Lost Friends

By Paul C. Yates. Oh, friendship bright, how soon extinguished glow! Who are the dollars that I used to know? In vain I tried, With wile and blandishment, To teach those dollars Habits of Content. I plead with them, "Come back again, and cease to roam. And I'll provide a home." "I'll provide a home," But all in vain. By some outlandish art They quit me cold. It nearly broke my heart And as they left, I begged of each a boon, "Come back again, and see me sometime soon." I never saw them more, Put still their gleam And their cold handclasp Thrill me in my dream. And sadly, now, I stand outside a bank And listen to Their clear, familiar clank.

GREATER THAN THE GREATEST

Babe Ruth

Babe Ruth is without a doubt the greatest hitter baseball, modern and ancient, ever has known. Old timers like Clark Griffith admit that had Ruth been in the game in the old days the outfielders would have been run ragged. Ruth has broken the American league record of twenty-five homers in a single season—set by Buck Freeman with Washington in 1899.

With a fair stretch still ahead of him he bids fair to break all other existing records in professional baseball for home run hitting. Baseball critics are agreed that Ruth's hits are the most terrific drives delivered in the game. There has been nothing of the fluke nature about any of his long hits. In only a few instances has he had to hit the dirt.

Ruth is a free hitter—very free, according to the pitchers—and his favorite ball is a fast one about

Between Season Frocks of Satin Is Embroidered

If there was any doubt earlier in the season as to what was the proper thing to have an afternoon frock fashioned from it has long since been dispelled for there can be no doubt but that satin will be the most popular fabric for one-piece afternoon and restaurant frocks. It is really a pleasing change, too, for by the time September is well along our summer frocks make us feel like a dowdy, ill-dressed person. So it is with joy we welcome the satin and taffeta frocks for fall days.

This smart black palette satin was photographed on a manikin in the woman's ready-to-wear department of the Bish Terminal Sales building. It is a straight-line frock with a novel neck line and very unobtrusive tight sleeves. The design on the frock, which is obtained by merely using the dress-making stitch in wool embroidery. The contrasting color. A tiny tulle detail on the left side are the only touches.

TO RENT

By Staff Correspondent
 WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Officers and men of the 36th, 90th and other divisions whose homes are in Texas, are invited by the war department to send to the historical branch of the general staff any films, plates or prints depicting the activities of the armies of the United States, abroad and in the insular possessions. It is known there is a mass of such material scattered through the country, taken largely by officers.

It is requested that prints films or plates sent in be accompanied by such descriptive matter as may be required to identify them as to personnel military unit, place and date.

LITTLE SPENT ON TEXAS RECLAMATION

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Very little federal money has been spent in reclamation projects in Texas, a letter from Director A. P. Davis of the reclamation service to Senator Henry F. Ashurst of Arizona shows.

The total investment of the United States in reclamation projects is $154,127,905.48. For the Rio Grande project, a joint Texas-Mexico project, 10,396,711 spent. No other money has been spent in Texas. The Salt River project in Arizona is the biggest reclamation scheme ever undertaken in the United States. It has cost $14,738,768.28.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" Unconsciously [?]

ance of roads in a country where travel is so heavy and where the natural wealth is so well able to build the best of highways. He knows what the example of Eastland county means to other, less wealthy, counties, where the need is not as imperative and the opposition to roads has more reason for talking.

He knows, too, the strategic value of the county in the routes of two of the state's most important highways,
one of them connecting the North Texas country with the gulf and the other sweeping across the state from Texarkana to El Paso, a national high way which will see more travel, when completed, than any trans-continental railway.

Mr. Fowler will urge, also, the passage of the state amendment, which will permit the state to issue bonds
to build roads in counties where appropriations for the right sort of highways cannot be made up.

With the zeal of a believer in Greater Texas, Greater Eastland county and Greater Ranger, Mr. Fowler is throwing himself into the road fight with all he has.

Get behind him!

CARELESS SWITCHING.

Carelessness of switching crews working on the trackage which runs between the Texas and Pacific main line and Tiffin avenue has made the street almost impassible in places.

Instead of making sure that the cars which are spotted on those sidings are sent merely to the ends of the tracks,
the switching crews, in more than one instance, have pushed the cars over the ends of the tracks abutting the streets and now, wheels embedded in the mud, they block a fourth to a half of the street.

In one instance, the vagrant car blocks the street at the spot where a bad mud hole naturally makes the street hard to get through and many trucks and wagons make a long detour rather than try to get by.

The Texas and Pacific railroad would do well to see that the slap-bang method of switching is discouraged and that the obstructions to traffic that such methods have left are removed.

Film Stars Compete.

Art Acord has challenged the prominent cowboys in filmdom to compete with him in a rodeo to be held at Ascot park, Los Angeles, Oct.

enter. Others will be Tom Mix, Will Rogers, Fred Stone, Hoot Gibson,
Pete Morrison, Harry Carey, Neal
Hart, Jack Hoxey and Fred Burns.

She's Not Early Bird.

has brought a damage suit for $31,- 000 against Grace Darmond, alleging that when she had been engaged by him for one of his serial productions, her repeated late arrival for work on "location" had delayed production to the damage extent prayed for.

Robert Harron was a busy little errand boy in the Biograph studios in 1908 when David Wark Griffith, then directing there, spied him. "That youngster has too much head for that job," thought Mr. Griffith, and straightway took him away from that job. Through the famous director it was that the good-looking youth got his chance, and it is to his credit that he has done most excellent work ever since.

Mr. Harron has been connected in turn with Reliance-Majestic, Fine Arts and recently with Paramount, where he has appeared principally in support of the Gishes, Lillian and Dorothy. Among the pictures at which he has been at his best are "Intolerance," "The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World." One of his newest releases is "The Mother and the Law," which is the modern episode in "Intolerance" enlarged and re-edited.

Mr. Harron is in his early twenties, slim, brown-haired and brown-eyed.

GERMANS PLANNING TO EMIGRATE NOW

By Alfred G. Anderson
 BERLIN, Sept. 20.—Four million Germans are preparing to abandon their fatherland and seek their fortunes abroad. This figure is officially furnished me by Geheimrat Jung, director of the recently organized government bureau of migration. I will take ten years to transport the emigrants, according to Herr Jung. Had economic conditions, resulting from the war, are responsible for this wholesale exodus.

The big German steamship companies already have begun booking passages for the prospective emigrants. The Hamburg-America line alone, according to Carl Vogelsang, director of the Berlin office, has a waiting list of 400 families destined for the United States and South America.

"But, of course, we cannot begin moving the passengers until the entente powers have ratified the peace treaty, when probably we shall charter several big liners from America," declared Herr Vogelsang.

The United States, in the opinion of Geheimrat Jung, will receive but an infinitesimal proportion of Germany's army of emigrants. The German government at least is not encouraging emigration to the United States.

"In the United States," said Herr Jung, "our people lose their German nationality and become Americanized. The German-Americans proved this in the war. We want our emigrants to remain German. This is possible only in countries where language and customs are sharply contrasted to our own. Countries like Russia, Argentina, Paraguay and Brazil are ideal for German settlements."

"We have a report here that the American congress has made a law, compelling all immigrants to study the English language and American history. Such measures of compulsion will certainly not appeal to Germans. Russia probably will be the favorite point of emigration for Germany. That country abounds in resources that can be exploited by astute and thrifty Germans. Moreover, the political radicalism in Russia has a peculiar appeal to the German working class. He feels that Russia is the only country where capital does not prey upon labor.

Canada, are out of the question, as they, in common with England, have passed exclusion acts against German immigration. Mexico is questionable. While Mexico is a highly desirable country for German settlement it probably will be so strongly under American control that our emigrants will be refused entry.

This bureau does not encourage migration at all. In fact, the new German government was at first directly opposed to emigration. But since the new constitution specifically permits it we must see that the migrant is properly directed and advised. That is the only purpose of my department.

"We also must protect the emigrant against exploiters who would separate him from his money. Doubtful organizations which peddle rosy promises for the emigrant's cash have sprung up. For instance, one particular company is booming Patagonia as the land of wonderful opportunities and trying to persuade our emigrants to settle there, when as a matter of fact, no German farmer or laborer could make a living in Patagonia. There are five or six good companies that honestly endeavor to find suitable locations for German settlement in South America, but most of these so-called emigration societies are much like your American real estate companies selling lots on the bottom of a lake."

Virginia Hammond Features Leading Woman for E. H. Sothorn

Virginia Hammond, who with Earl Metcalfe is starred in "The Battler," the new World release, had a remarkable career on the stage before she entered the motion picture field.

When she was but 18 years of age Miss Hammond was leading woman with E. H. Sothorn. She was the youngest leading woman Mr. Sothorn ever had and one of the youngest that ever appeared on Broadway. She appeared with the eminent star in "The Proud Prince," "If I Were King" and several of his Shakespearean productions, playing the leading female roles. She has also played leading parts in many other Broadway productions.

Her work was always received with high praise by critics, and she has even made a greater hit in the picture field. With the World Pictures she has been given splendid opportunities to display her wonderful versatility. No picture has ever given her a wider range for her ability than "The Battler."

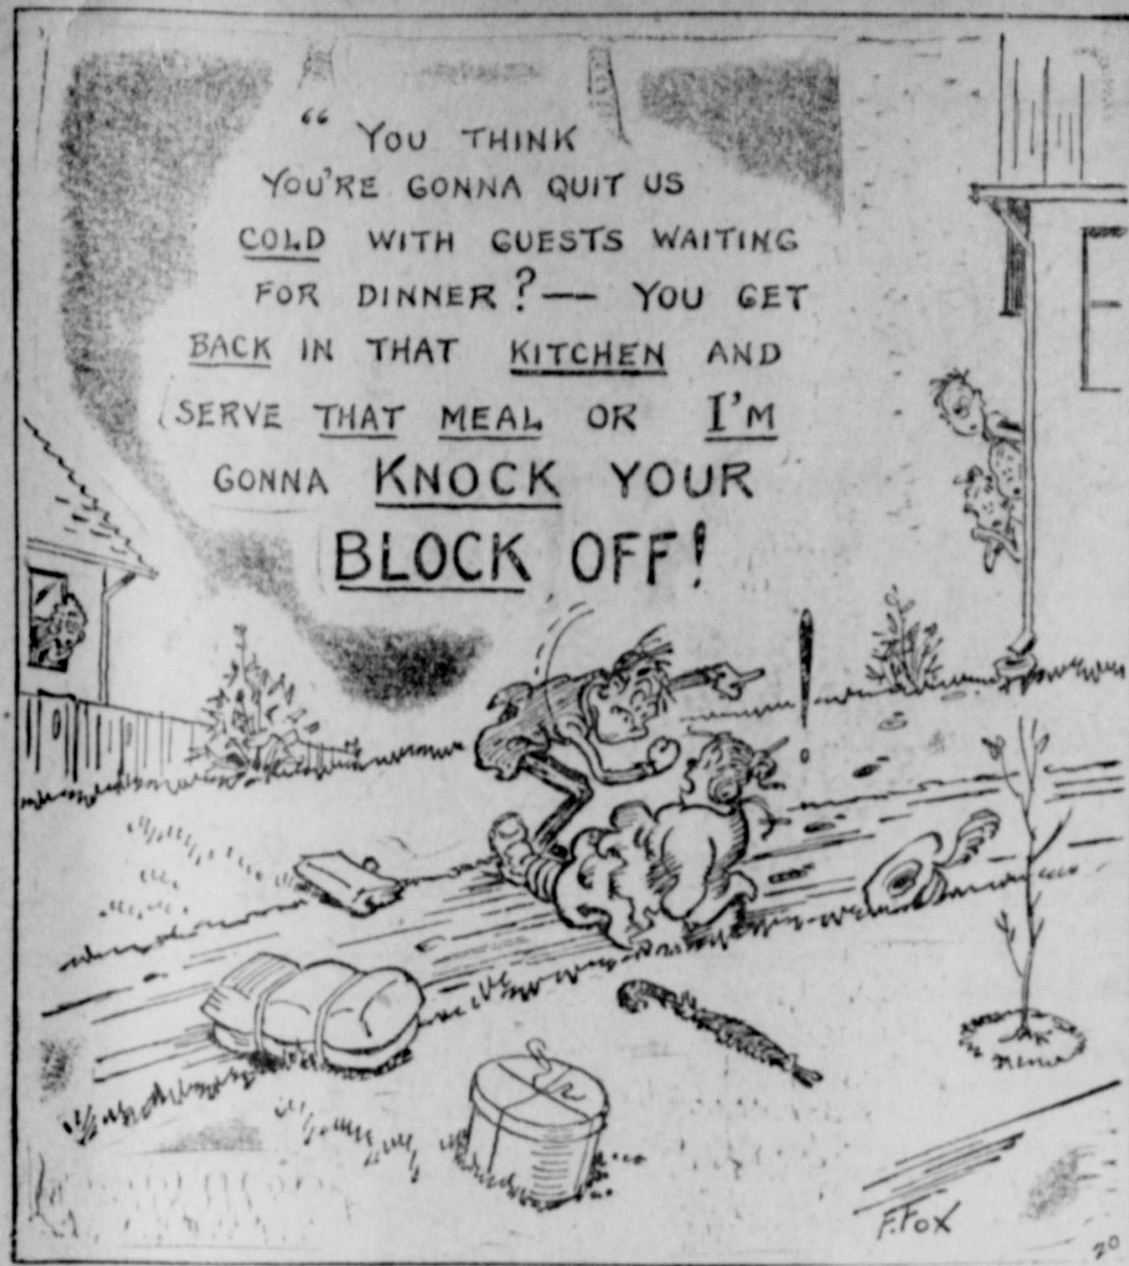

Miss Hammond makes the most of every scene and her splendid conception of the part of Angelica Hart, the abused wife, places her in the front rank of actresses, either on the stage or in the silent drama.

Miss Hammond will be seen in "The Battler" at the Hippodrome next Thursday.

NEW MERCANTILE FIRM OPENED IN RANGER

The Simpson-Alexander company is one of the latest additions to Ranger's mercantile firms. The new company is located in the old Baptist church building on Pine street, opposite the Queen theater, for the present. The firm will handle all kinds of high-grade merchandise. Hart, Schaffner & Marx, High Art and Fifth Avenue clothes for men will be carried in a full line and also work clothes will be carried on a extensive scale. Boots, shoes, shirts and other requisites for men are in stock. The stock was bought to be opened in their new store at Main and Marston streets, but owing to the fact that the building is not yet completed the company is at its present location temporarily and all goods must be sold within sixty days, according to Mr. Alexander.

Mr. Simpson is an extensive oil operator and has wells drilling at a number of places. He is from Lawton, Okla., where he has several of the largest mercantile houses in that section. Mr. Alexander is an old Fort Worthian, having resided there twenty-five years. It is said the company will employ only reliable men and every article sold is guaranteed.

BOND ISSUES IN TEXAS ARE BIG FOR YEAR

AUSTIN, Sept. 20.—Bond issues approved by the attorney general's department during the fiscal year ended August 31 totaled $51,494,840, or almost double the issues for the two preceding years, which aggregated only $31,800,076, according to an advance compilation just completed. Since the beginning of the new fiscal year, the compilation shows several million dollars additional bond issues already have reached the department.

Read bond issues head the list, with $25,828,550, while officials in charge believe the situation believe $29,050,000 worth of road bonds have been or will be voted shortly after the new fiscal year began.

School bonds came next, with $15,577,220. The report calls attention to a feature of these bonds in that at the beginning of the last fiscal year they were mostly for small amounts, but as the period ended they became gradually larger until $25,000 and $50,000 issues were not uncommon.

Street paving bonds aggregated $2,389,500 for the last fiscal year. Next comes levee district bonds, $1,552,500. Sewer and water system bonds totaled approximately $1,424,000, each.

The totals begin to lower with a $200,000 bond issue for Corpus Christi to build a seawall. Yaokum presents the only issue for a hospital building, $50,000.

Brownsville issued $35,000 in bonds with which to build an abattoir and $5,000 to establish a municipal market; $250,000 for park improvements, and $4,000 to build a fire station.

There was one navigation district issue of $200,000, and drainage district bonds totaled $50,000. One court house calls for $40,000, a bridge for $2,500, sidewalks $10,000 and a lighting system for $50,000.

A SARTORIAL WONDER

Probably the most elaborate display of gowns ever made in a motion picture was the sartorial embellishment that Rosalie Barriscale gave her two characters, the Pearl of Egypt and Lady Austruthers, in "Her Purchase Price." From desert to drawing room Miss Barriscale appeared in seventeen different costumes.

ELINOR LOOKS AHEAD

Elinor Fair is working hard at her French lessons because she has had a hint that she and Al Ray will go to France to make one or two films and this would also mean a London visit. This would be a chance but not a novelty to Elinor, who studied music and singing in the two capitals of France and England.

RANGER OPENS OFFICE ON MAIN ST.

Offices have been opened at 100 1/2 Main street by R. H. Conner of the Ranger Athletic club and membership cards at $1 each are now on sale. It is the object of the club, of which T. C. Morrison, city electrical inspector, is temporary treasurer, to provide suitable quarters to young men of the city for athletic development, for reading and lounging. The city is in need of such a place.

Inasmuch as state laws do not provide for an athletic club in the form of a stock company giving regular athletic programs, charter memberships will be sold for $25, on which dividends will be paid from the club's earnings. It is planned to hold regular athletic programs of boxing and wrestling, every two weeks.

In addition, baseball and football teams, under the direction of Mr. Conner, who had a record as all star athlete at Texas A. & M. college, will be built up. The charter is being drawn up by Judge A. E. Firmin.

FORMER MARSHAL SCOTT FAYS RANGER A VISIT

K. T. Scott of Fort Worth, and formerly vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of Ranger, was in the city Friday visiting friends.

Mr. Scott is the owner of Scott's cafe in Fort Worth and for a while owned the cafe in Ranger that still bears his name. He was prominent in the early stages of the "clean-up campaign" in Ranger and held the office of city marshal as long as that office existed. Later he sold a part of his business interests here and moved to Fort Worth.

In an interview with a Daily Times reporter he stated that Fort Worth has grown until, compared with a few years ago, it is "like a mountain beside a molehill." He said it is now the best town in Texas and has every prospect of becoming a great city, the rival of cities further north.

Remarkable photo showing linemen repairing telephone and telegraph wires near blazing oil tank at Standard on Long Island. Tank in danger of exploding at any moment. Note ten streams of water playing on tank.

The most spectacular fire in the history of the New York fire department recently destroyed over $2,000,000 worth of oil at the Long Island plant of the Standard Oil

It was the first time in the department's history that the call "6666-77" was sent out to summon every available fireman of duty.
