Mistake in Posting Annals Highway Election

Election Called for December First Will Be Called for Later Date

A mistake was made in the posting of the election notice in the postoffice at Lockney calling for the Lee Highway election to be held on Saturday, December 1st, 1928, and therefore the election cannot be legally held on that date, which makes it necessary to call the election for another date, so that proper and correct notice can be given the voters of Floyd county.

The question of where the highway will be designated to run in Floyd county will probably be definitely settled before another election date is set, as a great deal of dissatisfaction has been registered in regard to the attitude the state has taken in this matter, and an order was passed by the Commissioner's Court at the petition of several Floydada and Lockney citizens, bidding that body not to spend one cent of the money voted in the bond election, in case the issue carried, unless the state agreed to run the highway through the towns of Floydada, Lockney, and Aiken as set out in the petition.

Marvin Nathan Wofford

A pall of gloom spread over Lockney and community, Sunday evening following the announcement of the death of a child, Marvin Nathan Wofford, age eleven years, ten months and twelve days passed to his reward after lingering at death's door for nearly four weeks following an operation for appendicitis at the Plainview Sanitarium.

The child is survived by the mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Wofford, four sisters and one brother. Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, in the midst of a profuse floral offering. Reverend J. B. McReynolds and Y. F. Walker officiated.

Those coming from other cities to the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Wofford and children of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sparks and family of Runningwater, Mrs. B. W. Sewell and daughter, Lorraine, of Plainview. Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wofford and Nathan Sparks, grandparents of the child, are pioneers of Floyd county.

GIANT LINER SINKS; FATE OF 350 ABOARD UNKNOWN

Rescue Steamers Find Only Open Boat

New York, Nov. 12.—Hours of hardship and peril apparently was the least serious contingency faced last night by the 350 survivors of the foundered liner Vestris.

Long after the ship had plunged to the bottom, 300 miles off the Virginia coast, victim of a yet unexplained hazard of the sea, no word has come of the fate of her passengers and crew.

Strong northwest winds and a heavy sea were reported last night by ships in that vicinity.

Two of the dozen ships sent to the scene by the Vestris' broadcast SOS had reported no sign could be found in the vicinity of the life boats in which her roster of 350 had taken refuge when the continued list of the Vestris indicated she was doomed.

Searchlights Find No Boats

Her searchlights swept the seas for miles without revealing one of the boats. The Santa Barbara said, at 8 p. m. (eastern) and the San Juan tersely recounted that two and a half hours cruising over the position given by the stricken ship had been fruitless.

Officials of the Lamport and Holt Lines, owners of the Vestris, did not see any extra cause for alarm in the failure of these two ships to pick up the boats. Since considerable time had elapsed before the arrival of the Santa Barbara or San Juan, they pointed out the small craft might have been well on their way to shore. Another possibility was the rescue of every soul, even prior to the disappearance of the Vestris, by the Japanese ship, Ohio Maru, which has been reported nearest of all to the scene.

However, the hope that the Ohio Maru might have picked up some of the boats was lessened by an announcement from the New York police radio station that it had picked up a message apparently from the Japanese steamer stating it had reached the position given by the Vestris, but had found no trace of the steamer or of its life boats.

PLAINVIEW MAN ON BOARD ILL-FATED BRITISH LINER

Frank McDonald Reported Saved by French Steamer Myriam When Vestris Sank Monday

Plainview, Nov. 13.—Frank McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. McDonald of this city was on board the British steamer, Vestris, when she foundered yesterday 300 miles off the Virginia coast. McDonald is believed to have been rescued by the French steamer Myriam en route to the United States.

W. N. McDonald has received the following message from the Lamport and Holt Lines, owners of the Vestris: "McDonald member crew Vestris on board French steamer Myriam will advise when docking later."

The Vestris, a large liner bound for South America, sank yesterday afternoon with about 350 persons on board. No cause of the tragedy has yet been given. Rescue ships arrived on the scene later but were unable at a late hour to find any trace of the ship or survivors. Evidently the French steamer Myriam arrived in time to save at least a few of the crew and passengers, and possibly was able to rescue them all.

Frank McDonald was en route to South America and had signed with the crew of the Vestris.

ALLISON, SANTA FE MANAGER DIED IN CHICAGO, SUDDENLY

Amarillo, Nov. 11.—Word was received in Amarillo last night of the sudden death in Chicago late yesterday of Robert H. Allison, vice president and general manager of the Western Lines of the Santa Fe railroad.

Mr. Allison and family left Amarillo three weeks ago on a vacation, and his death was a shock to Santa Fe officials, and the family's many friends who were not aware of the seriousness of his illness until Friday when he entered a Chicago hospital for an operation.

Mr. Allison had been ranking Santa Fe executive of the Western Lines since April 1, 1927, when he came to Amarillo from Tepeka, where he had been assistant general manager of the Eastern lines.

Underwent Operation

He had been in failing health for several months, and recently was granted an extended leave of absence in order that he might have a long rest. Mr. and Mrs. Allison and their small son, Robert, went from Amarillo to Battle Creek, Michigan, later went to Chicago early this week, and on Friday his friends were advised that he had decided to enter a hospital for an operation. Nothing further was heard from him until a message last night told of his death. He had failed to rally from the operation.

Contract For Hotel Let To Floydada Firm

Stephenson & Thurman Get Contract For Construction of Modern Hotel in Lockney

The Lockney Hotel committee, composed of Messrs. Artie Baker, chairman, A. R. Meriwether and Geo. T. Meriwether, H. M. Mason, A. P. Barker, M. L. Williams, and R. H. Wall let the contract this afternoon to Stephenson & Thurman, contractors of Floydada, for the erection of a modern brick hotel on the corner of Main and Locust Streets, where the brick building now occupied by the Bargain Store stands. Mr. Kerr of Kerr & Walsh, architects, was present, and seven bids were opened and passed on, the above named contractors proving to be the lowest bidders, and were awarded the contract.

The present two story building on the site is to be overhauled and converted into a hotel building and the new part of the hotel building is to cover the two adjacent lots on the north side of the present building. The building when complete will cover a ground space of 90x100 feet and will be two stories in height. The first floor will contain a lobby, coffee shop, dining room and kitchen and several store buildings. The second floor will have about thirty-five rooms, practically all with baths.

The new hotel will be modern in every particular and will cost when completed about $75,000.00. The contract for the plumbing job on the building was withheld, but will be awarded within the next few days.

A mass meeting of the citizens will be called within the next day or so for the purpose of winding up the financial end of the proposition.

The building of this hotel will fill a long felt need in this city, and the structure will be a credit to a town much larger than this city is at the present time.

HOOVER SAILS MONDAY FROM PORT OF L. A.

First Call Will Be Made in One-Day Stop at Panama Canal—Other Itinerary Not Announced
Stanford University, Cal., Nov. 12.—Herbert Hoover prepared today to leave his home in Palo Alto on Sunday to board his ship at San Pedro, Monday, for his good-will trip to South America.

The first port of call of the battleship Maryland, which will bear the president-elect and his party on their southward journey, will be Balboa, Panama Canal zone, where Mr. Hoover will make the first task of his journey the inspection of the Panama canal. Beyond the brief stop to be made there, the itinerary of the president-elect has not been announced, but he desires to visit all the republics on the western coast of South America. A definite decision regarding the acceptance of an invitation to visit Bolivia has not yet been reached.

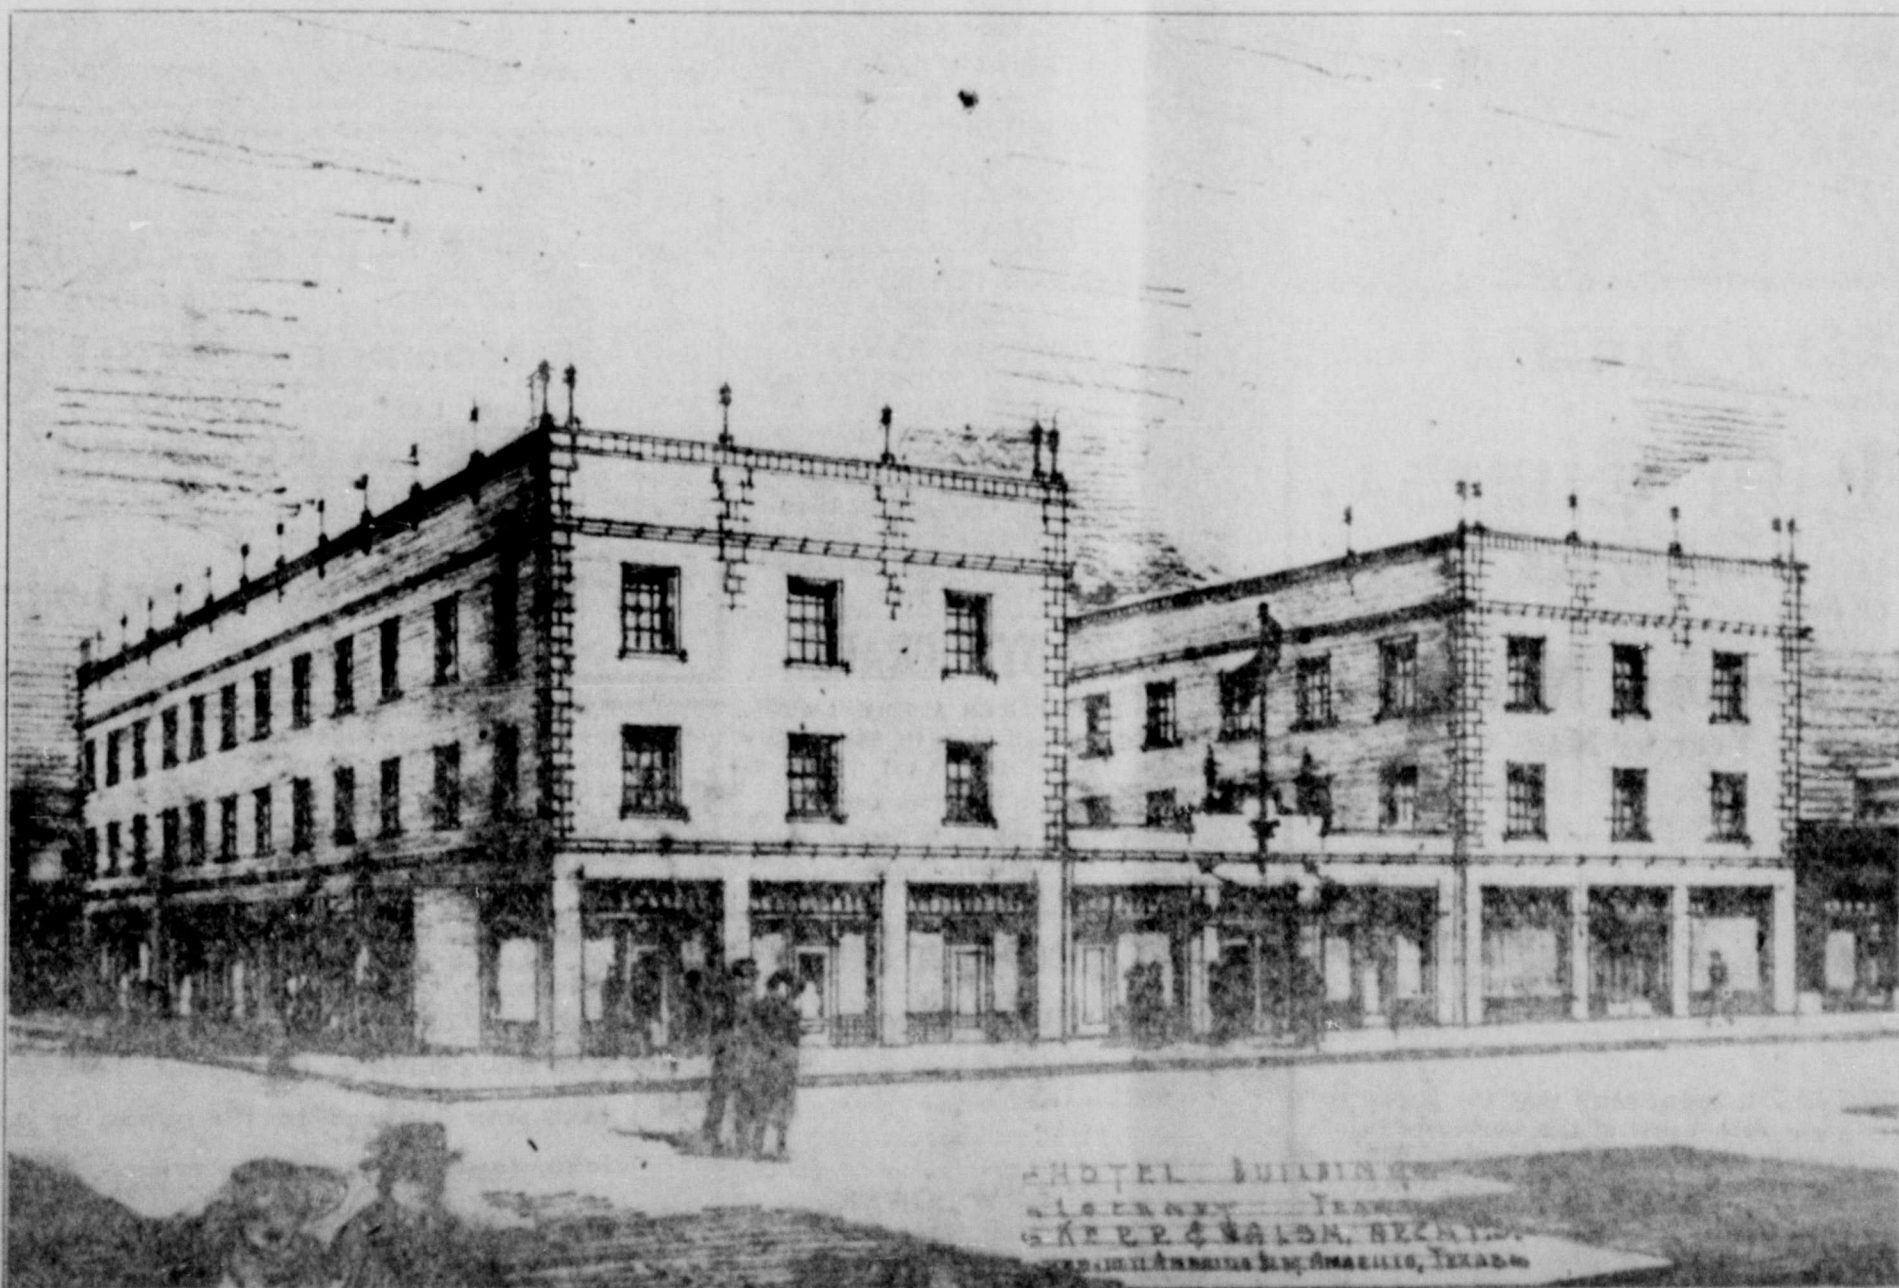

Roman Council to Go Along
The news was received today that Henry P. Fletcher, ambassador to Rome, would represent the state department on the trip, and his choice was regarded as desirable because of his wide acquaintance with the public men of South American countries, gained through his service as ambassador to Chile and Mexico, and as a member of the American delegation to various pan-American conferences.

During the first lap of his home more than 40 days journey, Mr. Hoover would have ample time aboard ship to prepare the speeches which he will deliver in the various capitals of the western Latin-American republics and also to attend to a vast volume of work connected with domestic affairs, which must be transacted before he concludes his goodwill mission upon his arrival in Florida in January.

His quarters on the Maryland, designed for the accommodation of a fleet admiral, will be completely equipped for the transaction of this work. In his suite will be four rooms, a bedroom, a large dining room, a large living room and a small sitting room. Ambassador Fletcher and the other members of his immediate party will have private state rooms in a nearby section of the ship.

Scout Meeting
The Boy Scouts met last Friday night in the Oddfellows hall. The Oddfellows promised to let the scouts meet in the hall every Friday night, if they would sweep it out. We have lots of room to drill now. We want to thank the Oddfellows for the use of the hall.

We had practice of artificial respiration. Mr. Ward, the Scoutmaster, was there, and the following boys were present: Carver Monroe, Kenneth Hoblaus, Gerald and Garland Sams, Glenn Stevenson, Rowan Ward, Weldon Dodson, and Douglas Adams.—Scribe.

W. T. S. T. C. News

Nov. 10.—The joyous occasion of the Floyd County Club prairie hop and Irish stew party, was celebrated on Friday evening, Nov. 10, from 5:30 to 7 o'clock. If you had sniffed at that time you might have smelled the delicious odor that came from the immense pot of boiling stew.

The champion hoppers of the evening were Edwin Boedeker Eugene Harris, Lela Swain, and Robin Byars. All the crowd, of about twenty, played games with an imitable spirit of youth which proved, of course, that we were reared in the proper county.

Our sponsor, Mr. F. E. Savage, and Mrs. Savage were there to aid in the joy-making and stew-eating.

More pep was exhibited by the W. T. student body Saturday morning than had been evident the whole past part of the quarter, and, as a result, W. T. boys gained a victory over the New Mexico Cadets. In the words of one of W. T.'s team boys, "our eleven were "harder to beat than eleven petrified eggs."

Delmar Ashworth, now of Lipscomb keeps right up with these football games. (It may be that an auburn haired girl has much to do with these frequent visits to W. T.) Ashworth declares he still claims Floyd county as his home.

Baptist Church News

All the services of the church were well attended last Sunday with preaching morning and evening by Rev. R. D. Evans, who was formerly associational missionary of Floyd County Association.

The church authorized a committee to have papered throughout and plumbing fixtures installed in the pastor's home in order to have such repairs made before the pastor elect, Rev. E. D. Morgan, of Paducah, shall move into the home.

Pastor Morgan is expected to be present and preach next Sunday morning and evening and move the following week.

It is hoped that a large congregation may greet Pastor Morgan on his first day as the official pastor of the church.

The entire membership are greatly gratified that the church has been able to secure Bro. Morgan and it is hoped that the fellowship between the church and pastor may be such that he will remain with us for many years and do the greatest work of his life in our community and county. The Board of Deacons.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Women's Missionary Union of the Baptist church desire to again call attention to the announcement made last week that all friends of the Buckner Orphanage are requested to leave any good clothing, shoes, sheets, and pillow cases or anything of value that they desire to have sent to the orphanage at the Helpy-Selfy grocery at Baker Mercantile Co's. dry goods department. It is desired to send this box about Thanksgiving week.

Some counties in East Texas are sending several car loads of potatoes and other eatables and some counties in West Texas are sending car loads of feed which is needed by the stock at the home due to a short feed crop.

We think the farmers of this country could send a car load of feed which has been raised in abundance.

These seven hundred children without father or mother deserve a warm place in the hearts of the people of Texas.—Reporter.

LARGE MOUTH IN A COW IS GOOD SIGN

The More She Can Eat, the More She Is Likely to Give, Declares Institute.

The more feed a dairy cow is capable of consuming, the more likely she will be to produce milk abundantly, declares the Blue Valley Creamery Institute, as it is from the feed a cow eats that milk is made. Therefore, a good dairy cow possesses a big capacity for feed. The cow with a large mouth is a good feeder, dairymen find, while the one with a small mouth and muzzle is a poor feeder. To make the fullest use of feed a cow must chew it thoroughly. For this reason she needs also strong jaws of well-defined width and depth. The many organs involved in digesting feed and the great amount of food nutrients necessary for the maintenance of the animal and for great milk production call for a large barrel, one that is long, broad and deep. These specifications, dairymen believe, are insured by length from the shoulder to the hip bone and broad, flat, well-sprung, deep ribs. The cow that is long of body, slab-sided and shallow-ribbed is seldom, if ever, satisfactory either as a feeder or as a great and economical producer of milk or of offspring. Even though she may yield well for a short time, she is not persistent and soon declines in her milk flow.

Not only is it important that a cow be capable of consuming a large amount of feed at one time, but it is necessary that every ounce of the feed she eats is digested and assimilated. Therefore, strength and efficiency of the digestive apparatus are quite as important as size. The conditions and efficiency of the organs of digestion may be determined by the handling qualities of the animal. If the hide is soft, pliable and elastic and the hair soft and silky, an efficient digestive tract is assured. However, as dairy feeders always say, if the hide is covered with harsh, wiry hair, there is something wrong with the digestive system, either temporarily or permanently, and, even though the cow is a big feeder, the best use will not be made of the feed.

In addition to capacity for handling large quantities of feeds efficiently, a profitable dairy cow possesses a strong constitution, nervous temperament, good blood circulation and a natural ability for making milk.

MILK VOLUME FROM ROUGHAGE, GRAIN

Cows receiving all the good roughage and succulent feeds they will eat will produce milk at lowest cost in winter when fed a well-balanced grain mixture according to their individual production, declares the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. With a good

FEED GRAIN ACCORDING TO EACH COW'S DAILY PRODUCTION

Feed one pound of grain for each 3 to 4 lbs. milk produced daily depending on the breed.

roughage such as alfalfa, soybean or clover hay and silage or roots for succulence, grain feeding at the rate of one pound to each three pounds of milk produced daily by Jersey and Guernsey cows; one pound of grain to 3 1/2 pounds of milk produced each day by Brown Swiss and Shorthorn cows; and one pound of grain to each 4 pounds of milk produced daily by Ayrshire and Holstein cows has been found to be most economical.

When the roughage on hand consists of silage and legume hay a good grain mixture for ordinary producing cows in winter is ground oats or wheat bran, 100 pounds, and ground corn or barley, 100 pounds. When the grass hay and corn fodder are fed a suitable grain ration is oats, 100 pounds; corn or barley, 200 pounds; and dressed oil meal, 200 pounds. Another satisfactory grain mixture to feed with grass hay is equal parts by weight of ground corn, ground oats, wheat bran and cotton seed or gluten feed.
