BY JEANE SUITS

Be contented by living today! Lockney seems to have more discontented people who think fate has been unkind by tossing them around like so many tumbleweeds in a whirlwind. The clouds have refused to send sufficient moisture for a good crop. While bacon and beans go up, people's pulse go down until one is scarcely aware of being alive. The fact that discontent is always upper most in the mind prevents one from really going forward rather than the lack of prosperous times retarding one's progress.

I always think of Emerson's summarization of one's feelings who is of the opinion that not as much has been gained as should have been—"Discontent is the want of self-reliance; it is infirmity of will." Peace comes from the mind and not worldly possessions. If you have a desire for a million dollars and entertain nothing but thoughts of how contented you might be with that amount, you are burning the best end of your candle of life and getting nothing but smoke in your eyes.

Contentment can't be bought with the rising and falling of the market like so many bushels of wheat or shares of stock. The ticking of the tape on Wall Street does not govern your profit or loss of satisfaction. It all depends upon your selection of the High Way of life.

but what she thought of Hollywood has failed. This writer thinks it is "that you wanna wear but you are gonna wear that counts."

An airplane skimming the tallest building Monday and Tuesday in carrying passengers over the city so much a trip, caused almost too much excitement here. The first time it zoomed over the natives demonstrated their self-preservation instinct by taking to cover. A stranger in this part of the country would have thought it was the first plane to ever visit Lockney. If the pilot hadn't been close enough to the ground to recognize the pell-mell situation, he would have assumed that the objects below scurrying helter-skelter were the usual fowls from the barnyard rather than natives from the graveyard. Pardon me, that was just a slip of the pen. Ever since my return home I've heard of nothing but the lack of life in the old home town, so I naturally would fall into the chanting of the crowd since I bitterly oppose discords of any variety.

But whoever started this idea about Lockney being ready for the last round-up must have been thinking about our neighborly towns. There is plenty of life in the old place yet. We have a polo and baseball team who play games every week, swimming pool, social and literary clubs, theater, Fellowship Day every week, and a host of visiting parties are entertained at various times. We are still alive and you doubt my veracity just remember the sand storms tried burrow us last spring but we are still here.

CROP LOOKS EXTRA GOOD

Selling Many Roasting Ears To Truckers From Amarillo And Other Points

This writer was out stumbling around over the country the other day and stopped at the irrigated farm of Mr and Mrs E. G. Woodward southwest of town about three quarters of a mile, to see how these farm folks were coming along with their irrigated farm, as they just installed a pump last fall. We found them very much pleased with the possibilities of irrigation, and they were kept pretty busy selling roasting ears. They have sold several hundred dozen to truckers from Amarillo and other West Texas points. They have six acres planted to corn.

Walking around over this in we found these people are following a diversified farm program. Twenty-five acres is planted to cotton, a nice acreage that had been planted to barley and oats had been harvested and the yield was very satisfactory. Plenty of feed to run the farm another year is growing nicely and will produce a heavy yield. A small plot is planted to popcorn and garden truck. Peas and pumpkin vines are growing on the main irrigation ditches. Mr and Mrs Woodward have owned this farm for several years and have been dry farming it, and according to their own story, with very little success, but since drilling a well and installing a Peerless pump they are mighty well pleased and can very easily see where they have been missing additional revenue by not having this well and pump several years ago. They won't talk about going back to dry land farming. They are good farmers and hard workers and will be successful each year.

RUNNINGWATER IS DEFEATED BY LOCKNEY POLOIST

"Button" Stevenson of Plainview Scored Two Goals Breaking a 4 To 4 Tie For Lockney

During the seventh and extra chucker, "Button" Stevenson, of Plainview playing for Lockney, scored two goals, breaking up a 4 to 4 tie which won the game for the local polo team over Runningwater. The game was played Sunday afternoon on the field west of Wayland College at Plainview.

Stevenson was the outstanding player for Lockney, while "Red" Copeland, No. 4 man, starred for the Runningwater team. Lockney squadmen who alternated at the four positions were Stevenson, Jess Sandusky, Clyde Applewhite, Watt Griffith, Buster Whitlock, Pete Shurbet, Ervin Bennett, and Marvin Sams. Line up for the opposing team was Reese Masten, captain, J. B. Masten, Bruce Masten, Thurmond Taylor, and Copeland. A game has not been scheduled for this week-end.

They returned via the Yellowstone National Park. Barker returned for the last two weeks of June and then joined his family for a continuation of their vacation.

OLTON DEFEATED LOCKNEY SUNDAY BY 8-3 SCORE

Visitors Has One Of The Strongest Teams In West Texas And Are Hard Hitters

MANY ERRORS ARE MADE

T. Robertson Secures 8 Strike-Outs But Visitors Collect 10 Hits Off His Offerings

The Olton baseball nine swooped down on the local lot Sunday and scooped up the long end of an 8-3 score from the local lads. Olton has one of the best teams that has ever visited Lockney. They are a hard hitting aggregation and handle themselves well on the field.

At times both teams played loose ball, allowing errors to creep in. Olton was charged with 6 errors while Lockney chalked up an equal number.

T. Robertson turned in a fairly good game, allowing 10 hits and struck out 8 and gave 4 a free pass. Russell, the tosser for the visitors was awfully stingy with his offerings during the game and let the locals down with only 4 hits and no free passes but only made 4 lay down the willow. This Russell fellow is one of the outstanding hurlers of the Panhandle.

Nice size crowds are attending these Sunday games and the fans seem to be enjoying them very much. Of course they do not expect the local team to win all the games as that would make things too one-sided.

TWO MORE IRRIGATION WELLS TO BE PUT IN OPERATION

Will McGehee Installing Johnston Pump In Well On His Farm Southwest Town

NEW WELL BEING DRILLED

Mrs A. J. Sams And Son Buck, Drilling Well On Their Farm Two Miles Out

Everybody is getting irrigation well minded these days it seems, and we are able to report this week two more wells that will be put under the pump.

Will McGehee is installing a Johnston pump in the well on his farm a mile and one half southwest of town. This farm has had a well on it for many years and was at one time used for irrigating the farm but was abandoned several years ago. It was equipped with a large engine and an old style pump which proved very expensive to operate, but with this new and modern Johnston pump and an automobile engine for motive power it will prove profitable as other wells over the country have. It is being farmed by Bob Simmons.

Mrs A. J. Sams and son Buck, own a couple of farms southwest of town about two miles. These farms join, so they are having a well drilled near the driveway.

Entered April 14, 1902, as second class matter at the postoffice at Lockney, Texas, by act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of The Beacon will be corrected gladly upon its being brought to the attention of the publisher.

General Motors declared a nice dividend the other day, and in doing so, Mr. Solan, who heads this large corporation, stated that a "liberal dividend policy would continue as long as the administration didn't pull adverse surprises." There you are, big corporations telling our Congress and President what to do and "if you don't do as we say, we will slice dividend payments and tell the stockholders it is your (Democrats) fault and to cast their votes in the coming presidential election for a Republican, etc." Pretty nice threat. We have within the confines of the United States corporations that are almost as big as our government. The line-up is that other corporations will make similar statements when declaring extra dividend disbursements and all of these corporations figure they have something like nine million shareholders, which they figure would mean that many votes against FDR. In other words, they propose to buy the votes of their stockholders with an extra dividend payment. We have been telling you all along that big corporations have a strangle hold on everything in this country and they will fight to the last ditch to retain that power and will emerge from the battle victorious unless we stand square behind our President in his fight against this monopoly.

We have been knocked cold had our bank account frozen, been frozen almost stiff a time or two when we were up around Amarillo in the winter time, have felt like an icicle several times when someone give us the cold shoulder, have had cold chills chase up and down our spine, have had cold riggers, cold feet, cold hands, have eaten cold boiled ham, frozen pineapple, peaches and apricots, but doggone if we want to be frozen solid all the way through and put in cold storage.

Legal barriers which threatened to prevent movement of most of the Texas cotton crop to market cleared away in federal court at Houston last week. After a laborious conference between attorneys Judge T. M. Kennerly signed an order which, in effect, will enable ginners to obtain bale tags under the Bankhead act and move their cotton to buyers. Judge Kennerly held that a temporary injunction granted by Judge Randolph Bryant at Sherman on July 19 restraining government agencies from compelling cotton ginners to comply with the Bankhead act was inoperative. He ruled that plaintiffs who obtained the injunction had failed to post bond of $100,000 fixed by Judge Bryant. The order was signed after Judge Kennerly named a committee of attorneys representing two factions of ginners and the government to work out an agreement.

Herbert Hoover dropped off in Chicago Sunday on his way to New York to attend some kind of a Republican pow-wow, and handed out an interview to the press which was nothing more than a 1936 presidential bid. In this interview he seemed to be all hot and bothered about the Constitution, was afraid it was going to be changed by the Democrats, and stated that "for two years the liberties of the people have been trampled upon... What he would like to have said was that for "two years liberties of the Big Boys have been trampled upon and it must stop, and if he were elected in 1936 he would stop it, as he did before when he was president." Ain't it so, brother, ain't it so, and starve 75 million people to death in the meantime. And then just to show the American working class that he does not give a tinkers dam about them and their welfare he would put a flock of Japanese and Chinese to work on his California farm as he has in the past, while they walked the streets and highways looking for work. It sure would be nice to have Herbert back in the White House, it sure would.

The Texas Centennial commission of control have changed their mind about advertising the Centennial in Texas newspapers after the wrath of the Texas press was brought down on their heads, and a newspaper man was added as a member of the commission. Wallace Perry, editor of the El Paso Herald-Post is now a member of the commission and has made some wise suggestions to the commission about buying space in Texas papers for advertising the Centennial. The commission has decided to set aside $50,000 to be spent with Texas newspapers. This a wise decision.

When we pick up our Sunday daily paper and read the headlines, we get a kick out of what greeted our eyes. All of this "Soak the Rich Tax Plan" was reversed by the Senate Finance Committee and they "Soaked the PWA Workers" by recommending a tax plan compelling every single man that draws a yearly pay check of $800 pay an income tax. draw a statement from Secretary Wallace that he saw no excuse for "anxiety."

The forecast, which was hundreds of thousands of bales above Bankhead allotments and most private estimates, was accompanied also by an administration statement that "ample credit facilities" to market the crop would be made available to farmers.

To Maintain Prices
What these facilities would be was not made clear. In a formal statement, however, Wallace told the cotton trade that prices would be maintained. There was no mention of the amount of a possible loan on the 1935 crop, and in some quarters it was indicated that an effort would be made to delay fixing a loan price until late fall.

Several farm officials privately have declared they believe no loan should be made, but admitted that strong pressure was being brought to bear.

The first official estimate of this year's crop resulted in an immediate decline of $1.50 a bale on the New York market, while at New Orleans, the drop was $2.

Price Was Pegged
Last year's production was 9,636,000 bales, and the government authorized a 12-cent loan to peg the price. Because of carrying charges which have accumulated on the amount 5,000,000 bales pledged as security for the loans, however, officials said the price must reach 13 cents a pound before these loans can be liquidated.

Wallace's statement said if world consumption was maintained at present levels, foreign and domestic mills could be expected to require considerably more than 11,000,000 bales of American cotton.

No Cause For Anxiety
"The administration," said Wallace, "sees no cause for anxiety in the present crop estimate. There are ample resources available to carry the present stocks financed for an indefinite period."

He added that if, when the new crop begins to move in volume, there appears to be a tendency for prices to be depressed, the administration will not hesitate to offer "ample loans" that would immediately absorb excess supplies.

The Bankhead allotment for 1935 was 10,983,264 bales. The carry-over of American cotton on August 1 was estimated at from 8,500,000 to 9,000,000 bales.

The report said the condition of the crop on August 1 was 73.6 per cent of normal and that the indicated yield of lint cotton was 198.3 pounds per acre. Ginnings to August 1 of the 1935 crop were reported at 94,241 bales.

TO USE WORN OUT TIRES IS DANGEROUS ECONOMY

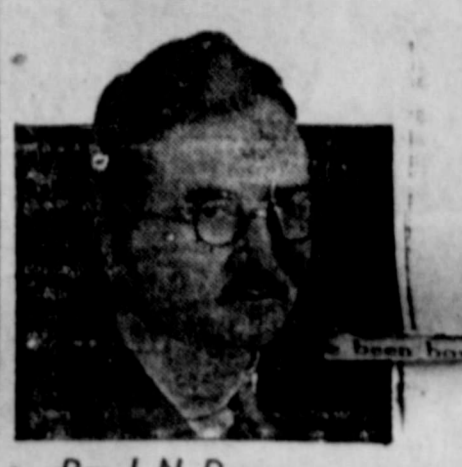

Driving on tires that have worn to a point where but a few frail cords separate the highway from the inner tube is dangerous economy. Saving the price of a new tire, or a complete new set of tires until one of them gives way completely is just another form of insanity. Only those who have suffered "blowouts" know the great danger on "counters" from that type of mishap, while graveyards all over the land hold motorists who got into them while trying to stretch a worn-out tire into a few more miles of usage. There is no excuse for taking a chance on worn tires: there is less excuse for forcing the family to do so.

Never before in the history of Lockney has it been possible to buy as good tires for as little money as now; never before were tires as well built as they are today. Human life may be held cheaply in some parts of the world, but around here it is entirely too valuable to risk for the sake of a few dollars that should be applied to the purchase of safe tires.

Blessed are the poor. They don't spoil their sons and then disinherit them for being spoiled.

Economy is said to be the road to success, but we know some citizens who think they can get there by climbing fences and cutting across lots.

The way of the United States Government against the master criminals of the nation has been made into a thrilling drama by James Cagney in the stellar role will open at the Isis theatre Saturday night prevue, Sunday matinee and Monday.

Those fearless secret service men whose exploits in rounding up the arch desperadoes of the country have been told in newspaper headlines for the past year are called "G Men," and "G-Men" is the title of the screen's first dramatization of their battles with public enemies.

The picture follows the career of one of these "G Men" from the time he joined the federal service through his training period, through machine gun battles with gangsters to a thrilling climax in which he finally tounds up, and exterminates, a gang of murderous kidnapers.

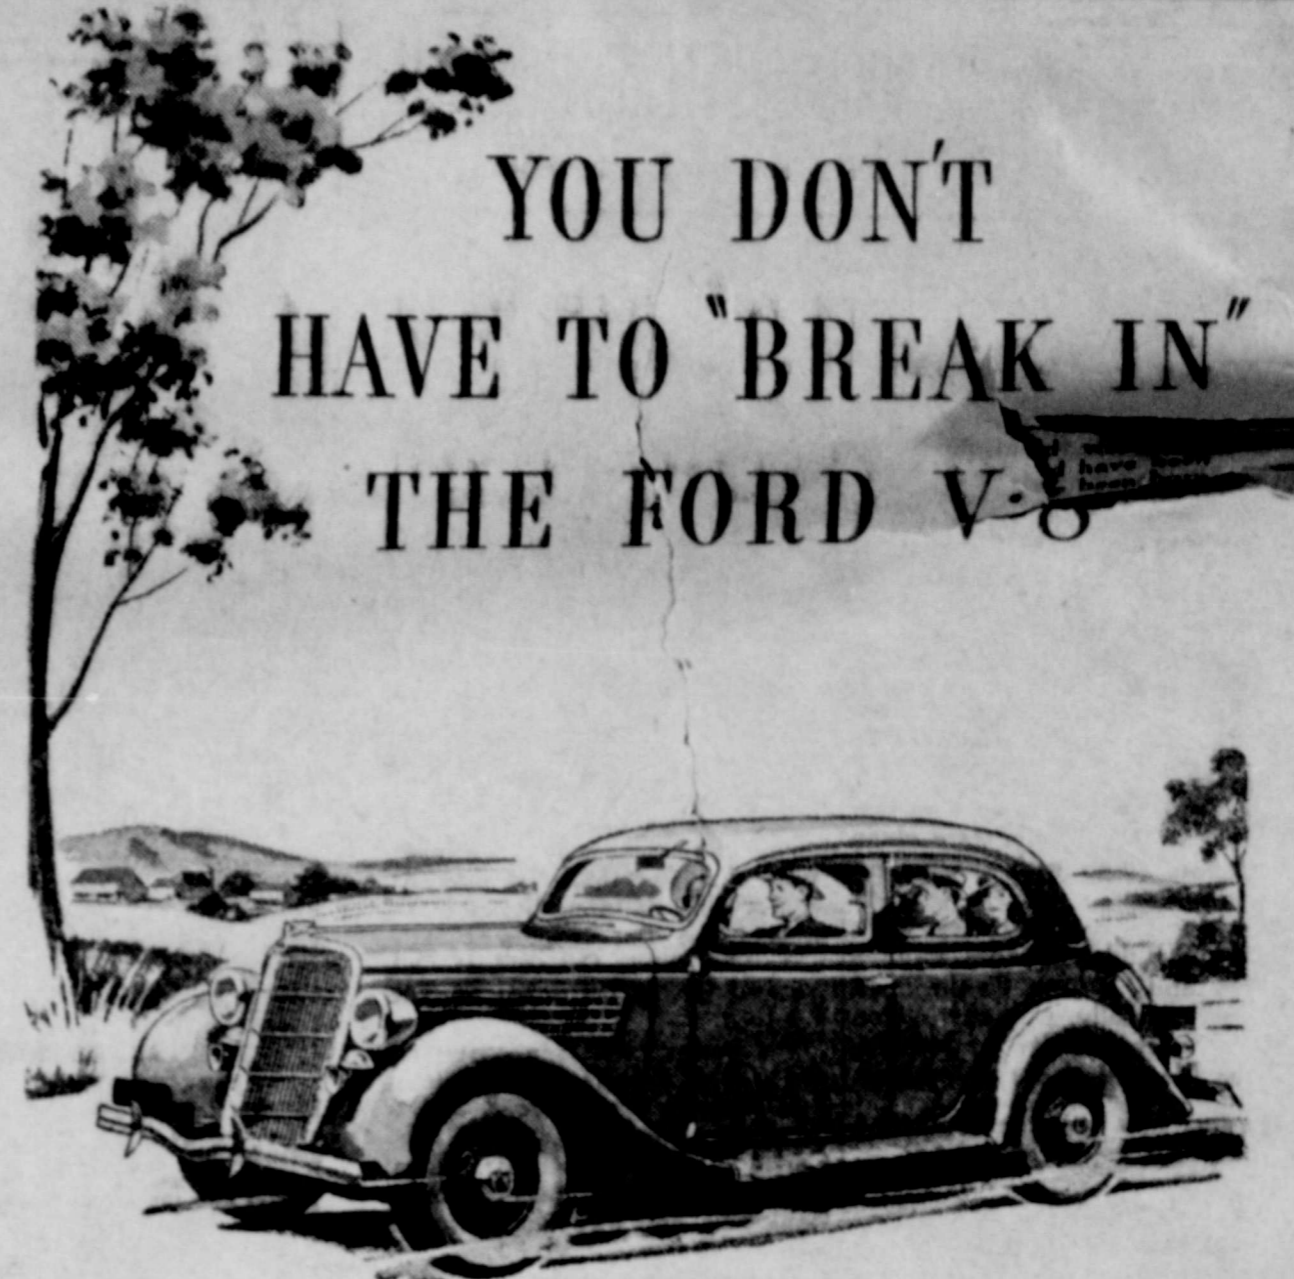

Cagney, heretofore Hollywood's most famous "bad man" who set the deadly trap for the mad dog of the mobs and brought the "Big Shot," whom no jail could hold, to an ignominious death.

LOSE FAT EASILY, SAFELY AND HARMLESSLY—take the half moonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—cut down on fatty meats, butter, cream and rich pastries—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks cost, but a trifle. Get it at Lockney Drug Co. or any drugstore in America. If this first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back. But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO "BREAK IN" THE FORD V-8

You can drive it 50 miles an hour the day you buy it

THE FORD V-8 is ready for normal driving when you buy it. There is no tedious period of breaking-in for 500 or 1000 miles. You can drive it up to 50 miles an hour the first day. And after the first hundred miles you can drive it as fast as you desire.

The reason for this is as important as the result. The Ford V-8 needs no breaking-in because of unusual accuracy in the manufacture of moving parts and the smoothness of bearing surfaces. Clearances are correct when you buy the car. It is not necessary to depend on a long wearing-in period to eliminate tightness and insure smooth, longer life.

That means greater motoring enjoyment for every motorist. It is especially important to motorists who are thinking about a new car for a vacation trip—to physicians, salesmen and all those who use a car for business. ARTICLE APPEARS IN PAPER OF OLDEST CITIZEN

A feature article recently appeared in the Rockdale, Tex., paper in Milan County recounting the life of Murdock McLeod, 94, who is the town's oldest citizen, the oldest Confederate veteran in the county, and the first man who bought a bill of groceries from the first grocery stock set up in Rockdale.

When he was twenty years of age the American Civil war began and he became a Confederate soldier. He began his service in Arkansas and his daring on three occasions led to his capture. Five times during his service he was wounded. After the war he settled on a farm in Milam County, married Miss Martha Chrisp and lived there until 1921 rearing a family of eight, five of whom are living. Mrs. McLeod died in 1928 and Mr. McLeod makes his home with his son, W. E. McLeod, of Rockdale.

Mr. McLeod is an uncle of Mrs. R. W. Bowen and a great uncle of Mrs. Lee Clark and Nolan Raney, all of Lockney.

They lailed a Toledo man who got chain-letter dimes so he evidently didn't get enough to put up for bail.

A breach of promise suit is generally a lump sum intended to make up for the free board that she lost.

Some Lockney people can laugh at troubles, but usually it's other people's troubles they laugh at.

No wonder the hard-up are easily fooled. Nobody can think clearly on an empty stomach.

The devil usually temps a man when he is loafing, despite the fact that a fellow can't be loafing when he's loafing.

Somebody has discovered that a little bit of... is good for rheu... but we suppose there are men around Lockney who think the cure is... ailment.

Private industry will eventually absorb the unemployed if the unemployed don't eventually absorb private industry.

Back in the good old days there was more horse-sense around Lockney than there is today, and yet in a lot of instances it was the horse that had it.

A woman is a person who thinks a bum looking coat is perfectly lovely because she likes the buttons.

Slowly but surely American citizens are learning that the best way to get anything is to work for it.

Another advantage in being married is that if you get into trouble you've always got somebody who can cry on the witness stand.

The way cars are built it's hard to tell whether the one that hits you is the one that's going.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bowen of Pecos N. M. are there visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Toon, her daughter, Miss Margaret Toon, and her granddaughter, Miss Doris Toon, all of Enlow, Tex., have been visiting Mrs. Toon's daughter, Mrs. H. B. Alexander. They left for Lubbock where they will be the guests of her granddaughters, Mrs. Collier Smith and Mrs. Alvie Smith.

Mrs. Stella McNeely of Floyd and little daughter, LaVern, spent Tuesday night and Wednesday day as guests of Mrs. McNeely's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Spivey.

Mrs. Haightcock of Walters, Okla., was here over the week-end as the guests of Mrs. Henry Hodel. Mrs. Haightcock will be remembered here as Miss Willie Merle Trapp who taught in the Lockney system.

Blessed are the poor. They don't spoil their sons and then disinherit them for being spoiled.
