First Baby Born In New Hospital To Receive Gifts

Hey Pop! Want to save some money? Want a picture of that new baby and mother in the News? Want your wife to have one of the nicest hospital rooms in the High Plains while she is recuperating?

Some lucky family is going to have all this and probably a lot more, according to Don Newman, administrator of the new Plains Memorial Hospital, which is scheduled to open Tuesday afternoon, May 5.

Complete hospital facilities, including room, board, delivery room, laboratory, X-ray, regular nursing care, nursery and all the fanfare that goes with having the first baby born in the new hospital will be given with the compliments of the Plains Memorial Hospital to the mother of the first baby born in this new medical institution. The doors of the hospital will open Tuesday afternoon and the first baby born will receive all this free care.

So, Pop, sit down and have a little heart to heart talk with the little woman. Have her take it easy on these last few days and see if she can't stall it off until Tuesday afternoon, May 5.

Newman states that a number of local merchants have volunteered to donate gifts to this first new comer in the hospital. The merchants donating are: Parson's Rex-all Drug, Playtex baby set; Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio, gift of cosmetics for mother; Castro County News, free subscription to parents; White's Auto Store, baby bath tub; Carver's Pharmacy, first vitamin prescription written by doctor King Furniture Co., infant baby carrier; Seale Florist's, gift of flowers; Dennis Floral and Gifts, floral gift; The Fair Store, handmade bootie set and one dozen Birdseye diapers; Frazier Jewelry; Sugar N Spice Shop; Harman's, $2.50 gift certificate; Cobb's, free gift certificate; and Piggly Wiggly, case of Pet milk.

New Cotton Provisions Provided by Legislation Enacted on April 11

Upland cotton farmers will be able to choose between three acreage allotment programs under the new legislation enacted on April 11, Charley E. Hill, Office Manager, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said today.

The choice will be between:

1. Growing cotton under the old program—keeping within the "Effective" allotment (the allotment established for the farm last fall plus any reapportioned acreage), and thus qualifying for a price support loan at the basic level of 30 cents a pound, Middling 1-inch cotton at average location; or
2. Reducing cotton acreage and keeping within a smaller "domestic" allotment, thus qualifying for the regular price support loan and an additional price support payment of 3.5 cents a pound on the normal yield of the cotton acreage determined for the farm. For farms with an effective allotment of more than 15 acres, the extra price support payment will also depend on the producer's net exceeding the farm's feed grain base. The farm's domestic allotment in most cases is 67 per cent of the farm's "effective" allotment except that for small farms the domestic allotment is the smaller of the effective allotment or 15 acres.
3. Planting cotton within the farm's 1964 effective cotton allotment plus up to 5 per cent as "export market acreage," provided an application is filed by June 1, 1964, and bond furnished within 15 days after such filing. In this case, all the cotton except the part credited to the export acreage would be eligible for the basic price support of 30 cents. The additional price support payments, however, would not be eligible to growers planting an export market acreage.

The Office Manager pointed out that the new program supplements, rather than supersedes, the cotton program which has been in operation.

WELL-KNOWN SPEAKER Mrs. J. W. Walker Addresses League of Democratic Women

Mrs. J. W. Walker, well-known political figure in this area, spoke to the League of Democratic Women Saturday afternoon in the High School cafeteria about "Questions and Answers On the Democratic Party?"

Responsible for securing Mrs. Walker as speaker is Mrs. Carol Dyer, member of the local League.

Mrs. Walker said, "You are right not to choose your candidate until our party has chosen the party at the polls, May 2."

The enthusiastic speaker declared, "You may have heard of Ralph Yarborough as 'Smiling Ralph' from Gordon McLendon; however, I call Gordon McLendon 'Grinning Gordon.'"

In asking questions about the party, Mrs. Walker said, "Why a precinct convention?"

She told the group that a precinct convention served two purposes. Delegates were elected for county convention and a precinct chairman is elected. Also the convention may pass resolutions. One week following the precinct convention comes the county convention where state delegates are elected. The State Convention delegates then choose the national convention delegates.

Mrs. Walker commented about President Johnson, "He is a very warm person and a very intelligent man." She said, "I believe Johnson will be elected by the National convention to run for the U. S. President." She declared, "I believe he will be elected for a second term."

"Just what has the Democrats done that you can be proud of?" Mrs. Walker declared, "The Democratic Party has passed legislation to aid the Southern farmer who was in peonage to the Northern industrialist. She continued, "The Democrat Party has helped the Southern farmer to have noted prosperity."

Barnyard News

Now is the time to start planting and applying pre-emerg herbicides. Propazine is the best pre-emerg herbicide for grain sorghum. It should be applied immediately after planting, and does not need any incorporation with the soil.

A six roller pump is too small. At least twenty gallons of water is needed per acre sprayed, broadcast. One and one half pound of propazine is needed for most broad-leaf weed control with as little as one and one quarter pound needed for the control of careless weeds.

Propazine will not control voluntary grain sorghum or Johnson grass coming from rizophomes.

Hill Speaks on Communism

H. K. (Red) Hill gave a speech "The Makers of Hell Arise" at the American Legion meeting Friday night with a large group attending.

Hill's speech covered the topic of Americanism versus Communism. He used a large world map illuminated with small lights showing the conquests of Russia since 1945. This electric map was prepared by Hill.

Hill stated, "Peaceful coexistence means eventual capitulation." He pointed out that in 30 years, 42 nations have fallen to Communists. According to Hill, 46 1/2 per cent of the world is in the hands of Communists.

Hill told the group that 5 per cent of the total world population is Communist. Hill said, "Today, many people say communism is all right for it helps the little man."

The speaker commented, "When there are enough people who don't care, America can become 'Communist'."

Hill went on to ask the group "How can any nation gain victory when they are in continuous retreat from the line of force?" He pointed out that the free world and America have been in a continuous retreat before the threatening advance of Communism.

A rear guard action which keeps losing territory, influence and freedom has been the story of free world forces.

Hill in his forceful speech declared, "You cannot legislate the love of one man towards another. You cannot legislate the respect of one man towards another and you cannot legislate the honor of one towards another." He closed with a quote from Revelation.

An enlightening discussion with audience participation followed the speech. Hill told the group he would be glad to present this program with his illuminated map to any interested organization.

Highway Patrol Investigates 3 Rural Accidents
 The Highway Patrol investigated five rural accidents in Castro County during the month of March, according to Sergeant W. E. Wells, Patrol Supervisor of this area.
 These wrecks accounted for three persons injured and an estimated property damage of $3,000.00.
 The rural traffic accident summary for Castro County from January through March of 1964 shows a total of 28 crashes resulting in no persons killed, 12 person injured and an estimated property damage of $17,573.00.
 All of the rhapsody of spring is in the air. Thousands of motorists will be breaking away from the restraints of winter to take week end drives and trips. Children will also bring forth bicycles, roller skates, scooter and little red wagons. All of these things spell added danger on our streets and highways.
 Many of these motorists will lessen their attention to their job of driving in order to concentrate on the rhapsodies of spring, thereby leading them into traffic violations. These motorists may possibly forget that increased violations of traffic laws lead to accidents and deaths. The Sergeant stated, "What better time than April to remind motorists, pedestrians and all street and highway users about the importance of knowing and obeying traffic laws."

Student Compiles History of Dimmitt First State Bank

Dimmitt 7th grade students have written and compiled the following history of the First State Bank of Dimmitt—by Vickie Lawson

The First State Bank of Dimmitt opened for business on March 7, 1907. The president was C. E. McLean and Beecher Rowan as cashier. The original directors were Mr. McLean, Mr. Rowan, C. H. Clifton, J. S. Chasnut and C. J. Kerr. The Bank has been in the McLean family ever since it opened and still is.

The bank was first located at the corner of Main and Jones Street. The first building was made of wood. It required only two employees to take care of its business. In 1912 there was a big snowstorm when the only teller got lost and no business was transacted on that day. The employees and customers spent much of their time playing dominoes around the big potbelled stove. They carried their water from the courthouse across the street.

At this time all of the bookkeeping was done by hand in a ledger. Each person making a deposit was recorded in this ledger also the number of checks given by each person were kept in this ledger.

In 1929 the bank moved to its second building at the corner of Broadway and Bedford. The bank is one of the few in the southwest that went through the depression without reorganization. In its second building it went into an extensive remodeling in 1953. When it moved more employees were added.

As the bank grew, different methods of keeping records was necessary and a bookkeeping department was set up. Electric posting machines were used among other electric machines to keep up with modern day business.

When irrigation came, the Bank's business increased. There were also modern day changes made in the bank.

In 1958 the bank had outgrown its space, and a new building was built which is its present location. Again more employees were needed and more electric machines. It now employees about 20 people. Recently the bank celebrated its 57th anniversary and honored Mr. Ester Noble, who had worked at the bank for 45 years, and had seen many changes made in the history of the First State Bank.

Waco Judges Help Appeals Court Here

The Texas Supreme Court, apparently feeling that the docket of the Seventh Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo is overloaded, has directed the 19th Court of Civil Appeals in Waco to lend a helping hand.

Two members of the Waco court are in Amarillo today hearing oral arguments in the cases allotted them. The two judges are Chief Justice Frank G. McDonald and Associate Justice Frank M. Wilson.

The Texas Supreme Court in equalizing the dockets of the civil appeals courts in the state has assigned 13 of the appeals filed in Amarillo to the Waco court.

Under statute the cases must be heard in the court in which they are filed. For this reason the Waco judges are hearing arguments in Amarillo.

Elmo Payne, clerk of the Amarillo court, says the Amarillo judges heard oral arguments in nine cases on April 6-7 and currently are working on their decisions in those cases.

The Seventh Court of Civil Appeals in Amarillo encompasses the largest Supreme Judicial District in the State of Texas—with 46 counties, Payne explained.

Democratic Polling . . .

In a statement issued Wednesday Ray Bearden, county Democratic chairman said, "I think we have a Democratic county. I commend highly our precinct set-up and the ladies of the county are doing a wonderful job in their new organization, League of Democratic Women."

He continued, "We urge all citizens to turn out and vote in the primary Saturday."

"The Democrats need to tally 1500 votes in this county primary," declared Bearden. He concludes, "We wish again to urge all county Democrats to turn out to the polls Saturday and chose their candidate for the runoff in June."

Republican Primary . . .

hold the Republican primary in his own precinct, he should contact Singer before Friday noon, May 1, and a polling place and supplies would be furnished him.

In a statement issued Tuesday, Singer said, "There has been a lot of change in the general political picture in Texas over the past several years and people who have long been dissatisfied with one-party rule, are going to make themselves heard by voting in the Republican Primary this year."

New Cotton Provisions

tion in prior years. Marketing quotas will be in effect for the 1964 cotton crop, as approved by growers voting in a referendum last December, and any "excess" cotton will be subject to marketing quota penalties, as in former years.

One major difference for 1964 is that the grower may, if he wishes, plant a one third smaller acreage of cotton and meet other conditions of the program and in return be eligible for a 3.5 cent price support payment in addition to the regular price support loan at the 30-cent rate. The acreage not planted to cotton because the grower planted within the smaller "domestic allotment" may be devoted to other crops (with the feed grain "2" above), thus providing an additional source of income.

The other major difference is that a grower may produce some cotton to sell at the world price if he files an application by the June 1, 1964, deadline and furnish a bond assuring that the cotton from the export acreage will be exported without Government subsidy.

Mr. Hill said that notices will soon be mailed to growers containing information on the new program provisions as they apply to the individual farm. If the grower wants to plant an export market acreage, he will need to file an application at his ASCS county office by June 1, 1964, and furnish the bond within 15 days after such filing.

Growers will decide which allotment they wish to use and plant on the basis of that allotment. If the acreage determined in excess of the chosen allotment, the producer will have a period during which he can adjust the acreage. After the planted acreage is verified domestic or export, the eligible producer will file an application for the additional price support payment.

COTTON QUOTAS STILL
Cotton marketing quotas will continue in effect in 1964, as approved by growers last December, Charles E. Hill, Office Manager, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said today. The question arose as a result of the recently enacted cotton legislation, which supplements the cotton program already in effect. Marketing quotas were approved for the 1964 upland cotton crop by 94 percent of the growers voting in a referendum throughout cotton producing areas.

The Office Manager explained that under a quota program, marketing penalties apply to any "excess" cotton. This part of the program will operate the same as in former years.

The difference this year is that, under the new cotton legislation, the upland cotton grower will have three allotment programs to choose from. He can choose to keep his cotton plantings within the old "effective" farm allotment (after any release or reapportionment); he can plant within a smaller "domestic" farm allotment and use the acreage so reduced for other crops—but not in excess of his farms feed grain base if the farm has an effective allotment of more than 15 acres; or he can plant within the effective farm allotment plus an acreage (5 percent of the allotment) for export only, after filing an application by June 1, 1964, and furnishing bond that the export acreage production will be exported without Government subsidy.

Under both the effective and the domestic allotment plans, the farmer will be eligible for the usual price support cotton loan, at a basic level on 30 cents a pound Middling 1-inch cotton at average location. Under the domestic allotment plan the farmer will be eligible for an additional price support payment of 3.5 cents per pound on the normal yield of the cotton acreage planted for harvest within the domestic allotment, provided he also meets the programs' feed grain provisions where applicable. Under the export acreage plan, the farmer will be eligible for the 30-cent price support loan on all his cotton except that credited to the export acreage.

Mr. Hill said that growers should decide which allotment they want to use and plant accordingly. If the cotton acreage is determined in excess of the chosen allotment, the grower will have an opportunity to adjust the acreage to the allotment by a deadline to be established by the ASC County Committee.

SPENCE CIRCLE MEETS
The Inez Spence Circle met April 21 in the home of Mrs. Jim Elder. Mrs. Leland Smith, circle chairman presided over the meeting.

Reports by various chairman of committees were given. Mrs. Smith reported that the Mission study books needed to be read by members of the circle. Mrs. James Autry prayer chairman read the prayer calendar. Mrs. Carpenter, Mrs. M. A. Smith and Mrs. Autry led in prayer for the Missionary listed on the prayer calendar.

Mrs. Johnnie Powell gave the program entitled "Baptist Emerge into Modern History". Mrs. Powell discussed the meeting with prayer. Members present were Mesdames Leland Smith, W. E. Thompson, J. O. Carpenter, James Autry, M. A. Smith, Troy Kirby, Maples, Mrs. Slay, Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Harris, Ray Lilley, Johnnie Powell and the hostess Mrs. Jim Elder.

CAST for "Me and My Shadow" include (front row) Betty Gaylon, Konnie Bowden, Kenneth Fincher, Estella Rubalcaba, (back row) James Mitchell, Joan Clark, Linda Cole and Robert Wright. See story for details.

Mrs. J. W. Walker . . .

"You can be proud you are a part of a forward-looking party," stated the speaker.

"What are the differences between the Republican and Democratic parties?"

Mrs. Walker told the group that the Republicans and Democrats have diametrically opposed ideas for what causes the well-being of our nation.

She says the Democrats say look to the individual, create an environment for him which helps him to become efficient and prosperous. According to Mrs. Walker, the Republican party says look to the big businessman, look after free enterprise, subsidize the big business, give them protective tariffs and they will create jobs for the little man.

Mrs. Walker pointed out to the group ways to judge a newspaper article. She said ask the following questions when reading an article. "Who wrote it?" "What is he reporting, senate action or personal opinion?" "What is the source of authority?"

One of the final questions Mrs. Walker considered was "Can Communism take over this country?" Mrs. Walker said, "I claim that it cannot. The only thing that can ruin this country is democracy itself, when democracy mistakes liberty for license."

Hostesses for the local meeting were Mesdames Anthony, Womack, Rogers and Haberer.

Hart Seniors Present Polished Performance of 3-Act Comedy

Hart High School Seniors gave a polished presentation Friday night of "Me and My Shadow" to an audience of over 250 in the Hart gymnasium.

A rousing ovation greeted the end of the delightful performance. The three-act comedy with its overtones of seriousness offered a variety of emotions for both cast and audience.

The complicated maxes through which J. Vincent Barret took his characters served the audience a keen mixture of nerve-tingling suspense and side-shaking laughter.

Kenneth Fincher delighted the audience with his portrayal of the harassed lawyer, Mr. Harrington who cannot rid himself of "Shadow" an East India girl. Estella Rubalcaba personified "Shadow" with eloquent grace and ease.

Adding spice to the program was the peppery mother-in-law played aptly by Betty Gaylon.

Konnie Bowden showed fine sensitivity in her acting of the outraged wife who discovers another woman in her husband's life.

Linda Cole descended upon the unwary lawyer and his doctor friend with an electric vitality and played to consummation the role of the nosy neighbor.

James Mitchell as Doctor Bruce Douglas managed to convey well a friend willing to go far in helping the lawyer.

Others delivering their lines with articulate ease and adding completion to the plot were Joan Clark, the Harrington maid, Robert Wright as Hickson and Joe Rubalcaba, the villain.

Ed Nicholson's fine direction was apparent throughout. It showed well in a number of little things, such as an upward accent at end of a line, silent, but eloquent facial expressions, a bit of rapid timing in sound effects or a line delivered with arch finesse.

Dwarfs include Rex Lust, Roger Jones, Johnny Vick, Perry Graham, Carl Dean Carson, Russell Springfield and Lloyd Singer.

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was originally planned for a high school group. However, Bates believed the sixth grade could produce an excellent quality play.

These wells were stealing oil from them and it was being transported to Louisiana by illegal means. This was known as a "hot" oil. This story well a many others was carried over the wire of the Associated Press, United Press and INS all over the United States. As a result of this publicity, Governor Miriam A. American Heritage Awards Banquet

The American Heritage awards banquet was held at the Slaughter Memorial Center at Wayland Baptist College Tuesday night, April 21, 1964, culminating the year's program in which teachers and students from eleven area schools have participated.

Awards were given to the winners of an essay contest for high school students, a poster contest for high school and junior high school students and a project contest for junior high students. Each participating school had its own winners. The students did not compete against other schools because of Interscholastic League rules.

The Dimmitt winners were as follows: for the essay—Danelle Crowley winning first place and a twenty-five dollar U.S. Savings bond, Lou Ann Hays winning second place and a ten dollar U.S. Savings bond, and Charles Harris winning third place and a five dollar savings bond; for the posters Linda Land winning first place and a twenty-five dollar bond, Paula Louder winning second place and a ten dollar bond, Kay Yokley winning third place and a five dollar bond; for the junior high projects—Scott Moran winning first place and a twenty-five dollar bond, Alan Webb winning second place and a ten dollar bond, and Darla Underwood winning third place and a five dollar bond.

The program consisted of giving out the awards and the reading of the winning paper of an essay contest for teachers. Mr. S. T. Newman of Dimmitt wrote the winning paper. His prize was an expense paid trip to Cleveland to the National American Heritage Convention. Winning second place in the teacher contest and receiving a years subscription of the American Heritage magazine were Miss Lucille Flowers of Plainview and Mrs. Avis Smith of Dimmitt.

The banquet theme was "Orchids to You".

Senior Committees Underway

The will committee met Monday afternoon at the home of Ralph Smith. Reports from this committee shown promising entertainment for Senior Day.

History Contest Held

On Thursday, May 23, the Annual History Contest for High School Students, was held on the campus of West Texas State University in Canyon, Texas. This contest is sponsored by the History Clubs of the schools which participate, and the Ex-student Association of West Texas State, University.

In each contest there was a first and second place trophy as well as Class I gold medals and Class II silver medals for both the World History and American History Contest. These silver and gold medals were given to the first and second 5 per cent in each division. There were 280 students entered from schools of every size.

Winning a gold medal from Dimmitt was Johnnie B. Linn, III, in the world history contest. This means that he rated among the top eight from a group of approximately 150 students.

Others attending the contest from Dimmitt were: World History - Bobby Ebeling, Johnna Hastings, and Connie Sheffy; American History - Linda McColum, Linda Davis Danelle Crowley, Bob Bradford, Robby Lindsey.

The students took the test composed of 100 multiple choice questions and an essay question, from 10:30 to 12:00.

After the awards were made, the students heard a paper read on the Civil War and then the Dimmitt group went to the West Texas Museum.

Gigantic "Star" Baffles Scientists

Scientists are flabbergasted about the discovery of an object that follows none of the laws of physics. This object is a huge radio star that gives out large quantities of radio waves and visible light. The name of this radio star is 3C 147, because it is number 147 in the astronomers' catalogues. Scientists first thought that this star was an ordinary star in our own galaxy, recently they have found that it is about 6 billion light-years away!

Scientists got the first clue to its remote distance when they measured its light with a special instrument. They found that 3C 147 is moving at 55 per cent of the speed of light! This is the fastest object that has ever been observed in the universe. Then scientists knew that 3C 147 could not be a part of our own galaxy.

3C 147 puts out more light than all of the stars of our galaxy combined. Scientists estimate its size to be 3,000 light-years in diameter, which is many times larger than the largest known star. It would take a beam of light 3,000 years to cross from one end to the other, while it takes only four years for a beam of light to go from our sun to the nearest star.

Scientists have various theories as to why this enormous object, which has been named a "quasi-stellar" object, exists. The energy put out by this giant star could not be created by nuclear fusion alone. Scientists believe that this giant star is eating in onto itself, creating great amounts of energy in the form of light and radio waves. However, this theory has not been proven.

In addition to 3C 147, several other "quasi-stellar" objects have been found, all at enormous distances from the earth. The existence of one 10 billion light-years has not been confirmed.

These objects disobey some of the basic laws of physics. How the objects were created cannot be explained by any theories that exist today.

The universe was once considered to be five billion years old, but now that figure will have to be revised higher, because the light from 3C 147 began its journey 6 billion years ago, which would be before the creation of the universe!

These objects disobey some of the basic laws of physics. How the objects were created cannot be explained by any theories that exist today.

My deepest memories are my classmates. We could never have made it this far if we hadn't had companionship. Not only my senior classmates but my friends in all four classes have helped. I have enjoyed being respected by underclassmen. Being respected brings dignity along with seniority. I hope that maybe I have made an impression on some underclassman as the upperclassmen did upon me when I entered high school.

Dimmitt High School, classmates teachers, Dimmitt community, and especially my parents, I thank you for my wonderful memories.

Snooper

Well the J.P.'s to D.H.S. had an active week and for once it looked as if Big D. would become active.

The activities of this week were: John McGuire, what happened to your date with Danelle Crowley last week? Now, John, is this the behavior of a gentleman? You should be ashamed of yourself!!

It seems since Paul Easterwood has got his FORD back he has found a sure-fire way of making it go faster. Your right, he is going to take the FORD emblems off. I don't know if this will help it or not, Paul, but if it doesn't you can always buy a Chevy?

Carol Johnson, why were you changing a flat at the roadside park Thursday morning? Why didn't stop and help you?

Ask Ricki Goodwin why she buys meat at Harry's everyday after school? Could there be a new romance between the butcher and Ricki brewing?

Dear Josephine
 Dear Josephine,
 I have liked a boy ever since the eighth grade. Since then, we have gone together about four different times. It seems that I always have one special friend that hangs around when I am going with him.

When some little trouble comes up, she tries to get me to break up with him. For some reason I always listen to her; then both the boy and I get hurt. In about a month or so, we start going back together again; and I get my special friend back also.

What would I do about this friend's help? We are going back together again, and my friend has started showing up again.

"Helped to much"
 Dear Helped Too Much,
 You are old enough now to know that whatever concerns you and your boyfriend is a personal matter. Your friend should also know this and accept the fact that it is none of her business. If you would give her a few hints to leave your affairs alone, it might help. If she continues to "help" you, simply tell her that your boyfriend and you have decided to work out all of your problems together and that you feel you won't need her advice anymore unless you ask for it.

More Dimmitt Exes Receive Awards

This article is a continuation of one which appeared in last week's paper, informing the public of the honors received and the outstanding work done by some of the ex-students of Dimmitt High School in Texas colleges and universities.

Norma Battles, a student at Texas Tech, has recently been admitted to Southwestern Medical School in Dallas. She has also received the William F. Anderson award for outstanding work in German.

Rubye Clingsmith was tapped along with twenty-five other outstanding junior coeds at Tech, for Junior Council, a junior women's honorary.

Tommy Allen and Mary Ehrends, former members of Junior Council at Tech, were tapped for Mortar Board, an honorary society for senior girls with outstanding scholarship and service records.

Mona Del Hunter, a student at West Texas State University, after winning Miss Talent of Texas for four straight years, has been selected to represent Texas in the Miss Talent of the United States Contest in New York. Miss Hunter plays the piano, organ, and accordion.

Hal Ratcliff, a senior at T.C.U., has been hired to teach and coach in one of the Lubbock Junior High Schools. Jim Ratcliff at San Angelo College and Stanton Calvert at A.C.C. have made the Dean's Honor Roll in their respective schools.

Thanks, Juniors, for the beautiful banquet which the Seniors will never forget. It will stay in our minds for many years to come. nal touch w'n ruffles over the shoulders.

White proved to be the popular color scheme of the evening and Alice Acker's dress was one of the most outstanding. Alice wore a white formal enhanced by a touch of coral at the neck and skirt.

Every girl attending this festive event was stunning as proved by the proud smiles on the boys' faces. Only a few of the many beautiful gowns have been mentioned, but all were certainly noteworthy.

Seek, and You Shall Find

What are you seeking for, and what have you found? What, if anything, have you gained from this year? What have you been searching for?

Many people have contributed much to this year and its activities. They have helped to make Dimmitt Hi School a better school. They have searched for worthy goals, honors, and rewards; thus most of them have been fulfilled. Yet, many students have let others do all of the work and have given nothing themselves; thus they have gained nothing.

It doesn't matter what you are doing, if you take part and share in the activities, then you will be rewarded. Those who make the worst use of their time most complain of its shortness. These are the people who are never satisfied and never happy.

Those people who work hard and do that little extra are the people who find happiness. It has been recorded in time and history, that the people who searched for ideas and dreams which were honorable and right, were the people who were rewarded and recognized by the following generations. These are the people we should honor and appreciate. The question is: "Are you setting examples and achieving the goals for others in future generations to follow and try to attain?"

Fashions Parade at Jr.-Sr. Banquet

Billows of feminine lace and satin were seen Saturday night as the fashion queens of Dimmitt High School attended the Junior - Senior Banquet.

Greta Nelson looked as though she were an angel floating upon a cloud when she appeared in a formal of white satin with a full, billowing skirt accented by gathered layers of net.

For moments people believed that they were looking upon a Grecian Goddess as they stood enthralled by the loveliness of Suzie Davis. Suzie wore a formal with a bodice of pink satin enhanced by a belled skirt which dipped down into layers of ruffles.

All eyes turned upon Nancy Hays as she appeared in a lovely sheath gown of golden hue. The expression "splendor is golden" certainly seemed true upon Nancy's arrival.

Ice blue was the color chosen by Pam Dollar to accent her lovely complexion and hair. Her formal was a billow of ruffles made from silk and net. The full skirt flared into a ceaseless amount of ruffles and the fitted bodice added the final touch.

Thanks, Juniors, for the beautiful banquet which the Seniors will never forget. It will stay in our minds for many years to come.

Students Represent DHS at Regional

David Garza made known the small town of Dimmitt at the regional track meet Saturday, April 25. He led all members of the Dimmitt track team as he placed third.

Garza was tied for second place and the bar was moved to six feet in height for the high-jump. Garza eased over the bar at six foot once out of three tries, but his opponent slipped over twice out of three tries.

Dennis Cleaver and Cecil Hutcheon, who placed first and second at the district meet, represented Dimmitt at the regional meet in the mile run.

Again in the field events Jack Nichols represented Dimmitt as he threw the discus and Jim Axe threw the shot.

Sharon Lilley and Linda McColum represented the girls in tennis as they played in the doubles with Crane. Crane won both sets: 6-1, 6-2.

Junior and Senior Banquet

April 25th and the South Grade School Cafeteria were the date and the place. If you happened to drive by you could have seen so many pretty formal, lovely girls and many handsome boys. Yes, you guess it, the Junior and Senior banquet was under way.

The theme for the banquet was "April Showers." The Juniors did every nice job on the banquet and the decorations were just beautiful. The setting represented a garden with flowers and a flower covered arch. On the stage was an archway and a rainbow with a pat winding up the side of a mountain. There were also some lovers sitting in the corner making love.

First on the program was the master of ceremonies, Chuck McKinney who welcomed the guest. The invocation was given by Mr. M. E. Cleavinger. Then came the food. Yes, everyone dug into the food like they had not eaten for years. It was so good that everyone ate until they couldn't hold any more. The menu was as follows:

Evening Mist
 Rainmakers Choice
 Thunderheads Sunset Glow
 Buds and Twigs
 Clouds Sunshine
 Marshmallow Sky
 April Showers Hallstones

This is unusual names for food, but it was delicious.

The entertainment was a duet by Smith and Jane Cleavinger. Jane played the piano while Smith sang the following songs:

"April Showers" - The theme of the banquet.
 "You'll Never Walk Alone" - He dedicated this to the Seniors because it is their class song.

After this great music we had a speaker who is very talented. He is known to most people as Mr. Magic. But his real name is Mr. Richard K. Williams. Even though he did get mixed up on his speech about American Milestones, he told us about his hobby which is different types of holes. Really everyone should have seen all these different holes and the titles for them. He was a very talented speaker and everyone enjoyed hearing him.

The Benediction was given by Mr. A. J. Kemp.

There was a prom after the banquet with Charlie Bell and his com-

Research Station Discusses Flaming

Flame cultivation isn't a new method of reducing farmers' weed problems. In fact, the first flame cultivator was patented in 1832 and another half dozen found their way into Washington registry by 1926 according to Jack Parks, Assistant Agricultural Engineer in charge of the flame cultivation program at the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway.

Later, in 1935, Col Price McLeMore became the man of the hour in the flame cultivation world when he mounted a weed burner on a Georgia stock on the Mississippi Delta.

Those early days of flame cultivation were rough ones. Before World War II the usual fuel was kerosene, necessitating hand pumps and other cumbersome paraphernalia. The process was hard to sell to the average farmer.

However, the coming of age of liquefied petroleum gas after the war was portentous of a new day dawning for flame cultivation. In 1959 the High Plains Research Foundation opened the door to new vistas for the process. That year as the result of severe weather conditions and a thin cotton stand, the weed crop couldn't be controlled adequately by accepted methods. It was suggested that the Foundation try flame cultivation.

The suggestion resulted in pilot studies which indicated to the Foundation that flame cultivation deserved more attention as means of weed control. Sponsored by the LP gas industry and the Texas Butane Dealers Association, a three year program of research was initiated.

Results of the program are evident on countless farms on the High Plains today. Subscribers to the Foundation gleaned the data from the research reports and put the information to work in their fields almost immediately.

Today the Foundation is recognized as an international authority on flame cultivation methods. Request for information have come from distant countries such as England, Africa, Holland, Israel, Australia, Venezuela, Mexico, and Brazil.

Foreign visitors to the farm at Halfway invariably inquire about flame cultivation. A second three-year program of research was instituted in 1963 to refine the methods of weed control in cotton, grain sorghum, soybeans and castor beans. Some vegetables are also included in the program.

meant increased yields in many instances, and the elimination of turned earth does away with the problems of burying lower bolls in cotton and the lower seed pods in soybeans. In castorbeans the risk of introducing Alternaria leaf spot through damaged roots is reduced by flaming away weeds rather than eliminating them by sweep cultivation.

Parks points out that one benefit usually overlooked is the fact that theoretically the weed problem is decreased by flaming since weeds are killed before being allowed to go to seed.

The Foundation's research program has been geared to three to five flammings in most crops depending on rainfall with an average of eight gallons of fuel used per acre per flaming. Farmers can figure the cost of laying by a crop depending on the cost of fuel in their area.

Current research, as previously mentioned, is geared to refining methods already proven with special emphasis given to harvest aids such as in the elimination of potato tops and to other phases of crop production. Parks has given much study to pre-emergence flaming, the elimination of weeds just before the crop emerges from the ground, and also to the flaming off of grain sorghums before the terminal bud breaks ground. Research has been conducted in Grain sorghum desiccation and Parks says that in 1963 the Foundation was able to harvest desiccated grain a week earlier than grain left unflamed. A savings of approximately 300 pounds per acre was achieved in the desiccated crop with the saving credited to the fact that there was less combine ride-through. The desiccated crop also permitted faster combining and Parks says the Foundation realized a clear profit of $2 to $3 per acre over the cost of flaming.

Farmers Income Increases With Soil Improving

Progressive farmers, who are also good managers, have demonstrated that more net income can be made from a soil improving system of farming than from one that depletes soil fertility. Soils are depleted to a degree every time plant food nutrients or organic matter is removed by cropping or erosion; and NOT REPLACED.

Average yields and income in most sections of Texas are too low to give a good return from land, capital and management. Low yield also permit erosion and encourage soil depletion. In 1963 cotton and cottonseed returned growers $822, 216,000 from 5,875,000 harvested acres (379 lbs. lint) or $139.05 per acre. Grain Sorghum - $250,216,000 from 5,772,000 acres (2,330 grain) or $43.34 per acre; Wheat - $79,205,000 from 2,321,000 per acre (17.5 bushels) or $34.12 per acre; and Hay - $57,148,000 from 1,980,000 acres or $28.86 per acre.

The use of fertilizer is an essential step in increasing crop yields and profits. Fertilizer normally returns $3 to $10 for each dollar spent WHEN PROPERLY USED. The rewards from well fertilized soils are:

- (1) Higher more profitable yields.
 - (2) Better soil and water conservation.
 - (3) More effective utilization of water and plant food nutrients.
 - (4) Soil improvement—more of each plant food nutrient and organic matter added than removed.
- A crop must be grown under good management to get the most out of fertilizer. Then, it is profitable to use adequate amounts to produce the highest yield moisture and other climatic conditions permit. When soils contain sufficient organic matter to keep them in good physical condition and enough plant food is used, a bale of cotton can be produced from 15 usable inches of water. 4500 lbs. grain sorghum - 25 inches; 40 bushels wheat - 20 inches; and 4 tons alfalfa - 32 inches. Twice as much moisture is required to produce the above yields when soils are low in organic matter, are in poor physical condition, and no fertilizer is used.
- Higher yields require proportionately greater amounts of water. The most practical way to maintain an adequate level of organic matter in the soil is to apply enough fertilizer to produce high yields. Then, return all crop residues to the soil. Barnyard manure, cotton burs and other residues should be applied when available and application is feasible. An average return of 4000 lbs. of above ground residue is required to maintain soil organic matter. The average must be higher to add to the organic matter supply. Grain sorghum producing 4500 lbs. per acre will return about 5500 lbs. residue; 40 bu wheat - 5000 lbs., and bale per acre stripped cotton—2000 - 3000 lbs. Organic matter cannot be maintained when cotton is grown continuously, when grain yields are too low, or when residues are burned.

The use of an adequate amount of plant food is highly beneficial in conserving soil and water. A well fertilized crop stops off faster; covers the soil more quickly and produces a denser crop growth. This breaks the impact of rain on the surface of the soil to a greater extent than does a crop that has been poorly fertilized. Adequate vegetative cover, either as a living crop or crop residues left on the soil after harvest, is the most economical way to reduce soil and water losses. By using enough fertilizer to produce high yields, there are more stalks and stubble available for return to the soil. This aids in increasing the soil's ability to take in water and store it deep for later use.

Large amounts of plant food are utilized in producing crops. To produce a bale of cotton, 80 lbs. nitrogen (N); 40 lbs. phosphate (P2O5), and 60 lbs. potash (K2O) are required. A yield of 4500 lbs. grain sorghum requires (110-60-70), 40 bu. wheat requires (80-30-50), and 6 ton Coastal Bermuda Hay requires (240, 80-220).

A lot of plant food is removed from the soil in the harvested portion of the crop. For example, one bale of stripped cotton removes 50 lbs. nitrogen (N); 25 lbs. phosphate (P2O5), and 50 lbs. potash (K2O). 4500 lbs grain sorghum removes (70-35-20); 40 bu wheat removes (50-25-15) and tons Coastal Bermuda Hay removes (180-60-180). To improve soil fertility, more of each of the plant food nutrients must be applied than removed.

The amount of applied plant food nutrients utilized will vary with the crop grown, soil moisture, the physical condition of the soil, and the organic matter content of the soil. The plants will get 30 - 70 per cent of the nitrogen (N); 10 - 30 per cent of the phosphate (P2O5), and 30 - 60 per cent of the potash (K2O) the first year the fertilizer is applied. The nutrients remaining in the soil will be used by subsequent crops.

NITROGEN is the growth and moisture stretching factor in crop production. It gives plants their green color and a higher protein content. Nitrogen deficiency in the plants is indicated by a yellowish

Systemics Tested For Cattle Grub Control

In recent tests conducted by research and Extension entomologists at Texas A & M University, use of the systemic insecticide, ronnel, proved more effective in the control of cattle grubs than did the use of other systemics which were applied to the backs of animals.

In the experiments, a salt and mineral mixture containing 5.5 percent ronnel was fed to range cattle on a free choice basis in either block of granular form. Results of the tests showed that use of ronnel resulted in a 92 percent control of the grub. For best results, the mixture should be fed at least 75 consecutive days between May 1 and September 1, the specialists said.

By feeding the systemic, better control of flies was also noted. Residual effects of the insecticide in manure reduced fly populations in the pasture to a considerable ex-color of leaves Corn and grain sorghum "fire" along the midrib of the leaf. Cotton develops a yellowish color and makes a small stalk. Bermuda grasses have a yellowish color and produce small yields of forage which are less palatable and have a lower protein content.

PHOSPHORUS encourages early root development, early fruiting, and hastens maturity. Adequate phosphorus makes cool season crop more resistant to cold. In growing plants, phosphorus is essential in the development of new cell. In mature plants over half of the phosphorus is in the fruits and seeds. Phosphorus deficiency in plants is indicated by a slow growth and poor fruiting. Cotton sheds squares and small bolls when the plants don't get enough phosphorus. Foliarage of corn and grain sorghum often shows a purpling of the leaves.

POTASSIUM makes plants grow vigorously, aids in fighting diseases, and is essential in the formation of starches, sugars, and oils in plants. In corn, small grain and grain sorghum it stiffens stalks. Potash deficiency is indicated by a scorching of the edge of leaves.

The soil must supply plants with a well balanced supply of plant food nutrients in order to produce high yields of good quality. It is much better to maintain a balance of plant food in soils than to deplete a nutrient and then try to get them back into proper balance.

Fertile soils are one of our Nation's greatest assets. Let's keep them productive so farms, communities, towns and cities may prosper.

Heavy Grazing Reduces Soil's Capacity To Absorb Water

The continued heavy grazing of Southern Great Plains ranges may seriously restrict the soil's ability to absorb moisture needed for grass production.

G. O. Hoffman, range specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reports scientists of the Agricultural Research Service, have found that the water intake rate of range, heavily grazed for 20 years, was only half that of lightly grazed range. Specifically, water intake was 2.27 inches per hour after heavy grazing; 3.64 inches after moderate grazing and 4.41 inches after light grazing.

Reduction of vegetative cover by heavy grazing was cited as the principal reason for the decrease in water-intake rates and emphasizes the importance of managing grazing intensity to get the most out of moisture on loamy fine sandy soils in the Southern Great Plains, according to Hoffman.

The research, conducted at the Southern Great Plains Field Station, Woodward, Oklahoma, in cooperation with the Oklahoma Agricultural Experiment Station, also showed that short, sod-forming grasses including blue grama, sand dropseed, fall witchgrass and sand paspalum—predominated in the heavily grazed pastures. They had replaced such taller species as sand bluestem, little bluestem, switchgrass and sand lovegrass.

Edd Rhodes, an agricultural engineer who directed the research, reported that the continued heavy control is emphasized in Texas by the fact that meat packers pay 1 to 2 cents a pound less for cattle infested with grubs. Damage caused by the grub is primarily to the hide and flesh of the back.

The life cycle of the cattle grub begins during the first warm days of spring. During this time, heflies appear and begin laying their eggs in neat rows along hairs on the lower parts of the leg. In three or four days the eggs hatch and the larvae burrow into the skin. During the next five months the larvae burrow through the soft connective tissue between muscles in their journey to the gutlet. Once in the gutlet the grubs remain there about three months before beginning their migration to just beneath the skin of the back. Here they cut breathing holes and remain for six weeks. In December and January the larvae emerge and drop to the ground to pupate. In March and April, they emerge as flies, thus completing a life cycle.

Screwworms Threaten Most Of Texas

The screwworm fly has begun its annual march northward, and with conditions favorable for its development and migration existing throughout most of the state, farmers and ranchers need to be alert to become "screwworm conscious."

Mild temperatures, moisture and an abundance of animal wounds prevalent over much of Texas could bring about widespread infestation, screwworm eradication program officials state. They are particularly concerned about those areas calving, farrowing and spring animal husbandry activities are in full swing. Failure of livestockmen to treat shear cuts, scratches and surgical wounds could result in a sharp upswing in screwworm cases.

Only seven screwworm cases had been reported during the first three months of 1964—all of them in Texas during March—but that total has already been doubled during the first week in April and more cases are being reported every day. Indication are the screwworm fly. Is following the same pattern of migration as last year, when a significant increase in cases was experienced in April and May.

Although most of the cases have been reported in South Texas, one was detected as far north as McCulloch County, while the area west of San Antonio has experienced several cases.

County agricultural agents are encouraging livestock producers to keep a close watch over their animals so that wounds and infestations can be promptly treated. Sample larvae should be collected from infested wounds and turned in to the county agent's office or sent directly to Box 969, Mission, Texas, for identification.

Additional sterile screwworm flies reared and sexually sterilized at the Mission plant, are released near the scene of all infestations as soon as possible after a case has been reported to eradicate headquarters.

New Bidrin® Insecticide lies in wait inside cotton—knocks out thrips, fleahoppers, aphids, mites, lygus wherever they attack tender foliage

Above: magnified cross sections of cotton leaves. In left picture, Bidrin (dark strip, top) kills cotton insect with contact action, covers and protects leaf surface. 24 hours later, Bidrin has entered leaf tissue (picture right). Insect attacking from below where spray didn't reach—sucks up Bidrin with juices. This systemic action keeps protecting 7 to 14 days.

Magnified cross sections of cotton leaves (above) show how one application of new Bidrin keeps working 7 to 14 days, rain or shine.

BIDRIN is the new phosphate insecticide that kills cotton pests with both contact and systemic actions.

- It kills all major cotton insects on contact, at time of spraying—even weevils and worms.
- It enters and spreads through plant tissue, makes cotton deadly to thrips, aphids, fleahoppers, mites, lygus.

When insects attack, they die—even if they pierce bottom of leaves where spray doesn't reach. This is systemic action. It keeps working 7 to 14 days.

Proven by growers

New Bidrin's amazing two-way action paid off for thousands of cotton growers in '63. They grew more cotton. And, thanks to early insect control with Bidrin, a higher percent of their crop was early, high-quality, bottom cotton.

Weather resistant—economical
Soon after spraying, Bidrin enters your cotton plants. Once inside, rain can't wash it off. Sun can't break it down. Bidrin has practically eliminated weather as a cause for respraying.

Bidrin costs little compared to insecticides that can't begin to do the same kind of job. Bidrin's long-lasting effectiveness means fewer sprays. With Bidrin you avoid buying early insect control at seeding before you know whether or not insects will come. Bidrin gives you systemic control, yet it lets you wait and see. Result: maximum insect control at minimum cost.

Get Bidrin from your pesticide supplier. Many brands available.

Always read and follow label directions. For more information write: Shell Chemical Company, Agricultural Chemicals Division, Post Office Box 2099, Houston 1, Texas.

Maintain control with endrin-methyl parathion

During squaring and fruiting, stay ahead of insects with endrin-methyl parathion. It knocks out bollworms and weevils plus many other insects—quickly and surely. Gives you maximum length of control per spray, minimum number of sprays to do the job. Send for free, full-color booklet.

Pfeiffenberger Receives Honorary Doctor's Degree
For only the twentieth time in its 23-year history, Texas Technological College this spring will award an honorary degree.

The degree, Doctor of Science, was voted by the Board of Directors to George W. Pfeiffenberger, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock, for outstanding service to the High Plains cotton industry, to Texas Tech, and for his accomplishments in cotton research and marketing. Presentation will take place during the 1964 spring graduation ceremonies at Tech.

According to Harold Hinn, Tech Director of Plainview and Dallas who nominated Pfeiffenberger for the singular honor "he has, through his work, brought about hundreds of millions of dollars of additional funds into the South Plains economy." He pointed out that through the investigation of light spot cotton utilization the local executive was largely responsible for area cotton producers getting from $18 to $24 more per bale for cotton in that grade since 1958.

After an extensive background in cotton technology, during the course of which he developed new methods and new instruments for use in the cotton industry, Pfeiffenberger assumed his present position as head of the giant Plains producer organization in 1956. Since that time he has had full responsibility for PCG's research programs, legislative vigilance, educational programs and other activities in behalf of the High Plains cotton producer. He majored in chemistry at the University of Dayton, Ohio in the city of his birth and studied textile courses at Texas A & M University.

As Cotton Research Director for the Chicopee Manufacturing Corporation of Lubbock and Chicopee Falls, Massachusetts, he was charged with the setting up and operation of a pilot spinning plant at Texas Tech. The spinning laboratory was operated until 1953 carrying out large-scale research operations and converting the results into five Chicopee mills in New England and the Southwest. As Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Pfeiffenberger has maintained a keen interest in Texas Tech's Textile Research Laboratory and partially as a result of this interest and financial support from PCG the Tech Pilot Plant is now one of two completely modern spinning laboratories in the United States. The Textile Research Laboratory at Tech is used extensively by Plains Cotton Growers on a contract basis in conducting investigations of High Plains cotton fiber qualities and spinning performance. The results of these investigations are an integral part of PCG's promotion program for the area's cotton.

He began his cotton career in 1930 as one of the first technologists in the newly formed cotton fiber laboratory of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. He was with the Department of Agriculture in various positions connected with cotton technology and research until 1945, and has since served as a member of the National Cotton Advisory Committee. In 1963 acted as cotton producer representative to the International Cotton Advisory Committee in Bangalore, India, a meeting of delegates from 47 countries.

In his connection with Chicopee Manufacturing, later as Research Director for Otto Goedecke Company of Hallettsville, Texas, and recently as Executive Vice President of PCG, Pfeiffenberger has become known around the world as a writer and lecturer on cotton and cotton technology. He was chosen "Cotton's Man of the Year" in 1961 by Cotton Digest Magazine, and many of his lectures and articles have been translated into three languages for foreign use.

Angeley Joins Staff At Halfway
Dr. Earl Collister, Director of the High Plains Research Foundation, announced the addition of Bob Angeley to the staff of the Foundation. Mr. Angeley will fill the position of Public Relations Representative.

Bob, formerly with the Farm and Ranch Department of KGNC radio and TV in Amarillo, is well known in the Springlake, and Muleshoe, Texas, area where he went to school.

Angeley's farming experience in Lamb County, under irrigated conditions, gives him ready knowledge and understanding of the agriculture needs of West Texas. Bob will travel extensively over the High Plains to assist in the educational work for the Foundation.

He graduated from Springlake High School and attended college at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, New Mexico.

Dr. Earl H. Collister stated, "With the growth of, and added demands upon the Foundation, we find that we must enlarge the staff of many of our departments. Bob Angeley, with his knowledge of West Texas and the High Plains, will be of great value to the Foundation in our educational program."

Bob, his wife, Gaye, and their two children now live in Plainview.

Phosphated Wheat Looks Good At Denton Station

Wheat receiving a fall application of 40 pounds of superphosphate per acre seemed to have better spring growth and greater winter hardiness in experiments of Station located here, reports Daniel I. Dudley, superintendent.

In late March, wheat receiving the phosphate treatment was as much as a foot tall. Untreated plots were, in some cases, only five inches tall.

The results indicate that for wheat producers with limited fertilizer budgets, it may be wise to spend more money on phosphate if they cannot afford complete fertilization, explains Dudley.

"Phosphate fertilization of wheat may be most important to producers who graze the crop," Dudley said. "Here at the station wheat with phosphate seemed to get off to a better start this spring and immediately showed greater growth than unfertilized plots. The same reaction could be expected over much of this part of the state," he added.

Research on the benefits of phosphate is by no means complete, Dudley said. Their observations came from work being done by Agronomist Pat Rich, who is conducting experiments on the long term effects of wheat-milo rotations with different management and fertilization programs.

Postal Service Limitations To Be In Effect May 4

The limited adjustments in some Postal Services ordered in Washington March 10, by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski to save 12.7 Million Dollars, will begin to take effect in Dimmitt, Texas and other cities on May 4, Postmaster Davis said today.

Service changes planned locally include the following, Mr. Davis said:

1. Parcel Post Deliveries in the city will be cut to five days weekly, instead of six days. We will not make any Parcel Post deliveries on Tuesday of each week. All parcels to be delivered on Star Routes will continue to be delivered as usual, six days weekly. The City Routes will continue delivery of mail 6 days weekly and special Delivery mail will be delivered as usual.
2. Window Service on Saturdays will be limited to 4 hours or 4 man hours. All of the Window Service will be consolidated to one window and the Post Office will not Sell or Issue Domestic or International Money Orders on Saturday. Money Orders will only be issued five days per week, Monday through Friday.

The Postmaster emphasized that no essential major services are affected under the order. There will be no change in Home Delivery or Special Delivery, and all Regular Business mail Deliveries will continue as usual. Letters and other First Class Mail will be handled with the same priority as ever.

The economy step, Mr. Davis explained, is in line with President Johnson's programs, under which the recent Federal income tax cut was provided.

SOIL COMPACTION

Compaction of soil is one of the surest ways of reducing yield or keeping a crop from yielding its full potential. And soil compaction will take place when soils that are too wet are worked.

Compaction of soil will decrease root growth and root penetration. Pore space, or air space, in the soil will be reduced, thus depriving roots of their normal supply of oxygen. Yields of grain sorghum or cotton can be reduced up to 25 per cent or even more when soils are compacted. Yield of root crops, such as beets, could be reduced even more.

A good brown silty clay loam soil in this area will usually weigh about 80 to 85 lbs per cubic foot of dry soil. It would have about 50 per cent pore space. If such a soil were compacted, it would probably weigh about 100 lbs. per cubic ft. and would have only about 40 per cent pore space. This means 20 per cent less room for air and water in the soil. Soils in extremely poor physical condition may weigh up to 125 lbs per cubic foot. For a vivid comparison of heavily compacted soils, one cubic foot of concrete would weigh about 125 to 135 lbs per cubic foot. Plants don't grow too well in concrete!

So don't work a soil when it is too wet. Minimum compaction occurs when soils are worked at moisture content at which plants will. Remember too, that rate of irrigation water intake will also be reduced in compacted soils.

Pool Urges

Oil Import Restrictions

A substantial reduction in foreign oil imports under the mandatory oil imports program would materially advance the President's program to stimulate the nation's over-all economy by creating oil industry jobs and reviving exploration for new reserves, Texas Congressman at Large Joe Pool said here today.

Employment in the oil industry has declined about 25 per cent below the level of 1956, while the consumption of crude oil was greater in 1963 than the amount added to our petroleum reserves, Pool declared.

The Texas Congressman said he would join with domestic producers and processors and other members of Congress in asking Interior Secretary Udall, oil imports administrator, to "re-examine, strengthen and improve" the ratio of imports to domestic production before new imports quotas are established July 1. Imports of crude oil (exclusive of Canada and Mexico) are limited to 12.2 per cent of estimated domestic production at present.

Pool said 170 members of the House and about 30 Senators are on record with bills or endorsements favoring a reduction in the imports of residual oil for consumption east of the Rockies, where it competes with domestic production of oil, natural gas and coal.

The mandatory oil imports program was established by presidential proclamation in 1959 on the grounds that national security and the health of the domestic oil industry required a limitation on the inflow of foreign petroleum and derivatives. A volunteer program for imports restrictions had failed prior to that year, Pool pointed out.

"For three of the years the program has been in effect, the discovery of oil reserves has been less than the rate of consumption; the price of domestic crude has declined an average of about 20 cents a barrel and fewer new wells are being drilled," Rep. Pool declared. "A very large segment of the industry and those allied with it believe oil imports can be substantially reduced without serious damage to other producing nations and would stimulate the petroleum industry here at home."
