"I must meet my mortgage this month. You can count on my support when that is out of the way," was the answer of one man who was willing to give, but could not.

Totals for the day were $156,790.00. The amount yet to be subscribed to make up the $225,000 which will be necessary to complete the payments on the right of way is $68,210.00.

The Cisco Chamber of Commerce feels that the railroad administration has been just and always ready to assist in relieving all congested conditions here. The extra sleeper will be appreciated also by scores of Fort Worth people and travelers from other cities who have business in this city. Announcement of the new Pullman service will be made to the public as soon as the timetable is made up.

STRAWN WELL MAKING 1,000; BIG SENSATION

STRAWN, Oct. 13.—There has probably never been a more sensational find in a shallow oil field than the well being brought in on section 71 of the Starns ranch seven miles northwest of Strawn. This well at first was estimated to be a 500-barrel well, but authentic reports from the well show that it is making more than 1,000 barrels and only flowing by heads every seventeen minutes.

The well is better than the average deep sand producer and opens up an entirely new territory in the production of petroleum in Texas. It was drilled by the T. P. Coal and Oil company and the drill is being sent down to reach the deep sand, but at 1,700 feet a new sand was reached and the oil came out to be viewed by the human eye.

HAMILTON TEST CAUSES A STIR IN CEDAR GAP

Special to The Times.

ABILENE, Oct. 13.—Abilene again is on its toes with expectancy as a result of the striking of what is said to be a fine showing of oil in the Hamilton No. 1 of R. H. Allison, fourteen miles south of Abilene, in Cedar Gap. The oil is said to be the best found in this section and it was accompanied by a showing of gas which is reported to be the strongest ever found here.

The strike was made at 1,521 feet, the lowest depth of any important find in this field. At 1,450 feet the drill passed through saturated sand which was thirty-one feet thick.

Following the striking of oil and gas an effort was made to underream and rest the casing, but a joint of casing parted and the drillers now are engaged in straightening it out.

There has always been great confidence in this test among the talent of this section and this strike is regarded as being highly significant. The news has not been accompanied by the usual wild excitement, but there is an undercurrent of quiet confidence in the outcome of the test.

Allison has another tent nine miles south of Abilene, which is down toward 1,350 feet. It is no Hale

PORT WORTH, Oct. 13.—L. W. Tarkington announced today that the Beaver Valley Oil Company would build a 5,000-barrel refinery in this city within the near future. The cost of the refinery will be about $100,000.

There is an urgent need of additional census enumerators in the county, according to a letter received by The Times from County Judge C. R. Starnes at Eastland.

Judge Starnes' letter follows: "I have a letter from A. W. Sledge, supervisor of census for the seventeenth district of Texas, in which he says he does not have enough enumerators to take the census in this county. I believe you will agree with me that it is of the utmost importance that an accurate and full census of our population be taken, for much credit can be had from such a census.

"Mr. Sledge wrote me to recommend competent men and women, saying that the pay will be around $150. As a public service, will you give the fact publicity in your paper, that there is a great need for enumerators and that those desiring positions should write to me, or to Mr. Sledge at Ballinger?"

Incidentally, Judge Starnes expresses his appreciation, and that of the other county officials, for the work The Times did in giving favorable publicity to the $4,500,000 county road bond election.

BIG REFINERY TO BE BUILT AT FT. WORTH SOON

Special to The Times.

MANY TROOPS WAY TO RIGA TO AID LETTISH

Special to The Times.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—Important troop movements are occurring in the direction of Riga, according to a telegram received here today from Basil, Switzerland.

Letishian troops are said to have left Segwood for Riga, thirty miles distant, and Lettish reinforcements are reported enroute to Libau on a transport for the purpose of joining the Lettish forces, who have landed there from British vessels.

Midnight Frolics Open on the Roof at 8:30 Tonight

"The Midnight Frolics," as the Roof Garden is rechristened, is scheduled to open tonight under the management of Mrs. P. J. Snell, who will receive the roof into a dancing academy and fete.

That the patrons of the "Frolics" will have the juiciest of times is made certain by the importation from Wichita Falls, by Bob Dalton, of the Williams brothers "Jazzing Five," a quintet of negroes who certainly are near with the piano, traps, saxophone clarinet and trombone. McCleskey cafe patrons enjoyed the boys' efforts Saturday through temporary arrangements made by Manager Al Hastings.

Mrs. Snell has brought with her from Wichita Falls, where she ran a dancing academy at the St. James hotel, ten girls who will act as instructors in the latest dances.

Oil Engineering Is Only for Minds Highly Trained

Special to The Times.

AUSTIN, Oct. 13.—A new course offered by the University of Texas that no doubt will be popular but for the fact that it is restricted to advanced students alone, is that of oil engineering offered by the chemical engineering department. The discovery of the new oil fields in Northwest Texas has made the study of geology and kindred subjects of special interest, and E. P. Schoch, head of the department, announces that a large attendance in the class would be the result were it permitted. At present there are only six students in the class, all of whom are seniors in chemistry.

"Oil engineering, to be successful, requires a highly trained mind, and because we realize that one less highly trained could not make a janitor's salary in the work, we have restricted the study to only advanced students. The work will be interesting and we hope it will result in much good," Mr. Schoch said.

The chemistry department of the university now has a total enrollment of more than 1,250, a considerable increase over that of last year. In spite of the large volume of laboratory work which it carries, the subject has one of the largest enrollments of any department in the university. The enrollment necessitates the enlarging of the chemical laboratory facilities and this is being accomplished rapidly.

JUST GOING TO SHOW BARNUM WAS RIGHT.

ABILENE, Oct. 13.—He was a slick city feller and they do say he made a right smart a money among the ranks of the easy marks.

He "worked" Abilene Friday and he did a rushing business. Now some Abileneans think Neah Webster made a mistake in compiling his little brochure on correct English.

The joker would approach a group of stanch citizens and propound his question.

"What does the word 'transpire' mean?" he would ask.

"Why, it means to happen, of course," someone would answer.

"Betcher ten dollars it don't. Betcher god money it means to sweat, plain old swee-e-a-t," the Webster would say. "I refer you to Webster."

Of course this catch is as old as Webster himself, but it still finds easy sailing.

RESULT HAS BEEN AMAZING, BROOKS SAYS

It is not what the manufacturers claim for it, but the testimony of the multiplied thousands who have benefited by it that has made Orgatone the most famous treatment of its kind in the world today. O. D. Brooks of 2013 Taylor Street, Wichita Falls, Texas, a well known ear-painter, in relating his experience with Orgatone said:

"For several months, in fact ever since last spring, I have had an awful lot of trouble with my stomach. Everything disagreed with me and after meals I would get that puffed up, bloated feeling and would belch up my food sour and undigested. I got to the point where I was almost afraid to eat anything, because I knew it would cause suffering. I was constipated and had terrific headaches and my sleep was very poor. My system seemed to be all run-down, I was losing weight and felt tired and worn out all the time. I was losing ground all the time and felt that unless I could get the right medicine my troubles would soon become serious.

"My wife, who had been kept up with the Orgatone testimony, had several friends recommend the greatest preparation they ever tried, then she persuaded me to try it and it has not only rid me of my troubles but has built me up amazingly. I have taken it and my stomach is now in good shape. My appetite is fine and I feel what I want without feeling indigestion. My constipation, headaches and all that tired feeling are gone and I have gained in strength besides. Orgatone has been a great thing for me; don't think anybody suffering did can make a mistake by a trial."

Orgatone is not a so-called secret remedy but a new treatment absolutely free of any harmful substances and is sold exclusively by the Orgatone Company, under the name of a special Organization, Texas Advertisement.

OAKS AND CITIES.
Giant oaks from little acorns grow!
Mighty cities from small towns spring!

One of the mysterious workings of nature is that it can cause a seed smaller than a peewee marble to grow into a tree whose greatness may be the talk of a whole community. One of the startling workings of a citizenship is that it can develop a country town smaller than its name into a city whose greatness may be the word of the whole world. Nature is never neglectful in its duty. Citizens often are.

The lesson of nature is given to man to profit by. In Ranger we have the makings of one of the largest cities in the entire Southwest. Nature here has aided in prompting us to build, to produce, to engage, to magnify. We cannot afford to be neglectful of our opportunity.

Just now we stand on the threshold of our greatest prosperity. Our discerning eyes can readily perceive down the dim vista of the future a wonderful city, a model city, a paragon of city, of culture, of splendid streets, of modern conveniences—more beauty which will be the cynosure of the entire world. We have been scuffed, belittled, despised. We have prospered despite our enemies, jealous of our future. It is quite an honor to a city to be the object of jealousy, because it manifests more than anything that it earns recognition. Ranger is the object of jealousy. There are towns and there are persons who would not scruple to drive the stiletto into our hearts. They laugh at our faults, they ridicule our efforts to get out of the mud, they sneer at our municipal efforts. We are the offscouring of the earth in their eyes.

Yet, we have the goods. They realize it. It is the fact—a knowledge that we are delivering. But the risen are talked against. Today we are entering in a new period of existence. We have come to a crisis in our physical life. We are at the point of calling a physician, not knowing whether the pains which rack our body are those of death or growth. We feel so badly we don't know whether we want to live or not.

Some of our members are not working in harmony with the other members of our body. There is beginning to be made apparent a need for physics. We must doctor those who are opposed to the securing of the Hamon & Kell railroad. We must make their function. We must have this possession so eagerly cherished in our minds. It is ours if the members of our body will not renege at this crucial period in our growth, when we are given promise of being the strongest and largest of Uncle Sam's boys.

We have planted the acorn of our eyes wisely until today we are the biggest oak of progress standing out in the oil fields. We must continue to prune our branches, we must be watered, and we must begin to put on the umbrageous attire of a large, thriving city. We watch the oaks on our oil hills grow and not our own? SOUP AND SALVATION. of the most effective agencies of righteousness and propagation of religion is the Salvation Army. In a battlefield it glittered. In a city it glitters. Therefore, it is despite the axiom, "Not all that is gold."

Campaign in Ranger opens at this week. Every penny of the organization will be spent in the Ranger will have headquarters for this 3023-25-27. Christian workers, Salvation Army, and the teachings of the

"THAT LITTLE GAME" --- Pay Day Poker

Sumwell Booth, who believes in applying soap and soap before trying to apply salvation. When a man is dirty and grimy, he needs soap and new clothes. When he is hungry fill his stomach. Then he is able to have his spiritual inn: man fed with spiritual food.

The Salvation Army washes the body as well as the soul; feeds the stomach as well as the soul.

CARING FOR ONE'S OWN.
While these orthodox churches are raising Centenary and $75,000,000 funds among the people they ought to remember that some of it should go to every superannuated minister of their denominations. After a clergyman has given the best of his life to the preaching of the gospel and wears himself out, he should be provided with a home and sustenance the remainder of his life. Charity begins at home, not in China. Denominations: stultify themselves before the world when they send money to Christianize the Chinese and fail to take care of their worn and aged ministers.

PUTNAM TO THE FORE.
The Putnam oil field is scintillating. The Cathey well is a small producer. The Peck well is making oil. The Grant well is fuming the valleys with a pall of three to four million feet of gas every day. The Isenhower is getting down to the sands. Putnam, in Callahan county, and Callahan is in an undeveloped oil field.

Once upon a time the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad didn't like the sobriquet "Katy" applied to it by the traveling public, and so it changed its name to the Southwestern Route. But "Katy" clung tenaciously to the household. So it is with the oil field "Ranger" was the name given to it. It is a name people in little towns nearby wanting to call it after their names, frequently refer to it as the "so-called Ranger oil field." Yet "Ranger" clings to the field. There's a reason!

While we are observing "Fire Prevention Day" we not also observe a "Wreck Prevention Day." Trains can't run on bermuda grass. Neither can schedules be maintained where railroad employes don't care whether they "git anywhere or not." The railroads are for the public's benefit, not for the officials' and employes' convenience.

The ostrich buries his head in the Sahara sand when discovered, believing himself hidden. Senator Johnson and a few other recalcitrants elaborate in debate, thinking that they are hiding the League of Nations covenant. Which is the greater fool, the ostrich or the senators?

Nineteen nineteen brought a meteoric shower of material blessings to Ranger; but nineteen twenty is sure to shake down the plums. The lap of Ranger is in a receptive attitude.

The Equator has silently folded its tent and stole away. And when he left he evidently carried most of our attire, else how can we account for the feebility about our legs and necks.

Coal barons have never found Ranger a profitable place to exploit their propaganda about the coming winter famine of black diamonds.

Disgruntled Henrique says he can't thank his lucky star. She quit him sometime ago at Reno.

Why talk the uninteresting? The sale of 2.75 per cent alcohol doesn't bother us.

PRESIDENT VINSON GIVEN BANQUET AT GALVESTON.

Special to The Times.
GALVESTON, Oct. 13.—President R. E. Vinson of the State University was guest at a banquet given by Galveston ex-students of the institution Friday. Plans were laid to encourage the adoption of the proposed constitutional amendment divorcing the university and Agricultural and Mechanical college, given the legislature authority to appropriate money for improvement of the university and localizing the state medical college at Galveston. Twenty-five former students were present at the banquet which was held at Hotel Galvez.

MARRIED HERE SUNDAY.

W. T. Smith and Miss Ruth Vaughan were married at the home of bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brays, yesterday morning at 9:45 o'clock. The Rev. Edgar M. THE TIMES' DAILY SHORT STORY

THE IMP OF THE ARROW

By Dora Mollan

Rodger Cameron placed the last rippy voice and the smile? She might have been any one of the numerous women he had met ad passed on his way out to the raft and back; she might be smiling at him from somewhere right now. Fool that he was to ruin his eyes by midnight study! Happy laughter and bantering voices mingled with the splash of waves. What did he know about playing?

A higher wave than usual deposited something animate at his feet. The something stood erect and shook itself Towser fashion, a feminine hand to a coquettish little red cap. There was a pulling of abbreviated skirts into place—then a voice, rippling with laughter.

"Not a very dignified approach. That wave caught me napping. Glorious, isn't it? Makes one glad to be alive. May I sit here. Really, Prof. Cameron, I'm not as bold as I seem. I've taught this whole year right in the same college with you. Not that you've been at all aware of it; I can't flatter myself by thinking that. I'm Stimson, domestic science."

A sinking feeling smote Rodger right in the pit of his stomach. This rippily, sunshiny creature had been practically at his elbow all winter! What did fate mean by throwing that knowledge into his face at this belated day?

"Taking unchallenged!"

"Was fate, perhaps, giving him another chance?"

"Why, Miss Stimson—I beg your pardon and I've been looking everywhere for the girl of the smile—the one I got the key for. It never occurred to me—"

Just then the mischievous imp who had brought up the irrelevant verses from the depths of the young professor's memory grinned at Rodger around their edges. Something bulged from his shoulder. It dawned upon Rodger that that something was a quiver of arrows.

WAS ALMOST DISCOURAGED

Constant Headache and Much Soreness and Pain Nearly Got the Best of This Harrisburg Lady, But Carui Made Her Well and Strong

Harrisburg, Ark.—Mrs. J. M. Neelham, living near here states: "When I began working for me I suffered a great deal. I had so much soreness and pain in the lower part of my body I could hardly get up when I was down. I would have severe pains, all across my back, and my sides hurt me all the time. I would have headaches constantly, especially the back of my head and neck. I was almost discouraged with my condition when I thought of Carui, and decided to see what it would do.

I saw an improvement at once after the first bottle. I kept it up and the result was wonderful. I took altogether four bottles. I grew stronger, better appetite, less pain until I was well. I think Carui is a Godsend to suffering women, and I certainly can praise it, and do so."

For more than 40 years Carui has been in general use and in that time thousands have written to tell us how it helped them back to health and strength.

LANCASTER GETS INCREASE OF SALARY TO $25,000 YEAR
Special to The Times.
AUSTIN, Oct. 13.—The salary of J. L. Lancaster, federal railroad manager for the Ranger district, has been increased to $25,000 per annum. F. G. Pettibone receives $30,000, J. S. Pevatt $25,000 and A. G. Whittington $9,000.
Whittington formerly was division superintendent of the Texas & Pacific through Ranger and was a telegrapher on the International & Great Northern railroad nineteen years ago.

$500,000 TUBERCULAR SANITARIUM PROPOSED
AUSTIN, Oct. 13.—The Benevolent War Risk society, recently chartered here, proposes to raise $500,000 in Texas at once to found a tubercular sanitarium in this state for victims of the plague who were soldiers representing Texas in the recent war. The institution probably would be located on state lands at Carlsbad.

FEHER COUNTY DELAYS ITS COTTON PICKING.
ROBY, Oct. 13.—Cotton picking has been delayed here four days by the rains. However, damage to the plant has been small. The rains were not needed in this section.

WORK ON MAIN ST. CONTINUES DESPITE RAIN

Work of laying a concrete base for the paving on Main street was going forward today in spite of a drizzling rain.

Nothing has been done in the way of grading Austin street in the last several days. The General Construction company is making slow progress in filling its contract for construction of six blocks of city paving. Bad weather has been responsible for the snail-like pace.

THEATERS

FRED GRIFFITH'S COMPANY AT TEXAS THEATER

Fred Griffith's Musical comedy company begins an engagement at the Texas theater tonight, the title of the initial performance being "The College Widow." The bill is a distinct eastern success and the company has the original music. All of the company are from the east and never have appeared in this portion of the country.

There are sixteen people in the company and all of them are declared to be high-class artists. Two members of the company, Messrs. Finley and Blondell, are directly from the east and only recently returned from France, where they served their country in the American expeditionary forces.

Miss Libby Lundell is the leading woman of the company. She is just back from France, where she has been entertaining the boys of the A. E. F., being a member of the "Over There Theater League," which went to France under the supervision of the Y. M. C. A. and of which George M. Cohan was the head. The league played at all of the American camps in France.

"KINGDOM OF DREAMS" AT QUEEN STARS & ISS STEWART

Did a kind Providence wisely provide the horrible death of young Jim Warren?

This is the question that will confront those who attend the showing of "Her Kingdom of Dreams," starring thing Anita Stewart and which will be on today at the Queen theater.

Brother Shoulders Blame.
As the youngest and most beloved son of the wealthy James Warren, prominent Wall street banker, the youth meets his death in time to save his reputation. A forged check and a semi-disreputable woman are the incidents that point an almost accusing finger of shame at him even at his death. This leads Fred Warren, oldest son, to proclaim that he forged the check.

How Judah Rutledge, played by Anita Stewart, private secretary to the elder Warren, makes Fred at the request of her dying employer is but the beginning of a series of most unusual incidents which combine to make "Her Kingdom of Dreams," probably the most appealing photograph seen on the Queen theater's screen in many days.

CAREY'S PLACE OF REFUGE.

Where can one find Harry Carey when the star is not filming such remarkable photodramas as "The Outcasts of Poker Flat," Best Harry's famous story, playing at the Opera House today, second episode.

If you are a cowpuncher with an instinct for the range you will ride up into the San Francisco canyon, where the star has acquired a new ranch. If you are not a follower of winding trails you would probably choose to wait for him at Universal City.

When "Riders of Vengeance," Carey's previous picture, was finished, the star thought that a rest was his heritage. The purchase of the wonderful San Francisco ranch followed.

In the hollow of the hills Carey lives, surrounded by his famous flying squadron of Universal cowpunchers.

The star's mode of life, critics say, makes possible his realism in plays like "The Outcasts of Poker Flat" and "Riders of Vengeance," where intimate familiarity with the great West must be genuine.

It is said at Universal City that Carey's new ranch will be used for several scenes in the star's forthcoming picture.

A CORRECTION.

Through error, the advertisement of E. Buchwald's Music House on Saturday and Sunday read: "Double Face Victor Records, 75 cents." It should have read: "Special Double Face Records, 75 cents." These Mr. Buchwald states, are not Victor records, although he has a complete Victor line.

H. L. John Timps Casts His Vote for Discretion and Wins in Spite of It

By Paul C. Yates.

"It's been my misfortune to be laughed at all my life," declared Hard Luck John Timps to Boomer Jones, in a cabaret one night. "I reckon it's because I'm rusty and little and always indulgin' in trouble."

"Now that slick lookin' red-headed chap over there at the domino table has been grinnin' at me the last half hour. Maybe he thinks this here cap I'm wearin' is funny, and maybe it is, but I lost my hat on a bet at a dog-fight. I shore hated to lose it, too, because I'd worn it ten years."

"Even if my cap lacks a few pinta in style he ain't got no call to sit over there and seigger like he's just learned how to laugh."

Boomer Jones glanced at the red-headed youth again. "He does seem to be mightily amused at me, Timps," he remarked.

Mr. Timps rose to his feet. His long mustache bristled straight to the sides and his blue eyes held an ominous glitter. He leaned over and whispered in Jones' ear:

"You stop me before I murder him." "Wait a minute," cautioned Boomer Jones. He winked sedately, rose and led the way outside, where under cover of darkness he pulled a quart bottle from his pocket and proffered it to Timps. That wary sizer the bottle and turned it up. Jones watched with a jealous eye and finally began coughing loudly. Timps took the hint and lowered the bottle.

"That makes six drinks you've had tonight," said Jones. He took a long swallow and followed Timps Luck in the house.

Hard Luck John Timps was in a bellicose mood and he thoroughly appreciated the value of surprise in an attack. He walked over to the table where the red-headed youth sat and dealt the young fellow a blow on the ear of the nose that knocked him flat.

The red-headed youth got up and struck Timps a violent blow on the right ear, knocking him into a corner. Timps came back to the attack and five minutes of furious work followed.

It began to dawn on Timps that he was getting the worst of the encounter. He picked up a chair, held it poised for a minute and let drive at his opponent. It struck the young man amidship and he went to the floor.

Timps' courage waned as suddenly as it had risen. He did not wait to see if his adversary was out of the fight but made a leap for the door, pushed through the throng that had gathered outside and headed for the Eastland Hill as fast as his legs could carry him.

He heard somebody running in pursuit. He looked around just as that somebody was passing under an arc light and saw to his dismay that it was the red-headed youth.

Timps was gripped by an unreasoning terror. He mentally vowed that he had matched a scrap with the most bloodthirsty young man in the Southwest and he was convinced that if he was caught, sudden death would be his lot.

Near the foot of the Eastland Hill Timps ran into a loose tangle of barbed wire and fell heels over head. He was entirely out of breath and he despaired of keeping up the race any longer. He made up his mind to beg for mercy.

The red-headed youth came running up the hillside. He caught sight of Timps and stopped. Then suddenly he gave a squeal of recognition.

"Lord save me!" he cried. "I thought I'd outrun him and here he is again."

He turned in his tracks and started after the youth with twice as much speed as he had displayed on the way to the hill.
