to $1,696,000,000.

The day's biggest suit was filed at Cleveland by the CIO United Steel Workers against Youngstown Sheet and Tube, asking back portal pay totaling $30,000,000.

Another filed in Cleveland on behalf of wartime employees of the Fisher Body Bomber Plant sought $20,000,000.

Eisenhower Would Run for President if People Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 31. (U.P.)—The Times-Herald said today in a copyrighted dispatch that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is reported to have told friends recently that he would run for president "if the people of the country want me."

The army's chief of staff was reported by the Times-Herald to have made the statement during informal talks on a fishing trip off Miami during the Christmas holidays.

5 CENT AIR MAIL IS HERE!

Heaviest Snowfall in 22 Years Hits Cisco Country

Snow, which began falling in Cisco at about 10:45 Monday night, was estimated to average between four and five inches in depth at noon today.

The snowfall, which seems to have been general throughout the Cisco Country, is admittedly the heaviest since February, 1924, when the precipitation here was between six and eight inches, according to the memory of Henry Drumwright.

However, M. S. Sellers of the Rising Star Record, says the snowfall there at that time—22 years ago—was 18 inches.

Telephone messages from Ranger, Eastland, Gorman, Carbon and Rising Star placed the snowfall of last night and today at pretty much the same figure—four to five inches.

At 4 o'clock this afternoon the city hall thermometer stood at 24 degrees.

KILLED WILD PHEASANT.

Don Johnson, who earned quite a reputation with the Cisco Lobos this year as a dependable passer, added to his laurels this morning when he killed a cocked pheasant with a rock. The bird, very rare in this area, had alighted near the trash dump on the eastside when Johnson sighted him. Only one throw was necessary.

FREED—Mildred E. Gillars, the notorious "Axis Sally," has been released from the military intelligence center at Oberusel, Germany. She had been held for alleged treasonable activities.

ON BEING VIGILANT.

That the price we pay for liberty is eternal vigilance may seem like old stuff to some of us. We are prone to relax after being vigilant for five years during a hard war. Like the next man, we pay more attention to signs of optimism than to those danger signals that are likely to call us to vigilance.

As modern-day Americans, we indicate by our actions and our interests that we are concerned about a lot of things—but perhaps least concerned about playing Paul Revere roles. Let Samuel Adams and John Hancock and Thomas Jefferson and Patrick Henry and A. Lincoln and all the others stay in their history books. We won our freedom in 1776, and we've kept it since. So why take the trouble to worry about being vigilant in 1947?

Take the Trouble. During the war we were told what to be vigilant against, and much of what we were fighting for. Even particular freedoms were enumerated. We knew too what particular dictators were giving us trouble. But today Hitler is gone. Mussolini's ambitions are dust. It was a lot of trouble, but we were strong enough to do it, and we are still strong.

It is always a lot of trouble to have a mind toward our freedoms. With three-fourths of the world embracing doctrines which oppose our cherished freedoms, and with many of the nations of the world scorning our kind of Republic, we shall have to keep on taking trouble to defend our way of life. This is true, even when we know that our Republic is the best and most prosperous anywhere in the history of civilization.

Defense of the Mind. We have called America the melting pot, the place where the cradle of liberty was first rocked, the refuge of all the persecuted of hundreds of brands of minorities. We have been a thrifty people, an active people, a people building a continent—all the while warding off tyrants from abroad and having a care at home for your freedoms and mine. How is it, then, that we have been caught napping? Have we not, in times of confusion at home and trouble abroad, allowed doctrines to creep in which would chain our minds and shackle our bodies as well? Distorting, misleading, boring from within, state socialism at home and abroad presents to us the kind of curse that tyranny has always been to free man. Inroads have been made on some sectors of the American mind.

Constructive Program. Did you know that polls have shown that 51 per cent of our people do not know what a balanced budget is? That virtually a third have no conception of the meaning of "free enterprise"? That many of us think it alright to owe a huge national debt to ourselves? That security is something Congress can hand out? That inflation is acceptable because it creates wealth? That there are ways to earn more by doing less? All these things are fallacies. With other fallacies they will enslave, just as surely as any tyrant. We must make our platform freedom. Can there be a more constructive program than that of free men? Free men will have a dynamic, not a static philosophy. Such philosophy can never permit economic tyranny, either of labor or capital, any more than it could permit a political tyranny. Americans everywhere must prepare the defense of their own minds against the inroads of enslaving ideas.

MIDNIGHT PREVUE. There will be a surprise midnight prevue at the Palace theater tonight, says Manager Wallace Smith, with free candy or pop corn for all. "Watch the Old Year out and the New Year in at the Palace," Mr. Smith added.

SIGHT OF TWO-YEAR-OLD RESTORED — Mary Mariene Green, two, and her mother, Mrs. Dewey Green, leave Stanford Hospital in San Francisco after doctors performed two operations that restored the child's sight. A railroad trainman, who heard that Mary was born with congenital cataracts, raised money for the operation.

FORGOTTEN PROSECUTOR.

When Paula Weiden, a student at Bennington College, Vt., disappeared the other day, her absence was investigated by State's Attorney William Travers Jerome, Jr. This name must have stirred old memories in many.

In 1901 Tammany was beaten in New York City chiefly through the fiery attacks of Justice William Travers Jerome, candidate for district attorney of Manhattan. He called spades spades and named names a way that even New York, which has seen much, had never seen before. Four years later, when Tammany and the Republican machine ganged up on him and refused to renominate him, he ran independently and started the cynical by being re-elected. He was then the Greater New York and seemed a logical candidate for governor the next year and possibly president in 1908.

Unfortunately 1906 saw the exposure of great laxness in the management of some big insurance companies. Indictments seemed called for, but to the general surprise Jerome seemed to turn timid and to have undue awe for the very wealthy. The governorship, which might have been his, went to another investigator who had no fear of malefactors, rich or poor. His name was Charles Evans Hughes, who started then on the career that later made him Chief Justice.

Jerome died in 1934, practically forgotten. Many would like to know more about his small-town son, hoping he may add brightness to an already good name.

COSTLY OKINAWA.

Lonely island of Okinawa which cost the United States 40,000 casualties continues to be expensive in peace time. While its ultimate disposal is yet to be settled by peace treaty, this important air base, administered by the United States, probably will come under some sort of permanent American jurisdiction.

Since the war's end the United States has sent large amounts of food stuffs there as well as seeds and farm equipment. Almost 13,000 houses have been rebuilt from salvaged materials with 90,000 more planned. Schools have been opened for the island's 100,000 children, health, sanitation and nursing projects have been started. The native population, less than half a million, is predominantly of women. Even when it was part of Japan, the island was not self-supporting and some observers think it never can be.

This continuing expense and responsibility of Okinawa is typical of the expanding obligations war always brings to Uncle Sam. Peace has come, but no return to the old days, no going back to old "normalcy." A world war was fought and won. The result being new burdens, administrative and financial. Some of these can be dropped after a while, but reduced federal budgets and shortened lists of government employees cannot be achieved so easily as people like to think.

GENERAL WALTER KRUEGER

GEN. KRUEGER URGES UNION OF ARMED SERVICES

The advantages of unification of command in the armed services and universal military training were stressed by General Walter Krueger, wartime commander of the Sixth Army, in an address at the first annual convention of the Amphibian Engineer Association in Washington. Speaking on the fifth anniversary of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, General Krueger urged that the American people improve on the lessons learned in the tragedy at Hawaii. He said in part:

The possibility of another war, however, in this atomic age, and the necessity of giving the air force a status on a par with the two other services, have convinced me of the necessity of unifying the services under one department. . . Just as there are no longer any barriers to attack, so there must be no barriers between the armed services. They must form one team.

No matter how much we hope and wish to escape war we may get into it whether we like it or not. One thing is certain, the next war, if, indeed, there be one, will be fought in the air, on the sea, under the sea, and on the ground. But it can and will be made only by a highly-trained and skilled team, composed of air, sea and ground forces. To create such a team will inevitably mean that the three services must be on a par with each other, and must be coordinated by some agency that will assure such coordination.

Another matter that is of supreme importance is universal military training. The voluntary enlistment system alone simply will not solve our problem of defense. Universal military training is a fair and democratic system, that falls equally on all our people. To ask a young American to give a year of his time to permit his being trained to enable him, effectively, to do his share in defending his country, is not asking too much. It would benefit him personally, would enormously increase our defensive readiness, and would eradicate many shortcomings that developed in our armed forces during the last and previous wars. Among other things, it would also permit us to develop experienced troop commanders.

"It is my belief that nothing short of unification of the services, and universal military training will give us an armed force that is capable of assuring our safety and make our voice respected in the world. Unification of the three services, and universal military training, would give us adequate preparedness for war, assuring us an armed force that would in reality be a guarantee of peace, and whose greatest victory would probably be won by never fighting a battle."

WHAT TO DO IN CASE OF FIRE—The National Board of Fire Underwriters, after studying the disastrous results in lost lives in hotel fires this year, recommends these rules to be followed in case of fire in either hotels or large, multi-storied apartment buildings. (1) Read carefully all instructions to guests posted in hotel rooms. Always check the route to the nearest escape stairway. (2) Fumes from the smoke-filled corridor enter the room through the transom. These fumes are poisonous and kill quickly. Close the transom. (3) Feel the door for heat, then open it slightly putting hand across the

EXPERIMENTS WITH V-2 ROCKET—Tests of the Nazi V-2 rocket at White Sands proving ground in New Mexico during the summer were a prelude to an era of long-range guided missiles capable of spanning oceans, and possibly the world, according to Maj. Gen. Everett S. Hughes, chief of the Army Ordnance Department. Rockets were flown 100 miles upward at a speed greater than sound. Left, rocket marked on mobile platform arrives at the firing site. Right, rocket being placed in position for firing. (Official U. S. Army photographs.)

As We Were...

Thumbing thru the ledger near the finish of the year, it seems the finest friends on earth are gathered with us here; For every row of figures, no matter where we look, Reminds us of the customers who put them on the book— Recalls a pay roll met; We've tried to make the service here the best that one can get! So thank you for your friendship; it's the kind we know endures, And we want to make more entries on the pages that are yours!
