CITY MANAGER PLAN BE ISSUE

Lack of Houses at Austin May Make Legislators Think

AUSTIN, Jan. 11. (AP)—Members of the Texas legislature may have to handle all their work themselves in the coming session which opens Tuesday, it appeared today, unless they can locate housing for their assistants.
As preparations swung into high gear for the heavily docketed first post-war gathering of Texas law-making bodies—who will consider legislation on everything from labor to veterans to a proposed increased natural gas tax and Negro education, the capitol city's housing shortage faced the legislature.

Although the next city election is not until April—more than two and a half months away—there are many indications that this event will bring out a larger vote of the Cisco citizenship than for several years past.

Canada Relaxes Price Control; Sees Downtrend

OTTAWA, Jan. 11. — The Canadian government, announcing the removal from price control of certain goods and services including household supplies and some foods, declared Saturday "there are now signs" that the world price boom "may be running its course."
"There are good grounds for the view that world prices of many primary commodities may settle at more reasonable levels than those prevailing," said Finance Minister Abbott.
Among the items being released from price control are household equipment and supplies, including furniture, small appliances, kitchen utensils, radios, pianos, clocks, tools, luggage, paints and some building supplies; also many fresh vegetables and fruits, most fish and certain imported foods.
Among the services decontrolled are barbering, beauty parlor treatments and motion picture admissions.

Three city positions are to be filled at that time—the office of mayor and two commissioners.
One issue in the coming election that must be faced by all candidates is that of a city managership form of government.
Whether a majority of the voters desire a change from the present political set up, where certain duties are assigned to and performed by each member of the commission; to the city managership form of government—where a trained man hired by the elected commission carries out its wishes—only an election can decide.

However, the trend toward the city manager plan seems to be growing, although a large portion of the public would probably like to have more information as to what the proposed plan would really mean to Cisco.
To that end, the Junior chamber of commerce will send a committee to Abilene this week to try and persuade the new city manager of that city to visit Cisco at an early date and explain the principal points of city managership.
Jaycee members told the Daily Press Saturday that if their plans bear fruit, it is very likely that the general public will be invited to the meeting.

5 BILLION BUDGET CUT UP TO GOP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—Harold E. Stassen called on his fellow Republicans today to slash $5,000,000,000 from the $37,523,000,000 government spending program proposed by President Truman in fiscal 1948.
The former Minnesota governor, who wants to be president, said at a news conference that the budget submitted to congress yesterday—and already headed for a Republican pruning—was "wasteful and extravagant."
He urged a 25 per cent cut in all items except those covering national defense, veterans' care, housing and interest payments on the national debt.
This, he said, would provide a $6,000,000,000 surplus for the fiscal year. Half of that amount should be used to reduce the national debt and half to cut taxes, Stassen said.

Ranger CofC Picks 5 New Directors; to Enlarge Airport

RANGE, Jan. 11. — The selection of five new directors is announced by the Ranger chamber of commerce who will serve a two-year term.
The new directors selected are George Campbell, C. C. McKeever, W. A. Lewis, David D. Pickrel and M. L. King. Election of officers is scheduled for February.
Plans are under way to enlarge, improve and light the local municipal airport, in addition to a very active year sponsoring an enlarged general program for Ranger.

Balanced Budget Democrats Sadly Or Not, GOP All Miss Harrison, Set to Cut Taxes Garner, Michelson

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. — Democrats in Congress show no signs of recovering from November ballot-shock. "Well, what the hell" seems to be attitude of most. One said: "Legislative program? I guess not. We'll just offer a few little amendments here and there. Republicans have blood in their eyes and they're going to run the show as they see fit."
Many believe GOP will control congress and white house over next six years, no matter what Democrats do.
Party's leaders on both sides of the capitol—Rayburn and Barkley—are tired. Last time Democrats were in minority they had sharp-witted, hard-hitting spokesmen such as Pat Harrison and John Garner in congress, Charlie Michelson in party headquarters. Issues are simpler, minority brick-throwing easier and more fun.
Some Democrats feel fighting opposition must come from young men in congress, but so far leaders have not appeared.

Marshall to Urge Stocks Generally Avoidance High Tariff Deadfalls Pressure Lacking

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. — This is what you can expect from the State Department when Marshall becomes secretary:
Steps to implement long-neglected inter-American defense plan, in line with Act of Chapultepec, and with the plan for standardizing armaments.
Speedup of peace treaties with Germany and Japan.
There'll be no "get-tough-with-Russia" policy any more than under Byrnes, but there will be firmness, no sacrifice of principle for appeasement.
World peace through United Nations will be pursued as vigorously, or more so. Like most military leaders, Marshall hates war.
Atomic control will be pushed. Marshall has inside knowledge of catastrophic issues involved. Baruch plan will be sustained in and out of Security Council. Disarmament will be pushed—if global, and subject to fool-proof inspection.

World trade, as free as possible from high tariffs and other restrictions, will be urged. Tariff boosts at home will be opposed.
State Department will be reorganized at last, internal friction eliminated, policy making by underlings stopped.
Marshall knows how to work closely with Senate and House foreign relations committees.
Note: Our ambassador to China, Leighton Stuart, has never been confirmed by Senate, may take this chance to drop out. Earlier plan to name Gen. Wedemeyer seems unlikely now. Whoever takes post, Marshall will run Chinese policy.

O'DANIEL AID QUITS.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. — Fred Ward, formerly of Breckenridge announces that he and his wife are resigning from the secretarial staff of Senator O'Daniel of Texas. He did not state reasons for the resignations, but added that he and Mrs. Ward both expect to remain here as congressional aides on the house side of the capitol.

Cisco Boy to Have Arlington McGinnis Funeral at 9 Fat Stock Show This Morning

HOUSTON, Jan. 11. — Competing in an event which attracted a record-breaking number of entries, Jack C. Myrick, member of the Cisco Future Farmers of America chapter, will enter a blooded young steer in the boys livestock show of the 1947 Houston Fat Stock Show and Livestock Exposition, says Herman Engel, livestock show manager.
Outstripping all past performances in prizes, entries and general interest, the 1947 edition of Houston's biggest civic enterprise will be held from Jan. 29 through Feb. 9.
The boys' livestock show promises to be the finest and most elaborate in the Fat Stock Show's 15 year history. Hundreds of boys and girls from farms and ranches all over Texas will bring fattened steers, each a potential grand champion winner, along with sheep, pigs and poultry to the show. Many of the steers will be animals caught in last year's calf scrambles.
The showing and selling of fat steers and other animals by boys and girls of the 4-H club and Future Farmers of America chapter is one of the chief events of the Fat Stock Show. Each day these Texas-fattened yearlings will be sold to high bidders in the arena auctions along with prize sheep, pigs and fat poultry.
Thus the Houston Fat Stock Show plays a dramatic role in the livestock improvement program of the Southwest by providing means of selling prize stock at some of the nation's highest prices, and by interesting youngsters in raising fine cattle and other animals as a career.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT.
The Eastland County Weekly Record of Friday said: James Reid, grocery department manager of the Clover Farm Store, Sunday night broke a chip off his ankle bone in an unusual accident while bowling in Cisco. Reid said he swung the heavy bowling ball, it hit his ankle, and he saw stars and passed out. He was on crutches this week pending the placing of a cast on the ankle.
