The editor of the Snyder Times needn't be complaining. There has been a lot of exaggerated rumors going around. The women in the United States only used 10,000 tons of face powder last year.

Vote against the proposed state constitutional amendment, which seeks to take the building and improvement of public roads out of the hands of the local counties and districts and lodge it in the hands of the State Highway Commission.

Look for the good points of this town, think about them, be proud of them and talk about them to others. This is one of the finest towns in the state—think so and say so. In this way you are a builder. Don't knock, for then you become a destroyer.

A Texas waitress has broken the marathon dance record by foxtrotting 241 hours, exceeding the previous record made by a whole day. Texas has a labor law protecting this delicate maiden from serving food to her employers' customers longer than 9 hours at one stretch.

It is hard enough under ordinary circumstances these warm days to stay on the job and publish a newspaper, but now comes the news that the son of Lindsay Nunn of the Amarillo News yesterday caught a six-pound bass in Palo Duro canyon. So if we are found fishing on the Palo Duro within the next few days its all that kid's fault.

Mrs. Mary Lonergan, age fifty, is on trial in Brooklyn, for the murder of her husband, whom she killed because he had severely beaten one of the daughters. We don't know the details of the killing, but if we were on the jury we would be constrained to turn any wife loose and give her a pension for life for murdering the father of fourteen children.

St. Louis has long been terrorized by gang warfare. Two gangs, the Hogans and the Esqans, are trying to exterminate one another, very much to the inconvenience of the innocent bystander who sometimes is caught between two fires as members of the opposing gangs race through the streets in automobiles firing at one another with shotguns and automatics. As there are so many innocent bystanders in a large city the loss of one or two occasionally does not cause much comment or occasion grave concern as long as property remains unmolested. But the other day a large plateglass front was shattered by the bullets of the feudists. That was the last straw. The governor has been appealed to and it is probable that something will be done about it.

The dishonestly acquired dollar never profits the person who gets it; it seldom stays with him very long. Coney C. Slaughter, well known Texan of a few years ago, has been arrested in poverty in Philadelphia and taken back to Pueblo, Colo., to stand trial for the wrecking of a bank in that city in 1915, in which depositors lost a third of a million dollars. He will plead guilty and take his punishment, for he says he cannot afford to employ attorneys to make a defense, for he and his family are broke. He says he has spent eight years dodging the law, in which there were many harrowing experiences, and father than continue as a hunted animal he will enter the federal prison and serve out his time. This is but the same old story of other criminals—it don't pay, and is a life of misery. It pays to be honest and straight.

The editor of this Great Moral Guide of the Plains was born and raised in West Texas. All of his life he has heard it said that a rattlesnake would never crawl over a rope made of hair, and in the early days when camping out in a section where there was a likelihood of rattlers it was the rule to place a circle of hair ropes around the place where the people slept on the ground to keep snakes away. It was argued that the hair would tickle the belly of the snake so it wouldn't crawl over it. But, in these modern days many old things are passing away. Recently at El Paso to decide a bet two hair ropes and a rattler were secured, the ropes were placed in two circles about the snake; it coiled up and slept awhile, when it awoke it quietly crawled over both ropes several times. Long ago was the old-time saying that a prairie dog, owl and rattlesnake lived in the same hole at the same time disproven.

The proposed farm-labor third party movement has already gone onto the rocks. Delegates from states met in Chicago last week for the purpose of forming such an organization. Radicals and theorists of every shade were there—and a few more conservative men, in fact the first day the farmer or conservative element seemed to have controlled the proceedings, but the second day enough radical laborites had arrived to take charge of the conference and undo what had been done. There was a split up and the two factions separated. The trouble with modern third party movements is they are made up largely of "nuts," theorists down-and-outers and radicals of various hues. The sensible, successful, patriotic citizenship of the nation control its affairs and likely always will—and they are not going to join with or have anything to do with the bunch that make up proposed third parties.

STARVATION AMID PLENTY

In his speech at Helena, Montana, President Harding directed attention to the stupendous producing capacity of the world under modern conditions. Without doubt the world is capable of producing far more than enough to supply all reasonable needs of all the inhabitants who now live upon its surface, but the sad fact remains that every year millions starve to death and other millions are not enough to keep them from suffering from cold and hunger.

This condition results from a faulty system of production and distribution. We talk about the marvelous agricultural production of the United States, but if every acre now in cultivation were cultivated up to its maximum the aggregate production would be easily three times what it is at present.

With our present system of distribution, however, there is little encouragement for maximum production. If all the productive land in the country were yielding maximum crops there would be a vast surplus for which there would be no market.

Some day the problem of proper distribution will be solved, and it will go far toward hastening the millennium.

There is a better understanding of God himself in nature for the soul of the Divine is expressed in His handiwork. We understand better the greatness of God, we understand how His creation is in accord with a Divine plan, how all things work together in harmony for the ultimate good.

The newspaper people of the Panhandle-Plains are glad to learn that Lee Satterwhite has again come into possession of the Panhandle Herald, and is once more its owner, publisher and editor. Lee has for many years been legislator from the Amarillo district and is at present chairman of the house ways and means committee, which is the most powerful position in the state's affairs next to those of governor and speaker of the house.

President Harding in his Western Kansas speeches preached contentment to the farmers, but it was not swallowed with much relish by the farmers, for they are discontented and don't care who knows it—and they have a right to be hard-boiled, for the price of wheat is now below the cost of production, freight rates are confiscatory and the price of most everything the farmer buys is much increased and clearly out of proportion to the price of livestock and farm products.

You can't please some women. Mrs. Ruth M. Jones of St. Louis several years ago divorced her husband because he went out nights too often and last week she divorced her second husband because he stayed at home too much. She alleges that she had rather have a husband who went out every night than one who could not be dragged out.

The Fourth of July was not as sane as it should have been. The Hearst papers announce that there were reported throughout the nation seventy-five deaths and more than six hundred persons injured in celebrations on that day. It may be that the total dead really amounted to 100. Of the reported deaths twelve were caused directly by fireworks, seventeen by drowning, forty-one by auto accidents and the others by miscellaneous mishaps. It is a strange thing that many people cannot take holiday without acting the fool about it.

THE "HOBO" IS NO HERO—

We heard a hobo boasting the other day that he had traveled clear across the continent without having paid a cent of railroad fare.

Nothing remarkable about it. You know how he did it. Flirting with death every mile of the journey, covered with dirt and grime, begging meals at the kitchen door, days of deprivation and hunger, kicked by brakemen, chased by police. Do you envy him? Who really wants that sort of experience? It is better to save your money and ride on the CUSHIONS instead of the RODS when you travel.

There were six girls, Bonnie Burson, Irene Hancock, Bertha Mae Stév

enson of Silverton and Lena Thurmond Lerner Simmons, Texie Kell of Quitaque; and six boys, Price Stone, Neal Crawford, Clair Meeker, Dean and Elmer Allard and Ike McClendon, all of Silverton. All of the crowd was pretty badly bruised or some of them with gashes to be sewed up and others knocked senseless.—Silverton Star.

H. L. SAMMANN DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART DISEASE

Had Been Citizen of Providence Community for Seventeen Years—Was a Good Citizen.

From Plainview News
H. L. Sammann, age 72 years, died very suddenly at his home in the Providence community, nine miles northeast of Plainview, Monday afternoon, about 6:15 o'clock, from heart disease. He had not been feeling well that day, but nothing serious was thought the matter. Members of the family had been with him about ten or fifteen minutes before they found him dead.

The funeral will be held at the old home place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and Pastor A. W. Weber of the Lutheran church will conduct the service. Many people from town will attend. Interment will be beside his wife in Plainview cemetery. She died about five years ago.

The deceased was born in Germany, coming to America and settling in Texas when a youth. He lived in Washington county for years, and then moved with his family to near McGregor, in McLennan county, where he lived for twenty years and accumulated quite a fortune. Seventeen years ago he and his family moved to Hale county, where land was cheaper and so that all could have good farms. He bought several sections of land in Providence community, and owned same at his death. He was a leading member of the Lutheran church, and had much part in the building and maintenance of the church in Providence community.

He leaves four sons and four daughters, who live in and near Providence community.

The deceased was a good man and highly esteemed by all who knew him. He was a hard worker, thrifty, honest and genial, and had a host of friends, and his passing is greatly deplored.

The commissioners' court was in session yesterday and the matter of building a county jail was discussed. While the court feels that an adequate jail is needed, it is thought that not just now is the best time to erect it, as it would cost $30,000 or $40,000 and the county has not got the money nor does it wish to issue bonds or warrants for the purpose. The present jail in the southeast corner of the court house is unsafe, unsanitary and in most every way inadequate. It was doubtless constructed of the cages, etc., of the jail in the early days of the county before the present court house was built, so an officer says.

Showers have been falling every day the past week in some portion of Hale county and Plainview trade territory. Fine showers fell over a large territory east of Plainview Saturday and Sunday afternoon, also southeast toward Petersburg, and yesterday good showers fell to the east and north of Hale Center, and this afternoon south and west of town.

These showers are fine on cotton and row crops, and it now seems that heavy yields are almost assured.

The material for the new city jail in the city hall, in the room formerly occupied by the public library, has been received and is being put in place by workmen.

Plainview Boy Breaks Record
Ballard Clark, son of, Rev. O. P. Clark, spent the weekend here with his parents.

He has been serving as an apprentice telegraph operator in the Santa Fe offices in Slaton, and broke the record by taking the full course in seven months, which has not before been known to have occurred.

He has been sent to Ralls to work in the station there.

The irrigated wheat on the T. L. & D. Co.'s Pioneer Park farm is averaging above forty bushels to the acre. That on the demonstration farm is running between twenty-five and thirty bushels to the acre.

The harvest is in full swing now, though the wheat on account of the recent rains is maturing rather unevenly, some of which ripened last week while patches in the same fields will not be ripe for two weeks. The yield is turning out better than was thought possible. The price is 87c to 90c a bushel, which is very low.

Miss Fannie Honea, wife of Noel B. Honea of Quitaque, died here Saturday morning. She had come to Plainview to receive treatment, and was staying in Miss Lois Paek's home. Her husband, mother and several other relatives were with her when she died. She was born March 10, 1889.

The body was prepared by Undertaker Garner and taken to Silverton, where burial took place Monday.

E. C. James, father of Miss Jessie James, died at his home in Floydada July 3rd, and was buried there the following day. He leaves a wife and ten children, all of whom were present at the funeral.

Miss James and her mother have moved their household goods to the tenchorage at Halfway, in this county, where she will teach the coming year.

The Hale county sheep are being shorned, and the animals are giving from eight to ten pounds each, which is good. The price is 40c a pound.
