business, indeed, business of the local house will be drawn from the entire territory, reaching far south, but not conflicting with the territory assigned to the Dublin office; extending far to the north and taking in Breckenridge and other points which are not readily accessible to the Stamford house; projecting some time ago as far as include Eastland, Olden, Cisco and other points, but not conflicting with the Abilene office, and reaching to the east as far as the rail run.

Faith in Ranger.

"The Walker Smith company has for several weeks been contemplating coming to this section," said Mr. Eddy, one of the officials of the company, Wednesday. "We have appreciated the fact that Ranger is a growing city and that the territory about it is developing probably faster than any other section of the southwest. After due consideration of the advantages held by the several towns in this section we pinned our faith to Ranger as the best location for this business. Acting upon this faith we came to Ranger some time ago and decided to take over the Ranger wholesale grocery house. The negotiations were entered into Saturday and the deal was consummated this week.

To Help Ranger.

"We wish to assure all retailers and others with whom we deal that this company will maintain one of the most complete lines of wholesale goods to be found anywhere in West Texas. To those with whom our dealings are not direct, we wish to say that we are now a part of Ranger and desire to render the very best service, helping to improve Ranger and to see it advance. Our business will be expanded as the occasion may require. We have faith in Ranger and we believe that in time it will become one of the best points at which our houses are located."

Pecan Valley Products

"Pecan Valley Products" have made the Walker Smith company one of the best known enterprises in West Texas. At the Brownwood plant a factory for the reduction of milk into oils, butter and other articles has made the company to be known throughout the west and other parts of the state. The company puts up its own brands of coffee at the large roasting plant at Galveston, built at a considerable expense a few years ago.

Good Location.

The company has a large structure in Ranger, near the Texas and Pacific storage tracks, where carload shipments for it can be readily and promptly unloaded. The warehouse the company is one of the largest found in the oil fields. These are filled to profusion with things kept by a first class business. The company intends to let people know that it is in business oil fields and the salesmen will win the trade throughout the country already has taken business and started operations.

BE SURE TO GET METAL TUBING ON GAS STOVES

Ed Smith, chief of the local fire department, wishes to call attention of the public to the fact that the state fire laws forbid the use of rubber tubing for gas connections. All tubing should be metal, he pointed out.

State and city laws also require that a metal screen or screen of other non-inflammable material, be placed on the floor under gas stoves and ranges.

Mr. Smith is anxious to secure the co-operation of the public in these matters. He says it is his hope to maintain the splendid fire record established during the last two months and if the public will give attention to these requirements, now that cold weather is expected, there is no reason this record cannot be maintained.

The law in regard to tubing and the screens applies to residences as well as to business houses.

here. He said he had no apology to make for their services.

He declared that the highway situation here was worse than it was eighteen months ago when the company began to do its great volume of business.

"Until good streets and roads are laid in Ranger and the contiguous country not much relief can be expected in traffic conditions," he said. "These must be looked after."

When it was told Mr. Lancaster that he and city had voted bonds for better streets and good highways, he declared facetiously: "But you can't move transportation over bonds. You must have the roads."

The hearing which is set for Oct. 13 at Austin will bring about a better understanding of the traffic situation in West Texas and particularly at Ranger, he said.

"I have worked faithfully to remedy the situation as pertains to car capacity of the local yards. Whenever application was made through me for extension of track facilities or new trackage, I have always given it proper consideration and where the conditions warranted I have had them built," he declared.

"One of the main troubles here with local dealers is that they want their cars spotted immediately upon their arrival, when, as a matter of fact, many cars are in the yard which take priority over them because they have been waiting their turns ahead of them. Until the dealers with cars already spotted release them, it is almost impossible to place the others.

"The statement that many of the merchants and others receiving freight here would rather leave their shipments in cars and in the freight warehouse and pay demurrage and storage on them in preference to storing in their own warehouses or storage rooms, is erroneous," said Mr. Lancaster. "The fact of the matter is that I have found after observation and conversation very few of those who receive such shipments and, not anticipating the early arrival of the goods in time to clean their shelves and reserve room, they are needlessly handicapped and must leave the freight until sufficient room can be commanded."

Speaking of prospects for Ranger as a coming city, Mr. Lancaster asserted that the outlook here was most favorable and under the present business stimulus from oil there was no reason for it not to grow phenomenally henceforth.

LLOYD GEORGE SAYS FORESAW LABOR STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 8.—During a speech at the Mansion House yesterday, Premier Lloyd George made the interesting revelation that he left the peace conference in February expressly because he foresaw the coming labor difficulties.

The government then started an organization which was purely civil under the chairmanship of the home secretary in preparation for the possible necessity of assuring the country's food supply.

"The nation must be master of her own house," the premier declared.

When Lloyd George makes an important speech the newspapers try to read between the lines to discover his real purposes. The general interpretation of this speech is that the premier has broken with the labor unions and wants to draw the support of different classes.

GERMANS PROTEST AGAINST FURTHER FOOD CONTROL

COBLENZ, Oct. 7.—More insistent protests than ever before against government food control, the host of food profiteers and food brokers and the ever-increasing speculation in foreign exchange fill the columns of food journals and farm magazines of Germany.

Food prices continue very high. This is attributed partly to the low valuation of the mark. The official exchange rate for the newspaper for September at headquarters of the American forces in Germany was twenty-two marks to the dollar.

Since Germany resumed commercial relations with the outside world she has been able to import only meager quantities of necessary and staple foodstuffs, with the exception of fish and milk, the food journals say. There has been a good crop of fruits and vegetables throughout Germany. Livestock is reported to be about 20 per cent below normal with little prospect of enough food to stimulate breeding, except possibly of hogs.

UNEARTHED INDIAN SKELETON BURIED 500 YEARS AGO

DEERFIELD, Mass., Oct. 8.—Skeletons of three Indians have been unearthed on a farm here by Warren K. Moorehead, curator of the department of archaeology of Phillips Andover Academy. One skeleton was more than six feet tall, one of medium height, and the third was that of a boy about ten or twelve years old.

UNEARTHED A MACKINAC MINE

HAMMOND, Ind., Oct. 8.—A mackinac mine was unearthed here by other day, but it proved to be a "salted" vein. Leveling off a newly purchased suburban lot, Otto Reese came upon eight piles of the salt fish, apparently in good condition despite long interval. It is believed that freight car bundles slanted the fish and forgot where the mackinac was cached.

LONDON FLANS TO HAVE SKYSCRAPERS

By Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The old question of whether London is to have skyscrapers is being revived because of the high price of property in the business section and the lack of space in office buildings. The government buildings in Whitehall are four stories high, but it has been found necessary to add a story to the war office to meet the demands of the department. One well known architect in such with the government's plans expressed the opinion that unless the new and old ministries were content to do their work outside London the skyscrapers were inevitable in Whitehall.

Generally speaking, however, London does not like tall buildings. Percy Tubbs, past president of the Society of Architects, declared that if the skyscraper were to come it would be necessary to widen the streets.

"Space in London is not so scarce as it is in New York, which is an absurdity," he said. "I think the traffic problem will not become so unwieldy that we shall be afraid to let London expand any farther outward and we shall be compelled to expand it upward. Personally, I always feel that where skyscrapers abound the man in the streets moves in the bottom of a well."

After an architects who are here meeting a huge department store have repeatedly asked for permission to extend the main building high enough to accommodate not only the present business of the concern, but to provide for the future, and have with no encouragement whatever.

BIG EPIDEMIC HERE—BUT IT'S "SWIPING" ONE

An epidemic of petty thievery is going on in Ranger. Hardly a day passes but that from one to several cases of petty larceny are reported to the police.

The thieves seem to be partial to handbags and suitcases. Their method is to rain entrance to rooms in hotels and rooming houses and carry off the baggage while the occupants are out of the rooms, and sometimes while they are asleep in bed.

Among the numerous cases reported recently is that of a discharged soldier who suffered the loss of a black leather handbag containing some toilet articles, underwear and several oil stock certificates valued at about $400.

The handbag was of black leather and of "double-deck" design. The soldier valued it very highly for the reason it was given to him by his sister in Oklahoma. It is said he has offered a reward of $100 for the recovery of the handbag and its contents.

A number of teamsters have reported thefts of harness recently. Some of the stolen harness has been recovered by the police.

Ranger has the best fire record of all cities its size in the state. The loss here is phenomenally small. Yet there are more means to start fires here than anywhere else. Evidently it shows circumspect caution on the part of the citizens and judgement and ability on the part of the fire department. Wonder if they'd reduce our key rate now.

Freshman Senator Is Real Sea Dog; Has Naval Career

Intimate personal sketch of the new arrivals in Congress who will pilot nation through the reconstruction days.

By D. M. CHURCH, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The only sea-dog in the Senate is a freshman Senator. Senator Truman Handy Newberry of Michigan, has had a naval career, running from service in the Spanish American war to the high office of Secretary of the Navy, and ending with service as a lieutenant commander in the late war with Germany.

Of the new Senators Senator Newberry is one of the most active and aggressive, particularly in matters pertaining to naval affairs. Senator Newberry, although he has spent many months in the naval service, has acquired considerable weight and appears on the floor as the heaviest man in the Senate, at least in avoidance.

Leaving Yale University in 1885, Senator Newberry engaged in the manufacturing business and first became an official of the Government in 1905, when he was made Assistant Secretary of the Navy, which office he held until 1908. He served as Secretary of the Navy in 1909 and 1910-19 and then retired to private life.

Michigan Senator Newberry was still in the naval service, but he became a candidate for election, opposing Henry Ford. Newberry won but Ford protested the election and the matter has been ordered investigated by the Senate, though there seems to be slight disposition to investigate on the part of the Senate, and it is generally whispered about Congress and Detroit that Henry Ford has relinquished his desire for a seat in the Senate. The investigation will go on, however, because Senator Newberry has expressed a desire that full and complete investigation be made of the entire matter.

TOLEDO, Oct. 8.—Starving and without clothing or fuel, Madame Marie Berlino, former Lima woman, in a letter to a friend here, tells of her predicament in Berlin and says she never expects to be able to leave there. The letter, which was written August 18, says she has made all arrangements for the end and unless something unexpected happens it will occur soon.

Madam Berlino went to Germany twenty years ago to study music. She was lame and was honored by the ex-empress.

Her letter tells of terrible suffering in the German capital. Only the immensely rich have food and clothing, she says. There is little maintenance of law and order and killing is the rule, while workers refuse to work. She sees no prospect of relief, although inhabitants of the city are being so starved they stagger like drunken persons.

She concludes her letter by saying she believes the former kaiser would be torn to pieces were he in Berlin now. In her opinion, Germany is crushed never to rise again.

YOUNG WOMAN BELIEVED TO BE AMERICAN, DEAD IN GENEVA MYSTERY

Exclusive Cable to International News Service and London Daily Express. GENEVA, Switzerland, Oct. 7.—The Montreux police are investigating a strange crime committed in one of the principal hotels of the town.

A young woman of twenty-four, said to have been either an American or an English woman, recently made the acquaintance of a Hungarian adventurer. The two became bosom friends and the former, upon entering the latter's room found the adventurer giving herself a morphine injection.

"Will you have one, too?" asked the adventurer. "If you like," was the reply. The injection was given and proved to be so strong that the young woman died. It is reported that the adventurer, who was arrested, owed her victim a large sum of money. The police refuse to disclose the names of the women.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The struggle between Rafael Nieto and General Martinez in the government of San Luis Potosi has reached Mexico City, advisers from the Mexican capital today say, and Nieto has addressed a communication to President Carranza, the Senate, the Chamber of Deputies and the supreme court, announcing that he has taken the oath of office as governor and asks authority to arm and equip the state militia force of 2,500 men to enforce his recognition as constitutional governor.

He accuses Juan Barragan, Carranza's military chief, who as former governor turned over the power to Martinez and reported the latter in the campaign for election, with suppressing the newspapers and otherwise infringing on the rights of free speech.

HOSPITAL FIELD SECRETARY WAS VISITOR HERE

Miss Sippie Davidson, field secretary for the National Jewish Consumptive Hospital, of Denver, Colo., was in Ranger Wednesday, raising funds for the support of the hospital.

The National Jewish Consumptive Hospital is supported entirely by voluntary contributions from people of the Jewish faith. It is purely a benevolent organization and its motto is, "None who enter can pay and none who enter can pay." It is non-sectarian in its work, receiving consumptives of any nationality or religious faith.

The hospital has a capacity of 200 patients. There are fourteen buildings, including a medical building devoted entirely to research work. A library for the hospital has 1,500 volumes, and pianos and phonographs and moving pictures furnish entertainment for the inmates.

The hospital is said to have been the first in the United States to offer its facilities to the government when war broke out between this country and Germany. For a time United States soldiers suffering from tuberculosis were sent there, but later the government built a hospital in Denver with a capacity of 1,500 patients.

where as a novelist, a sportsman and an explorer.

"The Westerners," a W. W. Hodgkinson release, is the western picture in a de luxe edition. Its local, as the thousands of readers of the novel will recall, is the Black Hills, in the days of the gold rush, when the white man broke his treaties and forced his way into Pah-ep-sah, the valley of the Sioux. The Custer massacre followed and the white man drove the Sioux from the Dakotas. The picture is historically correct in every detail. It is beautiful in scenic effects, swift as lightning in drama, with a charming romance and abounding in little touches of pathos and comedy. It has been produced without regard to expense, with an all-star cast, among whom are Roy Stewart, R. L. McKim, Mildred Manning and Wilfred Lucas. The director, Edward Sirovan, has made a masterpiece for himself by his able handling of this picture.

RAINS STOP PICKING OF COTTON IN JONES COUNTY

Special to The Times.

STAMFORD, Oct. 8.—Sufficient rains have fallen in Jones county since Saturday to suspend cotton picking for several days. Cotton picking was in full swing last week. Farmers are selling it as fast as they can get it to market. About 1700 bales have been sold.

Most of the feed is yet to be headed and cared for, as there is a lot of it in the field that is not yet ripe. Very little wheat and oats will be sown in the county this fall. Some of the last crop is yet to be threshed. Most of this will be a total loss except for the benefit derived for pasturage last winter.

SIPE SPRINGS COMING FIELD, SAYS VISITOR

Sipe Springs, the coming oil field of that section of the state, is already becoming a scene of activity for crowds and development, according to Mark A. Boren, manager of the Sipe Springs Real Estate and Investment Company, formerly assistant postmaster at Ranger during the first of the boom days, now a visitor here.

Sipe Springs has already a number of grasses and a few producers, which have been capped, according to Mr. Boren. "It is already a proven field," he declared.

"Two new hotels are being completed this week, one of twenty-four and the other thirty-two rooms," said Mr. Boren, in explaining the development of Sipe Springs itself.

New Buildings.

"New residences are springing up throughout the town. Everybody imbued with the home-building idea because they have faith that Sipe Springs is to become the headquarters of a great oil field. Six new business houses are now under course of erection. A few months ago this town was very small, containing only a handful of people; today it contains not less than 1500. More than fifty real estate men are in business there, indicating clearly that there must be some fire where there is much smoke. A number of real estate men are operating on the curb, but the great majority have offices.

Streets Crowded.

"The streets are crowded the living day. Everybody seems busy and bent on getting locations so they will share some of the prosperity which is about to come Sipe Springs way," said Mr. Boren. "The postoffice conditions are not dissimilar to those which obtained here until a few months ago. Our mail is badly delayed and congested because of the insufficient force to care for it. It is impossible to secure a lockbox at the office and it is continually congested with inquirers for mail.

Big Gas Reservoir.

The Dun well three and a quarter miles northwest of Sipe Springs, is said to have been passing 3,000,000 cubic feet daily for the last ten days. This is an Humble Oil company operation and the drill has reached 2750 feet.

Potter's Speds In.

The Potter, one half mile southeast from the Dunn well, was spudded in Monday under favorable circumstances and was a large number of beholders. It has a location which appears promissory of oil with property de th reached.

The Maxon is said to be gassing at 2,000 feet. It is four miles north of the Dun well.

The Atlantic, in the same field, is drilled.

The Goss Nos. 1 and 2, which are capped, are gassing, it was reported.

Moorman a Producer.

The Moorman, which came in August 2, is a producer, declare the fraternity. When it blew in oil was shot over the derrick, but it was almost immediately capped and though remaining that way ever since, oil in small quantities continue to come up through the casing.

The Republic Oil and Refining company, adjoining the Watson tract, is erecting a derrick at present and expects to spud in shortly. The prospects there seem to be very good according to Mr. Boren.

15 New Locations.

It is unofficially reported that the Humble company has recently made fifteen locations in the Sipe Springs territory, indicating that it has genuine faith in that section as a coming oil producer.

Two miles south of Sipe Springs a drilling contract has been let and snuffing in is expected to be made not later than November 20.

Pipe Lines Being Built.

That the field is a producer is indicated by the fact that pipe lines are already being laid into Sipe Springs. It is said that the coupling of the wells in that territory is due to the lack of storage tanks and pipeline connections. When these have been secured Mr. Boren thinks that the Sipe Springs field will be formally announced to the general public as one of the greatest that has yet been brought in. This belief is shared by hundreds of others in the Sipe Springs country, and is the basis upon which the town's growth is now being so phenomenally rapid. With wells which would be produced if uncapped, and with unlimited gas and many new wells being drilled, Sipe Springs appears to the oil geologist as an assured field already.

Sipe Springs is a station on the Missouri Kansas and Texas line running to De Leon. Considerable activity in real estate and exchanges of leases have been recorded in the last few weeks and interest is rife in the hour when the wells will be uncapped and the world has a general announcement of the coming new field. Mr. Boren said.

Mr. Boren has just come from the Springs and reports wonderful progress in oil development, some of the information on which, gathered by him, reads magically.

FAILURE TO DIE WORRIES MONUMENT BUILDER

BELLAIR, Ohio, Oct. 8.—Failure of Santa Bardonne to die, as physicians had scheduled, is causing a local monument dealer lots of worry. Bardonne could not live more than a few days, the learned doctors said; so the sick man made all arrangements for his funeral and ordered an expensive monument "to be paid for thirty days after death." Bardonne did not die; in fact, he picked up immediately after giving the monument order. He says he will keep the monument builder to the contract.

REX REECH STORY AT QUEEN FRIDAY

In "The Girl from Outside," Rex Reech's story of Alaska which was produced for Queen Friday, Queen theater patrons will have a chance to see some very interesting acting.

Clara Horton as Jane, the girl who on her way to Nome, loses her father on the boat, is protected by a boy thug who loves her at first sight, and the boy is later shot by a gambler; and the situation develops genuine heart interest through the masterful directing of Reginald Barker, who supervised the making of every scene. The "Kid" who has made the supreme sacrifice for the welfare of the girl, and so paved the way for her marriage to another, is splendidly acted by Cullen Landis. Clara Horton, as the girl who appreciates the full magnitude of the boy's devotion, unfolds possibilities as an emotional actress of unguessed powers.

Leung Chow, as the Chinese chieftain of the thugs, is one of the surprises of the picture. His performance is sincere, sympathetic and powerful.

HIPPODROME PROGRAM CHANGES AGAIN TODAY.

Bert Smith's "Rag Time Wonders" present their second offering of the week called "Who's Who," a farce comedy abounding with ludicrous situations and culminating in a side-splitting climax.

The playette is interpolated with musical specialties, a buck and wing dancing number and a wire walking act.

"THE WESTERNERS" POWERFUL DRAMA OF BLACK HILLS.

All the world loves American western pictures," says Benjamin B. Hampton, the well-known producer, who specializes in large feature photoplays. "From the days of Broncho Billy's one-reelers to the time of William S. Hart, more net profits have been made by the manufacture of 'westerns' than have come to any other group of picture makers. American audiences love the stories of our outdoors, and English audiences like them just as well. So do the Scandinavians and the South Americans and all the folk in between."

Mr. Hampton and Rex Beach produced "The Barrier," from Mr. Beach's novel. "The Barrier" photoplay made picture history the world over. Mr. Hampton's latest special production is "The Westerners," which comes to the Liberty Theatre Thursday and Friday. "The Westerners" is the novel that made the fame of Stewart White, now known every-

The sign of the best, thick corn flake at your grocers.

"The proof of the pudding is the eating thereof"
You can no more argue down facts, than pull yourself to heaven by your boot straps.

I make the unqualified statement that

Kellogg's (Roasted) KORN KRISP

ARE the best-tasting, crispiest, most nutritious, thick corn flakes on the market today.

This either is the TRUTH or it is not the truth. Let the Facts speak for themselves. Everyone claims his product, is best, and many use all the power of printers' ink, and genius-inspired imagination to paint glowing word pictures of their product.

—But we concentrate on the product itself. We use all our talent in making Korn Krisp.

We ask the public to prove the BEST by ACTUAL TEST.

Contrast Kellogg's Krispy KORN KRISP with the thick, limp, leathery flakes now on the market. You be Judge and Jury. Your decision is final.

Buy the large, full, "Waxtite" package. Let your family eat it down to the last, thick, crackling, toothsome flake.

If they don't all vote it the best, thick corn flake they ever tasted, we lose. The grocer will freely give you your money back.

Can I offer any fairer test than this?

Very sincerely,

BRITAIN HAS NOT YET SOLVED WOMAN PROBLEM

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The women who were widowed by the war and girls and women who have been made jobless by the ending of hostilities are still an unsolved problem in England. A winter which may prove to be a acute financial problem for millions of the British population may force the government to add a feminine plank to its reconstruction platform.

What has become of all the women war workers, is a question asked by Americans visiting England today, and a difficult one it is to answer; for, to casual appearances, they have been absorbed already into the normal life of Britain.

The situation, however, is about this:

Those tens of thousands of khaki-clad and rain-coated mutton girls of strong, supple figures and swinging gait were the first to be thrown out of their war time occupations. But they had made big money, more perhaps than women had ever made in England before, and they drew their unemployment doles with dead-regularity and went on carefree holidays. Mostly they are holidaying still. Although unemployment grants are being cut to a minimum some members of the family probably draw on the Government, others work and the girls still play. They seem domestic still.

The Land Girls, the Wrens and the Wrafs were largely girls of comfortably fixed families. If "demobbed" they have gone back into home life. The Waacs, generally, were of not so high a financial scale, but demobilization of the army and unfinished war jobs have kept many of them in uniform.

The government office girls were kept at their desks, tea drinking and idling, if newspaper campaigns are to be believed, for many months, and only the agitated economy campaign recently waged has resulted in the release of any great number of these.

The bus girls' disappearance has been gradual, as Tommies, after trying for better jobs, returned to their places as collectors of burdensome English coppers. The ten railway porters generally graduated from the corps of Messengers and car cleaners, and to occupations they regarded as a step down. Many of the milk girls, the late teens, are still to be seen pushing the tiny milk carts with brass-trimmed cans atop and warbling a musical call as they swing into the "tradesmen's" entrance with their little quart buckets.

In many offices the chiefs have found intelligent girls quicker and more accurate than the low-grade clerks who served them so cheaply before the days of the Marne, and they hold their places.

Generally, however, there has been a great outflowing of women and girls from wartime occupations, and, as a rule, these refuse to go back to the pre war occupations of women. At the present time it cannot be said that this has been an unsettling as had been expected. The release has been gradual, and unemployment doles have been liberal. But the release has been quickened by need of Government economy and the same need has caused reduction of Government grants.

In case of war widows the Government is already moving. The Ministry of Labor has just taken over the training of war widows for various trades and announces that widows of privates will receive allowances totaling about $4.25 weekly, in addition to whatever pension they draw during the period of training for trades of many kinds. Wives of officers may draw as much as $3.00 in some cases to cover expenses and instruction during their period of training.

Britain's five million surplus women form a constant subject of comment and controversy in print. Some of the war workers have married, of course, and many have migrated to Canada, to the colonies and even to the United States, but when there is estimated to be a surplus of five million, the greatest of all occupations will be closed to hundreds of thousands.

BRAZILIANS DO NOT FEAR PROHIBITION

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Oct. 8.—The prohibition law, which is probably the most greatly affected of any country, is not feared by the Brazilian people. The national beverage is a strong drink, and the shops are among the most interesting sights of the city. They are to be found everywhere, but are especially numerous in the downtown section and along the principal avenues.

The shops are on the street floor, are wide open and contain numerous small tables. Excellent coffee, generally black and strong, served in tiny cups at the uniform price equivalent to about 2 1/2 cents a cup.

It is in these shops and while sipping their coffee that many Brazilians discuss business or social affairs and also watch the passing world. Many of the shops remain open all night and are well patronized. In fact, some of them contain a bar of 3 a. m. then at any hour of the day. Nearly all of the coffee is grown on an estate of about 100 acres, but there is little call for it in Brazil, but there is little call

FIRE WHISTLES INCREASE INSURANCE RATES

International News Service. TOPEKA, Oct. 7.—Fire whistles are almost a thing of the past in Kansas. The reason is that the fire insurance companies charge higher rates in towns where there are fire whistles. The companies declare that a fire whistle is an added risk, because telephone patrons call in to learn the location of the fire when they hear the whistle, and the work of calling the firemen—volunteers—is greatly delayed, often resulting in heavy losses.

12-INCH RAIN IS REPORTED NEAR ABILENE TODAY

Special to The Times. ABILENE, Oct. 8.—What is said to have been the biggest rain in the history of this county fell early Monday morning in the Ovalo section, in the southern part of Taylor county, where twelve inches of precipitation was reported.

The rain was accompanied by a heavy hail which ruined crops about Ovalo, Guion, Bradshaw and Lawn, some of the richest agricultural lands in West Texas. All open cotton was beaten off, only the very green bolls remaining.

The rain caused a washout on the Abilene & Southern railroad at Coates switch, fifteen miles south of Abilene. Some of the track was washed away.

The lake near Ovalo overflowed for the first time since it was built, several years ago.

AT THE TEXAS PACIFIC COAL & OIL COMPANY

"IT CERTAINLY DOES THE WORK," HE SAYS
J. C. Reese, well known well digger residing at Eastland, Texas, is another well known citizen who comes forward with his unqualified endorsement of the remarkable treatment, Orgatone. In a recent conversation with the Orgatone representative in Renfro's Drug Store Mr. Reese said: "I am glad to endorse Orgatone treatment because it's a medicine that certainly does the work, at least it has for me. Before I took Orgatone I was suffering dreadfully with pains in the pit of my stomach and my kidneys were badly out of order. I had been in this condition for two years and I spent many a dollar for treatments but none of them seemed to hit the spot. My duties kept me on the outside most of the time, I naturally had to be on the job and felt like I just couldn't go through many a time the pain was so bad I'd say. My appetite wasn't much good either and this, with the bad condition of my kidneys and the nervousness which followed it made life miserable for me in general. "After having finished six bottles of Orgatone the results certainly were surprising to me. I had been reading in the papers about the great work it was doing and an oil driller who works with me said it was the greatest medicine he had ever tried. After all this I had no idea it would do me so much good in so short a time. All the pains have gone from the pit of my stomach and I can eat just anything and everything I want without any of the bad effects which used to follow every meal. I sleep well every night and feel better than I have in years. I believe my troubles are gone for good and you can put me down as a strong friend of Orgatone. I believe it will do anybody good and I am glad to tell everybody about it." Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy, but a new, scientific treatment, absolutely free from alcohol in any form, and is sold in Ranger exclusively by the Ranger Drug company, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Dallas News.

THE TIMES' DAILY SHORT STORY

ALWAYS A WAY OUT

By Lillian Hale Crowley

"Allie, dear, you look worried"
"I am worried, mother."
"Why, what have you to be worried about?" You're young and pretty and engaged to John Snauer, the finest young man in the world."
"It's this, mother, John has always moved up the best circles born at his home and at the university, and we have lived so simply here—pinching ourselves—that I won't know how to manage the beautiful home he is building for us."
"Just warn, dear, and I will tell you everything I know. I had a nice home once."
"Yes, I know, mother, but I'll tell you, I lack the practical knowledge of everyday usage. Why, I can't even serve a dinner properly. We've mostly eaten out of boxes, we've been so busy."
"That's true enough, Allie."
"Mrs. Mangan and her daughter were sewing in their tiny living room during this conversation. Two weeks before Alice had finished her first year in college. While there she had met John Snauer and it was a love affair at first. Alice was working her way through college by being an assistant teacher.
Her mother, left a widow with two little girls when very young, had made a brave fight to educate her children. Alice had been a wonderful help with the housework and sewing, and later with tutoring.
Things were looking much better for them, now, as Mrs. Mangan had been offered a position as manager and designer of the dressmaking department in one of the large stores. She was taking a two weeks' rest that she very much needed. She had done dressmaking for years in the little rooms where she lived with her daughters and was weary of the drudgery at it. Louise, the younger daughter, was in her sophomore year in high school.
Alice, with her beauty and charm, had won the catch at the university. John Snauer's parents had come from a neighboring state for the graduation of their son, and Mrs. Mangan and Louise had managed to scrape together enough money to go and meet Allie's intended husband and his family.
Everything had been so pleasant. Life looked very bright for them all—and now Allie was worried.
"Mother, I have a plan and I hope you won't hinder me. It is this: You know the charming Mrs. Fred Merton who lives in that pretty house on the corner of Eighth and Pleasant streets?"
"Yes, dear."
"She needs a maid and I have decided to ask for the place. Now wait until I tell you my plan. I can work for her for two months before my wedding. John isn't coming here until then. That will give me some real money for my trousseau, and you can have my things made in our shop. I can learn how things should be done. The house is about the size of the one I am to live in in Oxbridge, and she keeps one maid and has a laundress come in. Just exactly as John and I planned for ourselves."
"But—wouldn't John and his family be horrified at your working as a servant?"
"They will never know," declared Alice. "I shall give another name. I am used to work and I shall ask questions and learn a lot. You know, Mrs. Merton belongs to one of the best families and always does the proper thing."
"If it were any one else, dear," said the mother, "I would think it a good plan; but I hate to think of you doing a servant's work."
"It is the kind of work that thousands of women do in their own homes. Besides, I wouldn't be a servant; I would only take the place of one for a few weeks, and I need the money as well as the knowledge. Oxbridge, John's home town, being a small place, goes in hard for society. Parties all the time, and they dress more than in a larger place."
"I hate to go to John with a miserable wardrobe. He wouldn't care—the dear—but for his sake I want some social knowledge. I can learn more in the short time I shall be at Mrs. Merton's than in years later—besides, I shall be saved the embarrassment of making mistakes."
"Oh, dear!" said Mrs. Mangan, looking bewildered.
"It's a sport, mother, and we'll enjoy this secret together. We've lived so secluded here in these little upstairs rooms that no one pays any attention to us. Mrs. Merton has never seen me, although, being so popular, I have seen her and heard a lot about her, too. Please, mother."
"Very well, Alice. I am almost enticed."
"I'll call you at once and apply for the place," said Alice as she pinned on her hat.
Alice came back beaming with enthusiasm. "I start tomorrow and Mrs. Merton is a dear. I told her I was interested in her plans for making a new dress. She will show me everything for a week. Then I will know the routine."
Alice returned every evening and to her mother and Louise of what she had gained in knowledge. She kept a notebook.

"Just think," said she, "I didn't know now a table should be set; nor when to seat the guest of honor, and these are important things to know. I am taking down the names of the kinds of chairs the Mertons have."
"That, too, Mrs. Merton is chairman of the art department in the women's club and she told me a lot of things that they study. For instance, I know, now, that I know about pictures and I know John doesn't; so we won't have any pictures in our house until we learn something about them."
"You have the rest of your lives to select pictures," said Mrs. Mangan, "so I think you are wise there."
"Mr. Merton is going to borrow some of the papers that members of the class have written and let me read them. Then I have access to all her art books. My notebook is nearly full now and I have been there only five weeks."
"At your clothes are going to be lovely," said Mrs. Mangan, happily.
"I think you're the cleverest thing Allie," exclaimed Louise.
"And I'm not working any harder than I were home. I have more money for clothes and all this housekeeping knowledge besides. Then, too, I know how to manage a maid—know how she should dress, wait on a table and answer the door. I feel good to my beautiful home now."
The 15th of September and Alice's wedding day arrived. John came with his parents and met the bride with Louise, the bridesmaid, and their mother at the church. There was a beautiful though simple wedding and no reception afterward.
The bride in going away gown and hat left with her husband for the honeymoon immediately after the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Snauer left at the same time for Oxbridge. It had been a perfect day!
That same evening Louise remarked to her mother: "I shouldn't be surprised if Allie made John governor of the state some day."
"It should be more surprising if she didn't," calmly replied the mother. (Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

International News Service.
CINCINNATI, Oct. 6.—When the name of "H. # WORK RESUMED ON STRUCTURES AFTER THE RAIN

After a full of twenty-four hours, due to heavy showers, work has resumed in Ranger and suburbs on construction of buildings. Practically all structures under course of erection were neglected Tuesday. Work on street paving preliminaries was resumed this morning. In the excavated sections on Main, between Austin and Rusk, flood waters accumulated, requiring drainage. Considerable coarse sand and other materials for paving has been arriving daily and work of laying the concrete base for the reception of the brick is expected to begin soon.

The final touches are being given to the exterior of the large Marston building, at the northeast corner of Main and Marston streets. Interior arrangement is now the order. The large three-story building just to the east has shown more wonderful progress than most any other building in the city. Across the street little work has been shown on the new six-story office and bank building. The floor for the cement block building on Walnut street, between Marston and Rusk, is being laid for the fish market, adjoining the structure at present occupied by this building. The finishing touches to the exterior of the new laundry building at the southwest corner of Austin and Walnut are being made, giving the company one of the best laundry buildings to be found in West Texas.

Foundations for the large building on Commerce street, just across the street from the Texas & Pacific station, have been practically laid and work on the superstructure will be started as soon as that stage of its development has been reached. The finishing touches are being put to the new structure at the northeast corner of Pine and Marston streets, which has been under course of construction during the summer. The big building at the southwestern corner of Pine and Austin streets is rapidly nearing completion. The columns for the pouring of concrete for the new Hodges-Tenell building on the north side of Main street, between Austin and Rusk, are being rapidly raised and the pouring of concrete should start within a few days. This will be one of the most imposing structures to be found in the city. Likewise its dimensions will be great.

The first National bank building, southeast corner of Rusk and Main streets is looming up. The beautiful stone front is being put in place and brick work has progressed rapidly. This structure will be one of the most imposing on Main street. It will be a comfortable and elegant home for a large banking institution. The new building on Austin street, between Main and Pine, are rapidly nearing completion. Several houses in a thriving city of today. The large new garage at Austin and Cherry streets is also rapidly nearing completion. It is probably the largest garage building being built in the oil fields. Excavation for the "L" building, which will have frontages on Main and Marston streets, is progressing rapidly despite the inclement weather. This is to be one of the best structures in the city.

Other buildings have shown progress during the week, particularly a number of residences in various parts of the city. Building permits are becoming more numerous daily, especially for homes for wage-workers.

Futilis

By Paul C. Yates.

All my time is spent in chasing
Coin to purchase beans and bread.
Other men would die in tracing
Out the tracks I daily tread.

And I cannot help but wonder
How my loaf and waste their time
And have gobs of coin to squander
When I cannot raise a dime.

CONTRACTS LET TO M'NELLEY CO. FOR BUILDINGS

The Tom McNelly company has begun work on the construction of a building for Palmer Bros., proprietors of the Liberty theater on Rusk street, on their former location of the Aldome theater.

The structure as planned will be a first-class, modern three building, 40 by 40 feet, while an additional structure on the rear is planned, which will be 40 by 100 feet. It is thought the rear structure will be leased for a garage.

The front portion of the building will be constructed at an expenditure of $5,500, while the rear structure will cost an additional $5,000. Miss Marie Mitchell, who owns the Hotel Bachelor at 207 and 211 Pine street, has let contracts to the Tom McNelly company to put modern improvements on her property, which includes baths, toilets and the enclosure of the roof garden with glass. She is having the building lowered to the street level and putting in concrete sidewalks. When completed it will be one of the most attractive and modern hotels in Ranger.

A. L. Bowen sold his bungalow in Young addition to Dr. W. C. Palmer. Dr. Palmer maintains offices in the P. & Q. Realty building. He came to Ranger recently and expects to make this his permanent home. The deal was made through the Craven-Marowitz Realty Company.
