Will Publish Booklet About Floyd County

FAY GUTHRIE AND H. B. ADAMS WILL GATHER DATA AND SOLICIT ADVERTISING FOR BOOKLET TO BE PUBLISHED IN LOCKNEY

At the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday, Fay Guthrie, secretary of the organization, and H. B. Adams, editor of the Beacon, presented a proposition to the Chamber of Commerce, for the publication of a book, of which 10,000 copies are to be printed, in which they proposed to feature the development of this county, as a piece of advertising matter for the use of the Chamber of Commerce in advertising Lockney and Floyd county to the prospective settlers that are now and will be seeking literature on this section of the Plains, and who are looking for locations in the farming section of the Plains country.

Every business in Lockney, and all businesses who have interests in Lockney, will be asked to take advertisements in this book, and thereby contribute to the financing of a piece of literature, the such of which has never been attempted in this section of the country before.

The proposition is something worth while, and will be the biggest thing in the way of advertising matter that has been put out in the Plains country, and it will need the support of every live-wire business in the town, or that has business connections in the town.

HALE TO HAVE PAVED HIGHWAY

Plainview, Aug. 11.—Construction of the first paved road through Hale county and the first on the Plains south of Amarillo, will be started within the next few weeks.

Bonds for $1,000,000 for the paving of both state highways through Hale county, No. 9 and No. 28, were voted in June, 1927. The engineering work on No. 9 has been completed for several months. Upon the completion of the drainage structures and grade, it is probable that immediate work will proceed on No. 28.

No. 9 extends from Canyon to San Antonio, and the paving in Hale county, a distance of 35 miles, will be the first pavement to be laid on the highway north of San Angelo.

J. L. WELCH HELD ON BOOTLEGGING CHARGE

Plainview, Aug. 14.—J. L. Welch, who lives in Floyd county near South Plains, was arrested here Saturday night by H. S. Bolin, deputy sheriff, and charged with the unlawful possession of intoxicants for the purpose of sale.

Mr. Bolin was standing in the lobby of a small hotel when Welch is said to have entered with several bottles of beer when he saw the deputy sheriff. He started to run and Bolin gave chase. When the man would not stop Bolin fired in the air which was sufficient persuasion to bring Welch to an abrupt halt. He was taken to the county jail and the above charges filed.

FLOYDADA'S FIRST DEPARTMENT STORE

Martin Dry Goods Co. of Floydada Building Big Department Store Building

The march of progress on the South Plains of Texas was made plainly visible last week at Floydada, when it was announced that one of the oldest residence in that city would be torn down and moved in accordance to the demand for a modern brick department store which will be occupied by one of the oldest firms doing business in Floydada, The Martin Dry Goods Company.

The new building, which will cost near $20,000 when completed and will be 75x100 feet in dimensions, will occupy the site formerly occupied by the residence of W. I. Cannaday on the corner of Fifth and California Streets. Mr. J. G. Martin, for a number of years the manager of the firm of Martin Dry Goods Company, is in St. Louis completing plans for the business and made the announcement of the company's decision from that city.

Floydada is typical of the towns of the Panhandle-Plains of Texas in that building permits in that city for the past twelve months have far surpassed any previous year in the history of the town. Numerous other structures, which for a long time, were regarded as the city's best, are being moved or torn away to make room for newer and more modern buildings.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON FOR VICTIMS OF TRAGEDY

A. J. Chambers, Eunice Chambers and Alma Stovall Are Buried Here Services at Nazarene Church

Plainview, Aug. 14.—Funeral services were held at the Nazarene church this afternoon for A. J. Chambers, his daughter, Eunice Chambers, and Alma Stovall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stovall, who lost their lives Friday morning when they were swept away by a wall of water which rushed upon them from the mountains near Carlsbad, N. M.

The bodies of Mr. Chambers and Alma Stovall were shipped to Plainview yesterday morning and the body of Eunice Chambers arrived here this morning. The bodies of the first two lay in state at the Plainview Undertaking parlors until six o'clock last night and throughout the afternoon hundreds of local citizens, shocked by the awfulness of the tragedy, filed by to view the remains.

Rev. R. M. Hocker conducted the funeral services at the new church which was recently opened on the corner of Seventh and Denver streets. Interment followed in the Plainview cemetery under the direction of the Plainview Undertaking Co.

Details of the Tragedy

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Chambers, their daughters, Eunice and Almira, Alma Stovall and Iris Bowley left Plainview Wednesday for a trip to the Carlsbad cavern. The four girls were members of a quartette of the Nazarene church. Mr. and Mrs. Chambers were interested in the quartette and had in a way sponsored it. As a reward for the services of these young women the trip to Carlsbad had been arranged.

The party left Carlsbad about 8 o'clock Friday morning for the cavern. They were riding in Mr. Chambers' sedan. One half mile south of Carlsbad there is an old draw which seldom contains water and is crossed on a concrete dip about a hundred yards long. At this time water was lying across the road but it was shallow and did not appear impassable so Mr. Chambers, who was driving, started across.

Mrs. Chambers tells the following account of what happened:

"Mr. Chambers drove a short distance into the stream. The water reached about to the runningboard. Suddenly he remarked, 'I believe the water is rising.' He stopped the car and started to back out, killing the engine. Then we heard a roaring sound and looking up the draw saw a wall of water. The girls and Mr. Chambers and I got out of the car. The girls stood on the running board, three on one side and one on the other. Mr. Chambers and I started for the shore, and Mr. Chambers called to the girls that he would be back to help them in a minute. Those were the last words that were spoken as almost immediately the water struck and swept us off our feet."

The chief of police of Carlsbad had been notified of the approaching rise of water and rushed to the draw in order to notify all tourists of the impending danger. He arrived just in time to see the car turn over and be swept away. Two garage men also immediately arrived on the scene. Their stories and those of the survivors followed to give an account of what followed.

The car was turned over upon the three girls who were standing on the runningboard. They were Eunice Chambers, Alma Stovall and Almira Chambers. Alma Stovall was apparently instantly killed as the undertaker who prepared the bodies at Carlsbad stated that no water was found in her lungs. Eunice Chambers was carried down the stream and Almira Chambers was able to extricate herself from the car and come to the surface. Her account of the struggle she made is an unusually clear one for the circumstances and shows remarkable presence of mind. The car rolled over her but luckily did not crush her. She stated that she held her breath when she went under and filled her lungs with air each time she came to the surface. One of the garage men was an expert swimmer and immediately dove into the torrent. Almira stated that she saw him coming but could not keep above the water. It suddenly occurred to her that maybe he could see her hand and when she went down she would hold her hand up. This probably saved her as the garage man grasped her hand just as she was drifting out of reach.

Mrs. Chambers was knocked down, to the shore to enable her to be pulled out by one of the men on the bank but the water took her close enough bank.

Mr. Chambers is thought to have been partially stunned by the fall when he was knocked down. He swam directly down the stream for approximately a quarter of a mile and witnesses stated that they were sure he could have reached the shore but from his actions he must have

Horned Frog Found in Solid Concrete Here

FOUNDATION BUILT FOURTEEN YEARS AGO GIVES UP LIVE HORNED FROG

Further proof that it is possible for a West Texas Horned Frog to live without food, water or air for a long period of years lies in the discovery, by local plumbers, of a half grown member of the species buried in the solid concrete foundation of a residence in west Lockney that was built by Uncle Frank H. Ford, pioneer plainsman, fourteen years ago.

When extricated from the mass, the frog was as flat as the proverbial pancake and as he came in contact with the air his body and limbs began to again take shape. He seemed to yawn as a person aroused from deep slumber and within five minutes began to hunt for food.

Iris Bowley Is Plucky

Iris Bowley grasped a small cedar as she was carried down stream and held fast to it. Several attempts were made by the swimmer who saved Almira to rescue her but the force of the water was so great that it was impossible. Iris clung to the small tree despite the punishing force of the stream until a rope was stretched across the stream from a railroad bridge a little below. The rope could not be brought close to her and it was necessary for her to swim or at least drift down the swift current to reach it. She had never swum a stroke but bravely obeyed orders from the bank, let go and grasped the rope. The rope swung across the bridge where a man clinging to a pier grasped Iris and pulled her out of danger.

When Iris first grasped the cedar the water was about waist high, but travelling at such a speed that it was impossible for anyone to keep a footing in the raging torrent. By the time the rope had been stretched the water was up to her neck and it soon reached an estimated depth of from twelve to fifteen feet. The stream was about two hundred yards wide.

Bodies Carried Down Stream

The body of Mr. Chambers was the first to be found. It was seen by a Mexican, who was assisting in the search. The body was discovered at four o'clock Friday afternoon three-quarters of a mile from where the car was swept away.

Alma Stovall's body was recovered a half hour later. It was lodged in the branches of a tree that had been swept away by the force of the water. A man had been swimming the stream all afternoon searching for the bodies. Becoming tired he climbed up in the branches of the tree in the middle of the stream to rest. A limb broke off dropping him into the water and as he was falling he noticed the body of the girl entangled in the branches. The draw emptied into the Pecos River about a mile from where the party was crossing and Miss Stovall's body was about a quarter of a mile down the river or a mile and a quarter from the crossing.

The search continued all day Saturday and part of Saturday night for the body of Eunice Chambers. It was found at seven o'clock Sunday morning lodged against the intake pipe of a power plant at a dam six miles down the Pecos River or seven miles from where she was carried away by the wall of water. Her body was brought to the surface by means of a long pole in the hands of a man who had been searching that part of the river since dawn.

The car was found three miles from the scene of the disaster a twisted mass of wreckage. Something of the force of the water could be imagined from the twisted car and from the huge trees that had been uprooted and broken by the rushing torrent.

Carlsbad Responds

J. W. Stovall, Howard Stovall, Price Stremman, Tilman Long, A. C. Bowley, J. B. Johnson, Edison Chambers and Harry Jones drove to Carlsbad Friday afternoon. They reported upon their return that the entire citizenry of Carlsbad appeared shocked by the tragedy and lent every possible assistance in the search for the bodies and to the survivors and bereaved relatives.

Mr. Chambers was chief mail dispatcher at the local postoffice and his associates will act as pall bearers at the funeral this afternoon. They are: Fred L. Brown, E. E. Spencer, Clinton Walter, John F. Bier, Oliver Anderson and Jim Noel.

Pallbearers for the two girls are J. E. Stovall, Clarence Mosely, Tillman Long, O. T. Busby, W. C. Busby, Alex Luster, James Hanson, E. R. Allen, Sylvester Moore, W. T. Johnson, Isaac Hanson and Lloyd Smith.

THE SUBSCRIPTION CONTEST

The Beacon subscription contest of the Lockney Beacon closed Saturday afternoon, and accomplished the purpose that it was inaugurated for. Every person in Floyd county and eastern Hale county was given an opportunity to subscribe for the Beacon, and while they all did not respond, we added more than 500 new names to our already good list of subscribers. We are pleased with the results, and the manner in which the contest was conducted by Mr. R. D. Wiely of Dallas, who acted as contest manager. The contest was carried on in a fair and honest manner, no candidate receiving any more courtesies at this office, by the contest manager or the editor than any other candidate, as it was immaterial to the contest manager or the editor which one of the candidates won, and they would like to have seen them all win, if that could have been possible. All the contestants, as far as we know, were fair and square in the race, and the business transacted with this office was pleasant in every way, and we want to thank the contestants for the intensive interest manifested and the manner in which all business dealings were transacted.

The Beacon now has the largest and best list of subscribers ever in the history of the paper, and will hereafter be of more value to the advertisers in getting results than ever before. It is the desire of the management of the paper to give the best newspaper and best advertising medium to the patrons of the paper that it is possible to do, and in this we are honestly doing our best. We appreciate the response of the people in this contest, and thank the people for their assistance to the various contestants. We hope that we will be deserving of your confidence and will strive to give you a paper well worth the money you have invested.

IS NOT WORRYING OVER RELIGION IN POLITICS

An interesting thing at present is the way some of the folks are taxing their minds over the question of religion in politics, not that they have any fears of religion hurting politics at all, but seem to be grief-stricken over the fact that everything religious will soon destroy itself if it doesn't stay out of politics. One poor fellow up in Cooke county bewails the fact that the "holy cause of religion" is committing suicide and the churches are "dwindling away and dying," all because their pastors insist on "maddling politics," and now we are made to wonder if one of these fellows would not feel rather uncomfortable if placed in the position of a Sunday school teacher or a prayer meeting leader, and would not know which way to turn for the simple reason that he is not well acquainted with the religious end of his subject. Then, again, we don't see this crowd worrying at all over the fact that the liquor traffic and all its attendant evils are "in politics" up to its neck, so why not be as charitable toward religion as toward its bitterest foe? We don't see or hear our faithful church workers whining and pining because religion is making itself felt in politics, because that is their business, to combat sin wherever it is found among the high and low, in politics or out of it.—Jeff Reynolds, Johnson City, Tenn.

NATION WILL SPEND $1,306,028,766 FOR NEW HIGHWAYS

U. S. Will Have 600,000 Miles of Paved Roads—Nearly $12 to be Spent for Every Person

Washington, D. C., Aug. 11.—Every man, woman and child in the United States will have an interest of nearly $12 in America's road building program for 1928.

This statement was issued at National Headquarters of the American Automobile Association today, based on the estimated sum of $1,306,028,766 to be spent for highway construction this year and a population of over 120,000,000 people.

"This program," says the national motoring body, "means that at the close of 1928 the surfaced highways of the nation will total more than 600,000 miles and the Federal-Aid system, comprising over 185,000 miles of important interstate trunk lines, will be near the stage of two-thirds completed."

The A. A. A. which originally sponsored the Federal-Aid program, nursed it through a stormy childhood and has successfully repelled every onslaught against this highway building agency, made public the following striking figures:

There has been a total of 71,074.3 miles of the Federal-Aid system completed, as of June 30, 1928, through Federal assistance, with 10,779 miles under construction and 3,118.4 miles approved for construction. The Bureau of Public Roads, however, has advised the A. A. A. that a number of states have built Federal-Aid mileage without Federal assistance and this has increased the total number of miles.

The total mileage of highways of all types to be constructed by the various states during 1928 totals nearly 31,000 miles.

Expenditures for 1928 for construction and maintenance represents an increase of more than $225,000,000 over 1927, when $1,123,607,055 was spent by highway building agencies.

The A. A. A. statement says that the estimated cost of Federal-Aid roads under construction, as of June 30, 1928, is $261,754,800, of which the Federal government is paying $105,297,530. The estimated cost of the projects approved for construction is $67,461,518, of which the government's share is $25,741,403.

The A. A. A. statement continues: "One of the significant features of the Federal-Aid program is the number of miles of highway under 'stage' construction. This refers to additional work done on projects previously improved and consists of a higher type than was provided in the original improvement."

"The importance of the Federal-Aid program is strikingly shown by the fact that the states, with this work as an incentive, are building nearly two miles of highway for each mile built with Federal co-operation."

"Appropriation for 1930 and 1931 have already been made available by congress to the extent of $75,000,000 for each of the two years and such authorizations two years in advance are in line with the policy of allowing Federal and State agencies ample time to outline construction programs."

"There have been numerous attempts by private interests and by some governmental agencies to halt the Federal-Aid program. Each and all of these have been repelled, due largely to the aggressive stand of organized motordom. It is also a tribute to the large vision of congress that it always has been quick to ignore attacks on this program and by overwhelming majorities sustained a much to advance the transportation national policy which is doing so needs, to promote the development of our resources, to further social well-being, to eliminate sectionalism and encourage national solidarity."

TWO DE LEON BOYS GIVEN LIFE FOR ATTACK UPON GIRL

Jurors Take Sixteen Hours to Decide On Verdict of the Two Men

Comanche, Aug. 11.—A jury in District Court here Saturday found Harley Holland and J. D. Pierce, farm hands, guilty of criminal attack upon Miss Velma Bankhead, 19, and fixed the penalty at life imprisonment.

The verdict was delivered at 9:40 a. m., almost 16 hours after the case was given to the jury.

Both Pierce and Holland appeared relieved when they heard the verdict. The State had demanded the death penalty. Dick Hazzard, companion of Pierce and Holland in the alleged attack on the night of July 21, was given the supreme penalty on similar charges three days ago.

only to obtain a life sentence for the defendants, it was doubtful that the case would be appealed. The jury's verdict came unexpectedly Saturday. Nothing had been heard of the 12 men since they filed from the courtroom at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon and there were rumors of a deadlock. It was reported that the jury stood six for death and six for life sentence on the first ballot Friday night. The trials just closed attracted more interest than any held in Comanche in recent years. It was three weeks Saturday since the crime was alleged to have occurred. A special term of the grand jury was called to indict the three men and they were hurried to trial here, despite heroic efforts on the part of defense attorneys to obtain a change of venue. Girl Takes Stand Miss Bankhead, blonde, demure complainant, took the stand both in the trial of Hazzard and that of Pierce and Holland. She related how Hazzard, after calling for her in his automobile to take her to church, was joined by the two other men and a girl, Christine Gammage. They then drove out on the highway near De Leon, she said, where the car was stopped upon pretense of a flat tire and the alleged attack committed. She testified that all three of the men attacked her. The Gammage girl, who sat in the automobile while the three men made the alleged attack on Miss Bankhead, first was indicted as an accessory but later was released from the charge and attached as a state witness. Corroborates Testimony Her testimony corroborated that of Miss Bankhead in every detail. She told of the struggle when the three men dragged the girl from the automobile and of hearing screams and pleadings before Miss Bankhead was brought to the car. Other witnesses who testified for the State in the two trials were Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bankhead, parents of the girl, who told how their daughter was delivered to her home, bruised and sobbing, on the night of the attack. Mrs. Bankhead testified she heard warnings as her daughter was pushed from the automobile in front of her home. Several witnesses testified to having seen the three men together the night of the alleged attack. The defense did not introduce a witness in either trial, contenting itself with a plea for life sentence upon grounds that there had been no life taken and that the State should demand none. The Baptist Meeting

The meeting is making progress. Bro. Coffman is doing some good preaching. The music has been exceptionally good. We have two pianos and an orchestra. We would like very much to have other instruments in the orchestra. We are trying to carry out the Psalmist's injunction in Psalms 150 where he says "Praise the Lord with the sound of the trumpet; praise Him with the psaltery and harp. Praise Him with the timbrel and dance; praise Him with the stringed instruments and organs. Praise Him upon the loud sounding cymbals; praise Him upon the high sounding cymbals. Let every thing that hath breath praise the Lord. Praise ye the Lord." We would be glad to have you join us in praising the Lord in song or with any instrument that you can use for that purpose. He is worthy of our best praise.

Citation by Publication THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Floyd County—GREETING:

You are hereby commanded, that you summon, by making Publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Floyd if there be a newspaper published there in, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, Fay Dell Doggett, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the Honorable District Court, at the next regular term thereof, to be held in the County of Floyd, at the Court House thereof, in Floydada on the 24th day of September, A. D. 1928, then and there to answer a Petition filed in said Court, on the 19th day of July, A. D. 1928, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 2059, wherein George Doggett is plaintiff and Fay Dell Doggett is defendant. The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit: That plaintiff has been an inhabitant in good faith of the State of Texas, for twelve months, and has resided in Floyd County for more than six months next before the filing of this petition, and now resides in Floyd County. That plaintiff and defendant were married on July 15, 1925, at Clayton, New Mexico, and lived together as husband and wife until April 15, 1926. That while they lived together plaintiff provided for defendant, and was in all things a good and dutiful husband, but defendant, disregarding her duty, and the kindness of plaintiff, soon after they were married, without cause or provocation, became extremely jealous of plaintiff, and violently resented even the polite civilities of plaintiff towards other ladies, and would fly into a rage and violently abuse plaintiff in public and in private. That defendant developed a cruel and nagging disposition, and would continuously, on plaintiff's entering his home after a hard day's work, would without cause chide, nag at, and quarrel at plaintiff, and make false accusations against plaintiff, keeping up such treatment until far into the night, and until midnight, and to such extent that plaintiff could not sleep and could not rest, thereby incapacitating him from the work of the next day. That plaintiff begged defendant to desist, telling her on many occasions that he could not endure her conduct, but defendant persisted in such treatment, and same continuously grew worse day by day, rendering plaintiff's life miserable, incapacitating him from work, and rendering their further living together as man and wife insupportable. Plaintiff prays for citation by publication, and for judgment dissolving the bonds of matrimony, and for general and special relief.

Herein fail not, and have you before said court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ, with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Floydada, Texas, this, the 21st day of July, A. D. 1928.

D. 1928, Tuesday, after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1928, and providing the necessary proclamation and appropriation to defray expenses of proclamation, publication and election.

COUNTY BRIEFS

CENTER

Aug. 14.—People still find plenty of weeds to kill, but most everyone has gone over the entire crop stubble all since the rain. Row crops look fine now and promise a bountiful yield.

Well, Center outdid itself for a crowd at singing Sunday afternoon, more folk than we had seating space. Had been noised abroad that the Stamps Quartette would be here, so folk came from everywhere, near by and far away, but the quartette got mud bound at Quannah and didn't get here. We had fine singing anyway.

Bro. Bost preached his last sermon for this associational year for us Sunday night. His third year as pastor comes to an end the fourth Sunday, but as he is in a meeting with his other church at that time, he cannot be with us, but we hope to call a pastor at that date.

Remember, this coming Friday night is club night, missed two weeks ago as our meeting was in progress.

A number of old time acquaintances of W. A. Huckabee, surprised him with a birthday dinner, Sunday. Those present from Center were Mrs. Montgomery and children, Mr. Nolan and family, Mr. A. L. Spence and family, Hansel McAda and Jim Fields.

Misses Fannie and Inez Bolding came out to singing Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Lightfoot and Misses Gertrude and Nadine, called at the Jordan home a while Thursday afternoon.

Had a good crowd out for baptizing just at Sundown Sunday. We went at once from the water to the church for the evening service.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tubbs and family were dinner guests at the Jordan home, Sunday.

Wedding bells rang in our midst again last week. This time for Mr. Verna Jackson and Miss Inez Garner. They were married at Lockney, Sunday, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's father, to a number of friends, among them Mr. and Mrs. Claud Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Carpenter, F. O. Bryant, Miss Georgia Bryant, and friends from Blanco. We certainly wish them all happiness in their new life. They are at home at the Jackson home this fall.

We hear Mr. and Mrs. Joe Foster passed through this way enroute to Hamilton county, last week. We warn them now they had better stop at least long enough to say howdy next time.

Miss Anna Mae King is on the sick list now.

The thresher finished its job at Mr. Miller's yesterday afternoon and moved west.

Messrs. C. O. and Grady McAda came near being seriously hurt one day last week, when the car they had jacked up and working underneath it fell on them.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jernigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Mankin went with Mr. and Mrs. Gill for dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Branson were here visiting Sunday.

SORRY, Jane, but I simply can't go into town today. This is my Kitchen Club day, and I never miss a meeting if I can help it.

"Kitchen Club, Nancy?" came the voice at the town end of the telephone. "What kind of a club is that? I can't imagine an artist's being interested in kitchens!"

"Well, for one thing, idiot, it's shown me that it takes a greater artist to keep house than it does to paint pictures. You catch the next train, and come out here, and I'll take you to a meeting."

The Kitchen Club to which Nancy Gordon and her neighbors belonged was quite an unusual development for a suburban group of modern young women, most of whom were artists or writers in addition to being the wives of "rising" young business men.

It had grown out of a visit they made to the rectory, to fix up the kitchen there before the new rector and his wife came. Nancy had suggested a new color scheme; someone else had rearranged the furniture; others had stocked the shelves with good things to eat. And before they were through, all the women were envying the rector's wife her new kitchen.

One of them said: "I wish you girls would come over and help me dress up my kitchen." And that began it. They went, made suggestions for improving the kitchen and received in return some most delicious refreshments with the recipes written out for everybody to take home.

After that it became a regular institution, every meeting bringing out new ideas for kitchen improvement, and new recipes. There were no officers, except that each member acted as secretary, writing up in a "Kitchen Club Notebook" the new ideas she received from the other members.

LEAVES FROM NANCY'S KITCHEN CLUB NOTEBOOK

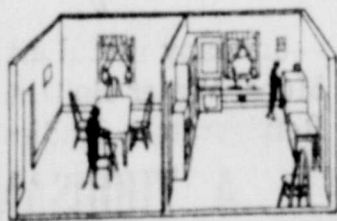

If Jane will come out here often, she will get ashamed of giving her husband delicatessen stuff, and will cook him some real food. Mrs. Gray served us the most delicious refreshments this afternoon. Here are the recipes:

New Recipe for Chicken Salad

Dice the meat from one chicken boiled tender, and salted before it is removed from the fire. Add three chopped hard-boiled eggs, one cup diced celery, one-half cup chopped sweet pickle and three-fourths of a cup of freshly toasted, salted nuts. Season with salt, celery salt and pepper. Mix with enough olive oil mayonnaise to moisten.

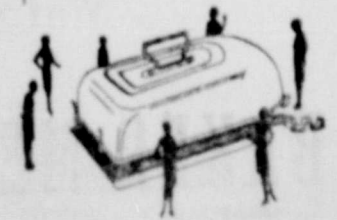

Cheese Tea Biscuits

1 quart flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 scant teaspoon soda
1 lump of lard the size of an egg
4 tablespoons grated cheese
Buttermilk to make soft dough
Bake at once in a quick oven. She uses a live heat oven which can be set over one burner of an oil or gas stove, leaving the rest of the stove free for other cooking.

Rearranging an Old-Fashioned Kitchen

Mrs. Gray's kitchen was so large that she wore herself out trying to get around in it. We suggested two things: to group all her furniture in one end, using the other end for a breakfast room; or to put up a wall-board partition, making a separate room to be used for a breakfast room. She decided on the latter. Sketch shows how it will look.

Mrs. Gray has a new kind of covered broiler that cooks meats on both sides at once. It's used on top of the stove. The cover keeps odors from spreading. She says the broiler is fine for baking biscuits as well as for broiling.

CARD OF THANKS—I wish to thank every one who helped me in the Chevrolet Coach Contest by the Lockney Beacon and am sorry that I cannot fulfill my promises, but due to the considearcy and "manhood" of two Lockney citizens I was unable to get the car.

Thanking Mr. Adams and Mr. Wiley for their kindness for it was certainly a fair contest through the Beacon office, and the possessors of the car.—Leo Simpson.

CARD OF THANKS—I wish to extend my thanks and appreciation to all those who assisted me in any way in the winning of the Chevrolet Coach in the Beacon Subscription Contest. I appreciate the help given me, and am very proud of the premium I was awarded. I also wish to thank the contest manager, for the courteous treatment and impartial manner in which he conducted the contest.—Emma Hodel.

LOVE WITHDRAWS AS LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Both Names Certified Before Withdrawal Is Announced—Miller Is Silent

Dallas, Aug. 14.—State Senator Thos. B. Love, recognized leader of Texas Democratic forces opposed to Alfred E. Smith, Democratic presidential nominee, today announced his withdrawal from the race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor of Texas.

As a result Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, for re-election, will be the only candidate on the ballot in the August 25 primary. The state executive committee, it was pointed out, does not have the right to certify another candidate to take Love's place in the runoff.

Informed of Love's action, Miller declined to make a statement. Other than an expression of curiosity as to whether Love had "jumped on" him in his statement, Miller apparently was little interested.

Names of both Love and Miller were certified for placing on the primary ballot by the state Democratic executive committee at its meeting yesterday at San Antonio.

In announcing his withdrawal, Love said in part:

"I believe it most improbable that I can overcome the substantial lead of my opponent and obtain a majority of votes in the runoff primary; that to further continue the contest would serve no useful purpose but would result in a waste of time and effort and zeal on the part of my friends which ought to be utilized in defeating Al Smith in November.

Love pointed out that while the state executive committee had certified his name, the recent decision of the San Antonio court of appeals upholding several county executive committees in barring his name makes it possible for his name to be barred in the second primary also. He said he had been advised that several counties planned to do so on this decision.

"I do not say I would be nominated if my name were printed on the official ballots in every county," he said. "What I do say is that without my name being so printed on the ballot in every county, as the law requires, it is impossible for me to have a fair chance to be nominated."

He congratulated his opponent, Lieut. Gov. Miller, on his opportunity to serve the people of Texas again and declared that he had "no complaints and no regrets" in discontinuing his own candidacy.

"I am a Democrat and I am against Al Smith because I am a Democrat, the San Antonio court of civil appeals to the contrary notwithstanding," he declared. "I have great respect for our courts but no court has the power to compel me to violate my conscience by voting for Al Smith or to compel me to leave the Democratic party in which I was born and in which I have served unselfishly for 40 years.

"All that I have invested in Texas agriculture. As a farmer I would think myself very foolish to vote for Al Smith against Herbert Hoover."

The grounds upon which Mr. Love's view of the situation are based are given in his statement as follows:

"The Democratic state executive committee yesterday changed the rules in the middle of the game. For a quarter of a century the law of Texas, and the Democratic practice has provided, as it still provides, that a qualified voter taking the statutory pledge can vote in a Democratic primary election for state and local officers without pledging himself to support the Democratic presidential nominee. This law passed in the legislature of 1907 was designed to permit those unwilling to support Democratic presidential candidates to vote in Democratic primaries for state and local officers, as E. G. Senter, who wrote the law, has publicly stated and as those of us who were in the legislature and helped to pass it will recall.

It is also the intent and effect of this law, and has been the practice that each voter in a Democratic primary election taking the pledge should construe the pledge for himself, in the light of his own conscience. Our appellate courts have held this to be the law. Yet, on Monday the state executive committee undertook to construe this pledge and to force its construction on the Democratic voters. By this action the state executive committee clearly designed to keep all Democrats who are determined to vote against Al Smith in November out of the run-off primary. Thus it is intended to exclude large numbers of voters from the run-off primary who were allowed to participate in the first primary.

"The Democratic Executive state committee has certified my name to be printed on the official ballot for the run-off primary just as the same committee certified my name on the various counties in the first primary. This action is in accordance with the plain letter of the law of Texas, but, unfortunately, under the decision of the San Antonio court of civil appeals it is not conclusive upon the county executive committee.

"Under this decision there can be no assurance as to the number of counties in which my name will be left off the official ballot in the run-off primary.

"It is true that the attorney general has held that a voter may lawfully write my name where it is not printed on the ballot, but I am advised by a number of voters who wrote in my name in the first primary that their votes were not counted. The official returns in Val Verde county gave me no votes, yet I am assured by a number of voters in that county that they and others voted for me by writing in my name."
