Officers stopped us just before entering the City to inspect the car papers again and see if we cared to employ a guide. The electric railway is crossed at the edge of town, and after that one seems to be dodging street cars constantly. Traffic moves rapidly down narrow streets with a never ending blowing of horns. The most important accessory to the Mexicans car seems to be the horn. The pedestrian must be on lookout because the driver seldom alters his speed. He expects the horn to automatically clear the street for him. We were told that in spite of the speeding there are but few accidents. Cars are always clean and well polished in Mexico City, because the person who drives a dirty car must pay a fine. Considering the almost daily rains they have, this must be work or expense for the person who drives his car much. The streets in the downtown section are a great contrast to the narrow suburban streets. Many monuments have been erected in the streets. Their statue of Liberty is one of the most beautiful. A gold figure is on the top of each monument, and a taper burns at its base constantly. Each day a fresh wreath of flowers is placed by the taper.

One of the interesting sights in Mexico City is an ordinary street scene. Many of the Mexicans are fair and would pass for a citizen of the United States. These people are from the higher classes. Different classes may be seen down to the Indian and head carriers. The head carriers are those who carry their loads on their heads. When furniture or any heavy object is bought in Mexico City, it is delivered by head carriers rather than by truck. The heavier loads, which are held by a strap going over the head but rest more on the back, are often so heavy that it is hard to watch them without getting a headache.

Head carriers usually trot rather than walk when he is loaded. Baskets and urns are carried on the top of the head and rest on a little cushion. The head carriers are graceful in movement, but it seems that breakage in learning the art would be expensive. The streets are filled with beggars many of whom are crippled physically, or mentally. Those who aren't crippled often try to act deformed to gain sympathy. If you give to one beggar or buy something from one person on the street you are immediately surrounded by others. The English slang expression, "scram", discouraged one boy who followed us for some time begging. At night the beggars lie down in doorways or on the sidewalk to sleep. Some huddle together, and many have no cover or wraps. The insanity, deformity, and dirt of the beggar makes one think with longing of the small Texas town where everyone is healthy and whole. In contrast to this is the irresistible charm of the better class of Mexican, and the beautiful scenery and buildings.

We were besieged by people of all ages selling a variety of objects every time we walked down the street. A common sight early in the morning is people folding newspapers for sale on the sidewalk. Between the rows of newspapers an old woman who looks too clean sits by a small stove on the sidewalk selling coffee. People drink the coffee after one another from pottery mugs. Women sit on the sidewalk and sell cakes which are made and cooked on a small stove by them. The cakes look appetizing until the way they are made and cooked is noticed. Small boys selling flowers spot the foreigner with a cry of "Gardenias, fifteen centavos, lady." With a little hesitation from the customer, his price immediately drops to ten centavos, and with bargaining to five. Beautiful gardenia and orchid corsages may be bought for as little as five and ten cents in American money. It is best to have some small change, because the flower boys are sometimes known to have no change for a larger coin. After buying a cor-

Dixie Tavern Is Completely Demolished By Fire Friday Nite

Friday night at 3:00 o'clock a. m. the Dixie Tavern owned and operated by Zoel Watson was completely destroyed by fire caused by a gas explosion.

The tavern which was located north of the Lockney Poultry Co., on the corner had been in operation for three years and had just recently been increased in size.

At the time of the fire Zoel Watson and J. B. Pace were the only persons present. Mr. Watson was making connections on a natural gas stove thinking that the flame from a gasoline stove which was in operation caused the natural gas which was escaping to become ignited.

The loss was practically a total one. Only the cash drawer and a vault were taken from the burning building.

Mr. Watson has established a temporary cafe in the brick building just north of the Messner Garage. He plans to operate the cafe under the name of Dixie Tavern until a new building can be built on the former location.

Funeral Services Conducted For Infant

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cooper. The child was born Wednesday morning and lived only a few hours.

The services were conducted by the Rev. Herbert Hamilton, pastor of the Methodist Church, at the Cooper home.

REA Delegates To Appear Before Washington Committee This Week

Program Which Began In February To Soon Be Passed Upon

J. L. Suits Delegate To Resign

Farmers of The County Give Financial Aid In Order To Further The Program

In the meeting last February the farmers of this county organized the first steps that were necessary if lights and electricity were to be brought to their farm homes. Later the county organized committees to go among the farmers and propogate information and build enthusiasm which was so essential to a Rural Electrification Project in this county. It was with the aid of the County Agent, A. F. Bredhauer, and the county REA committee that maps of the county were made and farmers signed voluntarily applications for such a project.

When the map was completed with the 800 signers listed in their respective locations in the county and the individual uses for electric power, it was sent to engineers who went over the proposition and emerged with the statement that this was the largest of all REA Projects suggested in the entire state.

J. L. Suits, Publisher of the Beacon was officially elected from Floyd County to appear before the REA Committee at Washington, D. C. and present and forward information regarding the largest Rural Electrification Project in the entire State of Texas.

The project called for $1,600,000 loan appropriation which would cover an area extending from the western part of Floyd County south and east of Floydada to Dougherty with a proposed route of 200 miles of three phase lines.

The newspapers of the county aided the committee in urging their financial support and the movement was met and the project was again well on its way to reality.

This week the project is to come up before the Rural Electrification Committee for approval, and with this in mind the farmers of the county delegated J. L. Suits, publisher of the Beacon, to represent them in an effort to forward information on irrigation and agriculture as a whole to this committee. Mr. Suits left Sunday for Washington equipped with the statistics and necessary details to 3,000,000 Bushels Of Wheat Shipped From Floyd Co.

Ninety-five Per Cent of Harvest Completed: Fifty Per Cent at Cereal

Peak Reached

Added Labor Brought Into The County To Assist In Combining And Hauling

A check-up Thursday morning of the wheat shipped from Floyd County indicated that eighty per cent of the crop had been cut totaling 3,000,000 bushels with combines cutting and trucks hauling wheat to the elevators day and night.

To enable farmers to get their wheat cut and hauled additional labor, combines and trucks were imported into the county and the possible peak of the 1937 wheat harvest was reached last weekend.

In the southern part of the county the huge dry land crop harvesting is reported retarding with crops estimated here at 95 per cent cut.

In the Cereal Community harvesting is fifty per cent completed and the elevator reported reaching their peak this week.

The Sterley Community reports sixty-five per cent of their crop cut while the South Plains area report eighty per cent.

By the second week in July the harvesting in the county will be completed at the rate the wheat is moving now.

About 1940 cars were shipped over the railroads thus far and it is estimated that the Floyd County crop will total 3,000,000 bushels.

The weather conditions have facilitated speed with the sunshine, cool nights, no rain and added labor. The railroads have employed extra crews and employed more clerks.

The majority of the dry land wheat has been cut and the irrigated wheat is now being combined. In some instances the averages are averaging the first estimates. Irrigated averages are averaging 35 bushels and some small plots are averaging 50 bushels, while dry land averages averages from 12 to 20.

In the area where hail did considerable damage wheat is averaging eight and nine bushels per acre.

The carload estimates include the three Lockney elevators, Sterley, South Plains, Aiken, Cereal, Barmise, Floydada, Boothe, Dougherty, Muncy.

Much of the wheat which was being held for higher prices was sold this week when the market showed an increase. All the wheat is averaging tests around 60.

Floydada Cannery Opens This Week

The Floydada Cannery which is located in the rear of the building now occupied by the WPA Sewing Room in Floydada, opened this week to the public.

This cannery is sponsored by the Floydada city council for the benefit of families who have food they want to preserve on the custom basis.

The toll where the cannery furnishes the cans and labor is 60 per cent. Where the producer furnishes the cans it is only 50 per cent.

And where the producer furnishes all the cans and does the work and furnishes own products only 10 per cent goes to the cannery.

In case the producer furnishes products labor and the cannery furnishes the cans forty per cent goes to the cannery.

Lee Floyd of Brownfield is here this week visiting his brother, Dr. J. M. Floyd.

Methodist Revival To Begin July 11th.

Rev. C. R. Hooton, Pastor of The Plainview Methodist Church, To Do Preaching

Sunday July 11 the Lockney Methodist Church will open a two weeks revival meeting with the Rev. C. R. Hooton of Plainview preaching the morning and evening services.

This will be the church's annual meeting and plans have not been completed. The time for the two daily services and the directors of the various departments will be set at the meeting of the Board of Stewards Monday night.

The Rev. Hooton has been acclaimed one of the leading preachers of Southern Methodism. He has been pastor of the Plainview Methodist Church for the past three years coming to that city from Stamford where he had a very fruitful pastorate.

The Rev. Hamilton, pastor of the Lockney Methodist Church will have charge of the young peoples services which will be conducted each evening preceding the evening preaching.

As yet a song leader has not been selected.

Former Lockneyer Fatally Injured In Car Truck Collision At San Angelo.

Dr. S. C. Ross Met Death In Car Truck Collision At San Angelo.

Dr. Sam C. Ross, veterinarian, was fatally injured Monday night when a high wind swerved his car into a truck driven by Frank Wilson of Menard on the Eden-San Angelo highway at about 10:30 o'clock.

Dr. Ross is a former resident of Lockney he left here in 1917 going to Plainview where he has practiced. He had served the city of Plainview as sanitary officer for the past fourteen years. He was connected with the Lockney Drive Company coming here in 1913.

Mrs. Arthur Barton is a sister-in-law of the deceased. He is survived by a son, James, and a daughter, Bette Samette, his mother and three sisters of Flo-mot.

A number from here attended the funeral services which were conducted Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock at Plainview.

He left Sunday for a two day trip to Austin.

Visit Davis'

Matt and Christel Champion of Amarillo are here this week visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Davis.

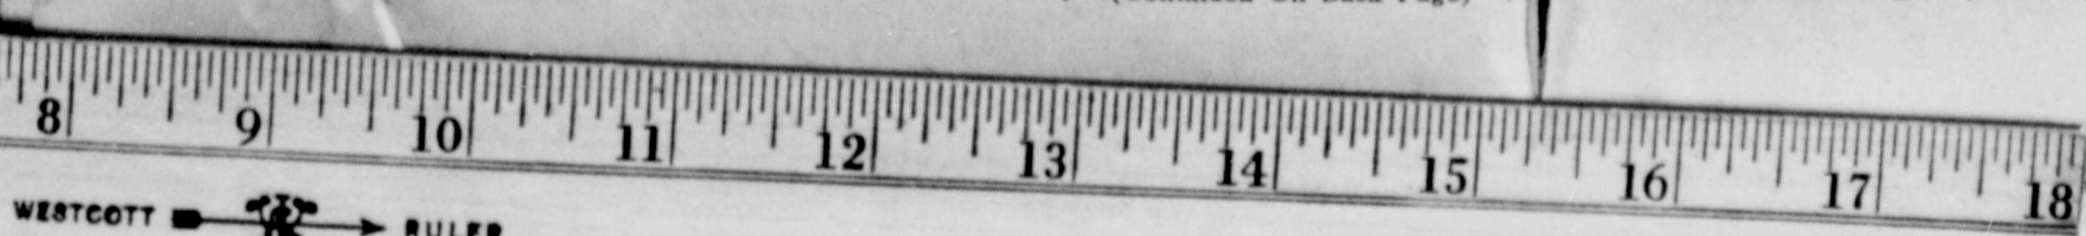

Miss Mattie Wave Grammar, Spanish and Commercial teacher in the Lockney high school, spent the week here as the guest of Miss Harriet Dickenson.

$10,000 DELINQUENT TAXES PAID

The fact that the farmers of Floyd County are harvesting the largest wheat crop in the history of the county has had no slight affect on the payment of delinquent taxes.

Frank L. Moore, county tax collector and assessor stated Wednesday afternoon that at that time $10,000 in delinquent taxes had already been paid.

One farmer had paid the sum of $6,000 and the county office is looking forward to the payment of most of the back taxes.

WINFRED NEWSOM -- ZOIE ODOM WED

Miss Zoie Odom, teacher for the past year in the South Plains school and Winfred Newsom, Floyd County attorney were married Wednesday morning at the home of Miss Odom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Odom, Lubbock. The ring ceremony was read by Dr. W. F. Fry, head of the Texas Technological Bible department.

Winfred Newsome is serving his second term as county attorney. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Newsome, pioneer residents of Floydada.

The house was decorated with shasta daisies, asters and roses. The bride wore a Lake Louise chaffon dress with matching lace redingote. Her hat was of velvet trimmed, blue horsehair braided. She wore British tan accessories, pink briarcliff roses and a carol lavalliere which was her father's wedding gift to her mother.

A two-tiered wedding cake was cut and served with fruit punch after the ceremony. The dining table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with the cake. Lighted tapers in amber holders decorated the buffet and each corner of the table.

The couple left for a short wedding tour of New Mexico and Colorado. The brides traveling suit was of navy trimmed, natural linen and navy accessories. After July 5 they will be at home at Floydada.

Mrs. Newsome is a graduate of Crosbyton High school and former student of McMurry, West Texas State Teachers' and Texas Technological colleges. At McMurry she was a member of Sigma Kappa Lambda Literary society, Thespian, Press and Scribbles clubs and the W. A. W. G. Drum corps in addition to being by student vote "the most interesting co-ed" and editor of "War Whoop," weekly college publication.

Mr. Newsom is a graduate of Floydada High school and is graduate with B. A. and B. S. degrees from the University of Texas where he was a member of the Senate Law Society.

Much is being said of late by the office holders and office seekers of a law giving candidates "bribery relief." Though the proposed bill is for the office seeker, it is really aimed at the organizations and people who force candidates to contribute through box suppers, funds etc. This type of law is onerous. It really helps the candidates. Bribes in this form are the only concrete aid that voters get from a candidate. If this law should embody a clause forcing the candidates to keep the promises made in campaign speeches at box suppers the matter would be different.

Labor strikes do not gain a hold in Texas because we don't entertain such things. During the harvesting of our enormous wheat crop we have noticed that in neighboring counties labor strikes were nipped in the bud. This year the laborer in the harvest fields came nearer to getting his just due. We are glad to say that in Floyd County no acute labor situation developed. We had very few dissatisfied workers and these kickers were the ones who would not work.

Wouldn't it be fine if the dueling clause which the legislature is trying to eliminate from the state oath of office should pertain to verbal dueling as well as the other variety.

We can be proud of the fact that we live "way out West where Neighborly Example Rarely does the United States have such a chance to exemplify its vouted "good neighbor policy as it had in the trouble which brewed over Mexico's objection to an exhibit in the Pan American exposition at Dallas.

It was understood that President Lazaro Cardenas sent his Mexican delegation to Dallas with orders not to participate in the exposition unless exhibits showing Mexico's defeat in the war with Texas were withdrawn. Here was one of those cases in which both sides had good arguments, but it is to Texas' credit that the objectionable displays were modified to Mexico's satisfaction. Hines, Administrator of the Veterans Administration, to make a general study of the need for additional Veterans Hospital facilities. The West Texas-Panhandle section is one of two areas in the United States designated by the Administrator to be given particular consideration.

As originally appointed, the Special Committee consisted of Dr. Thomas Parran, Jr., Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service and Chairman of the Special Committee. General George H. Wood, Special Representative of the Administrator on National Homes for Veterans, and Colonel George E. Ijams, Assistant Administrator of the Veterans Administration, but Dr. Parran was unable to serve. Rear Admiral P. S. soon as the Committee is completed, open hearings will be held to consider the need for new Hospitals.

Mahon stated that he expected to appear before the Committee and urge favorable recommendations for the West Texas Hospital. He has a bill pending in this Congress which authorizes an appropriation for a Hospital to be located in the Fifth American Legion District comprising all of West Texas. Bills with more limited restrictions as to location have been introduced by Congressman Ewing Thomason of El Paso, and Congressman Clyde Garrett of Eastland.

Mahon pointed out the necessity for cooperation of all West Texas areas in the effort to secure a favorable recommendation from the Veterans Administration at this time. He stated that competition between individual cities could easily detract from the weight of the Veterans Hospital for all West Texas. He stated the appointment of the Special Committee with designation of West Texas for special consideration definite encouragement had heretofore been given the Veterans Administration.

COTTON GROWERS DUE REFUND FOR TAX CERTIFICATES

WASHINGTON, June 28—The United States court of appeals held today that 100,000 cotton producers were entitled to more than $3,500,000 in refunds for cotton tax exemption certificates they bought under the repealed Bankhead act.

The court said the cotton farmers were coerced to buy the certificates under threat of a confiscatory tax.

The Bankhead act was repealed after the Supreme Court invalidated its basic principles in holding the Agricultural Adjustment Act unconstitutional.

The court of appeals ruled on suits brought by two Alabama and two Mississippi cotton planters against Ernest L. Deal, manager of the National Surplus Tax Exemption Pool; Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, W. A. Julian, Secretary of the United States, and Comptroller Payne and Administrator Davis of the defunct AAA.

The Bankhead act was passed by Congress to place the cotton industry on a sound commercial basis, to prevent unfair competition and practices in putting cotton into the channels of interstate and foreign commerce, to provide funds for paying additional benefits under Agricultural Adjustment Act and for other purposes.

The act was limited to the crop year 1934-1935 and fixed the quota that year at $10,000,000 bales, imposing a $25 per bale tax on all cotton produced in excess of the allotment.

Provision was made for the issuance of tax exemption certificates to farmers for the amount of their allotment. In case they did not use all their exemption certificates, they were empowered to deposit them in a tax exemption certificate pool, from which they must be purchased by other growers who raised cotton in excess of their allotment. Thus the excess production tax of $25 a bale could be avoided. However, the price charged by the pool for exemption certificates was $20 a bale.

It was to recover money paid into the pool by growers who had exceeded their allotment for exemption certificates that the present suit was brought.

A Bank's First Duty

A bank's first duty to its depositors is not just simply a slogan. It rests in the fact that most of its customers are depositors who do not borrow; in fact less than 15% borrow at all.

It is obvious that the banker must give his first thought to the 85% who bring their funds to him in confidence, ask only that he safe guard them. Therefore, a bank must manage its money in a way to meet the withdrawals, which are usually with out notice.

In order to be safe for its depositors and to continue its operations, a bank must be conducted on a profitable basis. This means that a good portion of its funds must be invested to earn interest by extending credit to individuals and firms who use it to advantage and who can conduct their financial affairs in such a way as to permit its extension.

In order to function properly a commercial bank should supply temporary financial needs, only, to persons or firms and should not undertake to furnish permanent capital.

No bank is under legal obligations to accept any business offered, but banks are morally obligated to serve their customers according to their worth, their character and quality of their business keeping in mind at all times, that their first duty is to the ones who have brought their funds to them for safe keeping. Many times this represents the savings of a life time.

2nd Half Split Tax
Payments Were Due
Wednesday, June 30.

The second half of the county split tax payments were due Wednesday June 30 and according to Frank L. Moore, county tax collector and assessor, the majority had been paid by Wednesday noon. The final check-up had not been made Thursday.

The 1936 taxes could be paid in split payments the first payment was due in November and the second in June. Those taxes not paid will draw an 8 per cent penalty and 6 per cent interest.

Delinquent 1936 taxes at the present time are drawing 5 per cent interest, but if not paid by July 1, 1937, they will automatically draw 8 per cent penalty and 6 per cent interest after that date. Mr Moore said.

Delinquent taxes for the year 1935 and all prior years now are assessed 8 per cent penalty and are drawing 6 per cent interest, he said.

age, they immediately find some one who is selling corsage pins.

Leather goods and all kinds of curios are sold on the street. Some salesmen try to attract your attention by saying, "You have bought nothing from me". The shops are usually very small and in some cases accommodate only two or three people at a time. Shopping in Mexico City is very exciting. In most of the shops there is someone who speaks English. Prices are high for the tourist, but they can be bargained with. One American resident of Mexico City said to never buy from a Mexican until he cut his price three times. It is a good idea to count the change after buying an article because mistakes in making change is easy for some. We saw only one drug store and no grocery stores while we were there. The markets take the place of the grocery stores, and they don't seem to care so much for soft drinks. A visit to the markets is interesting. The food is displayed on the streets among a seething mass of people.

Flower markets are operated in the same way. All shops close promptly at one o'clock for siesta and open at three-thirty. The only time I saw a Mexican rush was to close his shop for siesta.

75 Gallons of Hopper Poison Distributed Daily in County

Heaviest Infestation is Noticed in The Northeastern Part of The County

Seventy-five gallons of grasshopper poison per day has been distributed from the county agriculture office this week in an effort to ward off the possible destruction of row crops in this area.

The northeast part of Floyd County has concentrated upon a drive to end that deadly menace in that area where the insects seem to have had their start.

In other sections of the Panhandle the situation is becoming serious and farmers are warned to fight grasshoppers in the early stage before row crops are completely wiped out.

The tiny insects are now showing wings and will move over a larger area. The farmer has not met up with this pest and are warned to keep a close watch over their crops especially rows and turn rows which are reported to be the first mainstay with the insects.

The County agent, D. F. Bredthauer, asks farmers making application to bring containers when they come to the office for poison. Early in the morning he has set in farmers areas with the poison.

"Defying The Law"

Texas Jack, last of the frontier outlaws, will appear in person on the stage of the Isis Theater Lockney, Texas

Now paroled and reformed Texas Jack (Nathaniel Reed) comes to this city as the headliner of the "Defying the Law" stage and screen road-show which also features the 101 Ranch Wranglers, including Slim Sullie and his Boys of the Golden West.

Recalling his friendship with Jesse James, the Dalton and other old-time desperadoes, Texas Jack will tell the authentic story of the famous Black Train Robbery, in which he figured historically.

Playing and singing the popular cowboy ballads and rancher tunes, the 101 Ranch Wranglers have won radio fame and warblers.

Featured in the "Defying the Law" stage show is Pete the Movie Dog who offers an impersonation of Bill Robinson doing his famous staircase dance.

The screen attraction is "Defying the Law", a new epic of the Old West. Set in the colorful days of Buffalo Bill (whom Texas Jack knew intimately), Calamity Jane, and Wild Bill Hickok, the picture tells the true story of the frontier G-men and their relentless battle to free the country of the outlaw menace.

Mr. and Mrs. Harve Vanlandingham and children were in Lockney the first of the week visiting Mrs. Vanlandingham's uncle, J. D. Huggins. They were enroute to their home in Maple, Texas.

Soil Conservation Continuance Bill Signed By F. D. R

WASHINGTON, June 29—President Roosevelt signed Tuesday a bill providing for continuation of the present soil conservation program until 1942.

Under the law, the agriculture department is authorized to pay benefits to farmers who follow approved soil-conserving practices. Congress Monday completed action on a bill appropriating $500,000,000 for such payments in 1938.

Representative Jones (D-Tex.), author of the new act, said failure of the states to set up programs prompted the bill signed Tuesday.

WHEAT LOANS MADE AT FRANK PERKINS OFFICE

Applications For Loans For Summer Fallowing and Seed Wheat

Applications for summer fallowing and seed wheat loans are now available through the Emergency Crop Loan section of the Farm Credit administration.

These loans have been made to farmers of this area for a number of years and the regulations vary little from those of previous years. Frank Perkins office will take applications as they have done for several years. It is necessary to have a first lein on entire crop and no loan to be made for more than actually need for preparing of land and for seed wheat. The loan limit is $400.00 for the year 1937 for all loans. If a borrower has secured a loan for row crop he can borrow the difference between the amount of his row crop and the loan limit, provided he has suitable acreage, officials say.

Clyde Milam, field supervisor for this territory, will be at Perkins office each day of the week for the convenience of borrowers wishing to discuss the loan program or pay their loans.
