

CHATTERGRAMS
BY JEANE SUITS

On the heels of the Plain's first northern, many a housewife was sent scurrying to the family trunk in the attic this morning in search of warmer clothing for husband and the kiddies.

While the kettle on the stove sings its song of mirthful harmony to a contented household the wind chants an incantation in a shrill whistle around the corner of the house. Winter has arrived and summer departed.

Cast aside your cares and woes and don an air of jollarity for the circus is coming to town Thursday Oct. 3 For the first time in five years natives can turn back the yellow pages of time by picking up the enthusiasm of their youth for the sawdust of the ring. The roar of the lions, stirring music of the brass buttoned band and callopes, and the aromatic cages on the vacant lot along side the big top all return to your memory after a bit of reminiscence stimulated by the announcement of a circus.

When you were a wee, wee tot you clung to the guiding hand of your parents for fear of getting lost in the crowd and attacked by the wild beasts. Feeding the elephant peanuts and polking at carnivorous animals in the cages were all incidents to relate while boasting to the neighborhood gang after the troupe had packed up and gone to the next town.

The jocund atmosphere so cleverly displayed by attendants in the rings has beguiled many a youth to hit the road with the company filled with anticipations and illusions concerning the realm of a trourer's life. Some return within a few months to their native homes completely satisfied with milking the cows on the farm and helping Pa pay the mortgage.

Others in their feet and a will of awdust in their soul, continue wandering over the world to be flushed about like seafoam on the ocean.

Those born of the ring have to heed a cry within that calls out for the ringing of applause as an appreciation of their stupendous performance. Applause to the arena actor is what a sheet is to Gandhi. They live out of a trunk hinged with faith, filled with love of the ring, and locked with tradition. The performer always thinks of his public's pleasure while we only consider the satisfaction of our friends.

After three years of irrigation articles written by the editor, constant prattle pro and con in the office and at home, and private lectures on the powers and processes involved in getting the water out of the ground and on the field. I am about to get a damp outlook on our dry situation. Every week we irrigate from 500 to 600 acres of wheat, cotton, and grain through the columns of the paper before we go to press. I received a good lecture a few days ago on the abilities of the Ramona Pump run by a V-8 truck motor. From all indications, it really gets the job done in a big way. Since the clouds have with held their moisture from this area for three years or more, it looks as if the farmer is going to have to use the underground stream or else die of starvation.

If you bet on Joe Louis Tuesday night you defied all principles of the old Southern custom; if you didn't, you're crazy!

$155,332.27 IN WHEAT CHECKS BEING DISTRIBUTED

1,368 Checks Being Distributed This Week. New Contract Blanks Not Received Yet

MORE CHECKS TO FOLLOW

Approximately 96 Contracts Yet To Be Approved. Amounting To Over $75,000.00

A H Kreis, Secretary, and J P A Blankenship, treasurer of the Floyd county Wheat Production Control Association, have been busy this week handing out 1,368 wheat checks to farmers of Floyd county representing the last payment on the 1934 contracts and the first payment on the 1935 contracts. These checks amount to the total of $155,332.27.

Approximately 96 contracts, representing something like $75,000 are yet to be approved at Washington. Just why this delay in approval is not known at the county office, but will more than likely arrive within the next few days.

New contract blanks have not been received by the County Board, but they are expected today.

When all wheat checks are distributed the total amount will be something near $230,332.00 for Floyd county. This should put new money in circulation, and should stimulate business to a certain extent.

On top of this distribution of money we have our fall crop that is almost ready to gather, while not as heavy as we would like for it to be, it will help and added to the wheat checks will make a pretty fair business condition.

OLIN RIDINGS HAS GOAD COTTON AND FEED CROP

Olin Ridings, who owns 800 acres of land 16 miles east of Lockney in the Cedar Hill community, and cultivates about 580 acres, has a good cotton and feed crop this year. Also his wheat turned out pretty good, making about 12 to 15 bushels per acre. He has 70 acres in cotton that will make at least a half bale to the acre. There are many acres of feed on the farm and it looks good.

This writer was out inspecting this farm Saturday morning. We found all hands busy planting wheat. 250 acres had been listed and relisted during the winter, ridges dragged down and plowed with a disc plow three times making a seed bed that should produce wheat in any man's country with a little moisture this winter. There was plenty of moisture present to bring wheat up, caused by recent rains in that community.

Another thing that caught our eye was about one hundred head of white face cattle grazing on this place. Mr. Ridings has 220 acres of grass, it is about half-acre high. This will run his livestock until wheat fields are ready to be grazed when they will be turned in and shut off of the pasture land. Also about 40 head of hogs were scattered over the place. The entire farm is fenced hog proof.

This is what we would call a diversified farm. Wheat, cotton, feed, cattle and hogs. Something to sell almost every month in the year.

Ambition and push are the prime motives for success.

Team A Came out Victorious In Scrimmage with Team B Friday Afternoon

Coach Dennmann will bring his Crosbyton squad over Friday afternoon for a football tussle with the Lockney Longhorns at 3:30 o'clock in the first game of the season on the field east of the City Auditorium.

Post, who is reported to have a strong team this season, had a hard fight with Crosbyton two weeks ago and only came out three points ahead. The Friday game is the only non-conference game to be played by Estel Longhorns except the one Oct. 4 line to take place the next day.

Travis was named head of the Floyd County schools at a meeting of the commissioners court. He is 29 years of age and was reared in Crosby County.

Travis was appointed until the date of next regular election in November, 1936, and the qualification of his successor. His successor will in turn be named to fill two year unexpired term of Nelson. A legislative ruling since the last general election set term of school superintendent at four years instead of the former two year term.

WHAT WE SEE IN THE PAPERS

We see in the papers where Col. Frank Knox, publisher of a Chicago newspaper, and who is regarded as a possible Republican presidential nominee, made a speech recently and proposed in that speech restricted imports of staple agricultural products and the establishment of an export bounty for American farmers as substitutes for the new deal's policy of restricting production to increase farm prices. What we can't get through our heads, would this plan be any better. A processing tax would have to be levied to pay the "export bounty" and that is what the Republicans are howling about now. This tax seems to be a thorn in their side, but as yet they have not submitted a plan to remove that thorn and at the same time give the farmer a fair price for his products. Of course you could not ask a foreign country to pay the "export bounty," they would perhaps look to other countries for their needs where there was no "export bounty" to be paid. Mr. Knox we don't believe your plan is any better than the New Deal policy. Sorry, try again.

Supporters of the late Huey Long are having fist fights down in Louisiana. James A. Noe landed a hay-maker on the jaw of

"BRAIN JEWELS" FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Remember The Folks Here In Our Town

We have no desire to but in where we have no business, but it appears to us that the thing for the people of this part of "Gods Footstool" to do is to look after the home folks first. The cotton picking season is with us. Already the Mexicans are coming in here from South Texas as thick as flies after a dead dog. They bring their cotton sacks and while charged against the New Deal would set the Republicans gapping harder than ever.

But Uncle Sam will not deal out money in such fashion. He is getting down to the most helpful plan for unemployment that the New Deal has suggested. That means, among other things, that only projects having "the long look" will probably be accepted. Scurry County, then, should be thankful for what she gets—and she should not be disappointed if many of her proposed projects are rejected.—Scurry County (Snyder) Times

There is no town or city, however large or small, in which there is not room for the modern business man endowed with more progressive ideas and a zealous civic spirit. Seagraves is no exception. The ambitious business men are equipped to carve a large niche for themselves, among competitors who hold to outmoded and non-progressive tactics. Such a person, whether a local citizen or an out-of-town man, may invest a conservative amount in really modern apartments here, and reap satisfactory returns. What has been good enough for Seagraves is not good enough for the progressive little city that she should be.—Gaines County (Seagraves) News.

A recent issue of the Ralls Banner come to us full of Lubbock ads. That is one of the best ways in the world to bring local advertisers to their senses. You may argue with them all you wish, but they'll have their heads until hell aint bigger that a chinch, but just put in a few "foreign" ads and then they'll acknowledge that even they read the ads they have contended people don't read. Then the local merchants actually begin to reason: "Well, if it pays the Lubbock guys to advertise in our darned old local paper, maybe it would pay me to advertise in the Ralls Banner. I'll try it." This is constitutionally sound. Federal constitutionally sound. It is the need of the times.
