

Itinerary First Denver Passenger Train is Set

Dinner in Lockney Second Day Out— Arrive Here at 11:45 A. M. November 21st

Fort Worth, Oct. 21.—A round trip itinerary which will include 16 stops in West Texas is mapped out for the South Plains trade and good will trip which will be operated Nov. 20 and 21 over the new extension line of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway.

The complete schedule for the trip was announced Saturday by Fred D. Daggett, general passenger agent of the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway. Members of the traffic department of the railroad had been at work on the schedule a week, working out all details of the trip.

Points on the new extension line, which will give Fort Worth and the South Plains direct rail communication for the first time, will be visited during the two-day rail celebration by special trains from Fort Worth, Dallas, Wichita Falls, and Childress. Itinerary is Given

Cities and towns in the region included in the itinerary for the Fort Worth train are Childress, Turkey, Quitaque, South Plains, Sterley Junction, Silvertown, Plainview, Dimmitt, Hart, Lockney, Petersburg, Becton and Lubbock.

The train will leave Fort Worth at 11:30 p. m. Monday, Nov. 19, and will make a run of 230 miles during the night to Childress, where a stop of one hour and 10 minutes has been arranged for the morning of Tuesday, Nov. 20. Breakfast will be served at Childress. The train will arrive at that point at 6:10 a. m. and leave at 7:20 a. m.

The rest of the schedule for the first morning of the trade trip will be: Arrive at Turkey, a distance of 49 miles, at 9 a. m., and leave at 10 a. m.; arrive at Quitaque, a distance of 10 miles, at 10:20 a. m. and leave at 11:20 a. m.; arrive at South Plains, a distance of 22 miles, at 12:10 p. m. and leave at 12:20 p. m.; arrive at Sterley Junction, a distance of five miles, at 12:30 p. m. and leave at 12:35 p. m.; arrive at Silvertown, a distance of 19 miles, at 1:15 p. m. and leave at 2:45 p. m.

Lunch at Silvertown. Lunch will be served at Silvertown. After leaving Silvertown the train will pass back through Sterley, arriving at 3:25 p. m. for a five-minute stop. The next stop will be at Plainview, a distance of 18 miles. The train will arrive there at 4 p. m.

Plainview has been designated as the night layover and Fort Worthians will eat dinner at that place. The train will put out of Plainview at 2:20 a. m. Wednesday, Nov. 21. A run of 43 miles will be made to Dimmitt, the train arriving there at 3:50 a. m. and remaining until 9:20 a. m. Breakfast will be served at Dimmitt.

The itinerary for the morning will include: Arrive at Hart, a distance of 16 miles, at 9:55 a. m. and leave at 10:10 a. m.; arrive at Plainview, a distance of 27 miles, at 11 a. m. and leave at 11:05 a. m.; arrive at Sterley, a distance of 18 miles, at 11:40 a. m. and leave at 11:45 a. m.; arrive at Lockney, a distance of seven miles, at 11:55 a. m. and leave at 1:45 p. m.

Lubbock is Last Stop. Lunch will be served at Lockney and dinner at Lubbock on the second day out. After leaving Lockney the train will arrive at Petersburg, a distance of 20 miles at 2:20 p. m. and leave at 2:35 p. m. The next stop will be at Becton, a distance of eight miles, where the train will arrive at 2:50 p. m. and leave at 2:55 p. m. Lubbock will be reached at 3:30 p. m. and the train will remain there until 8:10 p. m., when the return trip to Fort Worth, a distance of 360 miles, will begin. The train will arrive in Fort Worth at 7:10 a. m. the morning of Thursday, Nov. 22.

Appoint Condemnation Committee. Judge Wm. McGehee Tuesday of this week appointed Z. T. Riley, C. A. Wofford and C. F. Ramsey, as a committee on condemnation proceedings in regard to the switch that is to be laid by the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains Railway Co. from a point in the northeastern part of Lockney to the Lockney Cotton Oil Co. plant, in the southeastern part of the town. This committee will organize and set a date for hearing the railroad and the people who are affected by the switch.

Mrs. L. H. Gruver and daughters, Miss Hazel and Helen Ruth, and Miss Macon Meriwether were over from Lubbock Friday of last week visiting with friends and relatives.

GRAND PARADE OF P. T. A. CARNIVAL

The Grand Parade in connection with the P. T. A. Halloween Carnival Saturday, October 27th, is to be a costume parade open to both boys and girls of all ages. Judges will be appointed to choose the boy and the girl wearing the most attractive costumes and these shall be crowned King and Queen of the Carnival. Ralph McReynolds Dead. Little Ralph McReynolds, age six years, six months and fourteen days, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McReynolds of Aiken, died at the family home about six o'clock Wednesday morning from the effects of diphtheria. The child suffered an attack of tonsillitis about a week ago, which gradually grew worse until it developed into diphtheria, which affected his heart, from which death was the result.

Funeral services were conducted at the home in Aiken at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. J. N. S. Webb officiating and burial was in the Lockney cemetery under the direction of Grader Crager, Undertaker.

Elmer Baker to Move to Childress. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baker and children will leave on Nov. 1st for Childress, Texas, where they will make their home in the future. Mr. Baker will be connected with the J. C. Penney store in that city.

Mr. Baker has been employed for some time in the dry goods department of Baker Mercantile Co. and is at present city secretary of the City of Lockney. Their many friends regret to see them leave Lockney, but hope for them much success in their new location.

Lockney Farmers Get Fine Jersey Cattle

Twenty-six Head Shipped in from Cleburne and Dallas Last Friday Morning

A shipment of twenty-six head of Jersey cattle was received at Lockney Friday morning and distributed to fourteen farmers. The animals were selected at Cleburne and at the Texas State Fair by E. W. Thomas of the Lockview farm of Anderson-Clayton, twenty-four head coming from Cleburne and two from Dallas.

These animals, which are all registered, well-bred Jerseys, cost the owners, including freight, from $100 to $200 each. The average price on the twenty-six head is $130, freight amounting to $7.50 a head. The entire shipment cost approximately $3,400.

They are mostly bred heifers, with a few open heifers and aged cows.

Mr. Thomas was assisted in making the selection by D. T. Simons, secretary of the Texas Jersey Cattle Club.

The purchasers are C. H. Huffman, Jr., Mrs. C. H. Huffman, Sr., H. M. Orr, J. B. Potts, H. W. Schacht, A. J. Smith, T. H. Stewart, Davy Watson, and H. E. Witte, who each purchased one head. Purchasers of two head include O. W. Fry, Schacht Bros., R. T. Spense, and O. D. Wofford. All of the above are farmers near Lockney.

The Lockview Farm, an experimental farm between Lockney and Plainview owned by Anderson-Clayton Company, bought nine head.

Considerable interest has been shown in dairying in the Lockney country during the past few months, many farmers having bought good dairy cattle.

Open Grocery at Petersburg. Messrs. Smalley and Son, of Lockney, owners of the Helpy-Selfy store at this place, last week opened a grocery store in Petersburg, 25 miles southwest of Lockney. Mr. Noah Smalley has been in Petersburg most of the week, getting the business started off.

Wellington Family Moves to Lockney. B. W. King and family of Wellington, Texas, have moved to Lockney to make their home. They have purchased the E. J. Barker home in the northeastern part of Lockney, and are now living on the place. Mr. Barker and family have moved to Floydada, where Mrs. Barker will teach art in the public schools this year.

Builds Nice Hay Barn. W. W. Cooper of near Lockney has just had a nice large barn, 40x48 feet built at his farm home. Mr. E. M. Whorton did the construction work.

Mr. Cooper had this barn built to take care of his alfalfa hay each year, which will be a great saving in his feeding operations on the farm.

Will Buy Cotton in Lockney. Messrs. Leslie and Dewey Floyd and Earl Sullivan have returned from the Texas Coast country, where they and their families have been for several months past, while the gentlemen have been buying cotton, and will buy cotton in Lockney this fall.

Bellvue Man Moves Here. Mr. Lee Tyson and family of Bellvue, Texas, have moved to Lockney to make their home, and have purchased the ten-acre tract of land formerly owned by Ernest Fowler, in the northeast part of town.

Mr. Tyson is now having a nice five room stucco house erected on the land, which will soon be ready for occupancy.

Mesdames J. E. Swepston and Duke of Tullia spent Monday of this week in Lockney visiting Mrs. R. G. Porter. Mrs. Porter returned to Tullia with the ladies for a few days visit.

Call Meeting Of Poultry Association

Floyd County Poultry Association Called to Meet in Lockney Night of November 1st

President A. B. Muncy of the Floyd County Poultry Association has called a meeting of the poultry raisers and all those interested in the poultry business to meet in the chamber of commerce offices in Lockney on the night of Thursday, Nov. 1st, at 7:30 o'clock.

The purpose of the meeting is to attend to business connected with the association, and make plans for the annual poultry show, which will be held in Lockney during December of this year.

Every member and all those interested in the furtherance of the poultry business in Floyd County are urged to be present at this meeting.

BUILDING NEW FARM HOUSE ON LOCKVIEW FARM

A new farm house is being erected on the Lockview farm, Linzey Busby of Lockney has the contract.

The building is to be of frame construction, thirty-two by forty feet, and will contain five rooms. It will be occupied when completed by E. W. Thomas, manager of the farm.

Lockney Clinic News Items

Miss Edith Glass, of the Sand Hill community, suffered a painful injury to her left ear Sunday of this week. In some unknown way a white pine sliver was pushed into the ear canal. This sliver was removed by Lockney physicians and Miss Glass is reported to be doing nicely.

Ralph McReynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. McReynolds of Aiken, has been critically ill with diphtheria during the past week. Mrs. McReynolds is also ill with the same condition.

Mrs. V. Lee Matney of Borger, Texas, was a patient at the Lockney Clinic this week. The operation was for the removal of tonsils and the patient is reported to be doing very nicely. Mrs. Matney is the daughter of Mrs. Kate Collier.

Mary Tom, three-year-old daughter of Mr. Tom, west of Lockney, had her right middle finger severely injured in the cogs of a concrete mixer Tuesday at the home of her grandfather, Mr. S. T. Cooper. The finger was so thoroughly mangled that it was necessary to amputate at the first joint.

Bruno Coulter, colored, a pan-shoover at the Lockney Cotton Oil Mill, caught his hand in the cake former Monday night. Four fingers of his right hand were severely injured. The first and middle fingers were cut to the bones but the bones were not broken. Coulter will be disabled for about two or three weeks from the injury.

Evelyn Arceneaux, daughter of Elder and Mrs. Arceneaux, had her tonsils removed at the Lockney Clinic Tuesday morning.

H. B. Alexander who sustained an unusually severe injury to his eye last week, is recovering very nicely and is now back at his duties at the Oil Mill.

SANTA FE STARTS SURVEY ON LUBBOCK-HOBBS BRANCH

Lubbock, Tex., Oct. 22.—The Lubbock Journal said today that a group of engineers employed by the Santa Fe railroad, headed by J. W. Stewart and J. T. Ervin of the Chicago engineering department of the rail system, today began an extension of the Lubbock-Seagraves branch of the Panhandle-Santa Fe lines toward Hobbs, New Mexico, scene of the latest Southwestern oil strike.

Although J. C. Barton of Slaton, division superintendent of the Panhandle-Santa Fe, refused comment, authoritative information, the paper said, adds that a new townsite, about 20 miles southwest of Seagraves, will be traversed by the new line.

Survey of the extension came immediately after announcement that the Pure Oil Company had made a location for a deep test in section 110, block H, Gaines county, 10 miles south of Seagraves. One producing well already has been drilled in the Hobbs, N. M., area, and several other tests are under way.

A rail line connecting Seagraves and Hobbs would be about 35 miles long.

Buy Wofford Brick Dwelling

A trade was consummated Tuesday of this week by which J. W. Monroe became owner of the new brick house in West Lockney which formerly belonged to Luther Wofford, and Mr. Wofford in the trade got a house and lot in the town of Lorenzo.

HOOVER RECEIVES GREATEST OVATION YET AT NEW YORK

Madison Square Garden, New York N. Y., Oct. 22.—Herbert Hoover received the greatest ovation of his campaign tonight in Madison Square Garden in the home town of his Democratic opponent. The home city of Alfred E. Smith furnished the largest indoor audience Mr. Hoover has faced in his campaign for the presidency.

A full hour before the time for the Republican presidential nominee to appear every one of the 18,000 seats in the garden had been filled. It was an enthusiastic crowd that joined heartily in the Republican campaign songs and cheered the notables who arrived early.

Vice President Charles G. Dawes, speaking ahead of Hoover, got a standing cheer from the audience. Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, chairman of the eastern advisory committee, also was given a big hand as he took his seat on the speakers' platform.

New York, Oct. 22.—Bringing his eastern campaign to a climax in the home city of his Democratic opponent, Herbert Hoover tonight told a throng in Madison Square Garden that a series of proposals advanced into the campaign would be a long step toward overturning principles of government on which the nation had grown great.

Referring specifically to prohibition, farm relief and electrical power, the Republican presidential candidate asserted that because the country "is faced with difficulty and doubt" on these problems "our opponents propose that we must thrust government a long way into the business which rose to these problems."

"In effect, they abandon the tenets of their own party and turn to state socialism as a solution for the difficulties presented by all these," he said. "It is proposed that we shall change from prohibition to the state purchase and sale of liquor. If their agricultural relief program means anything, it means that the government shall directly or indirectly buy and sell and fix prices of agricultural products. And we are to go into the hydro-electric power business. In other words, we are confronted with a huge program of government in business."

Uses Vigorous Language. Opposing this program in vigorous language, Hoover declared that "even if governmental conduct of business could give us more efficiency instead of less efficiency, the fundamental objection to it would remain unaltered and unabated."

"It would destroy political equality," he said. "It would increase rather than decrease abuse and corruption. It would stifle initiative and invention. It would undermine the development of leadership. It would cramp and cripple the mental and spiritual energies of our people. It would extinguish equality and opportunity. It would dry up the spirit of liberty and progress."

"For these reasons primarily it must be resisted. For a hundred and fifty years liberalism has found its true spirits in the American system, not in the European system. "I do not wish to be misunderstood in this statement. I am defining a general policy. It does not mean that our government is to part with one iota of its national resources without complete protection to the public interest. I already have stated that where the government is engaged in public works for purposes of flood-control, of navigation, or irrigation, of scientific research of national defense, or in pioneering a new art, it will at times necessarily produce power or commodities as a byproduct. But they must be a byproduct, but the major purpose itself."

Opportunity Equal. "Nor do I wish to be misinterpreted as believing that the United States is free-for-all and devil-take-the-hindmost. The very essence of equality of opportunity and of American individualism is that there shall be no domination by any group or combination in this republic, whether it be business or political. On the contrary, it demands economic justice as well as political and social justice."

The Republican standard bearer explained that he felt deeply on this subject because during the war he had some practical experience with governmental operation and control, adding that he had witnessed not only at home but abroad the many failures of government in business.

My objection is based not upon theory or upon a failure to recognize wrong or abuse, but I know the adoption of such methods would strike at the very roots of American life and would destroy the very basis of American progress.

"Our people have the right to know whether we can continue to solve our great problems without abandonment of our principles."

District Court Now Drawing to Close

Court Will Wind up Business for This Term by End of Week— Grand Jury in Session

District Court of Floyd County for the fall term of 1928 will close Saturday of this week. The Grand Jury met Monday of this week to wind up the business of the term. The docket for this term has been rather light in the civil line, but the criminal business has been about the average for each term, however, there has been more convictions in the criminal cases this year on an average.

The following criminal cases have been disposed of the past week:

Tom Hodge, violation of liquor law, one year and one month in the penitentiary. This case was tried the first of last week and resulted in a hung jury. It was tried again Wednesday of last week, with the above result.

Jack Davis and M. B. Roe, both charged with robbery, were tried separately, and the two juries give each man five years in the penitentiary. This was the case where these young men were charged with the robbery of Virgil Bennett in Lockney several weeks ago, near the grounds where a carnival company was stationed. There were four young men in the party, but the other two provided an alibi. However, we understand that all four have a car theft case against them in Potter County.

J. B. Lech and J. A. Woods, both charged with false swearing in the securing of marriage licenses at Floydada a few weeks ago, were convicted on the charge and given two-year suspended sentences in each case.

Out of twelve felony cases tried at this term of court there were eleven convictions and one acquittal.

The case of Arthur B. Duncan vs. the City of Floydada went to trial at Floydada Tuesday, and a large number of Lockney people were summoned from which to pick jury. This is a case where certain lots belonging to Mr. Duncan have been assessed for the paving along the street in front of same, and Mr. Duncan is contending that the lots are not enhanced in value to the amount the paving in front of them will cost. The outcome of this case will no doubt go a long way toward settling many controversies on this subject in the town of Floydada, as at this time Floydada is attempting to pave something like sixty blocks in that city, so we are informed.

DR. J. W. HUNT WILL SPEAK IN PLAINVIEW

Well Known Orator Will Speak at Auditorium in Plainview On November 1st

Dr. J. W. Hunt, President of McMurray College of Abilene, Texas, will speak at the auditorium in Plainview Thursday night of next week, November 1st, on the political issues of the day. Dr. Hunt is one of the most able orators in West Texas, and is well-known to the people of this part of the state, having been a resident of this immediate section for many years, before going to Abilene to make his home.

The speaking will begin at 8 p. m., and if you want a seat, you had better go early. Everybody in the Lockney country is extended a special invitation to hear Dr. Hunt.

J. S. KEMP DIED THURSDAY MORNING

Plainview, Oct. 18.—Joseph Street Kemp, resident of Seth Ward, died this morning at 10:30 o'clock. He is survived by his wife, two sons and four daughters. The family lives in the T. J. Garner home.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday, though complete arrangements have not been made. Mr. Kemp was 62 years of age.

Mr. Kemp formerly lived in Lockney.

Jack Weaver Carried to Sanitarium

Mr. Jack Weaver of Lockney was carried to the Lubbock Sanitarium Tuesday night for examination. He acted very queer during the last several days, and a climax was reached Tuesday night, when it was decided that he demanded attention.

LETTERS FROM THE CITIZENS

"It looks to a man up a tree" that the Democratic party is in a mull-of-a-hess. "They can and they can't, they will and they won't, they will be damned if they do, and they will be damned if they don't."

The democratic party met in convention at Houston, formulated and promulgated a platform of principles which is supposed to be the chart and guide of all members of that party especially its nominees for office.

This convention nominated a man for President, who, before the last echo of that convention died, flatly repudiated, and refused to stand upon that platform; in other words bolted it. Now one faction of the party plants itself firmly upon this platform of principles and demands a strict adherence thereto by all of its nominees.

Prohibition has, for many years, been a cherished and established principle of the Democratic party, and now Morris Shepard, Dan Moody, Josephus Daniels and others claiming to be democrats can repudiate, and cast this principle aside to advocate the election of a man for president whom they know to be its most deadly foe, and whose life, public and private has been spent in efforts to destroy it and who has selected as his chief advisers and co-workers men who blashlessly assert that they rejoice to be placed in a position where they may help Al Smith destroy this "damnable affliction of prohibition."

Men like these are prohibitionists for popularity or for revenue only.

They are looking forward to some political or mercenary advantage.

These fellows can make up their minds that the people of Texas and the South are still, and always will be prohibitionists, and they are going to assert it with such emphasis on the 6th of November that even these spineless, inconsistent, treacherous so called democrats will not fail to see and understand. And when, two years from now, these trucklin demagogues and corrupt politicians, who are now willing to traffic the nearest and dearest interests of their country and parts for a mess of political Al Smith potage, the honest-to-goodness prohibitionists and patriots will have their bludgons ready and uplifted for their execution.

I would ask again, do our Al Smith democrats indorse his position on the foreign immigration question, which virtually amounts to the throwing down of our immigration bars to the slums of Southern Europe? Gov. Smith has remained silent as the tomb upon the payment or cancellation of our foreign debt question. Hoover has placed himself on record in opposition to any change in our immigration law. He has also declared in favor of a full payment of all foreign obligations to the United States.

T. J. TILSON.

THE CRITICAL TIME IN OUR NATION'S LIFE

I want to say that this critical time in our nation's life, so much depends on the election that we people who love our country and humanity just can't keep quiet. For many years the better element of people have been striving to make prohibition a law and now that we have succeeded in getting nation-wide prohibition, we stand in the eyes of the world an example of a temperance people and nation.

Now our duty is to keep down all the evil influences and power from getting into our government to overthrow the good that has been done.

We all know that the liquor business has brought more sin, crime, sorrow, poverty and ignorance in the world than has any other one thing, especially to women and children. The prohibition of it is the biggest step the world has ever taken towards establishing peace, prosperity, and happiness in our nation and NOW is the time to defend the cause and we cannot afford to be side-tracked by any chomies and influences.

Think of it. Our country has been an example to other nations and they are watching the results of the Eighteenth Amendment. No we must not fail.

Some say prohibition is not perfect. In defense I say we cannot expect it to be perfect in just a few years. When we are having to overcome the evil influences of hundreds of years of the most damnable business the world has ever known.

We hear them say the prohibition law is a failure. I deny this assertion. The reason that some honest people think so is that when the liquor business was legal to a great extent its use and effects were overlooked, but now that its manufacturing, sale and possession is a violation of the law, its offenses are advertised before the eyes of the people. Another reason why the prohibition law has not accomplished more, it has had to deal with the worst element in the country. The men who have no respect for law and order are the people's shame.

Then another reason is the criminal lawyers whose business it is to defend these criminals, in nine cases out of ten they use all the schemes and false evidence they can to help these criminals evade the law. They are a class of men who cry out your prohibition law is of no effect. I think they are justly called criminal lawyers, as they usually are the biggest criminals we have.

Another reason is we elect law breakers to enforce the laws they accept bribes and turn them loose. What I think they ought to do, instead of having primaries to defeat the nominees of the other party is, if the people would have mass meetings as they did in olden times and select the men they want to enforce their laws, and select men of good report who are law abiding themselves, we would not have such hard time enforcing our prohibition laws.

I have lived in Texas 52 years and have always voted the Democratic ticket, but this is one time I am not going to do it, I am going to vote the Republican ticket. If the Democrats have to go north to New York City, a city influenced to a great extent by foreign, immoral influences and run him on the influence of the liquor business, I will quit them right here. I cannot see how a man with intelligence and principle enough to represent us as governor of a state, or president of the United States, can believe that liquor business is a good thing for the welfare of the majority of the people. I never yet have heard the anti-prohibitionists give a good reason why the liquor business is a good thing.

They say it gives a better demand and price for the products from which whiskey is made which are mainly corn, rye, apples, peaches, and molasses. This argument is as light as a shadow on a moonlight night, for all these are staple food products and we need them for food, and if we live as our creator intended us we will eat pure food such as fruits, grains and vegetables, and our drinks will be pure water and milk, and unfermented fruit juices—and why prevent these foods from the world's needs into intoxicants which never profit, but bring condemnation, sorrow and sin to human beings?

The bodies of human beings are wonderfully made and are to some extent like an engine. You rush too much gas to an engine and it creates a rush of unnecessary action, which in turn causes friction, overheating, premature wear, and breakdown. Li-quer has a similar effect on the body. When we make a habit of drinking intoxicants it fastens itself on us and few people can break away from it. It causes the heart to beat unnaturally fast, thus causing the blood to rush to our brains and makes an extra strain on our heart and minds, and temporary insanity and breakdown of the system.

Who is benefited by the liquor business? Very few, if any, but if any it is the liquor manufacturers. The liquor dealers, saloon-keepers, and bootleggers. Few of these get real benefits out of their business as most generally they kill themselves drinking and do it at the expense of the poor inebriates who patronize their business, and the comfort, happiness, and education of their wives and children.

What the world needs and wants is comfort and prosperity and as this is so, why spend such enormous amounts of time, money and food products in the liquor business. Has the liquor business ever built any schools, hospitals, asylums, and poor houses for the poor, that the poor may be cared for? No, but they have furnished money and inmates for the present asylums, houses of ill fame and poor houses.

I have lived these 52 years in Texas, and have always been in sympathy with the South. (except I don't believe slavery right) and have considered Democracy right, because it is a Bible principle, but I don't believe in the present condition of the Democratic party according to Democratic Principles.

If all the nations were united as one, and all could follow the great admonition "Glory to God in the Highest, Peace and Good Will to All Men Kind," and "Do Unto Others as You Would Have Them Do Unto You," and "Return Good for Evil," then we would be in position for a real Democratic government.

As it is we have two standard forms of government. The Republican and Democratic. Both are good. The main difference is the Tariff question. If the things we all need at present is financial prosperity, then protection is the best, for example. If Australia can produce and ship wool here cheaper than the wool growers can raise it here, then I believe that we should protect our wool industries.

If South America can produce meats and ship them here cheaper than we can produce meat at home, then I believe we had better protect our cattle industry.

We know that other nations have cheaper labor than the United States. If England can buy our cotton and wool, have it shipped to London, manufactured into goods, then shipped back here and sell it to us cheaper than we can produce it, we had better protect our labor.

I believe that we as a people and the descendants of the heroes of the Revolutionary War, the Civil War, and many other hard-ships incidental life, and who have paved the way to the United States government, and the Republic of America, should be entitled to more benefits of the opportunities of America, than the more cautious people who have stayed in the mother country, until the battles were fought, and the hardships overcome. So I believe at present we are entitled to some protection.

L. N. DALMONT.

One of the greatest blessings of this presidential campaign is the development of an ever growing type of voter who is not tied to any party or precedent and who will constitute a larger problematical vote for the future. These voters are governed by an analysis of men and issues. The South is developing a larger share of them than any other section of the country through the shifting of great numbers of democrats to the republican nominee. Mr. Hoover himself constitutes a fine example of this type, for he never has been branded as strictly a "party man." The new political alignments after November 6th certainly will prove beneficial to the South in time.

Increasing returns in the Literary Digest poll of 2,500,000 votes gives the democratic nominee for president a majority of votes only in the states of Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, and South Carolina. Arkansas and Alabama give the republican candidate a little the better of it, but Florida, North Carolina, Texas, and Virginia give appreciable majorities. If the reports coming in each week to the Anti-Smith democratic headquarters at Dallas and Houston mean anything, Texas is certain to go for Hoover. It is almost common for reports from workers in the field to show 75 or 90 percent of normally democratic communities for Hoover. Employing the trite expression, it is almost too good to be true.

If you have had occasion to visit any of the larger cities of Texas or of the East, for that matter, you have doubtless spent an entire day in the busiest business sections without seeing a drunk person. You have wondered at the reports that this or that city was as wet as the Gulf of Mexico. Of course, if you have searched for booze you have found it as you might have found women of ill repute or morphine addicts. Hardly may we expect all of these evils to be eliminated in a generation following the greatest war in history that cares not a great deal about established customs and usages of society. But where is the logical argument that we should cease the struggle for decent living? The fact is that conditions now are vastly better than in the old days of the saloons that many of us remember. Vote for Herbert Hoover in order that the country may go forward to a better future.

Hoover Great Executive

Hoover represents the organized business interests of the country. He is one of the greatest executives and while he may not be as good a politician as the governor of New York, he will likely make one of the best working presidents the country has ever had.—Peoria (Ill.) Star

A TRIBUTE TO OUR SUPER-INTENDENT

The editors of The Lockney Longhorn Page received the following letter:

Matador, Texas,
October 8, 1928.

Editor of the Longhorn,
Lockney, Texas.

We, the undersigned football boys, from Matador, wish to take this means to let you know what your superintendent, Mr. Biggers, did for us. While we were at the game, Friday, some one took what money we had with us from our pockets. As soon as Mr. Biggers found that we had lost our money, he gave us a personal check for it. We realize the fact that Mr. Biggers did not have to refund a single penny of it. But he did not question the word of a one of the boys. He just took our word for it, and we appreciate that fact. We want to let all of you know that he has proved to us that he is an honest and truthful man. We congratulate Lockney High School and the people of Lockney in having such a fine man at the head of your school.

Truthfully,

Football Boys of Matador High School
Signed: Otho Winter, Howard Trawek, Sunne Williams, L. B. Graves, Elmo Winters, Jake Edwards, Loyd Fullerton, Edward Knight, L. D. Culbert, Franklin Etheredge, Leslie Pipkin, Bryan Cammack, Curtis Graham, Edgar Lee, Ward Rattan, Jim Ward Jeffers, J. D. Carpenter, Hardy Williams.

The pupils of the Lockney High School do not need this letter to know that they have the best superintendent there is, but they are glad other schools appreciate him too.

INTERMEDIATE DEPARTMENT

Room 5A

The absent pupils from room 5A are Marvin Wofford and Sue Gross. Marvin was absent on account of picking cotton. Sue was absent because she went to Quitaque.

Room 6A

Miss Steele is still absent on account of being ill. Mrs. Speegle is teaching in her place. The pupils who were absent last week are Mary Williams and Russel Spence.

7A Room

Miss Dezzie Norris, who went to Plainview, returned Tuesday. We are glad to have her back.

Mary Wofford has been absent some of the last week. Anita Lewis has withdrawn from school. We are sorry to lose her.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT

First Grade

The following pupils went to the circus in Plainview Friday: Mary Elizabeth Broyles, Bundeann Bennett, Bob Miller, and Arthur Barker Jr. We were very glad to have these pupils return and tell us about the circus.

We enjoyed reading stories about the Indians and making an Indian Village on our sand-table last week. We have learned an Indian game, and we are making little Indian picture books.

Mrs. John Broyles, our room mother, visited us last Thursday morning.

Mrs. Woodworth visited us one afternoon last week. We were very glad to have her.

1B Room

W. A. Simmons withdrew from the overflow room to move to Slaton. We miss him.

Granville Clark, who has been in Jayton at the bedside of his uncle for the past two weeks has returned.

Second Grade

The second grade is having a story-telling contest. This contest will continue Friday. At this time the three pupils telling the best stories will be selected by the room and their names printed in the next paper.

Third Grade

We were happy to have our room mother, Mrs. H. S. McGonigull, visit with us Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. L. T. Busby visited with us Wednesday afternoon. Parents are always welcome.

Opal Fay Bannan spent Sunday in Floydada.

Riddell Hutsell is back in school after several days of illness.

Muriel McGonigull spent the weekend at Jayton visiting relatives.

Kenneth Lewis has withdrawn from school.

The Buffaloes are still in the lead in the spelling contest. Come on Longhorns!

Mertie Mae Webb spent Thursday afternoon in Plainview attending the circus.

Fourth A

Morris Cuningham is back in school after being absent a week on account of sickness.

Floriene Brown, Charles Morgan Henry, and Doyle Penington attended the circus in Plainview last Thursday. They have plenty of exciting events to tell us in Language Class this afternoon. One child said during Health Class that he wished it was time for language.

Mrs. Charles Simpson, our room mother, visited us a few minutes last Wednesday morning.

Fourth B

Annie Mildred Cheek is absent from school this week.

Evelyn Beck went to Petersburg Sunday.

Raymond Anderson is visiting in Oklahoma this week.

Bud Lewis has withdrawn from school. We were very sorry to have him leave.

The fourth grade pupils have been very busy making booklets and posters illustrating some part of the poem, "Hiawatha," by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

HONOR ROLL OF PRIMARY DEPARTMENT

There will be an Honor Roll from the Primary Department published once a month. A pupil must average ninety per cent on every subject if he wishes his name on the Honor Roll. These pupils making an average of ninety per cent for the month of September are:

First Grade—Sammye Ruth Anderson, Mary Taylor Ball, Mary Elizabeth Broyles, Mary Dean Carroll, Charles Baker, Arthur Barker Jr., Albert Earl Beck, Bobbie Ewing, Norman Hilburn, Eldon Hill, Bob Miller, Bill Teuton Jr., Hugh Trussell, C. W. Woodworth.

Leo Poole 1B, Pauline Baker 1B, Christine Reeves 1B.

Second Grade—Harris Ball, Jr., Harold Ormon, Gordon Fore, Mary Alice Baker, Georgia Belyeu, Billie Jean Biggers, Burlaine Persons, Mary Ruth Thornton.

Third Grade—Martha McReynolds, Muriel McGonigull, Thomas Sherman, Riddell Hutsell, Mertie Webb, Helen Ruth Busby, Frances Humphries, Marvin Brotherton, B. L. McMuntry.

Fourth A—Delbert Witte, Muriel Trussell, Pauline Beall.

Fourth B—Guy Phenix and Hall Nall.

INTERMEDIATE DEPARTMENT

The absent pupils from room 5A are Othel Cockerham and Marvin Wofford. Othel is absent on account of her mother, who has just arrived from the sanitarium. Marvin is absent on account of having appendicitis. He is in the sanitarium now. We hope he will be able to come back soon.

Sue Gross has withdrawn from the fifth grade. We are very sorry to lose her. She is moving to Amarillo. We hope she will enjoy her work there.

5B

Willard Lard was absent from school Friday because he went to Lubbock to visit friends.

Lee Kiney, Lloyd Poole, and Jimmie Gentry were absent from school because they had to pick cotton.

Junior Teaver entered school last Tuesday, October 16. He came from Lubbock. We are glad to have him here.

Lendal Shadix got his arm hurt last week. He was riding his pony and fell off.

Room 6A

The pupils who have been absent from room 6A are Janet and Osca Huskey, who have been picking cotton this week.

Mary Williams was absent Friday.

6B Room

Ruby Lee Baker was absent all of last week and some of this on account of pneumonia.

Gaynell Smith was absent Tuesday afternoon because he was ill. Henry Brotherton was absent Monday on account of illness.

Report for 7A Class

Willard Childers visited Goodnight, Texas, and was absent Friday and Monday from school.

Mary Wofford was absent from school Monday.

James Poole, who had been absent for a long while, came back October 22, to school. We were glad to have him back with us.

The intermediate grades gave money and bought Miss Steele a pot flower and a picture.

We are sorry Miss Steele can not be with us again this week. But we hope she will be with us next week.

7B

The 7B class elected their officers Wednesday, October 17. The officers are as follows: Lucille Quisenberry, President; Weldon Dodson, Secretary; Esther Mae Hodel, Treasurer.

Freshmen Class

The Freshmen Class had a weenie roast last Tuesday, October 16th. They met on the steps of the Methodist church at six o'clock. They went in a wagon two miles west of town. Fun started as soon as the wagon did. Jokes and songs entertained until the grove was reached. Drop the handkerchief, Spanish leap Frog, and drive the nail were enjoyed by different groups until it was time to roast the weenies and toast the marshmallows and bread. A few boys who strayed off down the railroad track ran a great risk of going home hungry. All had such a good time that they are looking forward to several similar trips during the year. They have a real leader in their sponsor, Miss Simpson, and they hope she will enjoy the meetings as much as the Freshmen do.

Senior Project

At a called meeting of the Senior Class held Monday, October 22, the class project was discussed, and the installation of an electric clock in the school building was selected. By means of the clock the periods for the grammar grades as well as periods for the high school will be rung. If any money is left after the expenses of installing the clock, it is to be used for some beneficial purpose of the school.

Coach Reid's Information to Football Boys

Eat something, but eat it more. Would you be hearty beyond four scores. Eat not at all in worried mood. Or suffer harm from heat of food. Eat not between meals, nor eat too strong. If you wish to fight sixty minutes long. Cause not your "wind" to grow a short. By prizing your menu beyond its part.

Morning Song

Each morn the rosy-fingered dawn Comes up, so poets say, And robins chirp along the lawn To greet the new born day; From bow to bow the bluebirds flit; The leaves with dew are pearly; I'll take the poet's word for it; I don't get up that early.

The two following poems were contributed by two Juniors:
With All Due Respect to the Seniors
"Now we Juniors aren't worrying
And we do not stop to cry
For we know that we'll be Seniors
In the sweet by and bye.

'Tis true that we'll be they
Only in the name
But we'll call it a "bad job"
If we don't surpass their fame."
—A Senior of 1930

In Response

Oh, No, Seniors,
We won't cry;
We've common sense,
Not the "big I."
We elected the sponsor,
You raised a flag
We'll gladly share honors;
And never in sportsmanship lag.
—A Junior.

The Longhorns

"If I were you,"
I wouldn't do
A thing
You tell me
You would do
If you were I."

The Longhorns

The Longhorn Team is still battling. Coach Reid is developing a passing squad that is going to be hard to beat. There are twenty men still working faithfully trying to learn the fine points of the game.

At the date of this writing, it is not known whom the Longhorns will play Friday. They were to play Plainview High School, but as several of Plainviews' players suffered injuries as a result of their 95 to 0 defeat against the Amarillo Sand Storms, the Plainview coach called the game off. Coach has tried to get names with Lubbock High School and Canyon High School, but each had a game. The Longhorns will have a game, if they can possibly get one. Do not forget to come and root, for the team needs your support.

Can You Imagine—

Dummy not saying, "I don't know?"
Frances not saying, "Hello, you with the wooden leg?"
Jewel not saying, "I just can't remember?"
Winifred not saying, "Isn't that prissy?"
Estelle not saying, "Glen," in her dreams.

Helen not saying, "Oh, I wish I knew my English lesson?"

Carl not saying, "I know better," just to start an argument?

Mr. Reid not saying, "Yes, ma'am," to Melvin?

June not saying, "Oh, there you are?"

T. H. not saying, "I don't have my theme?"

Margaret not saying, "Crazy," to everyone who compliments her?

And—Miss Thomas not saying, "Spit out your gum?"

Mrs. Halthcock

Mrs. Halthcock was once Miss Trapp; She changed her name you see— She saw a man; she liked his looks, And said, "I'll marry thee."

She is our History teacher— Has been for years and years; She has caused us joy and gladness, And also lots of tears!

For she believes in studying, And having us study too— But if it wasn't for her kindness, I don't know what we'd do.

When we make good grades in History Her eyes sparkle with joy— But if we make a failure Then Oh! boy!

Yet we would be so sorry, If from here she should roam; So we are glad she is making Lockney her future home.

PERSONALS

Miss Mae Foster visited with Beatrice Nicholas one day last week. Miss Foster is a teacher at Francis, and is a former student of Lockney High.

Among the new students who have entered the school during the last two weeks are Delma Floyd, Melba Floyd, Leslie Mae Floyd, who came from Corpus Christi; Pearl Poole, who has re-entered after her departure three weeks ago, and Vada and Vada Teaver from Lubbock.

T. M. Patterson visited with Dr. Greer one day last week. T. M. is from Lubbock.

Miss Thelma Steele, principal of the grammar grades, was taken to her home Sunday, and is expected to be in Lockney this week-end.

Miss Grace Wise and Miss Thompson visited in Quitaque Sunday.

Inconsistency

When I offered my melons,
You cried out in scorn.
That they ought to be wrinkled and heavy and yellow,
When I offered myself, whom those Graces adorn,
You flouted and called me ugly
Old fellow.

This was written by Ben Tai, a Persian poet, some five hundred years before the time of Mohomet.

They have esteemed Sahban Wabi as unrivaled in eloquence, inasmuch that he could speak for a year before an assembly, and would not use the same word twice, or should he chance to repeat, he would give it a different signification; and this is one of the special accomplishments of the courtier.—Though a speech he captivated and sweet, and worthy of belief, and meriting applause, yet what thou hast delivered thou must not repeat, for if they eat a sweetmeat once they find that enough.

The little story with a moral was taken from the Gulistan, or Rose Garden which was written by a Chinese philosopher called Sa'di, or Mus-lik-al-Din, about five hundred years before Christ.

Don't you wish you were cute; or are? About the best example of "cuteness" I ever saw or heard of is the following story that was taken from The Grandissimes, by Cable.

One of the men in the book, Honore Grandissime, met a woman in mask at the "Madre Gras" ball given for charity and falls madly in love with her. When the ball came to an end the lady departed, and Honore, reflecting upon the foolishness and impetuosity of his love said, "Now, sir, we'll return to our senses."

And then the author of the book just skipped a line and said, "Now I'll put on my feathers again," said the plucked bird."

Basket Ball Lunch Sales

From the two lunch sales the Basket Ball Girls have had on October the tenth and the seventeenth they have cleared twenty dollars. The girls feel that these sales were a great success, because everything was sold long before the noon period was over. They are planning to sell every Wednesday for several weeks. They appreciate the patronage of the pupils and the faculty.

Perfectly Safe

Agent: Don't you want your school furnishings insured against theft?

Prof. Biggers: Yes, all but the clock. Everybody watches it.

The following are two interesting, instructive, and entertaining informal essays written by J. Edward Persons and George Tate.

Hand-Writing

On glancing through the Popular Science Magazine for April 1926, I saw an article entitled "Does Your Pen Reveal Your Character?" This attracted my attention; so I put the magazine aside for further reading. While searching for material for a theme, I found the magazine again. I read the article several times and checked all the parts that told of a trait of character revealed by the formation of words and by punctuation.

The rules seem reasonable when applied to penmanship. When the writing is small and neat, the writer is usually neat in appearance. Writing that slopes at a seventy-five degree angle shows kindness. Bankhand formation shows brutality, and writing that leans to the right of seventy-five degrees shows strong emotion. Low capitals show too much modesty and the lack of self confidence. The capital M reveals a great many traits of character. If the first loop is smaller than the others, excess imagination and bad taste are shown; but if the first loop is the larger, of the three, self-esteem is shown. Vigor and passion are shown in the heavy downward strokes.

It is only reasonable that a liberal person should make his letters close together. If the words are broken, the person is supposed to be easily influenced by others. If the ends of the words curve upward, impulse and imagination are shown; but if the curve tends to turn backward or downward, selfishness is shown. If the writing tends to rise toward the upper right hand corner, hopefulness is shown; but if the writing lowers toward the lower right hand side, the writer is very apt to have a dark outlook on his future life.

If the small i's and j's are dotted high above the letter, ambition is shown. The crossing of the small t's reveal many traits of character. The short, thick crossing seems to say, "Take that!" The thick crossing that tapers to a point shows control of temper, while the reverse of this shows brutality. The long curved crossing denotes wit and good humor. If the small a's, o's, d's and g's are tightly closed, this denotes the closed mouth of the writer. The partly open letters show frankness. If these letters are left open, they denote garrulity.

The absence of punctuation shows laziness or carelessness. The wedge shaped or comma-like period show violence or irritability. The round dot shows neatness.

I secured specimens of hand writings from Ezra Good, Carl Mc Adams, Charles, Bruton, Melvin Walters, Adolphus Grubbs, and T. H. Stewart. With the aid of the above rules, I found that their hand-writing did reveal many of their traits of character.

Ezra is neat in his writing. He does not lack self-esteem. The angle of his writing shows him to be kind and generous. He has some rhythm to his penmanship. He is frank but able to control his temper. He is hopeful. His writing shows him to have a wonderful imagination and some art.

Carl's hand reveals that he is frank and does not care for detail. He has some rhythm. His capital M's shows that he has an excessive imagination and bad taste. He has strong passions and is easily induced against his will. He had just started to write a poem when I asked him to give me a specimen of his penmanship. The poem must have been written while he had a dark outlook on life. Carl lacks modesty.

Charles is modest, neat, and economic; but he lacks self-confidence. His writings show that he is not easily made angry, and that he controls his temper.

Melvin's pen shows him to be very careless. He did not even place a period at the end of the sentence. He can control his temper. He is also, kind, loving, hopeful, and generous. His pen shows him to have self-esteem and a little art.

Adolphus is also careless. He is loving, kind, hopeful, and generous. He is easily made angry, but he can control his temper to some extent. Adolphus is economical and lacks self-esteem.

T. H. has not such a bad character. He placed a period where a comma should have been and left off a period. It was either laziness or carelessness. His writings show that he has some rhythm or music. T. H. can control his temper and is rather close mouthed. His signature shows him to be selfish and careless along some lines. He is not lacking in self-confidence or self-esteem. T. H. is economical.

Some of these traits of character are true, and some are not. As a rule, a great part of a person's character may be told by his hand-writing. Even if this practice of reading a person's character by his hand-writing is not put to practical use, it will furnish many pleasant hours of entertainment. It is an interesting subject with which to experiment.

The Mosquito

If one wanted, in a single sentence, a character sketch of the mosquito, few better could be found than Kiplin's famous lines, "The female of the species is more deadly than the male." The mosquito has earned the reputation of being the deadliest of insects, and it is the bloodthirsty mother mosquito that earns this reputation. In spite of her diminutive size and harmless appearance, she has killed more people than the tiger, panther, and all other wild beasts since the beginning of time. Her only weapon is her "bill," which is smaller than the finest sewing needle. Yet with this innocent weapon this mother mosquito often starts epidemics of malaria and yellow fever.

Science is waging a war on the mosquito and it will in time, doubtless become extinct; this depends entirely upon the activity with which man is willing to combat this pest.

The mosquito first looks for still water to lay her eggs. Her wings are not strong enough to beat her more than a few hundred feet from her breeding place; but unless human beings are careful about such things, she will locate a home near them. She will use a stagnant pool or puddle, a gutter, a lily pond, a marshy stream, an old shoe, a can or dish that has been thrown out to collect rain. The important points is that she must find still water, so her eggs will lie safely on the surface until hatched.

The common mosquito, whose attention we find annoying, but which—in America at least—is not accused of carrying or spreading disease, belongs to the group called the Culex. This mosquito is truly a citizen of the world, for he is found in the Arctic countries, the temperate and the tropical regions.

To the scientist of America belongs the credit for trying, and convicting the mosquito of carrying yellow fever germs. Tests have shown that it takes about two weeks after the mosquito is infected before it is able to convey disease, indicating that the poison undergoes special development in its body.

It is only since 1898 that all evidence has been gathered that has laid the responsibility for spreading malaria and other fevers at the door of the tropical mosquito with the spotted wings, called Anopheles. The way to distinguish the malaria mosquito from other members of the family is by the fact that the young remain at the surface of the water, and by the spotted wings and resting position of the adult insect. With head, body, and tail in a straight line, it makes a straight angle with the surface on which it rests. The other varieties rest in a hump backed position. It lays its eggs in swamps. From the habit has come the popular name of swamp mosquitoes.

If it had not been for the destruction of the mosquito as a disease carrier, it is doubtful whether the gigantic process of digging the Panama Canal could ever have been carried through. The French were unsuccessful in digging the canal because a mysterious fever was killing thousands of their workmen. The first thing that the Americans did was to make it a fit place to live in. This required two years and millions of dollars. It was accomplished by Colonel W. C. Gorgas with the co-operation of the army. These men drove the mosquito out of the plague-ridden cities of Panama and Colon. They fumigated all ships, since mosquitoes are often carried by this means. They drained swamps and filled drains. As a result of the ingenious measures enforced in the Canal Zone, the death rate from malaria is actually lower than that of New York or Washington. This conquest of the mosquito is one of the great triumphs of the century.

The dragon fly has acquired such a reputation as a mosquito foe that it has been named the mosquito hawk. One of the best helps a community can have in its war on the mosquito is the aid of these beautiful insects. Protecting them and encouraging their multiplication by artificial means is one of the plans now being developed. When fish are introduced into ponds, there is a speedy decrease in the mosquito. The co-operation of frogs, turtles, bats, and swallows, is also worth encouraging.

So They Say

The feminine fear of mice has vanished—no self-respecting mouse would seek a hiding place in the skirts of today.

Ethelene Wofford: Earl says I grow prettier every day.
Ermine Ida Thomas: What a fright you must have been at the start.

Oct. 23—The farmers are very busy in their crops now as the crisp autumn weather is hastening the harvest.

We regret to hear that Clyde Nichols is suffering severely from being thrown from a wagon some time ago. We are hoping that he will soon recover.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell of Floydada visited in the Nichols home Sunday.

Irving Hopkins visited Joe Ferguson Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. J. A. Smalley and Miss Alvie Smalley were in the Ferguson home Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Nell Southern and daughter, Mildred, from Harrogate, Tennessee, are visiting the Muncy home.

We are sorry to report Mrs. W. G. Ferguson was very sick, but hope she will soon recover.

James Lee Nichols has been absent from school several days on account of illness. We hope he will soon be able to come back again.

AIKEN

Oct. 23.—The cotton is opening fast since the weather has been so pretty. Some are getting along nicely picking.

We regret very much that our boys and girls lost in the ball games at Snyder Friday. We are hoping to have better results in the next game.

The Aiken teachers and ex-teachers with a few other guests were entertained at the home of Mrs. Henry Owens last Wednesday night.

Mr. Charlie Dorman and family left Monday for Brownfield, having received a message of two of their grandchildren dying.

Bro. Webb filled his regular appointment at the Methodist church, Sunday.

Mr. Henry Owens and family, also Miss Birda Hastings, returned Sunday night from Dallas, where they have been attending the fair.

Remember the school carnival at Aiken school house Friday night, Oct. 26th. There will be boxing, wrestling, booths, also many other amusements. Don't forget the date and "Be There."

The high school is planning to give the play "When East Meets West" soon. Watch the paper for exact date.

Miss Avis Allen spent the weekend with homefolk.

PRAIRIEVIEW

Oct. 23.—Sunday School and church were held at this place Sunday. Rev. L. E. Hurt filled his regular appointment Sunday in order to get through ment. Sunday school will be at 9:30 early so the people can attend the singing convention at Plainview.

Aubrey Hudgin spent Sunday with Revis Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Brandes and children visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Scheele, of the Providence community.

Miss Olamae Gamble spent Saturday night and Sunday with Miss Gladys Smith of the Snyder community.

October 10, 1938

Hon. Alvin Moody,
Houston, Texas.

Dear Mr. Moody:

We have received your letter of October 4, inclosing a form of ballot to be used in case a voter desires to vote for the Republican presidential electors and at the same time for all the nominees of the Democratic party for state offices.

The manner of marking a ballot is set forth in Article 2981, of the Revised Civil Statutes of our State, and in this Article is included the provision for voting a mixed ticket. Article 2981 is as follows:

"When a voter desires to vote a ticket straight, he shall run a pencil or pen through all other tickets on the official ballot, making a distinct marked line through such ticket not intended to be voted; and when he shall desire to vote a mixed ticket he shall do so by running a line through the names of such candidates as he shall desire to vote against in the ticket he is voting, and by writing the name of the candidate for whom he desires to vote in the blank column and in the space provided for such office; same to be written with black ink or pencil, unless the names of the candidates for which he desires to vote appear on the ballot, in which event he shall leave the same not scratched."

We have examined the sample ballot submitted by you, and in our opinion, a ballot so marked meets the requirements set forth in the Article quoted above and should be accepted by the election judges and counted as a vote for the Republican electors and at the same time as a vote for all of the state Democratic nominees.

That is to say, if a voter desires to vote for the Republican presidential electors and at the same time vote for all the Democratic nominees for state offices, it is legal for such a voter to run a line through the presidential electors on the Democratic ticket, leaving the presidential electors on the Republican ticket unmarked; and when he reaches the nominees for state offices, leave some unmarked on the Democratic ticket and run a line through the nominees for state offices on the Republican ticket. This, of course, would necessitate running a line through the entire ticket of any other party appearing on the ballot.

In this connection, we desire to call your attention to the provisions of Article 3009, Revised Civil Statutes, 1925, under which a voter should not carry a marked ballot to the polls with him.

Very truly yours,
Claude Pollard,
Attorney General

IMPORTANT

A Democrat wishing to vote for Hoover should mark his ballot as shown in the marked sample ballot above. This has been approved by Hon. Claude Pollard, Attorney General of Texas, as a legal ballot which must be counted. Read General Pollard's official letter on this page.

Be sure to observe the following:

- (1) Mark out ALL TWENTY Smith electors which are those at the head of the "Democratic Party" column. Leave all other names in this column unmarked.
- (2) Leave UNMARKED ALL TWENTY of the Hoover electors at the top of the "Republican Party" column. Mark out all names in this column below the electors.
- (3) Mark out the whole of the three columns to the right, headed "Communist Party," "Socialist Party," and the blank column.

When overalls are stained with grease, rub well with lard, then scrub with a stiff brush using a little ammonia in warm soapsuds. If they are spotted with paint, use 1 tablespoon of turpentine to each gallon of water.

The Clothesline

If the clothesline is stretched in the laundry and the clothes pinned to it, then transferred to the yard, there will be less exposure to the cold and a saving of time in hanging them.

Deep Cuts

For a deep cut, bind on tightly a handful of table salt. The salt will be quite painful for a while but it will stop the flow of blood and is also healing.

Stair Carpet

When buying carpet for the stairs, it is wise to buy one more yard than is actually required. Then, when the carpet shows signs of wear the worn part can be drawn below each step and the good part on top.

Rice

When rice is stirred while cooking it breaks the kernels and makes them mushy, but if not stirred it is likely to stick to the bottom of the pan. To prevent this, grease the utensil before cooking.

For a Small Room

A small room can be given the appearance of being much larger than it really is by making the woodwork light and using light-colored draperies.

To Clean Roasting Pans

Scrape off as much of the greasy deposit as possible. Then fill the pan with cold water and add a tablespoonful of washing soda. Place it on the range and let it boil slowly. The pan will then be as easy to wash as any other utensil.

Blonde Hair

For blonde hair a level teaspoonful of borax added to a gallon of water makes an excellent rinsing water. It brings out all of the lights in blonde hair.

Ripping a Garment

A discarded safety razor blade can be used to an advantage for cutting the stitches when ripping a garment. It is advisable to fasten the blade to a stick or handle of some kind.

Paint

When having outside painting done, ask the painter for a small quantity of the paint. Keep it in a can, tightly closed, to repair any slight mars from time to time.

Scaling Fish

Dip fish into boiling water for about a minute. The scales will come off much easier, nor will they scatter around as much.

Mud Stains

If a brisk brushing will not remove the mud stains from a garment rub the spots with a raw potato. This seldom fails.

To Clean Combs

Remove the dirt from between the teeth with a toothpick. Then wash the comb in a basin of cold water, which has been added a few drops of ammonia. Wipe the comb until thoroughly dry.

An Improved Oven

Cut a piece of asbestos paper and place it on the bottom of the oven. It retains the heat, saves fuel, and prevents articles from burning.

How to Mend Rubber

Rubber hot water bottles, or any other rubber articles of this nature, can be mended by using several layers of mending tissue, setting in place with a warm iron.

TO KEEP THE UNITED STATES AMERICAN

If for no other reason, their relative positions on the issue of immigration should assure the election of Mr. Hoover and the defeat of Governor Smith.

Second only to their attitudes toward Prohibition, the views and expressed policies of the Presidential candidates on immigration restriction offer the sharpest cleavage of opinion.

Governor Smith favors modification of the Federal statutes limiting immigration, to permit greater opportunity for entry of the racial stocks more alien than those which settled the United States, and furnished the bulk of immigration until 1890. Until forty years ago, the great bulk of American immigration came from northern and central Europe and the British Isles. Since that date, the greater stream has come from southern and eastern Europe. Governor Smith would encourage this tendency, in spite of the fact that those latter people have not lived, like the others, under forms of government and social customs similar to those of the United States, and are consequently more difficult to assimilate.

Mr. Hoover earnestly advocates that the present immigration restriction regulations, including the contemplation of "national origins," be not only strictly preserved but also tightened. He insists—

First, that the competition of cheap foreign labor and cheap foreign citizenship, against the present standards of American labor and American citizenship, continue to be closely limited, and

Second, that so far as possible, the present racial and social character of the American people, be maintained.

At a time when the mechanical development of industry is the most rapid and efficient in history, when every process is designed to decrease the number of workers in the mills and factories, immigration not wisely regulated is bound to cause unemployment, lower wage rates, lower living conditions, and the attendant social evils.

Never before has so much money been spent to increase the production per worker, with improved machinery and scientific organization. Never was there less demand for intelligent, honest labor greater. Never was there less demand for incompetent, untrained, undependable labor.

The industries of the United States do not need, and cannot use, many thousands more untrained, alien men and women. The present crime situation shows clearly that we cannot absorb many thousand more people ignorant and indifferent of our governmental institutions and social ideals.

Mr. Hoover is pledged to maintain these institutions and these ideals by proper immigration restrictions and proper tariff protection. Against both, by his own admission, Governor Smith stands.

The distribution of more than one million sample ballots throughout Texas for the purpose of fully acquainting people with how to vote for Herbert Hoover was begun during the past week by the Anti-Smith democratic headquarters at Dallas and Houston. The Dallas office is distributing for North Texas and the Houston office for South Texas. The sample ballots are printed on the back of a four-page folder that gives full instructions to the voter about everything one needs to know about the campaign. In addition to this, there are being circulated many thousands of copies of the Hoover Herald, published at Houston during the last weeks of the campaign and is publishing copies of the sample ballot. Anyone interested in securing supplies of sample ballots should address Anti-Smith Democratic Headquarters at Dallas or at Houston.

Good Things to Eat

Ring Tum Diddy—Cut one-fourth pound of bacon into dice. Wash, seed and cut one small pepper into small pieces and peel and slice three onions. Fry the bacon, add the onions and then add one can of corn and one can of tomatoes and season with pepper and salt. Cook until all vegetables are well done and then just before serving add one-fourth pound of cheese cut into small bits. Serve on toast. This makes a good supper dish.

Sweet Potato Pie—Mash very fine or run through a sieve, one cup of cooked sweet potatoes. Add one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon mace or nutmeg, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, two-thirds cup of sugar and mix well. Then add two eggs well-beaten and one cup of rich milk or thin cream. Line a pie tin with crust, pour in the mixture and bake in a moderate oven for 35 minutes or until the mixture is well-cooked and slightly browned.

Figures Tell the Story

Figures from more than 100,000 individual yearly records from cows on test in dairy herd improvement associations in the United States indicate that on the average, cows producing 100 pounds of butterfat a year returned but $14 over the cost of feed.

Cows that produce 200 pounds of butterfat returned $54 above feed costs; those producing 300 pounds returned $96; the 400-pound producers returned $138, and the cows of 500 pounds butterfat production returned $178 above feed costs. Thus the man milking a 500-pound producer would have more net return than if he milked a dozen cows producing only 100 pounds of butterfat. This would take no account of the added labor of milking and caring for the larger herd or of the much greater expense of providing stable room for a herd instead of a single animal.

Molasses for Chickens

Recent tests by poultry investigators at several experiment stations indicate that cheap grades of cane molasses may be used to good advantage in poultry rations.

Considerable work on the value of molasses for growing chicks and laying hens has been carried on by A. R. Winter at the Ohio State university poultry plant. His efforts show excellent results from the addition of a small per cent of molasses to the regular rations.

With laying hens, the substitution of 5 per cent of cane molasses for an equal amount of corn in the ration resulted in better egg production, less mortality and better hatchability of the eggs produced. Hens receiving the molasses consumed more water, and it was noted that the molasses appeared to have a laxative effect. Tests indicate that 5 per cent of molasses seemed to give as good results as higher amounts, and when the molasses was increased to more than 10 per cent, the hen suffered diarrhea.

Rations containing 5 per cent of molasses produced slightly better growth and less mortality than similar rations without the molasses, when fed to baby chicks.

Several commercial feed companies are beginning to include molasses in their poultry rations. It is claimed that the cost is no greater when five pounds of molasses is substituted for five pounds of corn, than when more corn is used.

One advantage for the molasses feed claimed by the feed companies is that the finer particles of feed are held together by the molasses, thus preventing waste.

A FARM HIT

Col. C. C. French, Industrial Agent of the Fort Worth Stockyards Co., and a member of the Agricultural and Livestock Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce gives the following information, which we trust will be of interest to you:

"A second crop of hegari nets $10 per acre by grazing with beef cattle. Last fall the Luling Foundation farm made more clear profit on 25 acres of second crop hegari than was made on any 25 acres of the 526 acres of cotton harvested on the farm.

Thirty-seven two-year-old steers were placed on a 25-acre field of second-growth hegari on November 3. They were grazed sixty-one days. Far less feed was wasted than would have been had the hegari been harvested with machinery. At the time the fertilizer value of the crop was left on the land. The complete figures follow:

Weight Nov. 3, 1927 (average) 670 lbs.
Weight Jan. 3, 1928 (average) 757 lbs.
Average gain per steer 87 lbs.

Total gain 3,219 lbs.
Gain at 10 per lb. $321.90
20 bushels corn fed, at 75¢ per bu. 15.00
2,300 lbs. cottonseed cake at $1.90 43.70
Deducting feed hegari pasture has value of 263.20
Value per acre 10.52

The steers were started on corn and cake toward the last of the sixty-day period, but after charging off the corn and cake we find that these steers brought in $10.52 per acre for that 25 acre field of second growth hegari.

This year the farm is doing some similar feeding, except that they are using cows with calves by side, and are planning on a more extensive grazing program. The cows and calves were started on the first crop of hegari and with other excellent grazing fields they expect to finish them without any dry feeding.

Lambs can be successfully fed in Texas. For example, between two and three thousand head of lambs were fed at Del Rio last year by Sellers, Scales & Gillison, on ground corn, ground alfalfa and cottonseed meal, after running on alfalfa fields for cheap gains.

Baptist Church News

Services last Sunday were well attended, four were received into the membership by letters and one approved for baptism.

The Sunday School attendance was a little off and it is hoped that this small decline will be overcome next Sunday. If you are not studying the Bible as you should and teaching it to your children, come with us and bring the children.

Remember to be present at 9:45 and bring your Bible which will give you a Baptist or not and the study of the Bible will be valuable time well spent.

Next Sunday the church will consider the election of a pastor. Some strong preachers are available and it is especially hoped that members will attend an exercise the right of suffrage.

A democratic body is necessarily governed by those who are present and vote, but in such an important matter as the selection of a pastor who may perhaps serve the church for several years, a large per cent of the membership should be present as their wish and co-operation is needed. The B. Y. P. U. societies meet promptly at 6:45 p. m.

Everybody is welcome at all the services of the church.

hile the full value of industrial progress could be retained for the public."

Urges Complete Control

He added that where great public utilities, such as the railroads, power plants and telephone systems, were "clothed with the security of partial monopoly," the Republican administration had insisted upon the principle that there "must be the fullest and most complete control of rates, services and finances by government or local agencies."

"It declared that these businesses must be conducted with glass pockets," he said.

Reviewing the progress which he contended had been made under the system he had outlined as administered by the Republican administration, Hoover told his audience that "a continuation of the policies of the Republican party is fundamentally necessary to the further advancement of this progress and to the further upbuilding of this prosperity."

"Some may ask where all this may lead beyond mere material progress. It leads to a release of the energies of men and women from the dull drudgery of life to a wider vision and a higher hope. It leads to the opportunity for greater and greater service, not alone from man to man in our land, but from our country to the whole world. It leads to an America, healthy in body, healthy in spirit, unfettered, youthful, eager—with a vision searching beyond the farthest horizons, with an open mind sympathetic and generous. It is to these higher ideals and for these purposes that I pledge myself and the Republican party."

1928.—The United States Civil Service Commission today announced the second examination for agents under the Bureau of Prohibition.

The examination held last year failed to furnish a sufficient number of eligibles for many of the prohibition districts. The new examination will be held throughout the country to supply the shortage of eligibles and to provide a register from which vacancies occurring later may be filled.

Applications for the examination will be received by the Civil Service Commission until November 29.

The entrance salaries for agents range from $2,300 to $2,800 a year. As the Bureau of Prohibition states that it will be its policy to fill the positions of investigator and inspector by promotion, persons desiring appointment to those positions should enter the agent examination.

Applicants must have reached their twenty-third but not their fifty-seventh birthday on the date of the examination. These age limits do not apply to persons entitled to preference because of military or naval service. The Bureau of Prohibition states that men are desired for the positions.

The examination will consist of mental tests, practical reports based on the duties of the position and a rating on training, experience, and fitness. Those who do not meet the minimum experience requirement will not be admitted to the written test. Those who qualify into the written part of the examination will be called for a personal interview and will be subject to a further investigation of their fitness. The fingerprints of all applicants who are investigated will be taken and will be used to check the accuracy of the applicants' statements as to arrest, indictment, or conviction for crime or misdemeanor.

Full information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., or from the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board at the post office or customhouse in any city.

All Day Services and Dinner On the Ground

There will be all day services and dinner on the ground at Whitfield next Sunday. Preaching Saturday night before, and preaching Sunday night.

Also, there will be preaching at Sunset, Sunday night. You will be entirely welcome to attend these services; but the afternoon services at Sunset and South Plains are called off for next Sunday, on account of this rally service at Whitfield.

Fraternally,
J. N. S. WEBB, Pastor.

LUTHERAN NEWS

Oct. 15—A light shower fell here Friday night, which was greatly appreciated as the wheat was needing rain some.

Among those who attended the show in Plainview Thursday was Mr. and Mrs. Scheele and children, Walter Boedecker and son, J. D., Dave Kennedy and little daughter, Annabelle, the two youngsters were very much delighted with it.

Mr. Boedecker had two bales of cotton picked the past week.

Mrs. Stephens was a caller in our midst the past week.

Mr. S. S. Wright, is laid up with a carbuncle this week. He has been suffering very much the past week with it.

Mr. A. A. Brock has been suffering with a wisdom tooth the past two weeks. He had them pulled Monday and has had relief since.

Miss, Bass, our Demonstration lady, was in our midst Tuesday at the club. We were glad to have her with us.

Quite a crowd attended the Lutheran Young People's meeting Sunday night here.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Brook Jones, last Friday morning, twin girls. The babies lived one hour. Mrs. Jones has been in a very critical condition, but hopes for her recovery are entertained now. She is at the Plainview sanitarium.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Oct. 22—Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Harris and family, and Mr. and Mrs. N. T. A. Byers, spent Sunday in Canyon with their sons, Eugene Harris and Robin Byers, who are attending school at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Mitchell and family spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Mason Riley of the Sand Hill community.

Mr. and Mrs. Biggs spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Al Smith. Mr. and Mrs. F. U. Payne spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Webster of Muncy.

Mr. W. C. Hubbard is still seriously ill at his home, having been in bed now two weeks. We hope Mr. Hubbard soon recovers and is able to be out again.

Marvin Shurbet came in Saturday from Lubbock, to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Shurbet.

Mr. John Jones of Quanah came in Monday for a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ferguson. There was no maize raised around Quanah, so he is looking for maize to ship back home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Marr spent Sunday with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Shearer, of Prairieview.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowrance left for their home at Knox City, Friday afternoon. They returned Sunday evening, making the trip in five hours. Mrs. Alf Watson and sons, Newton and Willard, left Friday of last week for a short visit at Goodnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford of Lubbock spent Sunday with their folk, Mr. Reasonover and children.

Mrs. Bennet and Mr. and Mrs.

Bailey of Plainview visited their niece and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Holmes, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McClure visited in the Reeves home, Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith of Knox City returned home Wednesday after a short visit with their children, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Holmes.

Peet Clark spent Sunday with Clifford and Elwood Reasonover.

Jessie Harris spent Sunday in the Reasonover home.

W. T. S. T. C. News

Oct. 20.—Mr. Sams and Mr. Nichols of Lockney passed through Canyon last Tuesday at noon and visited with some of the students.

One of the most interesting events of last week was the initiation of new members to the Elaphian Literary Society. The girls entering were known as little sisters and wore ribbons of Elaphian colors tied on their bobbed hair. Their books swung from their hands in a huge pillow-case-booksack, and each little child carried a ruler. One high heeled shoe and one low heeled shoe adorned their feet. Alice Green was a most noticeably cute Elaphian baby.

Mrs. Mitchell Jones had as a guest over the week-end Miss Fannie Lee Mason.

The dedication of the new Education Building has been the most important task of the week. The exercises began at 10 o'clock Friday, Oct. 19th, with an address from President R. B. Cousins, formerly head of our institution and now head of the college at Kingsville. He outlined the history of our college and practice school. In the afternoon other interesting speakers filled a program. At the evening session H. Y. Benedict, President of the University of Texas,

Austin, Texas, addressed an interested audience.

Saturday morning was spent in the formal dedication. The front of the new building was further beautified by the stars and stripes. The band (in uniform) and the distinguished guests sat at the entrance under the flag. The audience filled a wide space on the campus, bleachers having been erected for their convenience. The foremost speakers at this time were: J. O. Guleke and Henry Paulus, members of the Board of Regents, W. P. Morgan, President of the State Teachers College, Macomb, Illinois, and Dean John W. Withers, New York University, New York.

All of the students who intend to make teachers are exceeding glad of the fact that they now have a building where teaching clinics may be held much the same as doctors clinics are.

Visit this school, if you have not! Since Oct. 20 was Homecoming Day for W. T. S. T. C. there were a great many of Floyd County's populace here. Names of all coming could not be secured, but there follows a partial list:

Mr. James Wilson, wife and daughter, of Rogers, New Mexico.

Mr. Joe Fowler, of Irick community.

Miss Pauline Stevenson, of Lockney.

Miss Sadie Miller, Floydada.

Miss Peggy McKinney, Floydada.

Miss Erin Gamble, Floydada.

Mr. Delmer Ashworth, Lipscomb.

Mr. Lavon Johnson, Lone Star community.

The Buffaloes played the Simmons Cowboys and were defeated Saturday, Oct. 20th. But are we downhearted? No! No! No! We still have pep! You can still hear: "Yo Ho! Buffaloes, Best team we know!"

Some twenty students from Floyd County have determined to round up the others and organize a club of fifty strong if possible. Edwin Boedecker Sophomore, of Prairie Chapel, is a leader in the movement. We are almost certain to be heard from in more ways than one.

Texas is drained by 11 principal river systems, only three of which, the Canadian, Pecos, and Rio Grande, originate outside of the state.

WHO takes care of your tires

It happens every day, and sometimes several times a day, that regular customers of ours drive in for a little air, or to buy an accessory, or maybe just to chin us for awhile. You ought to see how our service men look over their tires—check up on the inflation, inspect them for tread cuts or stone bruise or some other sign of road mishap.

Anything needing attention is fixed up right away. Lots of repair bills are saved, and thousands of good tire miles are kept right where they belong—in the customers tires.

Along with this service, we carry a complete stock of Goodyears, the All-Weather tread balloon—"The World's Greatest Tire"—and the husky, good-looking Pathfinder, with its highest quality at lowest price.

What Pink Bollworm Looks Like

Farmers sometimes find insects in cotton bolls and wonder whether they are pink bollworms. The worm stage of the insect shown in this illustration is the only form that is likely to be found by a casual examination. The worm when full grown varies from about seven sixteenths of an inch to slightly more than one-half inch in length, and has a distinct pinkish color. The pink bollworms shown above are about one-half natural size.
