State Attorney Rules On School Payments

First Assistant Attorney General Robert Hooper Friday held that the Constitution does not prohibit the use of school funds produced in one year to pay unpaid obligations of the preceding year, and that such debts must be paid before the fund's income can be used on a subsequent year's appropriation. In the opinion to the State Board of Education, Hooper said this has been the practice for forty years without exception and cited cases where the courts have compelled State officials to pay warrants which had been issued in previous years from funds apportioned in subsequent years.

Attention was directed to the fact that of the $16 State apportionment for this scholastic year only $13 will have been paid from this period's income, leaving $3 per capita to be paid from next year's revenue. Hooper said the amount of this deficit in making it is the duty of the board to estimate next year's scholastic apportionment. The deficit will be paid first and then the income applied on next year's apportionment, which can not equal to $16 for this year, expiring Aug 31.

MODERNISM IS FEATURED at Chicago's "A Century of Progress." A striking example is found in the five amazing micarta murals depicting, symbolically, progressive steps in the career of gasoline and motor oils at the Gulf Refining Company's "all-action" exhibit. Micarta is made by a secret formula in which the glowing, marble-like effects are created with the help of dyed aluminum sheets.

SATIN AND FOX IN WHITE SEEN AT STYLE SHOW

CHICAGO—White satin combined with white fox has invaded the Mid-summer evening mode, as was seen by fashions modeled in a style show in which several leading exclusive feminine apparel shops participated.

With one gleaming, figure-fitting white satin gown was worn a white fox cape made of several rows of skins running horizontally. It extended to just below the waist.

The jacket of another white satin evening ensemble had white fox trim on the sleeves, the long-haired fluffy fur extending from the shoulder line to the cuff of the elbow sleeves. The jacket was collarless.

Another white satin outfit had a finger tip length jacket with a white fox collar. The gown with which it was worn had a decided train, the back panel being about six inches longer than the rest of the hem.

The smartness and effectiveness of white satin in combination with vividly colored accessories was shown in an outfit of white and poppy red.

With the white satin gown was worn a little red velvet cape that just covered the shoulder blades, but it embodied the new upward flaring line, predicted as smart for Fall. The cape was made of tufts that flared upward, minaret fashion.

The vividness of contrast was increased by read shoes and gloves of red velvet.

There's nothing like a new coiffure to set bells ringing in a woman's soul.

The lady in the looking glass puts up a glad smile, the new derby takes on added elegance. Shearing has been going on to such an extent that the ranks of small curls and sausage puffs are somewhat depleted. The less hair one has, the less trouble there is in the grooming. Some of the smartest hairdresses have no ringlets at all, merely a fluid natural looking wave line front, back and sides, with perhaps a sassy parting that throws itself off the beaten track by taking a turn, streaking down toward the nape. Early Spring permanents are weakening; there are lines of ladies forming at beauteriers, waiting for the session with the boiling tea kettles that transform straight curls into curly ones.

When hot weather wilts everything in sight, it's refreshing to see a woman wearing a floral printed frock. Nothing looks as cool as prints. If you have a printed ensemble for the hot midsummer days in town, rest assured that you'll look cool even if you aren't. It's positively invigorating to walk down a hot city street and see a woman who looks like a cool country garden. And floral printed silk looks just that way! For variety with a white kid shoes, panama hat, white printed outfit, change your accessories, gloves and lingerie touches are lovely at smart resorts and in town, too. But have some dark accessories for street wear. They stay clean much longer and are a little bit more practical. You'll thank your lucky stars that you have a few dark accessories when you get up some fine morning to discover that the white accessories need to be sent to the cleaners before you can wear them.

Feathers will adorn the new Winter hats and luxurious furs will trim many costumes. This will mean greater expense in some clothes, but believe economic conditions warrant it. Some of the richest fabrics seen in many seasons will fashion the new Winter mode, the designer declares. A wide range of new velvets and heavy silks will contribute to the elegance of coming fashions. Colors will display a range of rich tones. In spite of the vogue for elegance, simplicity of silhouette will dominate the Winter mode.

Clothes will be designed to reveal and enhance the beauty of feminine figures. Protruding frills, furbelows and flounces which detract from the simplicity of the profile will be taboo.

Fabric bags that have in them some thing of the most highly styled Autumn bag are appearing in the shops now. Many of these are in ribbed waves such as bengaline, faille and corduroy, ribbed fabrics being very heavily ordered by smart shops for their Autumn trade. Of course, satin and taffeta are also well represented. A very smart bag and jacket set is of white corduroy. The bag has a saffley-pin catch made of rhinestones. The jacket has flared wing pieces over each shoulder and tiny rhinestone linke buttons fasten it at the waist.

Women Life-Guards

Women life guards, the first ever to be stationed along the Atlantic coast on regular service are now on duty at Wildwood Beach, N. J. They are Miss May Ottey and Miss Florence Newton.

LACQUERED SATIN HAT MAKES BOW IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON—Miss Simopoulos, wife of the minister of Greece, has introduced the lacquered satin hat here. Here is a brown one worn with a dress of brown and white in a criss-cross design trimmed with crisp cream organdie flowers.

There's a nautical trend in fashions at smart beach resorts where society vacations these hot days. The number of red, white and blue outfits an ensemble with red and white or white with blue would make Uncle Sam's navy realize that it has a definite influence on this season's fashions. Even the fabrics which go to make up the clothes at beach resorts are a "steal" from nautical. Sailcloth pajamas, heavy ropes for belts and mess jackets like the ones naval officers wear—all are honored by women who wear the smartest clothes.

Tweeds are going to be important again this Autumn. Of course, they will be a little heavier than those we have been wearing the last month or so. Evening dresses done in very sheer fine wools are due for promotion since several smart shops have already ordered models made in these weaves. The dull surface of wool lends itself particularly well to the contrast of lustrous satin and these two fabrics are combined in a smart advance Autumn evening dress. The dress is of very sheer black woolen and the revers in back and the capelet are of black satin. A huge ring of rhinestones connects the cape, in front and the girle in back.

To remove corns with a sharp knife is to take a chance of inviting abrasions and infections. Instead, soak the foot in warm water, friction the corn with a pumice stone. Or apply one of the many proprietary articles that are sold in drug stores. Don't forget that if you wear the same shoe which presses against the flesh, the corn will soon be back again as mean and twingy as ever.

A good water softener is made by combining six ounces of rubbing alcohol, one dram of ammonia, one-half dram of oil of lavender flowers. Pour a teaspoon into a bowl of water when preparing to give the face its daily lathering.

Add two or three drops of malt vinegar to the last rinsing water when washing white and Shantung silks to keep a good color.

Instead of throwing away those rusty curtain rings and hooks cover them with water and vinegar, a little soap, and boil for a few minutes. Fish them out polish hot with a dry cloth, and marvel to see how they are restored!

Dish cloths and floor cloths will keep sweeter for the addition of a little ammonia to the washing water.

When friend husband wears a big hole in the heel or toe of his sock, take a fine crochet needle and with suitable thread droschet round and round the hole until it is filled. There are no rough edges and it never pulls or wears out.

TITLED WOMEN CHOOSE GOWNS OF ORGANDIE

Paris.—Princess Carlo Ruspolo and the Comtesse de Ganay have chosen the same airy organdie evening gown in two different tones. The princess wears the gown, designed by Lelong, in white organdie embroidered in black and red figures, while the comtesse has it in pale blue organdie embroidered in dark blue. It is designed with a full lower skirt and a decollete outlined by a ruche of the material.

Pickle Syrup

Bring to a boil three cups of vinegar, one cup of water, one and a half cups of sugar and a scant half cup of salt. Fill jars with the syrup made by boiling the foregoing ingredients. Seal at once and store for several weeks before using. If a rather less pungent pickle is desired, try this procedure. Before packing the iced cucumbers in jars, bring them to a slow boil in a mixture of half water half vinegar. Simmer for about five minutes or until the cucumbers are thoroughly heated through. Strain off liquid, pack cucumbers in jars together with celery, onions and spices and with a sweetener or unsalted pickling liquid made as follows: Bring to a boil three cups brown sugar, two cups water and one quart vinegar. Pour over cucumbers, seal and store.

When washing clothes, it will be found that a little ammonia added to the water will help in removing obstinate marks.

Cleaning Glassware

If you have a number of glass containers in your kitchen cabinet which fail to take on luster and brightness after washing, try boiling them in a borie-acid solution, one teaspoon of acid to one pint of water. Bicarbonate of soda may be used, bringing about practically the same results. This adds sparkle to any bit of glassware that has become dingy by use, and also insures perfect cleanliness.

Sheep Shipments In West Texas To Feed Lots Started

Shipment of yearlings and two-year-old muttons from West Texas to northern feed lots is now getting under way. An estimated 100,000 sheep have been bought or consigned in recent weeks for the annual shipment to the north. Commission firm representatives are still in the county seeking more contracts and paying around 5 cents.

Shipments will include six double decks of mutton lambs, bought from Akiwell Brothers of Sutton County for consignment from Sonora to Kansas. Three double decks purchased from Jim Adkinson of Sterling City will be shipped to Kansas and Illinois points. Three doubles of yearlings muttons bought from C. L. Meador, Sr., Claude Meador and J. A. Whitman in Schleicher County have been shipped from Eldorado to Albright Neb., Emporia, Kansas and to Ohio points.

Lambs are weighing less on the range this year than last. Most of them however will mature into desirable feeder weights even if no more rains fall.

Processing Tax On Cotton Goods Was Effective Tuesday

Tuesday was national inventory day for the manufacturers and the handlers of cotton goods.

The processing tax of 42 cents a pound on lint cotton became effective then and the inventory is to determine how much is due the treasury.

The tax only applies to those who take cotton from its raw state and produce a product but also to those who produce a product chiefly composed of cotton yarns or washings.

Retailers have 30 days in which to get rid of their stocks on hand. After that time they have to pay tax on the inventory.

Rockefeller, who imports out doors, indicated that personally he would prevent dealers from buying through the product.

When employees are busy checking cotton goods on hand the farm adjustment administration will be holding hearings to decide whether to apply the 42 tax to goods competing with cotton.

Protecting Home Owners

The Home Owners Loan Corporation has acted with commendable promptness to nip a "racket" through which it was said unscrupulous persons planned to profit at the expense of mortgage-burdened home owners.

Prospective borrowers, the board stated, do not need paid agents to negotiate their loans. Preliminary appraisals of property will be made without cost, and if the loan is granted the subsequent appraisal and examination of title will be made at a nominal cost.

And the board warned of provisions in the law under which persons making unjustifiable and unnecessary charges in connection with loans can be punished by a maximum fine of $10,000 and five years in prison.—Amarillo Daily News.

We are of the opinion that if individual business would stick to their own lines that business would be better. It is hard to keep cut throat competition from entering when too many lines are carried by one concern.

It has been proven time and time again that weekly newspapers are the most widely read newspapers published today. They are valued more by the subscriber than any other newspaper they may receive.

of the commissioners of the right of a new automobile, and other little things. The interest to each is different.

Some of the big boys sure are squirming about the blanket code of the National Recovery Act. They say the shoe does not fit as snug as it should, and they are trying to find all kinds of loop holes to crawl through.

Let us hope that as times get better that our people will not go in debt as deep and as fast as they did in our more prosperous days. In our opinion debt was one of the major things that caused the depression.

It seems that President Roosevelt is having quite a bit of trouble with the oil industry about their Code. In the past this industry has done just about as they pleased.

and Mr. Teagle did not think so. Mr. Moffett may be appointed on President Roosevelt's Industrial Advisory Council to handle the oil situation.

Some of our citizens are continually wanting the editor of the Beacon to "Zizzle" someone. Just where they got the idea that the other fellow should be "Zizzled" is a mystery to this scribe.

Another good rain in the town of Lockney Saturday evening that amounted to about a half inch. It did not rain outside the town section with exception to the west.

We are indebted to President Roosevelt and his National Recovery Act. It came just in the nick of time to save the day at the Beacon office.

WOMAN'S COLUMN

Tuesday was the day for book auditors, bill collectors, hide and seek, tit for tat, peep eye, and other forms of light recreation.

If you see any of these business men limping along dragging their left hind leg with their right hand on their hip, you'll know that they've been playing Soft Ball this week.

The blondes might as well have their fling today for tomorrow the brunettes will reign supreme according to Dr. Charles F. Pabel.

Now, here is real economy for you; Rufus. Why have you got your pants on wrongside out? Goofus, I'm going to a party tonight and I wanted to take the bag out of my knees.

If you like cinnamon here is a good recipe that your family will actually scramble for: 2 cups granulated sugar, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1-2 cup water, 15 drops of red coloring, 4 apples.

Here is a recipe for cinnamon fudge and you'll love it: 2 cups granulated sugar, 2 ounces chocolate, 1 tablespoon crystal corn syrup, 3-4 cup milk.

Well, that's all this week. Hope you didn't drown in the down-pour Monday.

18,000 More Men At Work In Chevrolet Plant

Eighteen thousand more men are at work in Chevrolet and Pontiac plants today than at the same time a year ago. W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company stated in discussing the employment situation.

That his companies have wholeheartedly participated in the program of the President is shown by the fact that a salary raise of 15 per cent was granted all factory wage earners effective August 1.

Cheap Irrigation

A "poor man's" garden irrigation system" which uses tin can pipe to distribute the water from the weekly washing to irrigate 75 feet of tomatoes has been devised by Joe Macha, Hockley County farmer.

Mrs. Stevenson and sons, Wood and Glynn, are in San Angelo visiting Mrs. Stevenson's mother, Mrs. G. R. Wood.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Following poem was handed to the editor by A. J. Elackwell with the request that it be published:

WHAT WHISKEY DID FOR ME
King friends, I am glad to meet you here;
I stand before you all.

I stood by him through thick and thin,
Until they called me sot,
And when for him I sold my coat,

I fought for him, I bled for him,
As through the streets I'd rave,
And when through him I lost my hat,

As fine as bogots could be;
My boots were of the neatest fit,
For him I gave away my boots,

My eyes were of the deepest blue,
Nor luster did they lack;
But now, you see, they both are red,

My nose was never beautiful
But still was not amiss;
Old Alcohol touched it up,

He promised I should courage have,
For all the ills of life;
The bravest thing he made me do

Was beat my little wife,
He promised he'd give me wit,
And I should ne'er be sad;
Instead of which he took away
The little sense I had.
