WHAT NOW?—Mrs. Michael Rusnak, a British war bride, warms milk for her three-weeks-old son, Wayne, in their two-room apartment in Akron, Ohio. Her husband, a war veteran, received eviction notice to make room for three German displaced persons, relatives to the landlord.

FAIRNESS BEGETS FAIRNESS.

Recently I found in my mail an unusual letter. It was an impressive letter, for it came from a well-known manufacturer on the subject of labor unions and their leaders. Omitting the personalities involved, I should like to offer you the letter in full. It is so sane and offers such rich practical suggestions for settlement of some of our huge industrial problems that I want to pass it on to readers of this column.

"Dear Sir: Your description of the labor situation in Sweden almost depicts the labor situation of the (XYZ) industry in our country. Mr. X, the founder of the Unions, plus the cooperation of the manufacturers, brought it about. And I dare say this labor leader instilled the spirit of cooperation into the manufacturers by fair play and honest tactics.

Men of Calibre.
"Since the formation of the Union in 1919, no strikes have occurred. The instruments installed by him for orderly settlements of disputes are no doubt well known to you.

"All of this leads to one conclusion. If the leaders of labor are men of right calibre, strikes are almost impossible because employers are invariably reluctant to have their business disrupted and are willing to meet fairness with fairness; hence, my advice is: Urge labor unions to choose wise and business-like leaders; men of high ideals, thoroughly honest.

"All of this may sound silly, but to prove my point: There existed a (XYZ) union before me X's entry which had no influence and accomplished nothing, and if allowed to continue would have perhaps brought disaster to the industry like in so many others.

"If labor were headed by men who are qualified for leadership, labor troubles would eventually be of minor importance."

Horse-Sense.
So ends this very pointed letter from my manufacturer friend, who obviously is no enemy of labor. Actually, the reasons so apparent why management should be the friend of labor are almost the same set of reasons why labor should stand solidly for cooperation with management. After all, the two are the main components of industry, labor and management. Their objectives are the same. The object of both is production. Neither can exist without the other. This speaks, with all the logic of plain horse-sense underscored by the compulsion of self-interest: cooperation.

Strikes Are Outmoded.
Orderly settlement of industrial disputes would mean much to the welfare of our nation at this time of crisis when we are reconverting our industry to the ways of peace. Strikes are now too costly, to labor and to management, and to the public, to have any prominent place in the settlement of industrial disputes.

In this enlightened time, when word is almost as swift as thought and facts are so easy of access, surely these two components of industry which so much in common can make use of the council table instead of the strike. With wisdom and fairness and honesty prevailing this can be done. We have had full demonstration that frequent large strikes are the route to disaster.

Lewis' Defiance "Insult to U.S." Supreme Court Told

Mrs. Kirrane Buried Here With Services At 3 p. m. Jaycees Will Push Payment Of Poll Taxes By Ciscoans

Mrs. Lettie Kirrane, daughter of A. B. O'Flaherty, was buried beside the body of her mother in Oakwood cemetery here this afternoon following services at 3 o'clock at the chapel of Thomas funeral home. Mrs. Kirrane died at 3 o'clock this morning at Hendricks Memorial hospital, Abilene, after a long illness.

She remained conscious until a few hours before her death, which she welcomed with the calm courage of her Christian faith.

In the absence of the Presbyterian pastor, the Rev. Stuart Rohrer, the Rev. A. A. Peacock of First Methodist church officiated. Pallbearers for the services were Oscar Cliett, Charles J. Kleiner, R. L. Ponsler, P. R. Warwick, George Fee and H. A. Bible.

Mrs. Kirrane was born in Owensboro, Ky., October 28, 1897, and came to Texas with her parents in 1910. She was descended from a long line of Presbyterians on both the paternal and maternal sides of her family. She was a graduate of Bryan high school, Bryan, Texas.

During her residence in Cisco she was a member of the First Presbyterian church and of the Junior Twentieth Century club which is now extinct.

Besides her father, who is publisher of the Cisco Daily Press, Mrs. Kirrane is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Gardner of Houston, who spent the past three months at the bedside, and Mary Sue O'Flaherty of Cisco; two aunts, Mrs. Thomas H. Sutton of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. C. L. Kemp of Denver, Colo.; two uncles, Raymond H. O'Flaherty of Los Angeles, Calif., and John O'Flaherty of Denver.

Her mother died at Cisco in 1929. Mrs. Kirrane's body also rests near that of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Benton O'Flaherty, who died here in 1927.

March Of Dimes Campaign Pushed By Legion Women Tile Burned For Local Company Is Beautiful Buff

The American Legion Auxiliary will sponsor the "March of Dimes" infantile paralysis fund campaign in Cisco, it was announced today. The drive starts Wednesday, Mrs. Paul Poe, publicity chairman for the auxiliary, said. Mrs. Ethyl Berry is chairman of the March of Dimes committee. Mrs. Dick Cutting is assisting.

E. M. Howard of Rising Star is county chairman. Every church and business organization in Cisco as well as all civic clubs will be invited to contribute to whatever extent they desire, Mrs. Poe said, and the cooperation of everybody in making the drive successful will be appreciated.

"Pay your poll tax" is the theme of the campaign adopted by the Cisco Jaycees at their Monday night meeting in the Laguna hotel which the club will push during the remainder of the month as its major project. Trailers in the motion picture theaters and posters in store windows will advertise the civic duty of citizens to qualify as voters for elections, such as the municipal election, which will be held during 1947. The final date for payment of the poll tax is January 31.

The Jaycees also voted to assist the American Legion Auxiliary in the "March of Dimes" campaign for combating infantile paralysis which opens tomorrow. The Jaycees will have charge of the campaign in the business district.

Two collection stations will be established, according to plans made at the meeting, and a display of the dimes collected will be placed in the windows of Drumwright's Inc.

The County Livestock show to be held at the end of February was also discussed. The Jaycees are working on the publication of the catalogue which will be printed within a short while.

In order to encourage more attendance and interest, the Jaycees have inaugurated a change of meeting dates. Instead of meeting twice monthly as has been done, the organization will meet each Monday night at 7 o'clock—instead of 7:30—at the Laguna hotel.

Every member was urged to attend each meeting. "This is a civic organization whose function is to help Cisco," said President Charlie Burke, "and every member should be on hand. It is his duty to help in every possible way, and his help is needed, the president said.

Company officials and plant operators and workmen were enthusiastic over the results of the first test burning of tile for the Cisco Clay Products company last week.

Some fifty tile made in the extruding machine at the plant from clay out of the pit selected for the operations, were burned in a kiln of the Gallagher Clay Products company near by, and resulted in a beautiful shade of cream buff. This is the most popular color in brick and tile and one of the most difficult to secure because most clays contain such a heavy percentage of iron that they burn out in various shades of red—from deep red to a salmon or pink shade. The Cisco tile, however, range in color from a light cream to a light buff and present a very beautiful appearance. Texture of the tile is good and its strength is excellent, it was said.

Production of this color and quality of tile will insure the company of a strong and wide market, it was said.

GUEST PREACHER.
M. R. Phillips of Raymondville, Texas, will be guest speaker at the Church of Christ Wednesday night, it was announced by G. S. Westbrook, local minister. The Raymondville minister comes well recommended, the Cisco minister said, "and we believe this service will be especially interesting to members and non-members alike." The public is invited.

CITY COMMISSION MEETING.
The regular meeting of the city commission will be held tonight at the city hall at 7:30. The commission meets regularly twice a month.

LEGISLATURE OPENS; REED IS SPEAKER

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 14.—Supreme Court Justices injected sharp questions today into arguments by union attorneys that John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers — AFL — were within their legal rights in ignoring a court order to end the soft coal strike last November.

Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas and Felix Frankfurter led the questioning, particularly of Joseph A. Padway, AFL general counsel. Lewis and the union are appealing from contempt fines of $3,510,000 assessed against them in federal district court.

Padway and Welly Hopkins, UMW attorney, presented oral arguments after Attorney General Tom C. Clark told the court the defiance of Lewis and the union was "an insult to the United States" which "invites mob rule."

Padway contended that the Norris-LaGuardia Act forbids even the government to use injunctions in labor disputes except as specified by the law. He cited a 1943 congressional debate to support his point.

Black agreed that this indicated congress felt that way in 1943.

"But what about the intent of congress back when the original Norris-LaGuardia Act was passed" he asked.

Padway said he believed congress meant the government to be included. Assuming everything you say is so, what about the judgment for contempt," asked Frankfurter.

WELFARE BOARD MET.

With President Jack Anderson presiding Cisco Welfare Board met at 9:30 o'clock this morning and heard Christmas committee reports. It was stated that 90 white children participated in the Christmas tree festivities at city hall, while 38 Negro children enjoyed the tree at the Negro school building on the east side. It was announced that the board will buy garden seeds for those placing requests for same. Present at the meeting were Mrs. B. S. Huey, Rev. Richard Crews, Mrs. Charles Roberts, Mrs. Ed Kilborn, Mrs. W. D. Hazel, Mrs. E. L. Elkins, Mrs. R. E. Bradshaw and the president.

THE IDEAL—Chosen from a field of 15,000 female secretaries interviewed throughout the nation, Viola Barton, above, of New York City, was named the "Ideal Secretary of the Year" by the Women's Research Guild.

A MEDAL FOR A GREAT WARRIOR—Mrs. George S. Patton Jr., receives from Secretary of the Navy James V. Forrestal the Distinguished Service Medal in Washington, D. C., awarded posthumously to her late husband, General Patton.

MORE SUGAR.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 14. — House Republicans today opened a drive to put more sugar on the dinner table — either through bigger family rations or by scrapping all price and ration controls.

Chairman August H. Andresen, R. Minn., of the new GOP Food Investigating subcommittee, demanded in a floor speech that the agriculture department give the housewife "a little consideration" and double the current basic sugar ration from 15 to 30 pounds per person a year.

PEACE PLAN.

LONDON, Jan. 14. (U.P.) — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, opening the Big Four deputies meeting here today, called for a treaty that would prevent military "resurgence for Germany" and a peace plan to avoid war "for hundreds of years to come."

He urged an Austrian treaty "which will not handicap her economically" in relation with other powers. He indicated Britain would seek internationalization of the Danube as a prerequisite for peace in eastern Europe.

SNOOTY SPANIELS—Dungarvan Dame, Dungarvan Denizen and Dungarvan Gunner, entries of Dungarvan Kennels of Roslyn, L.I., come to attention as they are judged at the 30th specialty show of the American Spaniel Club at a New York City hotel.

MISPLACED HANGAR—The home of C. S. Sidler in Nashville, Tenn., is a battered wreck after a DC-3 plane crashed into the house at night. The 16 passengers in the plane and seven occupants in the house escaped death. Six of the 23 persons were injured.

NEW YORK'S HELICOPTER POSTAL SERVICE—This helicopter comes in for its first landing on the East River at 23rd Street as New York inaugurates an experimental air postal service for the downtown area. The service has been on trial in other large cities in the U. S.

THE STATE OF THE NATION

FELIX MORLEY in "Nation's Business."

The year just past was, on the whole, one of bitter disillusionment. For that reason alone we may expect 1947 to set the stage for national affirmation. Men face reality most resolutely when they are up against it. The great periods in American history have not been those of comfort and prosperity, but the years in which adverse conditions demanded the utmost in hard thinking and sacrificial effort.

One of the illusions which the magnitude of our postwar problems helps to eliminate is the strange belief that the state can somehow improve the lot of mankind—that abuses will almost automatically disappear if only we give government sufficient authority to control the situation. It does not work that way.

In Great Britain, for instance, the populace has for many years been told of the evils of capitalism, which are unquestionably real and disturbing to every thoughtful man. Unfortunately, it has been assumed that, because the Socialists denounced the ills of capitalism most vehemently, it therefore followed that socialism had something better to offer. That is the flaw in the logic which Britain now confronts. If the coal industry has been allowed to run down under private ownership, the chances are that it will not revive under public ownership. The quality of men, which is the all-important factor in every aspect of human relations, is not improved merely by ordering them to serve the state.

Belief in the ability of the state to work miracles has always been dissipated whenever the issue has been put to actual test. In our own country we have seen this demonstrated recently by the sad story of OPA. Normally it kept down the price of meat. Actually there was no meat available at ceiling price. Even if it had been possible to eliminate the black market in this commodity there would still have been an inadequate supply under governmental price-fixing. Farmers would have turned their energies to less troublesome, more profitable, operations than raising cattle. They were actually beginning to do so.

Free Market Means Freedom. Confronted with hard facts of this character the doctrinaire Socialist is placed in a difficult position. He must either admit that the free market, with a minimum of governmental regulation, is demonstrably in the best interests of society, or he must agree that the state should eliminate the free market altogether. If he chooses the first alternative he ceases to be a Socialist and if he indorses the second he becomes a Communist.

Either of these positions is more logical than the indorsement of what is called a "mixed economy" which tends to become as badly mixed as was our own under OPA. The Communist method is at least understandable. When a ceiling price falls because of black market operations the Communists recommend liquidation of illegal sellers and buyers by execution, as was done on a large scale in Russia after the 1917 revolution. When farmers thereupon cease to produce beyond their own needs the Communists handle that problem by nationalizing the land and establishing "collective farms." Then, the free market having been wholly eliminated, in agriculture and industry, the state proceeds to plan detail in exactly how much of everything shall be produced and how it shall be distributed. All initiative passes out of the hands of the individual. His not to reason why."

A Plan That Is Dictated. The ponderous text of "The Great Stalin Five-Year Plan," which can be obtained from the Russian Embassy in Washington, illustrates the fantastic end to which the principle of a planned economy leads. An itemized program of industrial and agricultural production is now in force for each of the constituent republics of the Soviet Union. Taking one of them almost at random we read in the case of the Uzbek Soviet Socialist Republic that: "The amount of livestock by the end of 1950 is fixed as follows: horses, 498,000, including 458,000 on collective farms; cattle 1,765,000 head, including 670,000 on collective farms; sheep and goats 9,650,000, including 7,500,000 on collective farms."

On the industrial side it is similarly provided, for the Soviet Union as a whole, that 1950 shall see a total production of 65,600 passenger automobiles. In the cultural field one of the orders is that: "The number of cinema installations (movie theaters) shall be increased to 46,700 in 1950, as against 28,000 in 1940." In every phase of social life scarcely a detail is overlooked. "By 1950 the number of students in higher educational institutions shall be raised to 674,000" while the production of cameras in that year is to be 530,000; of glass tumblers, 160,000,000.

The moral of these anticipatory statistics, for present purposes, is not that the standard of living in Russia four years hence will still be extremely low, with annual production averaging less than one tumbler per capita and one new car for every 3,000 persons even if objectives set are fully attained. The point for consideration here is the final result of the theory of governmental planning. It means that the people of Podunk-grader cannot build a second movie theater until Gorkyville, 30 miles up the river, gets its cinema. It means that Ivan Petrovsky Skivar, who would like to make cameras, must instead manufacture glass tumblers because Moscow has decided that in 1950 Russia shall produce 302 of the latter to every one of the former.

When the state does all the planning, the individual cannot plan at all. He must take the employment to which the government assigns him; he must work at whatever rate and for whatever hours the state prescribes; he cannot change his occupation or place of residence without a governmental permit but he must change one or both if the bureaucracy so decrees. This condition of slavery is softened, but not concealed, when the state decides that his community shall have a movie theater, or a hospital.

One can scarcely imagine the American people adopting this system, even if it could guarantee that complete "freedom from want" would be provided to compensate for the loss of personal liberty. There is something in the American character which revolts against the subordination of the individual to official authority. And our entire system of government has been built on the theory that officials are responsible to the will of the people—not the other way round.

Individual Responsibility. It is all too obvious, however, that there is a shadow side to the American system. While our normal productivity exceeds the rosiest dreams of the Russian planners, it can be interrupted here at any time by a strike, which would be treason under Communist rule. And in the Soviet Union the worker willing to obey the state without asking questions is always sure of some sort of employment. He is not free to starve.

As one reflects objectively on the contrast between the Russian and the American philosophies it becomes clear that the vast difference roots in the question of whether or not men and women can be called responsible beings. Our system is based on the assumption that people are responsible; that an employer has a moral obligation not to let a faithful worker down and that the workers in turn have an equal moral responsibility not to produce chaos by the withdrawal of labor power in a key industry. In neither case is antisocial action prohibited by man-made law. But we believe, or once did, in a higher obligation.

To the Russians this faith in the moral quality of the individual seems sheer nonsense. Man is regarded as irresponsible and, in consequence it is wholly logical for the state to order his life for him, from the cradle to the grave, and to make sure that he shall never disobey these orders.

Communism, we must recognize, has developed, but did not create, the natural Russian tendency to take instructions from governmental authority, any more than capitalism created American instincts which are religious rather than economic in their origin. The alternative choices are between self-government, under the authority of God, or regimentation, under the authority of the state. It is really as simple as that.

MAY MOVE DELTA KAPPA GAMMA HEADQUARTERS.

A call meeting of the local chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma society took place Saturday afternoon at the Twentieth Century club rooms; it was purely a business meeting, which was made necessary by the national committee's request that all chapters vote in January on the question of removing national headquarters from Austin, Texas, to some one of four designated cities — Washington, D. C., Denver, Colorado, Chicago, and St. Louis. To this proposal all Texas members are, of course, strongly opposed.

After disposing of a few other business matters, the chapter adjourned, expecting to meet again, in regular session, February 15.

Right straight to the January Sales advertised in the Daily Press

IT isn't hard to guess where they're "sale-ing" to. Not if you let the Daily Press spread the news for you. Last month customers came into your store in hordes — the Christmas rush was on, and you had all you could do to take care of the terrific business. But this month the story is a little different. Everyone thinks he's broke, and the last thing he wants to see is the inside of a store. So it's up to you to create that desire. You undoubtedly plan to do this by holding a sensational January Sale. And the best way of putting this over really successfully is by running an advertising campaign in the Cisco Daily Press.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your drugist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcenate (formerly called Barcel Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive youthful appearing and active.

SNAKES ALIVE—Lt. Francis Talbert scratches his head as Patrolman Charles West "books" seven-foot snake which was found on a downtown street in Cincinnati. Snake thawed out later at ASPCA. It is believed snake was in gravel strewn on icy streets.

HOT WATER

You need it more than ever!

Make Sure You Get it With Proper Size Heater!

If you are planning on buying one of those do-everything home laundries or automatic dish washers, take steps immediately to consult your gas company or dealer about a worry-free automatic water heater that will supply enough hot water for them to operate.

The average requirement of an automatic home laundry is about 40 gallons of 140-degree water in 80 minutes. And keep in mind the many other household uses for hot water. New automatic gas water heaters are designed specifically to meet this need if they are properly sized.

for automatic storage gas water heaters

Number Bathrooms	Number Bedrooms	Storage Capacity Gallons
1	1 or 2	30
1	3 or 4	40
2	2 or 3	40
2	4 or 5	50
3	3	50
3 or 4	4 or 5	75

IF... you are planning to build, remodel or modernize your water service, use sizing chart at left and make sure the heater you buy will be large enough to meet your needs.
