fectly at liberty to do so without being apprehended, unless the deputy sheriff interferes and takes the matter to the justice or county court. By all means Lockney should have a city marshal and the city should pay him a salary sufficient to keep him on the job, if that salary has to come out of the general finances of the city. Just because as a rule the people of Lockney and those that come to Lockney, are law abiding, and there are not many arrests to be made is no excuse for not having a marshal, and the people of Lockney are today paying taxes for protection, and if we cannot get protection from paying taxes, what is the use of paying taxes at all.

But now back to the parking question: Some day when the streets are badly crowded, cars are parked in the streets until it is almost impossible to get through the street, there is going to be a serious accident, and somebody is going to get killed or crippled for life, then the parking laws will be enforced, but that is too late, after the price has been paid with a life that cannot be brought back, or some one maimed for life. It is far better to prevent, than to mourn after it has happened.

Even farmers who come to the town are kicking about the way the city allows auto owners to violate the driving and parking laws of the city. They know that it is not safe to come to the town on Saturdays and busy days and try to drive through the streets, or when trading and crossing the streets on foot. No one with any sense is going to get mad at the city officials for enforcing protective laws such as parking ordinances, and the fellow that does get mad is the kind that wants to violate the law, and should be forced to act like a civilized man, whether he wants to or not. Very few people will violate the parking laws if an attempt is attempted to enforce them, but when a person sees there are no restrictions or the law is not enforced, they are negligent in obeying the law.

There is plenty of parking space in Lockney. The main street is not the only place a car can park. The other streets of the town can be used as parking space, and those who are too lazy to walk a block to the stores park on some of the vacant lots that adjoin the business section of the town.

THE SCHOOL BOND ELECTION

The election called for the issuance of $115,000 in bonds in the Lockney Independent School District, for the purpose of erecting a high school building to take care of the school needs of the district will be held next Tuesday, March 5th.

The need for this new school building has been very urgent for the past two years, and the credits of the school have been held down because there was insufficient room in the old building to teach several subjects that were necessary for the proper completion of the education of the children of the district. This year the over-crowded condition of the school has been so pronounced that it has reached a climax and something must be done if the standing of the school is to be maintained.

Every person who has the interest of the children in this district at heart will go to the polls and vote for the bonds next Tuesday, those who are opposed to the school, and who think the cost is greater than the benefits will of course oppose the building of the new school. It will be a case of progressiveness against pessimism, just like it is in all matters for the benefit of the people of the community. Your vote on this proposition will be whether you think more of the children of the community, and your own children, or you are afraid you will have to add a few cents to your taxes each year.

WE HOPE THEY BAR THE BOLTERS

Down Austin-way the legislature is fighting around and around over the question of barring the voters who voted for Hoover from the Democratic primary in the future, and we certainly hope that the bill passes and everyone of us fellows that voted the republican ticket last year are refused votes in the primary. It would be the most glorious thing that ever happened in Texas. Then next year we would clean up the Democratic party "from the cradle to the grave" and would elect everything in the state from Constable to Governor, and get shut of all this crooked machine politics that has been going on in the Democratic party in Texas for the past half a century. That is just what Texas needs, another party just as strong or stronger than the one in power at Austin now. People who vote for a candidate just because he is a member of the Democratic party or any other party show their ignorance, and that they do not know what they are doing. In the past the Democratic party has been able to cram anything they wanted to down our throats in Texas, and they have certainly poured the "Caster Oil" to us on many occasions, and now because there are enough people in Texas with heads of their own to defeat a whiskey-soaked Catholic for president of the United States in this state's election, they are going to bar them from voting in the 1930 primary. We will holler "Hurrah" if they do, for we believe that in 1930, if they do bar the bolters the bolters will bar every man that voted for Al Smith in Texas from holding office, and all the graft, rabble, and holdens that have been making the people take care of them in offices will be swept out, and new material put in and Texas will greatly benefit from the clean-up. Let us all pray the bolters will be barred.

"MY COMMUNITY CONTEST"

Floydada, Feb. 27.—The "My Community" contest sponsored by the Floydada Chamber of Commerce as a part of the Interscholastic League meet which will be held in this city next month, will again offer an opportunity to pupils of rural schools in this county to vie for a first prize of a white gold wrist watch and two ten dollars cash prizes. The Floydada Chamber will furnish the first prize to the boy or girl making the best five minutes address on the advantages of his or her community. A second prize of a ten dollar gold piece will be paid by the Floyd County National Bank and a similar prize will be given by the Security State Bank at Lockney for the winner of third place.

Boys and girls who are pupils of rural schools in Floyd county are the only eligible contestants, and the event will be limited to one entry from each school. A preliminary contest must be held in the schools which have more than one contestant who desires to enter. Five minutes will be allowed each speaker and to use more time than this means disqualification. School officials should make their entries at once so that every school participating will be given an equal opportunity and so that arrangements for the event can be completed. Entries can be made through the Floydada Chamber of Commerce.

"An opportunity is offered here to encourage community pride and we are glad to again have part in this contest," Carl McAdams, president of the Security State Bank at Lockney said, "You may announce that we will again offer the winner of third place in this contest a ten dollar gold piece."

"This event tends to stimulate increased interest among the rural people in their own community," said T. S. Stevenson, president of the Floyd County National Bank at Floydada, "And we sincerely hope that every rural school in the county will have an entry in the contest."

The speaking will be held at the High School.

THAT PARKING NUISANCE AGAIN

A few weeks ago we wrote an editorial against the practice of allowing people to park in every fashion on the main street in Lockney, and for two Saturdays the parking in the middle of the street was cut out and the danger therefore eliminated, but now the car owners are back at it again, and on Saturdays and busy days it is almost impossible to get through the main street with a car, and the danger to pedestrians is something awful.

To begin with we are going to say that during the 44 years of our existence, this is the first town that was incorporated that we have heard of that does not have a city marshal, or no officer to enforce the city laws, and therefore, any person who wants to violate any city law, and especially the parking and driving laws are per-

BETTER SEED AND PREPARATION OF SOIL In many farming districts a better farming program is being promoted by those in touch and interested in same. We are now buying for Lockney territory some acclimated tested pedigree cotton seed, we do not expect any farmer to buy a great quantity of these seed but suggest that each farmer does buy enough of them to plant 1-3 of his crop and more if he can finance same as each acre planted and grown from these seed should make at least twice the amount of common mixed seed. We can supply the pure Half and Half sanded and delivered at Lockney for $2.50 per bushel. This is the Famous Summerour seed grown at Vernon. Other good picked cotton seed not as pure at $1.75 per bushel and some Acalla seed at $1.25 per bushel. On account of cotton not maturing well on the Plains same soon deteriorates and will not germinate a strong and healthy plant, but by planting well matured seed you will double your cotton yields as many have proven. We do not expect nor attempt to tell farmers how to farm but in all lines of business it is necessary to think and all often overlook possibilities at hand, but when suggestion is offered it puts all to thinking and thought carried into action produces good dividends if properly directed, along this line we only suggest that better preparation of the soil in advance of planting is time well spent and often produces double the crop on poorly prepared land, we do not mean to re-lit your land when it is dry but to use the knives and keep it mulched and clean for planting. We are now booking orders for these seed to be delivered when called for, a payment on same will make sure that you are protected when you need them, be prepared is good business. Call at our gin and let your wants be known. We are doing good work on this rough cotton and would appreciate a trial on your last few bales this season, best prices paid for your cotton, it might be money to you as it has been to others, the more pounds you get means more money, try us. FEAR FELT THAT HOOVER WILL TAKE "PIE" OFF COUNTER

Washington, Feb. 23.—There is consternation in the ranks of the O. P. spoilsmen over a report that soon after his inauguration President

Hoover plans to revoke Harding's executive order regarding postmaster appointments and restore the one promulgated by President Wilson. If he does this it will mean a "pie counter" without "pie", establishing civil service in fact in selecting these appointees instead of civil service in theory as at present. The Wilson order was simple and direct. It stipulated that after a civil service examination had been held for all aspirants for a given postmastership the Postmaster General should certify the name of the one making the highest grade and, unless otherwise disqualified, such person would be named. President Wilson's critics pointed out that he did not issue this order until he had filled practically all the offices with "deserving Democrats" but the fact remained that during the last few years of his administration he adhered to this rule which he himself had made.

Modified by Harding

When the Republican party came back into power in 1921 one of the first acts of President Harding was to revoke the Wilson order, or rather to so modify it as to provide that the Postmaster General should certify the names of the three highest applicants as shown by the civil service examination. That wasn't quite as satisfactory to the spoilsmen as the method followed in the "good old days" but it did afford some protection against giving away valuable "political pie" to members of the opposition party. In strictly Republican territory it has worked comparatively well and the arbiter of patronage has generally been able to have the man or woman he favored for appointment included among the three.

There has been difficulty in the South, however. In a number of instances, even where there has been stiff competition for a postoffice, the three highest eligibles have all been Democrats. Where all the eligibles proved to be Democrats the practice has been to defer action as long as possible and if the appointment could be held up for a year or more pressure would be exerted to have a new examination held on the ground that the old ratings were obsolete. Where there was but one Republican on the list he could be fairly sure of appointment but where there were two there was a chance for complications and these generally ensued. The party divided into factions and the patronage arbiter found himself in fully as much difficulty as in the days when he assumed entire responsibility for the appointments.

"Pie" Dispensers Worried

However, while the Harding executive order didn't give universal satisfaction it is far more agreeable to the dispensers of "pie" than the more rigid one issued by President Wilson. True, the offices are now practically all filled with "deserving Republicans" but that doesn't remove the danger of a well qualified Democrat, particularly in Democratic territory, from taking a civil service examination, when it is called for, and topping the last of aspirants. To appoint such a one, it is urged, would destroy the political morale of the local Republicans. Hoover's friends, who think this would be a good move, insist that in only a few localities would there be danger of this. It is their contention that in most cases, particularly in the South, where a regular Republican would be thus displaced the appointment would be won by a Hoover-Democrat, one entitled to recognition by reason of service rendered in the last election.

BANKERS BROUGHT TOGETHER BY DAIRY DEVELOPMENT AT MURFREESBORO, TENN.

By M. B. Oates

At our conference with the three bankers at Murfreesboro, one of them stated in the presence of the others that the rivalry between them used to be so keen that they would not work together, scarcely ever called on each other on any sort of business and never co-operated on any thing. The presence of all of them at our conference is evidence of the good feeling that exists at present. In developing the dairy industry of Rutherford County, they said the bankers got together and every banker and every merchant gave his united support. Then they got the schools of the county behind the dairy movement and sentiment for the dairy business has continued to grow. One of the bankers said "Every business man is a field man," for the condensery and the creamery.

Further evidence of the get together spirit was manifest in the representative group of business men who attended the banquet given us by the Chamber of Commerce. They gave us a welcome that made us feel like we had arrived. We were extended courtesies so generously that we were reluctant to leave the next morning. But we were pleased because we had seen the largest Carnation Condensery of the south according to the field representative of the Carnation Company and we had visited the largest co-operative creamery in the world according to local citizens. Certainly the creamery was much larger than any seen on our trip. Both of these big plants are located in Murfreesboro, a town of only 5500 population. The county, however, has 5280 farms and dairy farmers have an average of 10 cows which average 150 pounds of butterfat per year. There are 25,000 dairy cows in the county.

The creamery was started in 1914 at a cost of $5,000, every penny of the money being borrowed. Thirty-five patrons signed up for 400 cows. The first year the creamery lost money but has been successful every year since. In 1926 the creamery made

1,432,000 pounds of butter. Then on July 1st, 1927, the Carnation Company Condensery opened for business but the condensery seemed to help the creamery because in 1927 the output of butter from the creamery increased 450,000 pounds over the previous year bringing the 1927 creamery production up to 1,882,000 pounds of butter and the manager of the creamery told us in August that the production for 1928 would pass 2,000,000 pounds. This creamery now has 2100 patrons who supply milk from 15,000 cows. The creamery did a business of $850,000 in 1927. The plant is now worth $100,000. The creamery makes sour cream, butter scoring from 90 to 92 and selling on the markets of the world. Fifty per cent of the butter is sold retail.

The Carnation condensery has a $350,000 investment at Murfreesboro. The condensery has 1500 patrons and is now receiving 156,000 pounds of milk daily. The enormous volume of dairy business done around Murfreesboro is shown by the amounts paid out of these two milk plants on July 1st, 1927. The creamery paid out on this date $98,000 and the condensery paid out $102,000 making a total of $200,000, paid out in one day for dairy products, produced in one month. There are also three cream stations in the county paying out $15,000 per month. Cream brought by them goes to Nashville which is only about forty miles to the north.

This large volume of dairy business requires a large number of cows. The policy of the bankers has been an important factor in the large dairy development of the county. The usual custom is to take notes and mortgages which provide for monthly payment on the cows. It is agreed in the body of the mortgage to pay half of each month's cream or milk check on the cow notes. This policy has proven safe. The bankers told us they did not have a single bad cow note.

The dairy business has had the usual effect on town business observed elsewhere on the tour. In 1921, 80 per cent of the town's business was on credit. It is now 60 per cent cash and the balance in thirty days which, in the commercial world, is considered cash. Before the advent of dairying the merchants did a regular supply business. The three banks here have $3,000,000 on deposit. Such has been the effect on business.

Other effects are noted among the farmers. Most farmers are now producing their hay and grain. Also they are building up their soil fertility although the soils of Rutherford County are naturally good. This county is located in the blue grass region of Middle Tennessee. One farmer who made only 400 pounds of lint on 5 acres of land before he began dairying has built up his soil to a production of 1800 pounds of lint on the same five acre field. It is said that 60 per cent of the farmers now use manure spreaders. Farmers who have never been able to get ahead often find that the dairy cow can put them ahead in a short time. A negro tenant had owed one of the local banks a $50 note for six long years, never having made a payment on it. After dairying was established the banker offered to buy the negro tenant two cows and take his note for them. The negro paid the $50 note in five months and also paid for the cows. So the negro and the banker were both saved by the dairy cow; and this action as taken on the initiatives of the banker, which suggests that many Texas farmers might be able to pay off notes of long standing if they could just get an additional loan to buy some dairy cows. I am sure our farmers could do as well as this negro tenant.

one of the outstanding breeders in West Texas. The entire 15 head are line bred in the Gamboge Knight blood line, the same as the herd of Nicholl's, that made the highest average in production in Texas for two months.

Joe W. Vaughn, Jersey breeder near Tulia, purchased five head of fine Jerseys from near Lamesa during the last week. C. B. Martin, county agent, accompanied Vaughn to Lamesa to get the stock. Two of the cows are daughters of Imported Masterman of Oakland's, the $25,000 bull from the Taft ranch. Vaughn is line breeding the blood of Masterman of Oakland's and had one of the first cows in all of West Texas to qualify for a gold medal, and has all his stuff on register of merit test.

B. degree from Southwestern University of Georgetown, where he distinguished himself as a star foot ball and base ball player.

Weatherby succeeds Prof. C. R. Owen, who served as superintendent for four years.

R. C. Mitchell, well known breeder near Tulia, purchased 15 head from B. B. Holland of the Mistletoe Creameries at Amarillo, including his herd sire, five cows, five heifers and four calves. The cows have all been on official test and made their register of merit records, some with records of above 500 pounds of butterfat. The stock came originally from the Howard Ferguson herd at Amarillo.

SPUR BUYS MACHINE FOR TATTOOING CATTLE

Spur, Feb. 23.—The Spur Chamber of Commerce has secured from the American Jersey Cattle club a tattooing machine, and every effort will be made to get the farmers who own dairy cattle subject to registration to make use of the outfit. That the farmers of this trade territory have a good strain of milk cows is indicated by the continuous increase in daily receipts of cream at the Spur sweet cream plant.
