

Music Festival This Week at Lubbock

Practically All Pupils from Lockney Go to Finals in Musical Contests This Week at Lubbock

The South Plains Music Teachers Association held an elimination contest in Lubbock last Saturday for the purpose of eliminating all contestants from each group except the ones making the four highest grades. This was done in order to keep the contests from being long drawn out affairs at the Musical Festival to be held in Lubbock Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week.

In the try-out or elimination contest the pupils from Miss Lauream Christian's Class in Lockney won many places, and practically every child entered in the try-out will go to the finals in the contest this week.

Rural Carriers Will Meet in Floydada

Members of Association in 18th Congressional District to Meet On May 30th

Rural Letter Carriers of every county in the 18th Congressional District will convene in Floydada for their annual meeting May 30th, according to Foster Carroll, president of the organization, who made the announcement following a meeting held in Ralls, recently which was attended by the officials of the association and other interested parties. D. D. Langford, of Lockney, who is president of the County organization, nominated Floydada as the convention city following an invitation extended by G. N. Shroy, carrier of Floydada.

Immediately following the selection of Floydada for the gathering, plans for the meeting were started. The program for the business session will be completed at an early date, according to Mr. Carroll, and the entertainment as being planned by the host city is expected to exceed the usual convention pleasures. Speakers, that will include the best talent available in this section in the employ of the government, will be given special invitations to be present for the gathering. Besides the regular routine of business to be transacted at the meeting the selection of the 1929 officers will be made and a delegate named to attend the State meeting.

Chamber of Commerce Underwrites Hotel

Money Raised at Meeting to Defray Expense of Interscholastic Meet in Lockney This Week

The two principal issues in the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Monday at noon, was the underwriting of a hotel proposition, and the raising of funds to defray the expense of holding the County Interscholastic Meet, which will be held in Lockney Friday and Saturday of this week.

A trade has been hanging fire for several weeks, in which Artie Baker and C. R. McCollum were within $500 of making a deal on the brick building on the Northwest corner of Main and Locust Streets, and each party had stated they had gone their limit. The building if sold to Mr. Baker is to be converted into a modern hotel, which calls for the entire remodeling of the structure, at a considerable expense, and due to the fact that Lockney is badly in need of a hotel, the Chamber of Commerce voted to underwrite the $500 difference, so that the trade could be consummated at once and work on the new hotel started.

Prof. W. D. Biggers and Mr. Z. T. Riley, committee on raising funds for the Interscholastic Meet here the last two days of this week, circulated a petition for donations at the meeting and raised a goodly sum from those present, the balance necessary for defraying the expense of the fair, to be collected from merchants and citizens of the town not present at the meeting.

Mr. Joe McCollum favored the organization with two vocal selections, in the way of entertainment feature, which is carried out each Monday. He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Elsie Meriwether.

A delegation was sent to Floydada to attend a highway meeting scheduled for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The collection of the taxes of the city was discussed and a committee appointed to visit the city council in regard to same.

NEW FORDS HAVE BEGUN TO ARRIVE

The Lockney Auto Company is beginning to deliver new Fords, having made three deliveries the past week. H. M. Champion, H. B. Adams, and W. W. Angel having received cars. The car of W. W. Angel was delivered to Jarvis-Tull Co. of Plainview, Mr. Angel having sold his right at a bonus.

The Lockney Auto Co. is very enthusiastic and feels that production will be increased so that the signers for cars can get their new cars in the near future.

Mrs. J. N. S. Webb was joyfully surprised last Thursday when the following visitors drove up to the Circuit parsonage: Her daughter, Miss Edith Webb; her mother, Mrs. W. H. Lance; her brother, Mr. John Lance, and her sister, Mrs. John Byers. They all returned to their home in Chillicothe, Texas, Sunday.

Campbell Adjudged Insane by Jury

Jury Found Defendant Not Guilty on Account of Insanity in Murder Trial This Week

The case of the State of Texas vs. T. E. Campbell, charged with the murder of W. B. Wilson, in this county, was called for trial Monday morning of this week, and the entire day Monday was spent in securing a jury out of the venire of 100 men summoned for that purpose. The taking of the testimony in the case began Tuesday morning, and Wednesday the jury returned a verdict of acquittal on account of the defendant being insane.

Wednesday afternoon Campbell was tried in the county court for insanity, and was found to be insane, and he will be sent to the asylum, either at Wichita Falls or Austin.

The jury that tried Campbell on the murder charge, was as follows: A. L. Hollums, W. C. Sims, C. H. Rose, E. S. Randerson, W. M. Windsor, W. C. Poage, L. L. Savage, J. W. Carr, R. B. Gary, R. I. Teeple, W. C. Morris, and S. N. Tarwater.

Bradford Wilson was shot in the back with a charge of buck shot on one of his tenant farms, 20 miles north of Lockney, by Campbell, on Jan 19th. A son of Campbell's was the tenant on the farm. No reason for the assassination was given at the time, and no evidence was introduced that proved that the killing was anything but the act of an insane man, as there had never been a difference between Wilson and Campbell that was known of.

Visits of the Strk

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Seth Percy, 9 miles northwest of Lockney, March 21st, a boy.

A. S. Kirby, Lockney, March 23rd, a boy.

Miss Hazel Shelton Buried Here Tuesday

Lockney Girl Dies in Parkland Hospital Sunday Afternoon at 6:15 After Short Illness

Miss Hazel Ruth Shelton, age 21 years, 10 months and 18 days, died at 6:15 p. m. Sunday, March 25th, in the Parkland Hospital at Dallas, Tex., after a short illness which began March 19th.

Miss Hazel went to Dallas, in company with her friend, Miss Margaret Jarnigan, on Feb. 6th, and accepted a position as a nurse in the institution, to take a training course. She was stricken on March 19th, and an operation was thought necessary. Her mother, Mrs. R. P. Shelton, brother and sister, Vernon Shelton, and Mrs. L. D. Oschner, and aunt, Mrs. Carl McAdams, went to her bedside upon receipt of a message, leaving Lockney Thursday of last week, and were with her at the time of her death.

Miss Hazel Shelton was born in Dublin, Texas, on May 9th, 1906, moving with the family to Lockney in 1909, and has lived here continuously since that date. She was a graduate in the Lockney High School in 1925, and attended the Texas Technological College in Lubbock for one year. She was a member of the basket and volley ball teams of the Lockney High School at the time of her graduation, and was highly respected and loved by all who had made her acquaintance, being a girl of a sunny disposition and having a word of cheer at all times for those who came in contact with her. She was a leader among the young folks of her age, as was testified to by many young men and women who formerly lived in this, attending her funeral. In her honor the entire school attended the funeral, as well as all of the business houses being closed for the occasion from 3 to 4:30 Tuesday afternoon, there being more than one thousand people assembled at the College auditorium to pay their last respects to this good girl.

The flower girls were members of the 1925 class of Lockney High school. Girls who knew her best and loved her very dearly. They were Misses Emma Hodel, Nova White, Lucille Carter, Tommie Merrick, Mary Pope Walker, Ruby Threet, Laura Bennett and Emma Stalbird.

The pallbearers were the young men of the town, who were of her age, and had attended school with her, and the superintendent of the school. They were:

Active pallbearers: Marvin and Jack Gilbert, Virgil Threet, Marsh Collins, William Hodel and Marlin Jarnigan.

The honorary pallbearers were: Darden Cook, Heston Bennett, George Cates, Walter Whorton, Cecil Cope, Walter Hodel, Cecil Keys, Leslie Gilbert, Henry Hodel, Derrill Dollar, Calvin Harris, H. B. Mann, Boots Bryant, Scott McGehee, Paul Ragle, Luther Harris, Allan Bell, and Prof. W. D. Biggers.

Funeral services were conducted at the College auditorium, by Elder Earley Arceaux, pastor of the Church of Christ, beginning at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, and interment was in the Lockney cemetery immediately after the services. The floral offering was very profuse, and many large and beautiful wreaths were arranged by special friends, members of the Class of '25, different grades in the school, and from the business men and friends in the town.

A special service was held in the Nurses Home at the Parkland Hospital in Dallas Monday afternoon, before the remains were consigned for transporting to Lockney, to show the esteem that she was held in by those who came in contact with her during her short stay at that place.

She is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Shelton, sisters, Mrs. L. D. Oschner, Leona and Leota Shelton; brothers, Vernon, Bert, and Kile Shelton, all of Lockney. Other relatives here are Mrs. E. J. Broyles, grandmother, Ira and John Broyles, uncles, and Mrs. Carl McAdams, aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Broyles of Fort Worth, were present at her bedside in Dallas at the time of her death. Mrs. Zora Kelly, aunt, of Iowa, was present at the funeral.

Downs Has Grandson

J. B. Downs received a message Saturday morning from Denver, Colo., announcing the arrival of a baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Chippendale of that city. Mrs. Chippendale was formerly Miss Gem Downs of Lockney.

Lockney Cotton Oil Co. Recommends planting Better Cotton Seed

Cotton farmers are realizing more and more every year that the foundation of the solution of their cotton production problems lies in the direction of better planting seed. All over the South communities are organizing away from the ruinous practice of planting mixed, "gin-run" seed and standardizing on uniform, select varieties.

In making a close study of the types and strain of pedigreed cotton best suited to the needs of the Southwest, the United States Department of Agriculture found Acala to be very popular. Farmers' Bulletin No. 1384 is generous in its praises of this cotton. It says, "The variety that is now receiving the most generally favorable attention is the Acala, a relatively new sort, acclimatized a few years ago from Mexico. In addition to being very early and prolific, it is reckoned as an advantage of the Acala that the fibre gets a distinct premium when long staples are in demand, and yet is not long enough to be excluded from the short-staple market."

"Storm-Proofness"

Circular No. 2, U. S. D. A. explains why Acala is "storm-proof" and yet easy to pick: "The Acala variety has the 'storm-proof' character recognized in the Texas big-boll varieties; that is, the cotton remains in the open bolls for a long time, often for weeks or months, although the bolls open wide and the cotton is easily picked. The reason that Acala is 'storm-proof' and yet is easy to pick is that the cotton of each lock holds well together, on account of the abundance, elasticity, twist, and roughness of the fibre, the same characters that determine the spinning properties."

The small bracts of the Acala stalk afford two distinct advantages: when the plant is growing, little protection is offered the boll weevil; and, at maturity, less trash is picked, which results in a higher grade.

This ability of Acala to mature rapidly makes it a desirable cotton to plant where it is necessary to beat the early killing frost. In this connection, Circular No. 2 states that "Short-season conditions demand earliness or ability to set bolls promptly and mature a good crop before frost. Acala is earlier than the Texas big-boll varieties; therefore the cultivation of Acala can be extended farther north as well as farther east. Varieties with smaller bolls may begin to open a few days sooner, but Acala often outyields small-boll varieties under short-season conditions, and besides, it produces a superior quality of fibre."

CATHOLOICISM AND WHISKEY

The country is now confronted with two disreputable menaces that mean much to the future of this great nation, and whether it will continue to stand as a free country or go into bondage and peonage. Whether we shall have a free country that will advance to higher goals, or be ruled by the Pope in Rome and the criminally inclined of the country.

During the World War the Catholics had the upper hand of the American people, and through the agencies of the Knights of Columbus a big stride forward in furthering the Catholic desires was made, and they came near ruling the United States through the appointments that they received through the Wilson Administration, and to this good day, although during the Harding administration, the appointments were given a fairly good trimming, they still have had a considerable amount of power in the government of our country. They have used their power to a good advantage, and have reached a point where they feel justified in joining with the liquor element of the country in an effort to use this vote to put Catholicism in the saddle at the seat of our government and make the United States a Catholic country, which will mean peonage to the civilization of the country, will drive out freedom of thought and free press. The Catholics have never believed in free speech, free press and free public school systems, because they have builded their titutation upon ignorance, and today this statement can be verified upon every hand, for in the countries where Catholicism reigns supreme the poorer people are peons, illiteracy and ignorance reigns supreme, and the high officials of the Catholic church dictate the actions of the government and the people with an iron-hand the ruler in blood shed and imprisonment to all those who refuse to obey their demands. Take Mexico today, when a man has enough principle and nerve to oppose the actions of the government, which has always been under Catholic rule, and is founded upon Catholic principle, he is captured and stood up against a wall and shot by a firing squad, without even being given a chance to plead his own cause or the cause of the people that he represents. Christ was murdered by men that had Catholicism in their blood who believed in ruling with an iron-hand and putting to death all those who possessed a belief in the almighty God and the right of free speech. The Catholic church has ever been the greatest menace to civilization that the world has known. Through its teachings the "German idea that 'Mighty is Right' has been the guarding star, and that those who oppose the church should be disposed of in the quickest way, so that their tongues could never convert the people of the world to a true Christian religion of freedom and equality. In the old days when Catholicism was in power over the world, to be a Christian meant death at the hands of the Catholics, that denomination even going to the extreme to feed the Christians to lions, tigers and other wild man eating beasts, to kill the Christians outright, crucifying them on crosses, and burning them to the stake. The American people have reveled in freedom since the day of the landing of the Pilgrims, but today they have retarded in freedom to a point where the Catholics feel that through tricky politics then can bring the civilization of this great nation under Catholic rule. They have been hard at work on this point in the United States for many years. The people of this nation have not been alive to the proposition, they have allowed the free immigrations of the scum of the earth to filter into our country. Fully nine-five per cent of this scum are Catholics: They are Catholics on account of ignorance. They have been peons in the countries they immigrated from. They are bolshevists in this country, but they are Catholic born and bred, and through the ignorance in which they are held they kneel to the wishes of the Catholic church, and oppose every measure that is fostered by the Catholic church. In this country a foreigner can become a naturalized citizen and a voter in seven years, yet our true born American citizens cannot vote until they are twenty-one years of age, still a child seven years old has more real conception as to what our government stands for and what it should be than the low grade foreigners would have should they live here a hundred years. Catholicism preys on the ignorance of the foreigners, and they make him believe that our free press, free speech, etc., is all wrong and should not be tolerated, and that they should do everything in their power to tear down our government, and establish a Catholic government, as would be dictated by the Pope of Rome and the heads of the church in America. Along the line of Catholicism, they produced two runners-up in the presidential cam, Al Smith and Senator Walsh. They expect to pit one against the other in the Democratic party, with the hope that one will be the nominee of the party, and they will have a president regardless. With the dregs of the nation many of them are willing to accept Walsh, overlooking the fact that he is a Catholic the same as Smith. The whiskey gang of the country want to quench their thirst, and they will not give a thought to what they are doing when they combine with the Catholics. They want booze and the money they can make out of booze and they don't care whether the United States is a free country, or dominated over by Catholics and the people put into peonage or not, if they can only fill their greedy guts with red liquor and their pockets with the ill gotten money they can make from the sale of same. They do not believe in freedom, for a man that will sell whiskey to another man would deprive the entire world of freedom for the sake of a dollar, and he has no conception of a future empire of freedom, right living and prosperity. The sorriest man in the world is the man who will sell liquor to tear down the civilization of his own country, to help ruin his own boys and girls, and the boys and girls of his neighbors. He is an enemy to every man, woman, boy and girl in the universe, and no matter what his station in life may be he is a disreputable skunk, and should not be contenance by the civilization of this land. You may think this is very plain talk, but we would put it stronger if our vocabulary was sufficient to allow stronger assertions. We have no respect for the fellow that sells whiskey and he should be detained in a way so that he could not vent his vile soul and his vile wares upon the innocent men, women and children of our country. The reason the Catholics and the whiskey gang can join hands easily is because they are both of the same mind, they are both tearing down civilization and freedom. They both regard ignorance their chief weapon to extract from the people the almighty dollar, which is truly their god and their religion. The United States would deteriorate in civilization if it should allow either a Catholic or a wet candidate to be elected. The Democratic party will remove their chance of electing a president this year if they should nominate either a Catholic or a wet. And if they should do such a trick, we expect to see Texas slide over in the Republican column, expect the majority of the Southern States, that have always been the strong hold of the Democratic party, to go Republican this year. Further if the Democratic party should make such a mistake, it would be fully twenty years before they could live down the shame and again become a real contender in national politics. The democratic party should be very careful to heed the admonition and steer clear of the pitfall that has been set to wreck their structure for years to come. The Catholics and liquor crowds consider the Democratic party the weaker of the two national parties, and think they can make capital of this in order to further their disreputable existence, and gain power to destroy our country and its people. At the precinct convention, which will be held May 5th Lockney should send an instructed delegation to the county convention, to vote down Catholicism and liquor. At the county convention, Floyd county should send an instructed delegation to the State convention to vote down Catholicism and liquor, and the State convention should send an instructed delegation to the National convention to vote down Catholicism and liquor. If you oppose Catholicism and liquor, now is the time to show your colors.

DAIRY SHOW AT PLAINVIEW APRIL 3, 4, 5, AND 6

First Annual Show of Panhandle-Plains Dairy Association to Be Gala Event

Plainview, March 28.—The Panhandle-Plains of Texas will show to the world the progress that it has made in the breeding of pure bred cattle through the First Annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show to be staged in Plainview next week, April 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th.

From all over the fifty-three counties of the Texas Panhandle-Plains, the area covered by the Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show Association, come reports of entries of pure bred dairy stock, and fine grade animals that in many instances will rival in production even the pure bred stock. Secretary Bob Anglin estimates that the number of animals that will be on exhibit will run higher than had ever been anticipated when the show was launched late in 1927.

All plans for staging the show are complete. The show will be held in the big cattle barn at Plainview, known as the Overall barn and the biggest stock barn in the Panhandle. It is located on the pavement in the business section of Plainview and has been converted into a large exhibit hall for this occasion. Judges have been selected. They are among the most prominent dairy cattle men in America.

The show is to be widely attended as attested by the mass of letters that have been pouring into the offices of Assistant Manager Maury Hopkins, and Secretary Bob Anglin during the past few weeks. Letters of acceptance to invitations sent out have been received from prominent people all over the Southwest interested in dairying.

The production contest being staged in connection with the show is bringing a great number of cattle. The production contest is open to cattle of all breeds and promises to be one of the outstanding features of the exhibition.

Tuesday, April 3rd, will be the opening day of the show and all exhibits will be ready for free public inspection, and the production contest will be started. The second day, Wednesday, April 4th, will be Jersey cattle judging day, and Thursday, Holstein-Friesian and Guernsey day. The evening of Thursday, April 5th, will be given over to the Annual Exhibitors' Banquet in the Plainview Municipal Auditorium. The Annual Meeting of the Texas Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show Association will be held in connection with the banquet. Friday, the last day will be given over to Grade Cow judging and closing of the production contest.

Premiums totaling over five thousand dollars are being offered in all classes for Jerseys, Holsteins, and Guernseys.

MOODY WANTS DELEGATION TO VOTE FOR DRY UNTIL END OF CONVENTION

Dallas, March 23.—Gov. Dan Moody Friday made plain that he believes a Texas delegation instructed for a dry candidate should be bound by its instruction until the end of the convention, if a dry candidate is not named before that time. The governor, who was in Dallas on his way back to Austin from Amarillo, also stated positively that he is opposed to the candidacies of Smith, Reed and Ritchie for the Democratic nomination.

"An afternoon report published in Dallas stated that I evaded a question as to whether the Texas delegation to Houston, instructed for a dry candidate, should ever throw its vote to Smith, Reed or Ritchie," the governor said. "On the contrary, I said, as I have clearly stated before, that I believe no one of the three can be nominated at Houston; that I am opposed to all three, and that if the Texas delegation is instructed for a dry candidate, it should be firmly and unalterably bound by its instructions until a dry candidate is nominated."

Gov. Moody said he was not prepared to announce the appointment of the ninth member of the state prison board, to fill the last place on the board created by the legislature, and that it might be a few weeks yet before the announcement was made.

How to Play BRIDGE Series 1927-28 by Wynne Ferguson Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

There are still many players who prefer a no-trump to a suit bid, but this kind of bidding gets them into trouble so often that sooner or later they are bound to reform.

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A has a good all around hand, sufficiently strong to justify a no-trump bid, but the singleton heart is a danger spot.

B's hand is very strong but contains only one stopper in spades. On the other hand, B holds a very strong heart suit, one that will well justify a three heart bid.

The proper bidding of these two hands is as follows: Z passes, A one club, Y one spade, B two hearts, Z passes, A two no-trump, Y three spades, and B three no-trump, all pass.

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one heart. A bid three spades, Y four clubs and B four diamonds. Z now bid five clubs, A five diamonds, Y six clubs and B six diamonds. Z doubled and all passed.

she asked "Cousin Creighton" to let her have a talk with him alone. Shut up with him in his study, the revelation she there made to him of her ambition and determination to exploit herself at Hollywood came to him as a blow.

"The only way you could stop me, Cousin Creighton," she answered his arguments against her plan, with sympathy in her tone for his manifest dejection, "would be to take back your money—what's left of it." She pushed toward him on the table between them a pile of bills—a penwise wistfulness in the lovely eyes she raised to his. "I can't go, of course, without your money."

"And if you can't go, what then? Will you," he asked hopefully, "then marry one of my sons?"

"If I said yes to that," she replied in alarm, drawing back the bills, "you'd take back your money! No, if I can't go with your money, I'll earn the money. And if you won't give me a job at mining, I warn you I'll turn evangelist! I've heard there's money to be had in that line, for I'd be a new American sensation—an English filled woman prancing and ranting over your broad land as a Soul Saver! I could do it, too!"

"Yes, and would, by G—d!" he exclaimed. "Keep the money, in heaven's name!"

"Thank you. Then that's settled."

"If you fall at Hollywood?" he gloomily inquired.

"Don't wish it on me—please! If I fall, I'll come back and marry any of your sons that want me. Only I draw the line at St. Croix. I couldn't," she shook her head, "marry St. Croix."

"Why?" asked Creighton testily, wounded in his paternal pride.

"First, because I'm not in love with him. Then I think a girl owes it to her children to pick out a good father for them—and St. Croix strikes me as too self-absorbed to make a successful husband and father. His own interests would always be first with him."

"St. Croix is a very fine young man!" his father warmly defended him. "Sensible and well balanced. No wild vagaries."

"But I like rebels and vagabonds so much better than 'fine young men'!"

"Oh, then you mean," said Creighton, again picking up hope, "that you will marry Marvin if Hollywood disappoints you?"

"Not unless he asks me to."

"If he doesn't ask you to," exclaimed Mr. Creighton, "he's a—"

"Yes, isn't he? I think so too. But though I'd never marry a man that hadn't proposed to me, if I never got married, that question need not engage us, Cousin Creighton, because I'm not going to fall at Hollywood!"

It was a few days later that Marvin Creighton, one evening after dinner, standing in front of the library fire, looked down reflectively over his folded arms upon his radiant young cousin who reclined lazily and with a maddening grace on the big couch that stood before the fireplace.

"It's incredible—utterly incredible!" he voiced his reflections.

"Yes, isn't it?—everything! But what in particular were you referring to?"

"That you—sitting there in front of me—you—are the girl I said I wouldn't marry! Why didn't some one suggest that I cross to England and look you over first?"

"Probably because they were all too sensible to think you'd pay any attention to such a good suggestion. And if you had, you'd probably have found me down from home to elude you."

"You see, you were offered to me," he explained, "like a mark-down at Woolworth's! Too cheap an article, it seemed to me, to take as a wife—seeing I did have a few dreams of fair women that were not so purchasable! And now, if I'm correctly informed as to 'the fury of a woman scorned,' there can't be the least hope for me—can there, Sylvia?"

"Is this a proposal, Marvin?"

"Well, I'm not sure it is. I'm not so sure as to think my worth to you could measure up to the worth of a couple of which you are highly talented! So I don't intend to—if I don't believe in myself."

"I have any influence with—"

"Let's be engaged, Marvin, then. How I make out at Hollywood. If I succeed, then no wedding bells for Meely and you'll have to jilt me again!"

"If only," he fetched a deep breath, "you hadn't that fatal talent! For we're mates, Sylvia, it's written in the heavens! I believe, you know, that you and I are mates in the real and lasting sense—for it's you I love, sweet child, not just your epidermis, lovely as it is—"

"My what?"

"I can think of you as old and wrinkled and I want and love you just the same—"

She warbled, "Believe me if all those endearing—but that's such old stuff—can't you tell me something a little more up to date?"

"Our sort of love, Sylvia, is so rare (or so it seems to me) that it's an awful pity, don't you think, to let it go by us even for the sake of a brilliant career?"

"Go by you, you mean?" she sweetly inquired; "for I didn't say I was in love with any one in particular."

"I said, didn't I, that we were mates? I'm your mate, too, if you only know it—as much as you're mine!"

"When did you begin to feel that way?" she asked with a bright interest, her eyes shining up into his with rather a feverish excitement.

"From the first day I met you in your school! I couldn't keep off you! You had me—in the hollow of your hand!"

"Oh, gee, I didn't know it! And Marvin! I've got to hold on to myself like anything or you'd have me in the hollow of your dear hand—and I don't want to be in any one's hands—not even in your strong and tender ones!—for I want to act!"

"I've seen you with those school children—I think your bigger career, Sylvia, lies in your having a brood of your own—I don't shock you, child, do I?"

"Well, yes, when you suggest a whole brood! I think that's too many! I wish," sighed Sylvia, "I could have babies and a career, too. If I insisted on that, would you jilt me?"

"But, dear child, I can't live in California. Not even in New York. My work will always be here. And what kind of a marriage would that be— you in California and I in Pennsylvania?"

"You wouldn't give up your work for marriage; why should I? What is going to become of marriage when women's professions become as important and as inevitable to them as a man's is to him? I wonder!"

"Do you really think, Sylvia, that being a screen actress is as big a thing as rearing children?"

"It would depend, I should say, upon the sort of children you rear. I'd consider it an awful waste of life to bring up most of the people one knows!"

"But you and I, Sylvia," said Marvin solemnly, "might get some satisfaction from bringing up a family of— well, honest, fearless truth-seekers, prophets of a new gospel—"

"Is This a Proposal, Marvin?"

"Oh, come, Marvin, let's give them a chance to be themselves!"

"That's what I want them to be! So few of us are ever ourselves! We're forced into a mold that's quite unlike our real selves! Let's rear a family that shall be a nucleus to start something—"

"But it's so dangerous, these days, to start anything—"

"Let them start the long-looked-for 'good will to men' era. It's about due. If humanity is to survive, don't you think? Well, what do you say? Shall we?"

"This is the queerest proposal I ever had!"

"Well, I can't seem to do anything, even propose to a girl, according to pattern!"

"But you see, Marvin dear, love lasts such a short time. My career on the screen would last rather longer."

"Ours won't be the kind that doesn't last! It will be the kind that grows! It will—"

"Oh, you're young! You sound sixteen! I'm not so sure. But it does not really matter, does it?—whether it lasts or not! It's the supreme thing now!"

"You admit that?" he eagerly demanded.

"Oh, yes, Marvin! You've gone and dimmed the glory of the screen for me so that I don't feel half so enamored of it as I did—"

"I tell you, Sylvia! He flung himself on the couch at her side. "You go on out to your old Hollywood, my dear, and try it out. For if you didn't give it a trial, you'd never be satisfied, never be sure you had not made a mistake—"

"I might even throw it up to you that you'd deprived the world of a great star—"

"That's what I want to avert. So you go on out there—and then when you decide to be mine, I'll have you first!"

"I won't go a step unless you promise to come to see me over some weekend."

"It's three thousand miles across this continent, you know—or probably you don't know! You probably think California is a suburb of Philadelphia! You need to travel out to Hollywood to pick up some United States geography on the way."

"Now, Marvin," she feebly protested as he slipped a hand, strong arm about her and drew her close, "if you really make love to me, I'm lost!"

he was traveling from Puebla passed the scene of a wholesale highway robbery less than three hours after the occurrence.

The fact that the ambassador's party was behind its schedule led to the theory being entertained in some quarters that the holdups were staged with the idea of intercepting Mr. Morrow, Genaro Estrada, acting foreign minister, and other members of the party and thus cause embarrassment abroad to the administration of President Calles. Eye witnesses of the robberies asserted that members of the band shouted "Viva Christo Rey," the slogan of the Catholic revolution. Their circumstances were taken as support of the theory that the affair was really planned as a blow at the prestige of the administration.

Others, however, maintained that robbery was the principal motive of the gang.

Detachments of federal troops scouted the foothills of Popocatepetl and the mountain regions of the surrounding country seeking traces of the highwaymen. The authorities believe that the band of fifty had split up into small groups so as to hide the more effectively.

RULES, OLD FIDDLERS' CONTEST

Rules for judges of the Old Fiddlers' contest to be held in the City auditorium, Amarillo, Texas, on Friday, April 27, 1928, at 8 p. m., under the auspices of the Tri-State fair.

1. Each contestant will draw place by lot, giving him his order on the program.
2. Each contestant shall be 40 years old, but not over 110.
3. Each contestant shall play one piece only, unless requested by the judges to play more, but shall be required to have ready at least five selections for emergencies.
4. Each selection offered shall be not less than three minutes nor more than five minutes.
5. Each contestant is to play old-fashioned music, preferably quadrilles, as this is more closely associated with the old "breakdown" dance.
6. Each contestant to be allowed not to exceed two accompanists.
7. In forming conclusions of the merit of each contestant, the judges shall pass on a percentage basis, taking 100 per cent, of course, as perfect, and that no man is perfect. They shall judge each separate selection under its column giving it the percentage that in their judgment it is entitled, and the final total of these added percentages will show the winner in order. If any ties should develop and the judges require, then those who are tied for place shall play another selection, or until such tie is settled.
8. Applause of the audience shall not have part in the decision of the judges.
9. Being an Old Fiddlers' contest, credit shall not be allowed to the modern jazz.
10. Contortions of the body of the artist shall not be given undue credit, patting of the feet being justified.
11. Each contestant shall furnish by April 20 information giving his birthplace, date of birth, incidents of his life and his picture (late photograph if convenient.)
12. Each county will be entitled to enter only one contestant. No fiddler will be allowed to enter the Tri-State Fair contest unless he has been declared the winner of the contest which is to be held somewhere in his county before April 17. All entries must be in the hands of R. T. Emmett, secretary and manager, before April 20th.

There shall be no appeal from the decisions of the judges.

Cash prizes will be given away as follows: First, $100; second, $50; third, $25; fourth, $15; fifth, $10; sixth, $5; seventh, $2.50; eighth, $1.00. Stunt: First, $10; second, $7.50; third, $5.—DR. O. H. LOYD, Director.

gotten. The first of these was the pink boll worm pest which came into our state from Mexico on account of inadequate quarantine facilities and supervision, and the second was the foot and mouth disease which came into Texas from a foreign country on account of lack of proper quarantine supervision. The loss to our live stock producers and farmers on account of these two invasions can never be truly estimated, but they are as nothing compared to the losses which our cotton farmers in West Texas will sustain on account of the new invasion of the pink boll worm from Mexico according to reports which have been made to Federal and State authorities.

Under prevailing conditions, Texas and other border states are likely to have forced upon them the burden and the cost of protecting the general welfare of the nation, and of the same time have no hand in quarantine regulations or policies to be pursued. Certainly states ought not to be penalized because they are border states.

Under existing law part of the expenses incident to the eradication of live stock diseases and agricultural pests that come into the United States from foreign countries is borne by the Federal Government, and part by the state where the invasion occurs. Upon the Federal Government alone must rest the responsibility for the invasion of live stock diseases and agricultural pests into the United States from foreign countries. Therefore, the present Congress should acknowledge this responsibility of the Federal Government by enacting into law the measure which I now introduce in the Senate which provides that the general government should assume the full cost of control and eradication in such instances."

GET RID OF RATS BY COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

When rats are known to hide and ber, sacked grain, hay or straw stacks, corn shocks, trash piles, and the like, nest in large numbers in piles of lumber, an excellent means of destroying them is to inclose such places with a portable rat-proof fence, throw out the straw, lumber or other material, and kill the rats with clubs or by the aid of dogs. Rat hunts are often organized in rural communities, or rat-killing contests between rival teams, organizations, or communities are arranged, which result in large kills and furnish excellent sport to the participants. Although the control of rats is largely an individual problem, rat infestation has a serious effect on the whole community, and organized effort is highly desirable. A man who allows rats to increase on his property until they menace the entire neighborhood, or a city dump which serves as an incubator for hordes of the pests, become matters of public concern. The elimination of rats from a whole community can best be accomplished only by the organized effort of all the citizens. Organized anti-rat campaigns are increasing in popularity and are becoming the regular program not only in many municipalities and counties, but also in whole states. Such campaigns are of great value from economic, educational, and sanitary standpoints. Assistance in planning, organizing, and prosecuting organized anti-rat campaigns will gladly be given by the Biological Survey, U. S. Department of Agriculture, in the form of direct aid whenever practicable, or an expert for campaigns of large scope, or by furnishing plans, general instructions, publicity material, and sample posters.

Ralph Carter of Brownfield has been here this week, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Carter.

Cecil Cope, who is working in a printing office at Slaton, was in Lockney Tuesday attending the funeral of Miss Hazel Shelton.

Dr. H. Z. Pennington has moved back to Floydada from Tulsa, and will resume his practice in this county.

Amarillo, Texas.—Abraham Lincoln, John Drinkwater's great educational drama of American history, will be presented at the Municipal auditorium in Amarillo on Friday, night, April 13, by the Tri-State Fair association.

The play has attracted international attention and is said to be the greatest historical drama ever presented on the American stage. It will be presented by the original New York cast which has been playing to packed houses throughout the South.

The Fair association is presenting the drama at popular prices in order that as many school children may see it as possible. Teachers say that every child should see it and secure a better conception of the historical events occurring during the time of the play.

Prices of tickets will range from 50c to $2.50 each. Mail reservations for tickets are now being received at the offices of R. T. Emmett, secretary Tri-State Fair Association, in Amarillo.

OLD FIDDLERS CONTEST TO BE HELD

Amarillo, March 28.—With an attendance of more than 2,000 persons at the Old Fiddlers contest recently held in Amarillo, the Tri-State Fair association has announced a second contest to be held in the Municipal Auditorium at Amarillo on April 27. The event will be open to winners of old fiddlers contests staged in any county in the Panhandle of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, except Potter county. However only those counties which stage old fiddlers contests will be allowed to send an entry before Friday, April 20th.

The fair will give $250 in prizes, $100 going to the champion fiddler. Only old tunes will be played and the program will be broadcast so that radio fans over the Panhandle may tune in on the program. Stunts numbers will also be arranged.

Dr. O. H. Loyd of Vega, director of the first contest, will direct the second meeting. Dr. Loyd and fair officials are asking that newspapers sponsor county-wide champion fiddlers may be entered from each county.

Winners in this contest will represent this section in a third contest which will be open to the world.

County-wide contests must be completed by April 17, and the winners reported to R. T. Emmett, secretary-manager of the Tri-State Fair, Amarillo, Texas.

The Old Fiddlers contest is meeting with enthusiastic support over the Panhandle and the event to be held in Amarillo on April 27 will be one of the outstanding old fiddlers contests ever held in the Southwest.

OUR BAPTIST WORK IN THE SOUTH AND IN ALL THE WORLD

Frank E. Burkhalter of Nashville, Tenn., is the publicity man for the Southern Baptist Convention and he gives out that there are 3,616,264 Baptists in the south who claim to affiliate with our Southern Baptist Convention and this other important information as to what they are trying to do.

How is this vast and resourceful army of Baptists carrying out their Captain's great commission? Last year they gave to all objects through their churches, $39,855,829.08, which represents a per capita of $11.02, the lowest of any large denomination in America. Of this total sum, however, $31,694,418.48 went to local church expenses, leaving only $8,161,410.60 for all forms of missionary, educational and benevolent work fostered by the denomination, state and South-wide. In other words, Southern Baptists, as a whole, gave $8.76 per capita for purely local church expenses and only $2.26 per capita for all missions and benevolences, or approximately four times as much to local work as to the extension of God's kingdom throughout the world. If for one year all Southern Baptist churches would put one-half as much money into missions and benevolences as they do into their purely local work every dollar of indebtedness on every Southwide Board, institution and agency would be automatically wiped out without a special appeal; while if this policy were pursued for three years it would enable all state institutions and agencies of the denomination to pay off every dollar of indebtedness, too. Such a development is possible, of course, only through greatly enlarging the total contributions of the churches, for local expenses need practically every dollar that is now being devoted to that purpose.

Dairy cows when freshening sometimes suffer from the trouble known as congested udder. If the cow is at all feverish or the udder hard and congested, give her a 1-pound dose of Epsom salt. If this does not have the desired effect, give a second dose two days later. In such cases leaving the calf with the cow longer than two days may be a great help. The calf's frequent sucking and massaging of the cow's udder seem to aid in reducing the congestion. Milking three or four times a day and massaging the udder with camphorated oil may be necessary in some cases. Keep the cow in the barn and away from drafts.

THIS IS A PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

In the Frigidaire cabinet everything is fully enclosed. There is no unsightly machinery sticking out like a sore thumb. Take a good long look at the Frigidaire Cabinet then close your eyes and your mental picture will be one of grace and harmony. There are no unforgetful irregularities to mar the picture.

For a number of years a certain automobile manufacturer producing a good car tried to make the public appreciate a new design of the hood. But unfortunately the design was such that seeing it once you could never forget how it looked. This always a mark of ugliness. You would not want anything like that in your home.

You will look at your Frigidaire many times every day for many years. You have a right to demand the beauty of a Frigidaire cabinet.
