BOMBING CORRIDOR being used by Strategic Air Command planes in "electronic bombing" exercises for the next three months is a 10-mile-wide strip that starts at Elkhart, Kan., and ends at Eunice, N.M., passing directly over Dimmitt area.

Young Debaters To Compete Here

More than 200 student debaters and speakers from 12 schools will compete here Saturday in Dimmitt High School's first invitational speech tournament.

THE TOURNEY will begin with preliminaries at 9 a.m. in DHS classrooms. Finals will begin at 1 p.m., climaxed by an awards assembly at 5 p.m.

Events will include debate, prose reading, poetry reading, informative speaking and persuasive speaking.

Individual winners will receive trophies, and the school with the most aggregate points will win a large sweepstakes trophy. Certificates will be awarded to second and third-place winners in each category.

SCHOOLS sending speakers to the tournament are Amarillo High, Palo Duro of Amarillo, Andrews, Muleshoe, Snyder, Hereford, Friona, Spearman, Meadow Floydada and Bovina.

Bob Farrer DHS speech and dramatics teacher, is in charge of the tournament. His student co-chairmen are Debbie Musick and Debbie Vaughan.

"We're conducting this tournament to promote debate and other forensic activities in this area, and to prove the popularity of these events," Farrer said. "Some of the top-notch students in the state will be competing in our tournament."

THIS WILL be the third of five tournaments this year for DHS speech students. They competed at Friona three weeks ago, at Hereford last week, and will enter speech tourneys in Kermit and at Texas Tech later this year.

Some of the area daily newspapers were highly pleased by the fine relationship displayed so far between the new governor, Preston Smith, and the recently convened legislature. Reason for the expressions of admiration was the speed with which the legislature passed the first piece of legislation proposed by the governor. Big deal, it was an emergency measure to supply money for the legislators expenses, as well as to temporarily finance some set state expenses.

If you are interested in the possible actions of this session of the state legislature, and possibly the administration of the new governor, you might feel that there is some indication by occurrences to date. The new Lieutenant Governor, Ben Barnes, who has been the fair-haired boy of the establishment for the past few years, slapped Texas Democrats in the face when he appointed Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo as chairman of one of the most important committees of the senate.

It would be my guess that from the indications so far, as revealed by the current session of the legislature, the big lobbies will continue to call the shots in state government favoring the big corporations and special interest groups, while placing more of the burden of financing the state government on the low and middle income group by increasing the sales tax, both in percentage and base. We shall see what we shall see, but chances are it won't look good.

Have Wheels But No License, Kid? Could Be Trouble

Unlicensed young drivers, besides taking an unfair advantage of their fellow motorists, are running the risk of having themselves and their parents ticketed, Police Chief W. W. Jones warned this week.

"TOO MANY boys and girls are driving without driver's licenses, which is strictly against the law," Jones said.

One reason the state requires a driver to have a license, he explained, is "to prove to the other citizens using our streets that you have passed an examination proving that you know the traffic laws and are capable of driving an automobile in a safe and lawful manner."

To parents, he said, "If you let your child drive a car without a driver's license you are not only breaking the law, but you are making it very hard for parents who are trying to obey the laws. If your child drives without a license, then other boys and girls throw it up to their parents that they should also be allowed to drive. And believe me, it is hard to say no to them."

JONES NOTED that "it is unlawful to operate a vehicle on the public streets, roadways or highways without having a valid driver's license with you, and it is unlawful to ALLOW an unlicensed person to operate your motor vehicle."

He added, "Under the rule of law, those who abide by the law should have protection equal to that of those who break it."

It would be my guess that from the indications so far, as revealed by the current session of the legislature, the big lobbies will continue to call the shots in state government favoring the big corporations and special interest groups, while placing more of the burden of financing the state government on the low and middle income group by increasing the sales tax, both in percentage and base. Traveler Praises City Employees For Giving Aid

A Dimmitt policeman and fireman drew praise this week from a Sherman business man who needed assistance last Thursday morning.

ROY JERRELL of Waldo Funeral Home in Sherman gave this account of "good Samaritanism" by Patrolman Bill Stephens and Fire Marshal Guy Waldrop in a letter to Mayor George Bradford: "I just wanted to praise two of your fine city officials. They are a credit to your city."

"I stopped (in Dimmitt) about 2 o'clock on Thursday morning... I was passing through your city with a body, and had understood there was a 24-hour service station there, but found it closed. These two men gave of their assistance very graciously. They were kind, thoughtful and helpful. I HOPE you will convey our appreciation along to them. They would not take any financial aid, saying 'this was their duty.' You can be proud of these two men. I deeply appreciate them."

Hart Man Helping Place Miracle Grain on Market

Sam McGill of Hart is helping place the "salvation grain" on the world market.

HE'S THE executive vice-president of the newly formed corporation that will market Triticale, the new man-made grain billed by scientists as the solution to world hunger.

The corporation, known as International Commodities Corp., will begin this spring marketing the amazing new grain throughout the world.

ICC is headquartered at 401 N. Mirror St., Amarillo. Other officers of the seed distributing firm are M. J. Smothers of Amarillo, president; Roy Fur Sr. of Lubbock, chairman of the board; Neal Allen of Amarillo, secretary; and Wilbur E. Swenson Sr. of Amarillo, treasurer and vice-chairman of the board.

Officers of the corporation announced Friday that the Triticale seed will be marketed under the trade name of FasGro. A limited amount of the seed will be placed on the world market by June, and a much larger volume of seed will be available in October, Smothers said.

Triticale, an exceptionally large-winkled grain, is amazing in several ways — in its evolution, its characteristics, its yield, its growing season and its food value.

The scientific breakthrough that produced Triticale was made by Dr. B. Charles Jenkins, president and director of research for the Jenkins Foundation For Research in Salinas, Calif. Dr. Jenkins spent more than 15 years in research, plant breeding, plant selection and crossbreeding of many varieties of wheat and rye to bring about Triticale.

SOME OF the spring varieties of Triticale, as developed by Dr. Jenkins, are now growing in their seventh generation in California and have consistently produced yields of more than 100 bushels per acre, with only 120 days between planting and harvesting. The new grain, which produces a head five to 12 inches long, has consistently yielded 50 percent more grain per acre than wheat or barley in the same test plots.

Winter varieties of the grain show promise of exceeding this production figure, Dr. Jenkins reported. (See HART MAN, Page 14)

'Action' Board Fights Back

CYRIL BROCKMAN, 32-YEAR-OLD NAZARETH FARMER... Named "Outstanding Conservation Farmer of 1968"

Brockman Is Top Conservationist

Cyril Brockman, 32-year-old Nazareth farmer, has been named the "Outstanding Conservation Farmer of the Year" by the Running Water Soil and Water Conservation District.

HE WON the honor because of his extensive conservation practices under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Brockman, who lives three miles south of Nazareth, entered the half section where he lives in the GPC program in 1967. To conserve his irrigation water, he has installed 2,397 ft. of underground pipeline. To make the best conservation use of his sloping land, he has planted 23.4 acres in grass, and grazes cattle on it. He has just completed a tailwalk pit on the land, also.

Brockman has just placed an additional half section under agreement in the GPC program, and has completed another program on 206 acres, with 64 acres of it in pasture land.

"HE DOES an excellent job at managing native range land, and is a leader in recovering lake water and getting the most use of his irrigation water," said David Springer, work unit conservationist with the local district.

Brockman farms 690 acres in three locations, all rented from his mother, Mrs. Agnes Brockman. Conservation is a Brockman family tradition. Cyril's brother, Jerome, was the Outstanding Conservation Farmer in 1966; the two men's father was also noted for his conservation practices; and their uncle, Ernest Brockman, is a director of the Running Water District.

"THE NAME Brockman is synonymous with conservation around Nazareth," Springer said.

A 1954 graduate of Nazareth High School, Brockman started his own farming operation only seven years ago, but set a fast pace from the start.

He was inducted into the Army shortly after his high school graduation, and after his release from active duty in 1957 he attended radio-TV school. He was a transmitter engineer for two stations in Corpus Christi before coming home to launch his farming career.

BROCKMAN is a member of the Holy Family Church, has been a member of the Knights of Columbus 14 years, the Nazareth PTA three years, the Dimmitt Young Farmers two years, is a member of the Catholic Order of Foresters, is a past director of the Castro County Farm Bureau, and is a cooperator in the Running Water District.

He and his wife, the former Mitzi Conrad, have five children — Tony, 9, Cyrilla, 8, Perry, 6, Peirce 5 and Lance 2.

Directors of the Castro County Community Action Agency, accused of losing the War on Poverty along eight local fronts, are regrouping in an effort to keep the program alive here.

TUESDAY night, directors held their second strategy meeting within a week in an attempt to counter or correct deficiencies charged by a federal evaluation team that surveyed the county recently.

Fred D. Baldwin, regional administrator of the Community Action Program, warned the agency's 24-member board earlier this month that the local program is being funded only through March 31 and might be dropped at that time.

IN HIS letter to the local board, Baldwin charged that the county's Community Action Agency "has been unable and apparently unwilling" to:

1. "Be an effective advocate of the poor, confronting the issues facing the poor in relation to welfare and job training programs;
2. "Organize low-income residents into viable neighborhood organizations;
3. "Inform low-income residents of available services;
4. "Train its staff in their job responsibilities;
5. "Involve the poor in the planning, development and conduct of the program;
6. "Develop board interest in the affairs and direction of the program;
7. "Seek regional office advice or support concerning major problem areas;
8. "Initiate programs that might run the risk of causing concern among the dominant economic group."

THE CHARGES seemed to be aimed equally at the local agency's full-time administrative staff and the 24-member CAP board that sets priorities and orders programs initiated here.

The board is made up of seven public officials, six concerned citizens and 11 representatives of the poor.

The Castro County agency is one of only 55 in the state, according to Frank Latimer, executive secretary of the agency.

DIRECTORS of the Community Action Program have voted unanimously to fight the charges, claiming that the charges are only partially correct.

At the same time, the local board decided it has two alternatives: (1) respond to the eight charges with statements on what course of action will be followed in the future by the local agency, or (2) request that the (See 'ACTION' BOARD, Page 14)

DR. J. D. BLACKBURN (RIGHT) ACCEPTS AWARD... From Bobby Murdock, chairman of Jaycee program

Young Physician Wins Civic Title

Dr. J. D. Blackburn, who in 1967 became the youngest man ever to serve as president of the Castro County Chamber of Commerce, was named by the Dimmitt Jaycees last Thursday night as the Distinguished Service Award winner for 1968.

THE JAYCEES present the award annually to the young man 21 to 36 who has compiled the top record of community service during the year.

Dr. Blackburn, 35, was announced as the winner at the Jaycees' annual Besses Night and Awards Banquet. He was presented an award plaque by Bobby Murdock, chairman of the DSA program.

The independent committee appointed by the Jaycees to select the award winner noted that Dr. Blackburn had made the Chamber of Commerce a vital force for community and industrial development during his 1½ years as president.

HE HAD been a chamber director only six months when he was elected at 33, to fill the unexpired term of Don Newman, who resigned to take a mission with the Agency for International Development in Vietnam.

Dr. Blackburn posted a major victory early in his presidential term when he led the successful fight for passage of a $100,000 bond election to enlarge the Dimmitt Municipal Airport.

As chairman of the chamber's airport committee, he had already put in three years of groundwork on the project. He turned the reins of this committee over to fellow pilot James Bradford and worked to get the press and other organizations behind the (See CIVIC LEADER, Page 14)

Prior to the 3 p.m. business meeting, Donald Jay, president of the Texas High School Coaches Association, will speak to the entire group.

DURING the afternoon business meeting, nominations will be made for the August all-star games and coaching school.

Three Are Hurt In Knife Fight

A Hart farm worker was arrested Sunday night in connection with a knife incident that left three Kress men wounded.

SHERIFF'S officers arrested John Ellis, 25, following a knife fight that took place at a dance at the old Catholic Church building in Hart at 11 p.m. Sunday.

Ellis was booked for aggravated assault and is now in county jail.

Injured in the fracas were Macdonia Fierro, about 57, who is reported in serious condition with a deep cut on his head; his son, Richard Fierro, 15, who received a facial cut; and Bobby Huerta, 17, who was cut on the arm. All three are from Kress.

OFFICERS said Fierro's daughter was hit on the head and kicked during the fight, also.

Officers arrested Ellis 15 minutes after the fight, at his home eight miles northwest of Hart.

Nine or 10 people witnessed the incident, officers said.

School Census Nears Finish

Friday is the last day Castro County's schools have to enumerate school-age children for next year, and you may be able to help make their lists more complete.

IF YOU know of any youngster who will be 6 through 17 as of Sept. 1, 1969 — especially if he isn't in school now — you should notify Welden Skinner at North Grade School in Dimmitt, Supt. John Slavik at Nazareth High School or Supt. Ted Averitt at Hart High School.

The school census lists are supposed to include all school-age youngsters for next year, whether they're married or single, mentally or physically handicapped, in or out of school.

Distribution of state education funds to the three school districts next year will be based partially on the school census figures.

Bible Thoughts

FAITH IN CHRIST
By Ronnie Parker

The Bible forcefully instructs us that man must have faith in God and Christ to be saved from our sins. Hebrews 11:6 says, "But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him." Jesus taught, "I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins" (Jn. 8:24).

There must be acceptance of the fact that Jesus Christ is the Son of God and the Savior from sin. We have not actually seen Christ in person; yet by faith we accept Him as our Savior on the basis of the testimony of scripture. It is, however, possible to believe all the facts of the gospel and yet not place personal trust in the Lord for salvation. Saving faith, then, is more than giving assent to the facts concerning Christ; it involves a trust in Him for salvation.

This trust must also express itself in obedience. Christ declared, "And why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" (Luke 6:46). Peter wrote, "Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth" (1 Pet. 1:22).

So faith includes acceptance of the facts of the gospel, trust in the Savior, and obedience to him in all things. Do you have the faith that saves?

Follow The Signs

Imagine yourself in a train depot in a foreign country, and the signs are in a language unfamiliar to you. You know that the signs are there to direct you, and you try to figure them out, but despite your best efforts you are not sure of your interpretation. The natural thing to do then, is to check with an attendant and have him explain things to you.

The Bible is a sign given to us, and directs us in a pathway of living. Interpreting these directions is not always easy, so the natural thing to do, should be to seek someone to help us. Our churches have many trained personnel who are familiar with the language of the Bible. Attend Church this week and follow God's way of life.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Mrs. Jim Bagwell was released from Plains Memorial Hospital Wednesday. She uses a wheelchair and crutches to get about, while her broken hip heals.

The Moss Howells attended a basketball game at Clarendon Saturday. Clarendon won over LCC.

The Herbert Howells took her aunt, who had been visiting them, to Lubbock to visit other kin and from there she would go home by bus. Mrs. Moss Howell accompanied them to Lubbock and visited daughter, Mrs. Lyndon Smith and children.

ANY CLIPPING of a news item about Girlstown would be appreciated so much by them. Scrapbooks are made and the board of directors look these over carefully, so do save their news items.

You still have time to prune the tips of fruit tree branches where it is believed the insects live over. Try it and see. And do water all trees and flowers this dry weather.

Mrs. Dean Myers and Mrs. Paul Langford visited Mrs. J. T. Stehr Tuesday morning.

The View From Your Library

By VIRGINIA NEWSOM
We have had a busy week in the library.

IT'S time for an annual progress report to the Field Services Division of our State Library at Austin. In filing our report, we were happy to note, there have been over 800 new books added to the library this past year. Also we checked out approximately 2,000 more books in 1968 than the previous year. These are figures we can surely be proud of.

Mrs. R. D. Rogers brought several issues of a magazine called Texas Highways. It includes articles on safety improvements on our highways, points of interest in Texas and other interesting sidelights around our state. One article tells of a highway maintenance crew, who, during the course of their work, uncovered a fish fossil preserved in limestone and believed to be many millions of years old.

Also the discovery of a 15 dinosaur tracks at the site of a roadside park on US 67 caused much excitement. The library has also received a gift subscription to "The Rotarian," the official magazine of the Rotary International, which is very much appreciated.

OUR THANKS this week to Mrs. Clark Dobbs, Mrs. W. A. Baldridge and Mrs. Troy Kirby for conducting the story hour for us. Also to Mrs. Dale Prather for bringing cookies. I understand the 19 youngsters went on a bear-hunt — they have promised to teach me how. If you want to get in on the fun, you had better join us this week.

A passing thought for the week:

WORDS
The five most important words: I am proud of you.
The four most important words: What is your opinion?
The three most important words: If you please.
The two most important words: Thank you.
The least important word: "I."

Clayton Water Committee Urges Nine 'Water Import' Enactments

The House Interim Water Study Committee, chaired by Representative Bill Clayton, after holding hearings regarding water resource development and related state water problems in various parts of the state, is prepared to present to the legislature several bills and proposals.

HERE ARE some of the recommendations which Rep. Clayton said will be made:

1. That a constitutional amendment allowing $3½ billion of revenue bonds for use in water development by the Water Development Board be proposed. Under the provisions of the amendment, these bonds cannot be issued except when they have been approved by a two-thirds vote of the legislature in stipulated amounts.
2. That the power of eminent domain be given to the Water Development Board to allow the purchase of lands for reservoirs.
3. THAT THE Water Development Board be allowed to lease land acquired for reservoir sites to individuals and corporations; and that a method of payment to the local government entity be provided in such an amount that it will equal their present ad valorem taxes.
4. That certain types of inactive water districts be dissolved.
5. That the state, through the Water Rights Commission have control of ground water to the water conservation districts presently have, but only in those areas where there are no districts.

6. THAT THERE should be closer coordination of personnel, data collecting and assimilation, and equipment for the various water agencies; and that a new State Office Building be constructed to house all state water agencies.
7. That various types of districts and river authorities be given the authority to issue revenue bonds to build parks.
8. That a master water authority be created with powers to contract with the United States Government, State of Texas, and other persons; and the power to levy a tax and issue bonds. Such authority territory should be designated by the people in a given import area.
9. That the Texas Water Quality Board be designated as arbitrator when needed in settling disputes over the cost of treating sewage.

CLAYTON said he and the committee fully endorse and support the economic in-put, out-put study being conducted by Dr. Herb Grub of the planning division of the governor's office. The committee also urges full support and speedy implementation of the Texas Water Plan as presented by the Texas Water Development Board.

Clayton said he felt the committee's work has been "very fruitful," and that most of the recommendations presented by the committee will prove acceptable to the legislature.

Clayton added that he believes the incoming administration will give top priority to water resource development and implementation of the Texas Water Plan.

We're partners with DIMMITT in INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS...

 HELPING TO EXPAND EXISTING INDUSTRY...

Reddy is presently working actively and fully with the important new industry which will mean so much to Dimmitt's future. He's always ready and willing to help his fellow citizens expand their businesses or add new industry to this city. He has the power available, trained people to engineer the power requirements and to "get 'em hooked up fast". But, best of all, he offers attractive power rates for industrial users without sacrificing the key criteria — dependability.

Trained People...

Reddy has co-workers specially trained in the techniques demanded by industrial site seekers. These people work with the citizens he serves to show them how they can best utilize native resources to capitalize on the requirements of those seeking to build new plants or expand existing ones.

Facts...

Reddy is a fact finder, too. At appropriate times he gathers facts about cattle feeding and the economics of the area then publishes and publicizes them to call attention to the advantages our area has to offer. And, he maintains facts about the communities he serves so that industrial site seekers can be factually influenced to bring their plants here.

Working for new industry...

Reddy creates industrial fact brochures for the communities he serves, too. This young lady is displaying a personalized brochure created recently for the citizens of Dimmitt. It is designed to show Dimmitt as an attractive place to work, to live. Its inner pages contain the facts about Dimmitt that a new industry would need in order to make a decision to locate.

New development film...

In a further effort to help, Reddy recently completed a new color movie which shows the advantages that can be gained by new industry locating in our area. It also points up the many good things we have here visually portraying them so that we all can be better informed and can, even as individuals, explain to friends or business associates from coast-to-coast why they should consider us when looking for new plant sites. Ralph Glover will be happy to arrange a showing of this informative color movie to your club or organization.

Dependable
ELECTRIC Service

Reddy's electric power is dependable because it's backed up by well-trained, conscientious employees working with excellent equipment. You're assured of a power-full future. Reddy's 10 big steam generating plants plus others are capable of supplying 1,717,190 kilowatts with more abuilding.

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

In ancient China, short strips of bamboo were used as money. Salt, which has always been in demand served as money in Sierra Leone, West Africa. It was packed in bamboo cylinders about a yard long and represented their dollar bills.

Millions of beaver skins were used as money in northern United States and Canada during the early part of the 19th Century.

When trading with the Indians, Russian fur buyers cut the metallic buttons from their coats, using them as money.

The Indian shell money was called wampum. Often it was woven into their garb, serving as ornaments.

The billion mark inflationary note of Germany in 1924 was not funny money, but "phoney money." It took a breadbox full of them to purchase a loaf of bread.

If the hat you bought was the wrong size...

you'll know it.

But what about buying fertilizer?

Applying the wrong fertilizer formulation won't show up as fast as a hat that doesn't fit. It might show up only as less hearty growth than you'd expected. Harvest could produce just under your original goals.

But there's a way to know. A CO-OP Soil Test.

Fertilizer needs are different because no two soils are alike. Careful soil testing is the only way to know exactly what is needed. Your CO-OP is ready with whatever it takes... the exact combination of nutrients to produce profits.

The wedding scene was flanked by two candelabra holding seven blue tapers each, decorated with blue carnations and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length Prince style wedding gown which her mother designed and made. The white velvet gown featured white satin buttons in back, lace medallions on the skirt and the satin bow, and pointed sleeves. The hand-made, elbow length veil of white tulle was attached to a headpiece of a stain rose and two tulle roses.

THE BRIDE carried a bouquet of white butterfly rosebuds attached by satin ribbons to a white personalized Bible.

Plans Complete For Bake Show

BY IRENE KEATING

Tuesday Mrs. Buena Shwen, THDA chairman, Mrs. Blanche Ginn, Home Demonstration Council chairman, and I went to the District I THDA training meeting in Perryton. It was quite an early departure for us, as we had to be there by 9:30 a.m.

SATURDAY the 4-H Girls Bake Show-Food Show committee met to complete plans for that contest Feb. 14. Judging will begin at 1 p.m. in the assembly room of the courthouse. Judges are Mrs. Argen Draper, CHDA at Hereford, and Mrs. Rita Huckert, associate CHDA at Hereford.

The Dimmitt 4-H Child Care project group will hold its final meeting tomorrow. The girls who have participated are Connie Nelson, Tanya DeVaney, Jackie Newson, Mary Hamilton and Charlotte Fishar. The girls have been observing children and learning about toys and games for children. They visited Mrs. Newsom's story hour one Friday to observe children in a group and learn how to read to children.

WE'RE GETTING close to that time of year when our thoughts turn to spring house cleaning, spring clothes, flower and vegetable gardens, and home repair and/or remodeling. Let's discuss the new colors and building materials available.

Each year, some colors are "in" and widely used in home furnishings, while others are used rarely. Faber Birren, one of the world's leading authorities on color, makes some predictions for 1969. Off-white will continue to be the most popular color in paints and wall coverings and will continue to be used for contrast with bold, vivid colors.

GOLD, avocado green and brilliant blue will continue to be used extensively in home furnishings. These colors will continue to become clearer and brighter.

White walls, brilliant home furnishings, and muted walls are the order of preference in '69," according to the color expert.

The consumer establishes color trends through the selections he makes in the market place. Color trends are natural and spontaneous.

Color research experts establish and interpret color trends by analyzing retail purchases in various consumer areas from year to year. Computer analysis of sales records of consumer products including paints, carpeting, furniture, draperies, accessories, linens, appliances and automobiles also determine color trends.

A NEW TYPE of wood siding for homes is being studied by the Forest Products Laboratory of the Department of Agriculture. The siding, called "solar-groove," consists of a series of V-shaped grooves machined so that in summer the bottom surface faces the sun and in winter the top surface faces the sun.

The bottom of the groove is painted with a reflecting coating. The top is painted with an absorbing coating.

In the summer the reflecting surfaces face the sun to reflect the sun and heat, thus cooling the house. In the winter, absorbing surfaces facing the sun cause the sun's heat to be absorbed and warm the house, reducing the need for internal heating.

ALTHOUGH modern waffle irons may convert into grills and have nonstick coatings, the waffle fancier must still cope with problems he would have encountered on 1949 model waffle irons.

These problems include hard-to-clean cooking surfaces, controls or handles with screws that can scratch tabletops, poorly shielded electrical terminal pins that could shock, and signal lights that are difficult to see.

But all 20 models tested by Consumers Union produce crisp, medium-brown waffles of adequate quality. Most combination waffle iron-grills were capable of making a good grilled cheese sandwich — although not necessarily at the manufacturer's suggested setting, the tests found.

THE CONSUMER organization tested waffle irons with nonstick coatings and those without it. In grilling, coatings were helpful because they kept food from sticking and facilitated cleaning. Nonstick coatings didn't always keep waffles from sticking, but they still made cleaning easier. None of the models tested were hazardous, but some demanded more precaution to use than others.

Most of the waffle irons or combinations tested take about 10 amperes. Do not use the appliance at the same time and on the same circuit as another electric appliance, such as an electric percolator.

If you do, you may blow a fuse.

Computer Decides Who'll Be Audited

A mathematical formula called discriminate function (DIF) may select your income tax return for auditing. DATA processing equipment at the US Treasury Department began this month to use the system for returns with less than $10,000 gross income. Each return will be scored on a mathematical formula which assigns weights to selected "line items" on each return. The formula will be used for higher income returns beginning in January 1970.

Community Property Law Alters Tax Picture for Many Families

Community property can affect taxpayers in a community property state such as Texas, according to James Mallett, Extension farm management specialist at Texas A&M University. TEXAS taxpayers may find it advantageous to file separate returns. In Texas, all income received by married taxpayers is considered to be community income, and each taxpayer is responsible for one-half of the total. Taxpayers who are divorced during the tax year must report one-half of the community property income acquired prior to the divorce and all the separate income received after the divorce. Taxpayers who married during the tax year may elect to file joint or separate returns, as can those married in a prior year. Capital loss deductions are limited to the smaller of $1,000 or the combined taxable income on joint returns in a community property state. However, a husband and wife living in a community property state may file separate returns and both claim a capital loss deduction up to $1,000 or their taxable income, whichever is smaller, Mallett noted. INCOME in a community property state may work against the taxpayer in some cases, such as retirement income credit. If one spouse is over 65, he is eligible for retirement income credit. If the other spouse is still earning income, half the earned income is taxable to each taxpayer, and thus

Golden Spread Staffers Go To Nursing Home Conference

Mrs. Viola C. Griswold, owner, and Mrs. DeLorise Gilliland, administrator, of the Golden Spread Nursing Home in Dimmitt, were among 296 nursing home staff members and public welfare workers who attended a conference in Lubbock Jan. 21 on the implementation of the new "multiple levels of service" program for public welfare recipients residing in nursing homes. THE ONE-DAY meeting, sponsored by the Texas Nursing Home Association and the State Department of Public Welfare, dealt with the responsibilities of the nursing home and state welfare workers under this new program, which became effective Jan. 1. "The new program is designed to place the patient in the nursing home that offers the level of specific care that the individual needs," said Burton G. Hackney, commissioner of the State Department of Public Welfare. Nursing homes and those welfare recipients requiring nursing home care are now classified into three types: Skilled Care, (nursing homes that serve patients requiring maximum nursing care), Intermediate III (homes that serve patients needing nursing care, but of a lesser degree), and Intermediate II (homes that serve residents who do not require professional nursing care, but are in capable of independent living). Welfare recipients are classified according to the type of care they need. One nursing home might care for two or three types of patients if it qualifies. Approximately 29,800 welfare recipients will be provided care under the joint federal-state program. These will include 8,500 classified as needing Skilled Care, 13,600 needing Intermediate III Care, and 7,700 needing Intermediate II Care.

Can You Avoid A Tax Audit?

Odds of having your income tax returns questioned and audited are less when you are neat, exclude large entertainment deductions and don't bunch deductions, says an Extension home management specialist. MRS. DORIS MYERS stresses the importance of neatness on tax returns. This gives the agent confidence in the return's accuracy, she says. Another cause for questioning is an occasional large item of income or deduction such as a major real estate deal, a sizeable sale of securities, use of income averaging and other extraordinary items. Bunching miscellaneous deductions and value of donated property may arouse curiosity with examining agents, the specialist at Texas A&M University points out. SHE ALSO says that casualty loss claims can make returns liable to audit, especially if the person fails to itemize and explain the loss. Heavy travel and entertainment deductions remain a pitfall, says Mrs. Myers, and the mixed business-pleasure trips get special attention. To avoid trouble, use form 2106 to cover all travel and entertainment items, she advises. Be sure to back up all deductions with adequate records and receipts, Mrs. Myers reminds.

TAILWATER such as this is money down the drain unless you can recover it and use it. Water is costly to pump and the supply is diminishing, so producers here need to do their best to conserve what nature has provided. (USDA-Soil Conservation Service Photo)

Conservation

Utilize That Tailwater!

By LARRY O STARNES

The cost of farming today is the highest it has ever been. Farmers are caught in the snarl of a cost-price squeeze. This means that the farmer must get full benefit of every dollar he invests in his crop.

ONE of the chief costs of producing crops on the High Plains is the cost of irrigation water. It takes a certain amount of water to produce a good crop, either as rainfall or as irrigation water.

The only ways in which to lower cost of applying irrigation water are to use correct pumping facilities for your irrigation system and make efficient use of all water pumped.

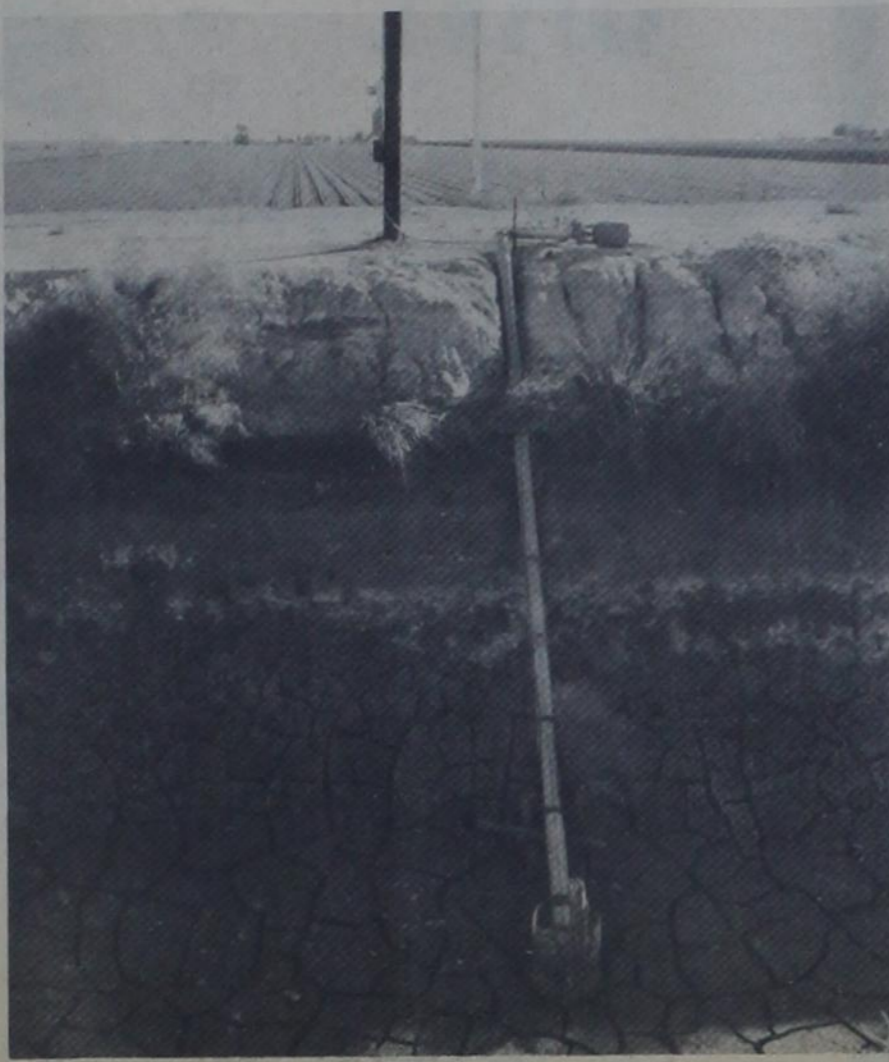

The soils within the county vary from farm to farm, and often from field to field. Depending on what type of soil you have on your farm you might expect to lose as much as 50 percent of the irrigation water pumped as tailwater.

MANY water-conscious farmers are installing tailwater return systems to salvage as much waste water as possible. The pumping cost of returning tailwater to an existing system is small compared to that of an irrigation well.

A tailwater recovery system works as well on irrigated pasture and hayland as it does for cropland. A number of conservation irrigation systems already in the county include irrigated pastures on the sloping land to control erosion and tailwater recovery systems to improve irrigation efficiency.

Your local Soil Conservation Service personnel will, at your request, assist you with the planning and design of an irrigation system for your farm.

"CONSERVATION is the informed, conscientious management of resources. It is development as well as protection. It is use as well as saving..." —Anonymous

RECOVERY SYSTEMS such as this one are being installed throughout this area to salvage tailwater and return it to be used in a conservation irrigation system. (USDA-Soil Conservation Service Photo)

Three New Corn Varieties Listed

Three new yellow hybrid corn varieties have been developed in the corn improvement program of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

TEXAS 42SX, a special cross corn hybrid; Texas 30A, an improved Texas 30; and TAM Dwarf 1, a dwarf corn hybrid, were developed in the corn breeding programs at College Station and Temple.

TEXAS 42SX is being released to fulfill a demand for a more uniform and higher yielding hybrid. It will be only slightly more variable than a single cross, but not nearly so variable as the double-cross hybrids presently grown. It is a high-yielding hybrid with medium large ears, a red cob and desirable kernel or grain characteristics.

This hybrid possesses a high degree of resistance to downy mildew and is highly tolerant to the Maize Dwarf Mosaic virus. The variety has as good a shelling percentage and is as prolific as the other Texas hybrids. It is particularly adapted to the Blackland Prairie and for production under irrigation. Because of its resistance to downy mildew and MDM virus, Texas 42SX should be grown in areas where these diseases are prevalent. The corn should also be an excellent hybrid for silage production.

TEXAS 30A is a high yielding, yellow, double-cross hybrid adapted to the Lower Rio Grande Valley, Gulf Coast, Blackland Prairie and the East Texas Timberlands. It produces large ears with large yellow dent-type grain, and will segregate for pink and white cobs. The hybrid is superior to Texas 30 in yield, standability, prolificacy and resistance to diseases. It is more resistant to ear rots than Texas 30, and has a slightly higher shelling percentage.

TAM Dwarf 1 is the first dwarf-type corn hybrid released by the Experiment Station. It has medium length ears with desirable grain and ear characteristics, and will segregate for pink and white cobs. The dwarf plants are from five to six feet tall with an ear height of 18 to 24 inches. It is particularly adapted for production in the Gulf Coast, Blackland Prairie and the Grand Prairie, and is also recommended for those areas where the conventional hybrids grow too tall.

Founding single crosses used in producing Texas 30A and TAM Dwarf 1 were available to certified seed growers in 1968. Certified seed from all three hybrids will be available to farmers for the 1969 planting season.

Price Seeks to Extend Conservation Program

A bill to extend the Great Plains Conservation Program for 10 years beyond its 1971 expiration date has been introduced by Panhandle Congressman Bob Price.

THE PROGRAM was created by Congress in 1956 in an effort to halt deterioration from serious dust storms and water erosion in a 10 state area.

Price said the critical need of the program cannot be met by the end of 1971.

"When the next extended drought occurs — a periodic phenomena we have learned to expect — the plains area of the nation should never again suffer the damage of the past," he said.

"MORE THAN 31,500 farmers and ranchers have entered into long-term contracts to complete the total conservation job on some 57 million acres," Price added. "This is a good beginning, but the job is far from complete."

"Progress in the Great Plains Conservation Program — which includes all of the Panhandle and South Plains area — has increased each year in Texas since it was started," Price said.

The congressman said the program has demonstrated its ability to do the following things:

FIRST, assist low-income farmers to make maximum use of their resources, thus improving and stabilizing farm income;

Second, accelerate land treatment of critical sediment and wind erosion areas;

Third, reduce maintenance cost of public utilities, businesses, etc., and reduce pollution of water and air;

Fourth, stimulate local economy, local pride and confidence in conservation program objectives; and

Fifth, make rural areas more attractive places in which to live and encourage people to stay in the country or to move back to the country.

"I FEEL that these five accomplishments of the Great Plains conservation program fully meet an urgent demand for rural improvement by creating new jobs, improving living standards of low-income groups, stopping migration of rural people to urban areas, stimulating local economy, and reducing pollution of our air and water and more than justify its extensions," Price said.

Variety of Causes Are Cited For Buffalo Lake Fish Kill

A fish kill which left from 30,000 to 40,000 channel catfish lying on the banks of Buffalo Lake has been attributed to a lowering of resistance due to a falling water level, compounded by the possibility of a virus and algae toxin.

JACK CRABTREE, inland fisheries biologist for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, says the fish kill is probably associated with the water quality of Buffalo Lake, but only insofar as the quality of the water was one stress factor among several.

Every species of fish was represented in the kill, but Crabtree says 99 percent of the fish killed were channel catfish. He said the fish along the shoreline represented only a fraction of the total kill, since many of the fish sank to the bottom of the lake.

Change Outlined in Certification of Grain Acreage

By CHARLEY HILL, ASCS Office Manager

Producers will again be certifying to their acreages of wheat, cotton and feed grains for 1969. We cannot stress too much the importance of reporting correct acreages.

AN IMPORTANT change has just been announced on acreage certification. In the past, if a farmer failed to measure his wheat closely enough and was found to have more wheat when spot checked than he reported, then all that was necessary was that he reduce his feed grain planting to stay within his total feed grain and wheat permitted acreage.

This procedure has now changed. Effective for 1969, farmers must measure their wheat acreage accurately and report exactly the acreage on the farm at the time of certification.

If you are unable to measure your acreage correctly or wish the county ASCS office to do this for you, please come by and file your request and pay the fee for such service.

MARCH 14, 1969 has been set as the final date for requesting the measurement service for wheat, barley and diverted acres. The sign-up period for the 1969 wheat, cotton and feed grain programs will be from Feb. 3 through March 21.

If you have a barley base, please ask that the change in payment provisions for the 1969 feed grain program be explained to you prior to sign-up.

THANKS
For your business the past 14 years. It has been a pleasure to have had you as customers, and we hope to continue to have you as our friends.
We have leased our station to Walter Spinhirne.
Thanks Again,

airport issue.
THE BOND election carried — reversing a trend in bond elections here — and the new, modern airport is the result of it.
Dr. Blackburn forged the chamber into a major force for industrial development during 1968.
Labeling industrial development as the chamber's top priority item for the year, he helped set up a "Dimmitt Day" seminar in the Texas Industrial Commission offices in Austin. Sixteen Dimmitt business men attended the session to study the city's advantages and disadvantages for new industry.
THEN HE pushed for, and got, a labor survey conducted here by the Texas Employment Commission.
Later, he was successful in getting a commitment from the Texas Employment Commission to conduct a complete economic survey of the city under the Smaller Communities Program. This survey will begin in July and will take almost six months to complete. It will provide industrialists with precise information on all phases of the area's economy, natural resources, labor force, transportation, utility costs, etc. Only a handful of cities Dimmitt's size have had such a survey conducted.
Anyone interested in Dimmitt soon will be able to get their basic information from a beautiful new brochure now on the press. This was another of Dr. Blackburn's projects aimed at attracting new businesses and industries to the city.

TOP PRODUCER — Donald Schilling (left) of Dimmitt was announced this week as the first place winner in the 1968 Northrup King Grain Sorghum Yield Contest. Here, Bernard Splensky, NK area manager, presents Schilling with a $100 check during a company dinner in Littlefield Monday night. Schilling averaged 9,328 pounds per acre, producing 46,640 pounds of grain on a five-acre plot of NK-280, a medium late season variety. Second place winner in this area was D. K. Stovall of Dumas.

THE two victories gave Coach Kenneth Cleveland's bandits a 2-0 record in the second half of district play and stretched their season mark to 23-1.

naild up 18 points, Brady 16 and Cleavinger 15. Bobby Baker also hit the double figures with 11.

The game was close in the first quarter but turned into a rout in the second. Dimmitt led by 21-17 after the initial period, then held the Longhorns to five points while scoring 20 in the second, to take a 41-22 lead into the locker room. The Bobcats built their lead to 25 points, 56-31, in the third, then coasted home.

IN TUESDAY night's game at Friona, the Cats didn't wait until the second quarter to start the rout. They led 15-4 at the end of the first period, 34-18 at half-time, 52-27 at the three-quarter mark, and 70-42 when the final buzzer sounded and the scoreboard registered "final."
Jerry Brady was the top Cat on the floor, ringing up 21 points on seven field goals and seven charity tosses. David Land sank 12 and Bobby Baker posted 11.

Bobbies Clobber Lockney, But Bow To Squaws, 45-40

Dimmitt's Bobbies dropped another overtime heart-breaker to the Friona Squaws Tuesday night, 45-40.

The nip-and-tuck game on Friona's floor was almost a carbon copy of the two teams' first meeting here, except that this time the Squaws uncorked a scoring barrage in the overtime to win by five points instead of three.

IT WAS THE first loss in the second half of district play for the Bobbies, but they still have a chance at the title. Floydada, the first-half winner, dropped its second game in a row at Abernathy Tuesday night, apparently leaving the track clear for a race between Dimmitt, Friona and Hale Center.

Tuesday night's game at Friona was slow but loud. The Bobbies took a 9-8 lead at the end of the first period, but the Squaws reversed it to 14-16 by halftime. The two teams matched points in the third, sending the Bobbies into the fourth quarter trailing by 25-27.

BUT THE Bobbies made up the extra basket and knotted the score, 37-37, at the end of regulation play.

Then, in the overtime period, the dike gave way as the Squaws scored 8 points in three minutes, more than they had been able to muster in either of the first two quarters. The Bobbies, meanwhile, could manage only three points during the overtime.
Ruth Dyer led Dimmitt's scorers with 19 points, followed by Suzanne Merritt with 15 and Sharon Barker with 6.

FRIDAY night, the Bobbies started the first half with an easy 59-32 repeat victory over Lockney in the home gym.

The Dimmitt-Lockney game was a runaway from the start as the Bobbies took a 21-5 lead in the first period and stretched it to 30-15 a halftime and 46-19 after three.

Coach Bob Askey used every player on the Bobbie squad in the game. Ruth Dyer had a field day with 35 points, followed by Suzanne Merritt with 14, Lee Ann Merritt with 4, Karen Lytle with 3, Sharon Barker with 2 and DeLores Wilke with 1.

ports, because of their longer growing period.

Through laboratory tests, Dr. Jenkins has determined that Triticale exceeds the nutritional value of either one of its parent grains (wheat and rye) in most instances. Triticale's protein value, for example, has been reported from 11.75 to 18 percent.

TRITICALE is believed to be developed to the point now where it will be growable throughout the world as food both for humans and animals.

The most unique characteristic of Triticale is that it is not a hybrid, as are other grain crosses. Although it has a mixed ancestry, it will reproduce itself, and shows a high degree of fertility.

Dr. Jenkins' research on Triticale took him to Canada, Mexico, the USSR and Hungary to observe and cross-breed winter ryes and wheats and develop hexaploid, octoploid and tetraploid seed.

SCIENTISTS in the US, Japan, Spain, Hungary, Canada and the USSR have been working toward the development of a Triticale-type grain since 1918, when Japanese and American scientists made a simultaneous discovery of the chromosome numbers in wheat and started studies of genome relationships among wheat and its other cereal grain relatives.

The beacon of the scientific trail was a report of a German plant breeder, Rimpau, who noted in the late 1800's that he had observed a fertile amphiploid from the combination of bread wheat and rye.

Louis P. Reitz, leader of wheat investigations for the USDA, concluded earlier this month — after seeing Dr. Jenkins' test plots and yield results — that "we may have a new crop ere long, a crop we will not know much about, how to use, how to grade on the market, how to assess in acreage-control programs, etc."

And he added, "I, for one, will await developments with much interest."

Junior members modeled first, displaying their wool suits, coats and dresses. Then the freshmen girls modeled the school clothes they had made.

AFTER the style show, the FHA members and their guests enjoyed punch and cookies prepared and served by the sophomore girls.

Castro County agency be transformed into a "neighborhood center" under the direction of the Potter-Randall County Community

THE FIGHT to keep the local agency alive, independent and operating may already be lost, some directors believe.

While listing the eight charges against the local agency, Baldwin served notice that funds were being slashed to allow a possible March 31 phase-out, except for Head Start program in the county's elementary schools.

The local agency has set up programs in adult education for migrants, night classes in basic education for adults, college enrollment assistance, citizenship training, driver training and Head Start. It also has referred local residents to existing offices here for health, welfare, special education and employment.

THE TEAM that evaluated the local program charged that these efforts haven't been "on target" to knock out the causes of poverty here; that educational programs such as farm equipment operation and maintenance have been conspicuously absent; that the "target area" poor haven't been involved in the local operation or well enough informed about it; and that the local agency has failed to buck the community's economic power structure and serve as an effective advocate of the poor.
