BANQUET LAST THURSDAY NIGHT

MORE THAN 300 PEOPLE ARE PRESENT AT BANQUET AND DENVER JUBILEE

The granting of the Fort Worth & Denver's permit for the construction to the South Plains was first celebrated by the citizens of Lockney and surrounding towns with a banquet at Lockney Thursday night at which Judge W. D. McKoy, representing the railroad company, pledged first class service to the Burlington family.

"Mr. Clarity, who was called to Chicago by Mr. Holden to discuss plans for the building of the extension asked me to tell the people of the South Plains that the Fort Worth and Denver will build into Lockney within the required time," Judge McKoy said, "we expect to give you splendid passenger service. It is our plan that you shall have diner and pullman service. We will do everything within our power to give you first class and good service."

Smith and Kell thanked the banquet was presided over by A. B. Brown, Lockney banker, who Judge McKoy said, first presented the needs of the South Plains to the officials of the Fort Worth and Denver. He was the first man to come to Fort Worth to interview personally the officials of the road he went on to say and to ask them to come to the Plains. Jule G. Smith of Fort Worth was present at the banquet and Judge McKoy related that the effort to obtain the permit to build the line would have been futile "had it not been for the testimony of Mr. Smith and Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, who understood the needs and possibilities of this region."

More than 300 persons attended the banquet. Brown stated that the affair had been planned in less than a week's time. Little preparation could be had for the occasion, but it was in the nature of a spontaneous Thanksgiving for the granting of the Fort Worth and Denver's permit for the construction of the South Plains line.

Musical Program

Lockney's famous Ukelele Club composed of ten young women, was the feature of the banquet. The club was a big hit at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Amarillo and received national publicity during that meeting. Thursday night's program was interspersed with witty song improvisations by the club. Musical toasts were rendered to the various towns represented and to the speakers on the program. The club's song and a reading by Mrs. O. E. Stevenson, the piano accompaniment by played by Mrs. H. H. Ball were the musical numbers of the program. A pleasing surprise was a short address by Gid Waller, high school student, in which the advantages of the South Plains and Lockney were outlined.

Judge McKoy invited the members of the Ukelele Club to ride on the first train over the new line.

"The people of Fort Worth have prayed for the consummation which you now enjoy," Jule G. Smith, Fort bearing the greetings of his home city. He predicted, however, that the event which the Lockney citizens were celebrating would prove to be more far reaching than even the connecting of the South Plains with the Burlington system.

Opens Up Competition

"A competitive rail line has been granted in the South Plains," he said. You are celebrating an event which will open the sluice gates of competitive railroad building in the South Plains. It will not be long before the Santa Fe will be compelled to extend its line from the South Plains to Fort Worth.

"You are no happier here tonight than the entire citizenship of Fort Worth. In its wisdom the Interstate Commerce Commission has picked out the strongest and ablest system available to build into the South Plains. We are rejoicing with you.

Brown remarked that the South Plains had been fortunate in the cooperation which its towns had received from the towns further east on the Fort Worth and Denver, Wichita Falls, Dallas and Fort Worth. The City of Dallas he said had always been ready and willing to help in the extension of the line wherever

PRODUCE COMPANY NOW IN BUSINESS

PRACTICALLY EVERY BUSINESS MAN IN TOWN BECOMES MEMBER OF ASS'N

At a meeting of the newly organized Merchants Poultry Company, tonight at the First National Bank, at which practically every business firm in town was represented, Robin Baker was elected president; G. S. Morris, H. P. Coleman, W. A. Brewster, E. E. Dyer and Geo. T. Meriwether, directors; Denary Hamilton, Manager, and G. A. Barton, assistant bookkeeper and auditor. A charter for incorporating the company will be asked for within the next few days.

Buying produce began at the company's place of business this morning, and today 681 pounds of turkeys were received. The station will be ready to receive cream by Monday morning, and will be under good headway.

At a meeting of the business men of Lockney about ten days ago, a committee was appointed to look into the poultry business and see what could be done, or what steps could be taken to remedy the proposition in regard to the towns around Lockney paying more for the produce of the farmers than the houses in Lockney were paying. Several telephone calls were made, and the proprietors of these houses were called and asked if they could not pay the same prices in Lockney that they were in other towns, and were informed in a most curt manner that they would not pay the prices in Lockney that they were paying in surrounding towns and that the people of Lockney could not help themselves. As a consequence a meeting was held of Lockney business men at which almost every merchant was present, and it was decided that a committee should be appointed to look into the matter and see what could be done toward getting an organization to cope with the situation.

The result was that the committee investigated and found that there were many markets that could be had that was willing to pay the prices in Lockney for the turkeys, chickens and cream of the country and that they would be willing to give us a market second to none on the Plains. It was decided to organize a stock company of the merchants and business men of the town, hire a manager to take care of the business, rent a house and open up a regular poultry house that would buy poultry and cream every day in the year and at all times paying the highest market price for the produce, which will give the people of the Lockney country the very best price for their cream and produce at all times. This means a stabilized market where the people will know they can come with their produce and get just as high a price as any other town on the Plains.

One of the largest companies in the United States was interested and agreed to take every pound of poultry and cream we could get, and pay the top market price for these products every day in the year. At a meeting held at the First National Bank Monday night and the Merchants Produce Company was organized, and the stock offered for sale at $10 per share. Practically every business man in town subscribed for from one to twenty shares, and the company is to be incorporated under the laws of the State of Texas. The brick building belonging to J. H. Bynington on main street has been rented, and Deard Hamilton has been hired to manage same. The business is now open and ready to buy the cream, chickens, turkeys of the farmers. The concern is a home institution and was organized to protect the farmers of the Lockney country and the merchants of Lockney against being butchered by produce dealers in other towns and to make them the best of market conditions here at home.

No matter how high the price goes on turkeys chickens or cream in the surrounding towns you can hereafter find the market just as good or better right here in Lockney, and you will be able to sell your produce and cream every day in the year, and you will know that you are getting every cent for your cream and produce that it will bring in any town surrounding Lockney.

ENGINEERS TO START WORK ON LINE

DENVER TO RUSH CONSTRUCTION OF TRACKAGE IN SOUTH PLAINS

FORT WORTH, Dec. 1.—Construction of the Fort Worth and Denver's new railroad across the South Plains area of Texas will be under way by January 1, Frank E. Clarity, vice-president and general manager, said today.

He has just returned from a conference at Chicago with Hale Holden, president of the Burlington system, of which the Denver is a subsidiary. They went over the Interstate Commerce Commission order permitting construction of two intersecting lines of a total length of 202 miles in the South Plains.

"Within two weeks," Clarity said, "we will have engineering corps in the field to state out the road bed. Much of the right-of-way has already been pledged and the preliminary surveys made."

It will be the largest single piece of road construction in the United States, and probably one of the last big projects in Texas. The cost will be around $6,000,000.

Plans Yet Incomplete

FORT WORTH, Dec. 1.—Proposed dissolution of the $2,000,000 finance corporation backing the projected T. P. & G. railroad is still being held in abeyance as far as could be learned today from President F. W. Axtell of board of directors and two executive committees.

Le Roy Smith and Ireland Hampton, representing the executive committee at a conference at the corporation's Chicago headquarters, returned today and said plans are still incomplete.

The corporation was promoting effort to build the T. P. & G. in West Texas, but was denied permission by the Interstate Commerce Commission when it granted a permit to the Fort Worth and Denver for new lines in the same territory.

WRITE SANTA CLAUS A LETTER CHILDREN

SANTA CLAUS IS COMING-WANTS CHILDREN TO WRITE HIM THEIR WANTS AT ONCE

We have recently made arrangements with Santa Claus to print letters from all the children in the issue of Thursday, Dec. 16 of the Lockney Beacon. All children are asked to write their letters to Santa Claus and address them in care of the Beacon, Lockney, Texas. The letters must be mailed or handed in to the Beacon not later than Tuesday, Dec. 14, but they may be mailed in any time before that date.

Santa stated in an interview the other day that he had quite a round to make this year and would like to know as soon as possible just what each little boy and girl wanted before he starts back to his country on his Christmas journey, and will appreciate a letter from each child telling him of their wants.

HOWARD PHENIS BUYS CITY BAKERY IN LOCKNEY

Mr. Howard Phenis of Plainview has bought the City Bakery from T. B. Hill, and has taken charge of the business. Mr. Phenis is an experienced baker, having been head baker in the City Bakery at Plainview for a number of years, and is a first class bread and pastry cook. Mr. and Mrs. Phenis and son have moved to the Well's house, just across the street from the Beacon offices, where they will make their future home.

The writer has known these people for many years, and can recommend them to the people of Lockney as being good people, good bakers, and good citizens of the community. They will be pleased to have you visit them and get acquainted.

Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Yearout, of Maryville, Tennessee, are here visiting Mrs. Yearout's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Day. Mr. and Mrs. Yearout are undecided as to whether they will remain here, or go to California.

NINE COUNTIES TO HOLD ELECTIONS

ELECTIONS WILL BE CALLED FOR JANUARY 4th IN ALL COUNTIES ON ROUTE

While the thrill of a new railroad construction on the South Plains still is being enjoyed by the citizens of the South Plains, plans are rapidly being consummated for the biggest single highway building program in the history of the South.

Commissioner's Courts in nine counties are expected to call elections in their respective counties for the issue of bonds for the construction of a hard surfaced highway along the Highway route from Vernon to Ft. Well. The elections are all to be held on the same day, Jan. 4. Simultaneous campaigns are to be waged in each of the counties.

The Lee Highway runs 270 miles through Texas. Preliminary surveys call for an expenditure of $7,500,000 on the construction of the highway. The Texas unit is the longest stretch of dirt now on the Lee Highway between Washington and San Diego.

The movement for the surfacing of the Lee Highway in Texas was inaugurated at a meeting held in Floydada on Sept. 24. The Floyd county Lee Highway Association was organized and Mack Stevens of Floydada was elected president.

Plan Bond Issue

R. P. Johnston, representing the association's headquarters at Washington, was present, and as a result of the meeting began organizing co-associations in each of the nine counties. Dick Coffey of Vernon is the Texas vice-president of the association.

Floyd county citizens plan to vote a bond issue of $500,000 and with state aid expect to construct a brick highway. A concrete base will be built. It is with the definite promise of this sort of highway that the tax payers of the county will be asked to vote bonds. The highway will enter Floyd county about 17 1/2 miles east of Floydada and go through Floydada and Lockney to the Hale county line. It will extend 40 miles through the county.

Elections will be held on January 4, according to the present plans, in Parmer, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motter, Cottle, Foard and Wilbarger. The types of highway in these counties have not been decided on.

National attention will be directed to the Plains of Texas when this campaign for the construction of the Lee Highway through the state gets under way Johnston said.

The undertaking is gigantic, and will challenge the admiration of good roads enthusiasts over the Nation. The election, to be held on the same day in the nine counties, following a campaign in behalf of co-operative effort by nine counties banded to will be like state elections in other states.

All of the Lee Highway project will be subject to state and federal aid. It is the part of the 7 per cent system.

Route to Fort Worth.

President Stevenson of the Floyd county Lee Highway Association declared that the citizens of this county, while valuing the connection east and west afforded by the new highway look on the highway as being very desirable because it gives the Plains a direct shot, over a hard-surface highway direct in to Fort Worth.

The Lee Highway runs from Farwell Texas almost on an air line to with many projects now under way. Give it a hard surface and motorists will have a 40-mile-an-hour highway into Fort Worth.

There is now under construction or assured, a hard surface highway from Vernon into Fort Worth. Highway Commissioner Scott Woodward, following a recent tour over Montague county, had passed by the state highway commission on appropriation for $75,000 to build a highway from Montague County and into Wise so a connection could be had with the asphalt in that county. Work is now proceeding on the building of the highway into Clay county. Actual construction will be under way, Woodward said, within a few days.

The Lee Highway runs from a point near the White House in Washington to San Diego, California. With the exception of thirteen miles there is a pavement from Washington to

POULTRY SHOW ON DECEMBER 16-17-18

PREMIUM LIST AND CATALOGUE WILL BE READY FOR DISTRIBUTION MONDAY

The Beacon is now printing the Catalogue and Premium list for the annual show of the Floyd County Poultry Association, which will hold their show in Lockney Dec. 16, 17 and 18, this year. Arrangements are being made to hold the biggest and best poultry show that has ever been held in this county.

The show held last year by the Floyd County Poultry Association was conceded to be the best show ever held in the county and one of the best shows in the entire state. It is hoped this year to surpass all shows of past years with the one that is to be held.

Floyd county is one of the largest poultry producing counties in the entire state, and there are many pure bred flocks in the county, and every year shows a decided increase in the poultry business in this county. There will be many birds from counties over the entire state and also from other states in this show, according to information that has been received at this office.

A good premium list has been offered to those who are poultry fanciers, and competition is expected to be very strong in all classes at this show.

UKELELE CLUB ARE HONOR GUESTS

BANQUET GIVEN THE UKELELE CLUB AT WARE HOTEL BY JUDGE I. R. KELSO

The Lockney Ukelele club spent last Friday in Plainview attending the Denver celebration as the guests of Judge and Mrs. I. R. Kelso of St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Dennis Kelso of Springfield, Mo.

Judge Kelso attended the banquet at Lockney Thursday night and invited the Ukelele club to be his guests at the Plainview celebration the following day.

The girls went to Plainview the following morning accompanied by Mrs. A. B. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Adams, Mrs. Geo. Kenyon, Mrs. W. L. Whit and J. B. Downs. On the arrival of the special train from Wichita Falls, Childress and Amarillo, the girls played and sang at the Depot, after which they went to the office of the Texas Utilities Company where they held a short concert.

At noon they were escorted to the Ware Hotel, where a nice luncheon had been prepared for them under the direction of Judge and Mrs. I. R. Kelso, Miss Kelso and Mr. E. S. Billings of the Texas Utilities Company. The banquet of the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs was held in the same dining room with the Kelso banquet and the girls took part in rendering the program for the occasion.

A very enjoyable day was spent and the Kelso's were highly praised for their hospitality. The members taking part in this reception were Misses Billie Griffin, Velma Marble, Alene and Mavis Davis, Maemon Meriwether Lorraine Still, Hazel Bybee, Ruth Stapleton and Leo Simpson.

Prof. W. D. Biggers and Dr. R. E. L. Mewshaw returned the first of the week from El Paso. While away Teachers convention in El Paso, and Dr. Mewshaw attended business in Las Cruces, N. M.

Chattanooga, Tenn. All of the unit paved or under contract to be paved. There is a pavement from Memphis to Little Rock, and pavement and gravel from Little Rock to Hot Springs. There is a little dirt between Hot Springs and DeQueen, Ark., but the highway is paved is paved from DeQueen on to Ardmore, Oklahoma. Pavement is assured from Ardmore to Vernon.

There is an organization in each of the nine counties to be traversed by the highway in Texas. Hale county will probably ask the largest bond issue contemplated there. A bond issue of nine hundred thousand dollars will be voted, as they intend while paving the Lee to also pave north and south.

Judge C. L. Glenn of Matador is president of the Texas organization.

CELEBRATION HELD PLAINVIEW FRIDAY

LARGE CROWD AND MANY COMMUNITIES ARE REPRESENTED AT THE CELEBRATION

PLAINVIEW, Nov. 26.—A Fort Worth & Denver and South Plains railroad locomotive led a parade of South Plains citizens through the business district of Plainview today.

It was a dummy engine with a loud ringing bell and the Letters F. W. D. & S. P. were marked prominently upon the tender. But the thousands of people who viewed the parade and the hundreds who joined in it realized that the clanging of the dummy locomotive was the pueroy of the real steel horse which will soon come into the South Plains over bands of steel Judge W. D. McKoy, representative of the Fort Worth and Denver, brought a message from Frank E. Clarity, vice-president of the Fort Worth and Denver, that he was in Chicago to make plans for the early construction of the line.

"We are prepared to carry out the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission," Judge McKoy said, "in the early construction of the extension into the South Plains."

Many Delegations on Hand

The celebration was more than a regional affair. It took on an all State color. Delegations were present from Fort Worth, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Childress, Lockney, Amarillo, Lubbock, Quitaque, Turkey, Silverton, and Dimmitt. Wichita Falls Childress and Amarillo delegations were the largest from far distances. The Childress delegation proclaimed in banners during the parade that they felt as much interest in the line as any one else because Childress is the southern terminus of the Fort Worth & Denver and South Plains railroad. The Wichita Falls delegation was headed by Frank Kell, declared by Martin who presided at the mass meeting in the afternoon to be, "Texas' most distinguished private citizen." The Dallas delegation included A. L. Reed, Dallas lawyer, but formerly connected with the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, who took an important role in the securing of the permit.

Fort Worth was represented by Jule G. Smith, grain man, whose testimony with that of Kell, was declared to be responsible in a major measure for the granting of the permit. McKoy said that the final ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission virtually tracked the testimony of these two men. W. W. Flanniken, president of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce represented that city in offering congratulations.

Wade is C. of C. Envoys

Homer D. Wade of Stamford, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce brought greetings from that organization. Garland Woodward, president of the Lions club of Lubock, was present from that city.

The celebration began with the parade in the morning. At noon thousands were served with barbecue on the public square and there was a luncheon for the visiting delegations at the Ware Hotel. P. A. Underwood leader for many years in West Texas affairs, presided at the luncheon and A. B. Martin, Plainview lawyer, who made the argument for the South Plains before the Interstate Commerce Commission, was chairman of the mass meeting.

During the afternoon there was a football game between the Plainview and Electra high school football teams. The Plainview Players, a Little Theatre company presented a play and two dances were accorded the visitors.

The outstanding speech of the day was made at the afternoon session when Kell, noted as a railroad builder, financier and economist took direct issue with Senator Earle B. Mayfield in the latter's effort to repeal the Esch-Cummings Act. Kell seized upon the celebrating of the granting of the permit to declare the event but confirmed the wisdom of Congress in placing within the hands of the Commission the right to direct in behalf of the common good the construction of railroads.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Perry returned Tuesday from a trip of several days to the Rio Grande Valley. They visited their daughter, Mrs. Jack Lanford of Edinburg while in that section.

TEXAS DIVORCES

Texas' fame as the land of freedom received a noticeable boost Friday when divorce statistics of the Nation were announced by the federal census bureau. During 1925 liberty was granted by the courts of Texas to 15,120 mismatched couples, this representing the record for wholesale severance of the marriage bond. The report shows Tarrant county well at the head of all Texas counties in the ratio of divorces in marriage. The Fort Worth courts granted dispensations to 1,069 couples, whereas the marriages during the year totalled 2,511. Divorce was numerically most popular in Harris county, where 1,829 couples decided matrimony as no go, but that county's 4,201 marriages cut down the batting average of the divorce courts. Dallas county led in the matter of marriages, with 4,507 during the year.

The figures would seem to indicate that Texas, not Nevada, should be the Mecca of men and women upon whom the matrimonial yoke rests heavily. But the showing loses some of its point when the rate of divorce as compared to marriages and as compared with the population of the whole state is considered. The total number of marriages in the whole state of Texas during 1925 was 69,728 a figure that was exceeded by only one other state, New York. Divorces per 1,000 population during 1925 numbered 2.9 as against 13.98 in Nevada, figuring on the same basis of population, Texas' marriage figure was 13.4. Thus marriages still lead divorces in Texas in the ratio of 13.4 to 2.9. The ratio shows that four out of five of Texas couples make a go of matrimony, which is not a matter to cause alarm. A more disadvantageous showing is that of the actual decrease in the number of marriages. In 1924 there were 72,292 weddings in the state, but in 1924 there was a decrease of 2,554.

This decrease involves a problem that ought to be interesting to amateur sociologists.

A decline in the marriage rate usually attends upon hard times. But during these years there has been the opposite of hard times in Texas. —Star Telegram.

possible. He introduced John Boswell representing the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, and former secretary of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce. "It has not been long," he said, "since the citizens of the South Plains came to Dallas to celebrate with us the extension of the Fort Worth and Denver into Dallas. We have not forgotten that visit and we are here to return it by rejoicing with you over the granting of the permit of the Fort Worth and Denver to build into the South Plains."

Paper is Thanked J. M. Harrison of Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce brought greetings from that city. He promised a big delegation on a special train from Wichita Falls to the Plainview celebration.

The Fort Worth Star Telegram has contributed more largely to the development of West Texas and more unselfishly than any other single institution in Texas," Brown said. "It has contributed in a large and small way for the good of the region. At all times it has been a factor in the growth of the territory and has never hesitated at any sacrifice to look after the interests of West Texas. For years it has had a correspondent to partake in the affairs of West Texas and to aid in every movement for West Texas."

Homer D. Wade, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, motored nearly 200 miles to attend the banquet and he congratulated Lockney and the South Plains in the name of an organization which "rejoices with the general building of all parts of West Texas."

"And what is West Texas?" he asked.

"It is bounded on the south by the Gulf of Mexico, on the west by the Republic of Mexico, on the north by the State of Oklahoma, while the rest of Texas lies about it," he answered while the audience laughed. All of West Texas is in splendid material condition, Wade said.

Low Cotton "No Terror" "The low price of cotton holds no terrors for the growth of West Texas valuable to our region. Hogs, cattle, butterfat, poultry, grain are all being grown and sold on the farms of West Texas. We are not a one crop section."

Judge I. R. Kelso of St. Louis, president of the Texas Utilities Company declared that the town press of West Texas was a large factor in the development of the section.

"In our work we are dependent more upon the help of the town press than any other agency," he said. It is remarked on every side that the smaller newspapers, the weeklies, and small dailies were big factors in the growth of West Texas. They co-operate in every way. Recently I brought a trainload of bankers through West Texas and they observed that here co-operation is talked less and practiced more than anywhere else in the world."

Stage Days Recalled Lubbock brought the biggest delegation to the Lockney celebration. It was headed by Mayor Pink L. Parrish. In the Lubbock contingent were A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; Garland Wood ward, president of the Lions club and Ray McCorkle representing the Lubbock Avalanche.

Lubbock is the southwestern terminus of the Fort Worth and Denver's South Plains extension and Davis declared that every man, woman and child in that city was celebrating the extension of the line. He said the next movement would be for a paved highway between Lockney and Lubbock. Mayor Parrish reminisced that as a youth he used to ride from Lockney to Estelline, but it was behind a team of mules and in a stage coach. They made fast time, however, and he urged that the Fort Worth & Denver would have to "whip it up" to outrun the old Lockney-Estelline stage. Woodward expressed the appreciation of the "entire South Plains for what Lockney has done for the people of Lockney to visit Lubbock and the Texas Technological College.

Closing For the Right-of-Way Albert Hinn of Plainview brought greetings from the sister city and invited the people of Lockney to be present at Plainview Friday.

Mack Stevenson, Floydada banker, pointed out that in a single day the Interstate Commerce Commission had granted permits which called for the building of 78 miles of railroad in Floyd county. Floydada, the county seat is not on the Fort Worth and Denver extension but it is the western terminus of the Quannah, Acme & Pacific extension, a part of the Frisco system which runs 18 1/2 miles in Floyd county to Floydada. The citizens of Floydada are now closing for the right-of-way for the assured extension. J. W. Mathews of Floydada also spoke.

G. Tunnell represented Quitaque, and delegations were present from Quitaque, Silverton and Turkey.

BORGER OFFICER IS SHOT DOWN WHILE MAKING ARREST

Earl Rigley, Night Chief of Police Gets His Man Though Mortally Wounded

BORGER, Nov. 30.—Night chief of police Earl Rigley, was shot and instantly killed on Main street here, at 7 o'clock tonight, while attempting to arrest a man giving his name as M. F. McWilliams, on a charge of drunkenness.

As he fell, mortally wounded, chief Rigley fired three shots into his body. McWilliams was rushed to a hospital in a critical condition. Two of the bullets entered his chest and the third his leg.

Rigley, 31 and married, was shot three times. He was fired on from the back, and without warning, witnesses told the officers. McWilliams, said to have a police record in other Texas cities, and who recently came to Borger, was accosted by Rigley in front of the Midway hotel.

As Rigley placed him under arrest, and turned his head momentarily, McWilliams is said to have jerked a .45 automatic from his pocket and fired three times point blank into the officers back.

Dies Instantly Rigley pulled his gun from his holster while on the ground and fired three times at his assailant. The officer died without making a statement. McWilliams, in a statement, said that he was firing at the officer made a remark to the effect that, "You are not going to get me," witnesses said. As Rigley returned the McWilliams sunk to the walk, and the crowd quickly placed the two prostrate men in cars and rushed them to a hospital. The officer died enroute.

Rigley was slain in the presence of a large crowd in front of the hotel, at the hour when the sidewalk and streets were thronged.

Came From Oklahoma He had been on the Borger department for three months and had been night chief for thirty days. He came Borger from Stroud, Oklahoma, where he had been a deputy sheriff. He was one of the most popular peace officers in the oil field city.

Borger officials while recently receiving notice to be on the lookout for a man answering McWilliams description and said to have been wanted in Mexico in connection with a holdup, did not know McWilliams was intown until after the shooting.

Assailant Near Death A call came in to the police for an officer, from persons reporting a drunken man was disturbing peace on the street in front of the hotel. Rigley responded to the call and had commanded the man to accompany him to the station, when he was suddenly fired on without warning, witnesses said.

McWilliams was shot twice in the chest, and is not expected to live, he was conscious at a late hour last night, but refused to talk to officers. Read the Want Adv. Columns.

No Engine Fumes in Buick Closed Cars!

In the 1927 Buick, the new Vacuum Ventilator pulls engine fumes and gases from the crankcase and ejects them outside the car.

This vital new Buick improvement does away with noxious odors. It adds great luxury and pleasure to closed car operation.

The Vacuum Ventilator serves another very important purpose. With it, crankcase vapors have no opportunity to condense and dilute the oil. Owners of 1927 Buicks are advised to drain their crankcase oil only 4 times during a year.

For luxury, and for economy, own a Buick.

Floyd County Turkey Raiser Has Fine Flocks of Turkeys and is Making Them Better

Mr. J. D. Christian, who lives south of Sand Hill was in to see us Wednesday, and stated that he and Mr. Christian had just bought a mammoth bronze Tom Turkey from Brid Bros. at Meyersdale, Pennsylvania, at a cost of $300. This bird has been shipped to them and will be on exhibit at the poultry show in Lockney on December 16, 17, and 18th. The Christians now have one of the best flocks of high bred bronze turkeys in all West Texas, and are breeding them up each year. Mrs. Christian is quite a fancier of fine turkeys and prides in raising turkeys that are second to none in this section.

When George Caught Dorinda

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(Copyright.)

WHEN (twins came to Darling and Darling, that world renowned acrobatic pair, there was great rejoicing in Circus Town.

"They'll be some kids on the tight rope!" prophesied one, and "Gosh, what a future in stunt dancing!" foretold another.

As the years passed, Geoffrey Darling seemed the only one likely to carry on the family reputation. True, his brother George could get away with a mediocre performance now and again.

By the time the boys had reached the age of discretion if not of great wisdom, the elder Darlings had passed in one brief and tragic accident to that land where their peculiar endowments were, presumably of no more use to them. Geoffrey was left to carry on their reputation—and George to look after Geoffrey.

That he did so was particularly evident in the matter of Dorinda.

Who was Dorinda? She was the sweetest, prettiest, sunniest, daintiest little equestrienne of them all. The bills that so proclaimed her spoke truly, and George would have knocked you down had you questioned it.

Yes—even after he relinquished all hope of ever having her for his own.

For one night George had stumbled out of his tent at the sound of voices close at hand. Unobserved, he had stepped back quickly when he saw Dorinda in the arms of his brother and heard her murmur, "Darling, I thought you would never propose!"

Next day when he had happened near her she had acted strangely disturbed, but George, mastering his emotions, had gone straight over to her and gripped both her little hands. "It's splendid," he said, "just splendid. Dorrie, about you and Geoff. Now I can really be to you the brother I have always wanted to be."

Then he had left her abruptly, his heart torn with anguish.

Geoffrey's engagement to Dorinda kept him straight for just about one month. Then his former habits gripped him.

George gradually found himself bothered about his brother's act on the bill, in which, as a breath-taking finale, he caught Dorinda as she leaped from her horse straight into his arms as he balanced precariously on a bit of apparatus all but suspended in mid air.

Geoffrey was neglecting his practice and, as all circus men know, a man who wants to maintain steady nerves and perfect co-ordination of eye and muscle cannot drink.

There came an afternoon when Geoffrey swayed into George's tent in a sad state.

"Can't go on—can't do it, ol' man. You got to take my place."

George repressed a desire to fling him out of the tent, brother though he was. Then, "That's foolish and you know it," he said.

"Got to," insisted Geoffrey. "Nobody know the difference—look alike."

But suddenly he braced himself. "Feel queer," he muttered. "Guess I can do it. Let me sleep an hour. Then wake me."

The hot August afternoon was drawing to its sultry close and the packed mob in the huge tent were craning their necks to get every bit of entertainment generously provided by the triple ring.

They laughed at the clowns uproariously, they shivered at the snarling leopards, and they loved the dainty Dorinda. Her partner they had not so much use for. He had muffed one or two of his stunts and had staggered in a foolish manner, usurping the role of the clowns, but at last he went out and left the little equestrienne to get through some of her own special performance.

The crowd could not know that just outside Geoffrey fell and that it was George who came on again.

As a matter of fact, Geoffrey, overcome by something more deadly than mere intoxication, had collapsed and his brother, hastily summoning the circus doctor, had stripped off the tawdry garments, donned them and dashed in so that Dorinda's act should not be ruined.

Could he put it across? There was no way in which he could first communicate with Dorinda and prepare her. Moreover, it was perhaps better that she should not know of the substitution for her own sake.

George was familiar enough with his brother's part and went through the patter and accompanying hand-springs creditably. What worried him was the final catching of Dorinda. Was he risking the life of the woman he loved?

Then, before he could hesitate further, the moment itself was upon him. He climbed mechanically, he balanced, he poised with outstretched arms—Could he hold it—ah—Dorinda was in his arms! He held her there and then leaped lightly to the ground. It had been in him, after all.

But what was she saying, as she still clung to him while the applause thundered?

"Thought you wouldn't make it, Geoff. Oh, how can you keep on with wicked ways—and after all your promises to me—and knowing that you won me on a duke—that I agreed to marry you thinking you were George! Oh, what have I done—what have I done!"

But, really, I think she knew all the time!

Pleasant Valley Home Demonstration Club.

The Pleasant Valley home demonstration club met last on November 24 with Mrs. W. H. Fields. Many of the members were absent.

The business was conducted by our vice-president Mrs. Hubbard.

Demonstration on school lunches was given by Mrs. Pratt. This demonstration showed much efficiency on Mrs. Pratt's part, of being able to give the lesson effectively. After the demonstration sufficient sandwiches were made to serve the members. It made us all wish we were school children.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. W. O. Shurbet. Notice will be given as to the exact time, when Miss Bass decides on the date.

This will be an all day meeting. Members will each take some dish which when put with the others will make up the dinner for the day. We do not wish to leave Mrs. Shurbet a table of dishes to wash, so we each decided to bring the dishes she would need.

Miss Bass will no doubt have much to tell us in the demonstration on "Christmas Novelties" and we want to give her all the time possible.

We hope the rush of work is near enough over that the members will see fit to attend the all day meeting.

Be sure and come and do not forget your "dish of something good to eat."—Reporter.

WHY Leave Your Cream Profit in the Skimmilk?

PROFIT is the last thing to be made in producing cream or anything else—and if your cream separator isn't skimming clean you are losing a big part of your profit.

The worst of it is you can't see whether your separator is skimming clean or not. But there is an easy way to tell.

Ask us to bring out a new De Laval Separator and run the skim-milk from your old machine through it. If there is any butter-fat left in the skim-milk the new De Laval will surely get it. Have the cream recovered weighed and tested and you can tell exactly if you need a new De Laval—and if you do, trade in your old machine as partial payment.

The new De Laval is the best separator ever made. It has the wonderful "floating" bowl and other improvements. It is guaranteed to skim cleaner. It also is easier to run and handle and lasts longer. For 48 years De Laval Separators have led the world.

Program and Supper at Baptist Church Thanksgiving night

In response to invitations sent out by the W. M. U. a nice size crowd assembled at the Baptist church on Thanksgiving night and enjoyed a short program, after which a supper was given in the basement which everyone enjoyed very much.

We then indulged in a few games, after which every one joined in the singing.

Miss Armontrout presided at the organ.

We had a few visitors whom we certainly welcomed and hope they, along with others will meet with us again.

Please let us also have more of our members attend our social affairs as well as the regular services. We believe it will do you good.—Reporter.

Much Pie is Devoured at Alethean Pie Social.

Saturday night, November 27 the Alethean Class entertained the Senior Edworth League with a pie social. As the young people arrived they were asked to register their names in the roll book.

The first contest was then given. Booklets were passed to each person present; these books were named; "Lest We Forget" In these books each person was required to write an autobiography of everyone present. This autobiography consisted of the person's name, the color of his eyes, their favorite pie, and their favorite expression.

Next was the pie contest which was very unique. There were nine sentences in which the sound, pie, was expressed. The couples found this contest not so easy, but owing to the superior intelligence of Edna Mann and Earl Rives they won the prizes which were two very red lilly pops.

Sides were then chosen for a spelling contest, and still carrying out the pie idea. This contest resulted in a draw.

It was now ten o'clock and all were well; there was still no signs of weakening. We drew partners for refreshments. Ila Fay Fields and Earl Rives lead the grand rush for the kitchen.

After refreshments each person was asked to write their favorite pie recipe. Kelly Teaff offered the best recipe; so we are having same printed for those who desire to put it in their cook books. It is as follows:

Take 2-3 sack of sugar, one and 1-2 barrels of flour, 1 tub of corn mash juice and rine of three dozen lemons, add two dozen eggs shell and all, bake in a cast iron crust and take to the Crager Furniture Co., for cooking, and after well done throw out at the back door.

Those present were Misses Alice Bridges, hostess; Carlen Day, Ila Fay Fields, Mamie Lou Jarnagin, Mary Crawford, Johnnie Mae Harris, Martha Wofford, Thelma Buchanan, Lydia Mann, Annette Johnston, Hazel Joe Anderson, Edna Mann, and Messers Kellie Teaff, Rev. T. J. Rea, Sr. Howard Crawford, T. J. Rea Jr., Jessie Harris, Orvis Seal, Cullen Riley, Winifred Fowler, Hilburn Casey and Earl Rives.

Bonnie Griffith, Calvin Harris and Hillery Shubert were present when refreshments were served.—E. & E.—Reporters.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

Skelly—Development in Skelly, new town site located eight miles north of White Deer, is going by leaps and bounds. A $60,000 structure is one of the latest announcements, to be built by the Acme Fishing Tool Company of Parksburg, West Virginia. Gas is being piped through the town, and a water supply is being completed.

Whiteface—Construction work on a two story brick and tile hotel has started here. Eleven rooms upstairs will accommodate the hotel trade, and down stairs will be equipped for a store building.

Stamford—Word has been received at the headquarters office here that numerous organizations and individuals throughout West Texas are endorsing the cotton acreage reduction program set forth by the special cotton committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Harrel Chapel—Organization of the Harrel Chapel Community Club was made at a social gathering here recently. Meetings are to be held at least once each month at which times a social in connection with a constructive program will be arranged.

Hereford—New phone equipment which will increase the efficiency of the local plant will soon be installed here according to the announcements of the officials of the company. A board of 105 drops will be used to handle toll and rural lines is to be added in addition to a number of new phones.

Matador—A resolution has been adopted by the Matley Chamber of Commerce and the citizens of Matador to endorse the petition of the Q. A. & P. R. R. to consolidate the Motley county R. R. with their line and thus abolish the two line differentials now paid on all freight handled at Matador.

Littlefield—President Arthur P. Duggan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has announced that work of that organization for securing passage of another state tax survey resolution will not be abolished even though the first bill for a survey was vetoed by the Governor. The Legislative Bureau of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is renewing its efforts to insure passage of a similar resolution by the Fortieth Legislature providing for a state survey that will lead to remedies for uniformity and equality of taxation.

McCamery—A forty ton cold storage plant is being erected here. The plant will be intalled by G. E. Frazier of the Frazier Ice and Fuel Company.

Winters—As one of the three major planks adopted by the Winters Chamber of Commerce for the year, the organization has decided to devote every effort to assist the West Texas Chamber of Commerce put over their re-affirmed program of diversification and "living at home" for West Texas Farmers.

Wheeler—An order has been passed granting a franchise to the Panhandle Power and Light Company for erection of a high line to pass through Wheeler county. It is thought the line will pass through Mobeetie and into Wheeler.

Kerrville—An inspection tour of various plants around Kerrville, Camp Verde, Center Point, Comfort and smaller communities in the lower part of the county, has been started here as the initial step of the recently consolidated egg circles of this district to stimulate poultry raising in the Upper Gaudelupe Valley. The tours will combine instructive visiting with lectures by the poultry specialists at each point toured.

Records of Cow-Testing Association Are Exact

Yearly milk and butterfat production as determined in cow-testing associations by weighing and testing one day's production each month is accurate within a very small per cent, says the United States Department of Agriculture. To determine the accuracy of the cow-testing association method of calculating yearly production, the department made a study of the actual yearly production records of 70 cows of the Minnesota experiment station. These Minnesota records gave the production of milk and butterfat for each milking throughout the year.

By systematically picking out the weights and tests for one day each month as they would have been obtained by cow-testing association methods and thus calculating the yearly production it was found that the association method was accurate within 2 per cent on milk production and within 3 per cent on production of butterfat.

A tabulation was also made of 100 yearly individual cow records from the department farm at Beltsville, Md. These records gave only the milk production night and morning for each day in the year. A yearly total, calculated from one day's record each month, when compared with the actual milk production showed an accuracy within 1.96 per cent. These comparisons indicate that the method used in cow-testing association work gives a very accurate record of production.

The DAIRY

RAPID DECLINE IN MILK PRODUCTION

The rapid decline in milk production as the summer advances is the result of a combination of factors, says O. B. Bender, assistant dairy husbandman at the New Jersey College of Agriculture, New Brunswick. Chief among these is the poor condition of pasture.

In many regions a drought in mid-summer causes tough and woody pasture. The result is that the cow, especially if producing a liberal amount of milk, doesn't get sufficient food and loses flesh by trying to keep up production. Finally the production declines, slowly at first and then more rapidly as conditions become extreme. Records from creameries show that for 100 pounds of milk delivered June 1 there are only 46 pounds delivered August 1.

Fles may be a slight factor, but their importance is overestimated. The flies and the hot weather are factors in so far as they both discourage the animals from grazing.

If kept on pasture the cows should be turned out to graze during the early morning and late evening. The growing of soiling crops may be a good practice. Grain is an effective means of holding up production, but it is an expensive practice to the extent that the grain replaces grass. Silage is not a complete ration, but it may be used alone to supplement pastures. If conditions are such that most of the feed has to be supplied outside of pastures, then the feeding should be practically the same as in winter.

If the production of the herd drops to a marked degree during the summer it cannot be brought back to the point where it should be. Therefore, to insure a paying fall production, it is highly important to keep up the milk flow during the summer, even though there may be no immediate profit.

How Butter Fat in Milk Is Broken Up

Do you know what the word homogenization means? Ninety-eight out of 100 housewives to whom the question recently was put admitted they couldn't answer Can you?

But here it is explained by Miss Meta H. Given, food authority doing research work at the University of Chicago.

"Homogenization," says Miss Given, "is the name of the process which breaks up butter fat in evaporated milk into tiny particles so they blend evenly with the solids. Homogenization causes the butter fat globules to adhere to the albumin and the casein of the milk. In the process, milk is forced through countless numbers of openings at a pressure of around 3,500 pounds.

"In addition to preventing a cream and skim milk line, this breaking up of fat contributes to smoothness and perfect blending of foods such as cream sauces, soups, ice cream and in baked products.

"It also has a digestive advantage for those who have difficulty in assimilating milk. Many pediatricians recommend evaporated milk as a baby food, although, like other substitutes for the natural supply, it should not be considered as a food complete in itself. Addition of orange or tomato juice, barley water or lime water are important in providing adequate diet for the infant.

"All authorities recognize that normal mother's milk is the best food for infants, but this natural milk is frequently inadequate in quantity and quality. Scientists say cow's milk is the best substitute. But cow's milk must be modified and supplemented with other foods. The fat in mother's milk is in homogeneous suspension and being so, it forms small curds in the stomach, but the fat in cow's milk is in relatively large globules, forms large tough curds in the stomach and is much harder to digest. In evaporated milk the fat is broken up by homogenization and the curds softened until in size and digestibility they resemble natural infant food."

Alfalfa and Clover Are Good for Dairy Heifers

That alfalfa or clover hay fed with corn to dairy heifers produces good growth and favors early maturity, was shown by recent feeding tests at the Ohio experiment station. In the tests, continued through two winters, alfalfa hay and corn were fed to one lot of Holstein and Jersey heifers and clover hay and corn to a similar lot.

Without other feed both lots made more than average normal growth. Alfalfa hay did not prove greatly superior to clover hay for growth when fed liberally with corn, but it did prove superior to clover hay for fattening, or gain in weight. The tests showed that either alfalfa or clover fed with corn furnishes sufficient protein and other essential materials to produce excellent growth.

The liberal use of legume hays favors early maturity of heifers. This permits early breeding with a consequent saving in time and cost. The legumes carry more calcium, or lime, than the grasses, and good alfalfa, clover, or other legume hay, is therefore better than timothy or other grass hay for growth.

EARL HAMPTON INJURED WHILE GOOSE HUNTING

While out goose hunting, near Dimmitt, Castro county, about 4 o'clock last Monday afternoon, Earl Hampton, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hampton, who live west of Lockney, happened to a very painful accident. He, with some friends were driving along in a car, Earl standing on the running board, ready to jump off as they were approaching some geese. He had his gun in his hand, and as he jumped off the car he stumbled, striking the butt of his gun against his side under his right arm, cutting a deep gash, six or seven inches long. The muzzle of the gun was stuck in the ground about two feet from the impact. Medical attention was given Earl and he is resting well at this time.

MUSIC IN COLLEGES GAINS 100 PER CENT IN TEN YEARS

Builds Character, Preserves Morale and Helps Students Pay Way Through School, Conn Music Center Survey Shows.

By J. F. BOYER

Music has become an indispensable part of college life. It is of inestimable value to the college proper, and of great material and spiritual benefit to the student who takes an active part in it.

This is the composite sentiment of close to 200 presidents of American colleges and universities and heads of music departments in institutions of higher learning who contributed to a survey of college music just completed by the Conn Music Center, Elkhart, Ind. The survey shows that musical training in colleges has doubled in popularity in ten years.

Music not only adds color to college athletic events, supplements and rounds out the varied activities of the campus and assembly hall, but is of distinct advantage to the member of the glee club, the sextette, the college orchestra, band or whatever other organizations may be functioning within the college, in the opinion of these college executives. Music helps preserve a high morale in the institution. It aids in building the character of its young men and women, provides an opportunity for a good number of them to pay their own way through college, and in many instances, prepares them for a life of usefulness along lines they are naturally best fitted for.

Helps Character Building.

Great stress is laid by college heads on the benefits of musical training in character building, the survey revealed. Fully one-fifth of the college executives who contributed the results of their experience to the survey variably those having honors in academic subjects," and at Lombard college, Galesburg, Ill., "the students in our music school are all above average in their academic work."

Students as Leaders.

Forty-six per cent of the colleges reported band and orchestra work as part of their school curriculum. Five per cent of the total enrollment of the colleges are members of college bands and orchestras, of which 75 per cent are women students, with the girls playing almost exclusively in orchestras. Leaders for these college bands are drawn for the most part from the faculty ranks, though some colleges use students as leaders and another small group goes outside for leader talent.

Playing in the college orchestra is somewhat more popular than the band with the boys as well as girls. Approximately 10 per cent of college students who play an instrument in the college band or orchestra end up eventually in the ranks of professional musicians.

"Horn Their Way Through."

"Horning one's way through college" compares very favorably with other methods of self-support through the college years, according to the college executives contributing to the survey. Despite the comparatively limited opportunities offered in the average college town, fully one-fourth of all the students playing in the college bands and orchestras are paying for their education with their instruments. Students' earnings range all the way from board and room, two-dollar-an-hour tuition fee, and up to two thousand dollars a year. Twelve per cent of the college executives in the survey are of the opinion that playing one's way through school pays better than other means; another 12 per cent thought it offered an easier way to make one's way through, while a goodly number of others said that it interfered least with the students' school work.

Saxophone Rates High.

Among those playing their way through college, the violin comes first in the preference of instruments. The saxophone is second choice of college players, but seventh with girl musicians. Piano is the second favorite instrument with the girls, and third with the boys. Cornet comes fourth in the preference of both the young men and women. Organ is the next favorite with the boys, and flute with the girls. Other instruments in the order of favor with the young men are the trumpet, the trombone, the horn, drum, banjo and mandolin. With the girls, it is the drum, clarinet, trombone, harp, banjo, trumpet, organ and mandolin.

A striking fact brought out in the survey was the close relation between music and student leadership. Fully 40 per cent of all the outstanding college students, class presidents, student leaders, etc., are reported to be playing some kind of an instrument.

Music Fights Crime.

That music is the greatest deterrent to crime, is the opinion voiced by the dean of the college of music of New York university, who wrote: "If we were to organize a band or orchestra in every public school, high school, college, university, boys' or girls' club, or place an instrument into the hands of every boy or girl at an age when understanding and appreciation become evident so that the child's mind is aroused sufficiently to make him want to excel in the instrument which he likes best, I believe that we would have, in from ten to fifteen years, from 50 to 75 per cent less d-fends, criminals and gamblers in United States."

J. F. BOYER

considered this the best argument for music in their college or university. Others mentioned the social and cultural advantages accruing to the music student, the effect of music in refining the student's taste for art, music as an aid toward developing clear thinking, improving the discipline and enhancing the student's power of concentration, as well as making for better team work and co-operation in college matters. Music on the campus as an outlet for surplus energy and as a help in getting many youths through school, was brought in by still others.

All but three of the colleges represented in the survey find their musically trained students more efficient in their studies than those not so trained. "They usually make grades above the average," is the experience at Bethel college, in Tennessee, and DePaul university at Chicago finds "musically-trained pupils at the top in their studies." At Wellesley college our best musical students are in-

Value of Cow's Yearly Work Shows Gain of 81 Per Cent

THE VALUE of a cow's yearly production of dairy products in 1909 was $54. Today it is $98, an increase in 15 years of 81 per cent, according to the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. During the same period, however, total milk production increased 81 per cent, the number of dairy cows 19 per cent and the purchasing power of their products 17 per cent. The average amount of milk produced by each cow increased from 3,454 pounds in 1909 to 4,368 at present, or 27 per cent, which shows that the average production of milk gained with the larger numbers of cows and that both increased at a greater rate than the purchasing power of each cow's production. In other words, the institute points out, the value of each cow's production has not kept pace with the value of commodities the farmer must buy. As cows producing 4,368 pounds of milk a year are low-profit makers, the importance of high-producing animals is emphasized by the institute's experts. Better breeding, better feeding and the elimination of low-producing cows will make more profitable dairy herds and increase the value and purchasing power of each cow's products, the institute concludes.

THE Whippet

America's First European-Type Light Car

Here are some of the reasons why the Whippet has met with such unheard of interest, and has been so well received everywhere it has been shown:

- BECAUSE it is NOT an old model worked over to fool the public; but is unlike any other light car on the American market in many ways—it is an advanced engineering design.
- BECAUSE it offers so many important and high quality features never before found in any light car.
- BECAUSE of its wonderful performance.
- BECAUSE of its actual 31 h.p. motor while its rating is only 15 1-2 h.p.
- BECAUSE it costs less to license than any other American car.
- BECAUSE it will run 55 to 60 miles per hour in ease and comfort.
- BECAUSE it will make 30 miles to a gallon of gas.
- BECAUSE it will make more than 1,000 miles to a gallon of oil.
- BECAUSE it will give incredible tire mileage.
- BECAUSE it has four-wheel brakes, first time on any light car.
- BECAUSE it has a lower center of gravity which gives you a sense of security you never enjoyed in any light car before.
- BECAUSE it has greater beauty and finer finish than any other light car.
- BECAUSE this car marks the most important light car engineering improvement in America during the past sixteen years.
- BECAUSE it has the greatest braking surface per pound of car weight than any other light car.
- BECAUSE it is the only light car with genuine chrome alloy steel valves which last four times longer than other kinds.
- BECAUSE it is the only light car with hollow crankshaft and force feed lubrication throughout the motor.
- BECAUSE it has a silent chain to drive timing gears.
- BECAUSE it has genuine Charwick bearings on the crankshaft, the finest made.
- BECAUSE it has Timkin bearings throughout chassis
- BECAUSE it has Mechanics universal joints, which only require lubrication every 5,000 miles.
- BECAUSE it out performs all other light cars in quick acceleration, ease in riding and in riding comfort.
- BECAUSE it has all the engine characteristics of the most expensive cars.

Convention to Mark Cooperation Between Business and Government

The annual convention of the American Petroleum Institute at Tulsa, December 7, 8 and 9, will bring together the largest and most representative gathering of leaders in the petroleum industry that has ever been held. From 1,500 to 2,000 chiefs of corporations, technical experts, scientific authorities, state and national officers, economists and engineers, will consider in the broadest way the questions that relate to permanently supplying fuel to America's 20,000,000 motor cars, and meeting the multitude of other demands on petroleum. Officers of the Institute are shown in the illustration. All rank among the leaders of the industry.

President Coolidge recognized these problems when he created the Federal Oil Conservation Board, nearly two years ago, and commissioned it to study them. The board's report recognized the desirability of a close cooperation between the industry and the government in planning constructive, practical measures. It declared that these must rest chiefly on the initiative of the industry itself.

Since that report was issued, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, a member of the Oil Conservation Board, has declared emphatically in favor of such modification of the anti-trust laws as will open the way to desirable co-operations within the industry, prevent wastes and encourage economies. The aspects of demand, supply, future sources of oil, possible substitutes for it, etc., are at the top of all thought concerning the industry. They will give direction and definite purpose to the considerations at the Tulsa convention, which promises to mark a significant advance toward understanding and mutually helpful co-operations between business and government. Secretary Hoover, speaking on this point, said the other day:

"The way to do business in America today is to do it with glass pockets, and show the public what you really have, and what you really are doing. You may take the case of several industries, which have adopted this policy, and observe the very satisfactory results which have been obtained."

"I believe that the oil industry is clean and has nothing to fear from a program such as those other industries have adopted. When one considers the widespread distribution of gasoline and the very limited amount of profit in a gallon of gasoline, surely not over 1 cent a gallon considering everything, it is surprising. It is a wonderfully distributed product."

"You have the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute coming to Tulsa in December, and if members of this body can get together and formulate some plan regarding modification of the Sherman anti-trust act, as applied to drilling fresh fields, and properly present this plan, I see no reason why it should not receive favorable action at the hands of Congress."
