$1,000,000 Loss in Big Oil Fire

WAGGONER CITY IS IN ASHES--1 DEATH KNOWN; LIGHTING IS THE CAUSE

(By The Associated Press.)
WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Nov. 10.—Searchers for bodies delved further today into the ruins of Waggoner City, a small oil town near here, which was completely swept by fire yesterday, and it is believed that scores of persons may have lost their lives.
 The property loss is estimated at $1,000,000. The fire was started when lightning, during a heavy down-pour of rain, struck thirty 1,600-barrel tanks of oil and a stream of burning fluid with a mighty swish poured down the main street of the town, setting fire to everything with which it came in contact.
 Men, women and children fled for their lives. The burning oil came down the hill into the town rolling in balls of fire and the terror-stricken population scurried to places of safety. For a time it was thought that every person in the town had perished, but reports today showed that so far as known there is only one death—that of an aged man, who has not been identified.
 According to the reports received here, the whole town is in ashes. There was no means of fighting the fire, and it spread with lightning-like rapidity.
 Homeless men, women and children shivered in the cold at Waggoner City today, huddled in every available place of refuge, while continued efforts were made to learn whether there is more than one loss of life in the spectacular fire yesterday.
 All communication with Waggoner City is virtually severed except vehicle traffic.

City Bond Election Is Void; Charter Revision for Paving Declared to Be Impossible

Ranger's city bond election, authorizing the issuance of $750,000 of city bonds to pay for paving, city hall, fire station, fire alarm system, sewer extensions and other improvements, is invalid, in the opinion of Attorney General C. M. Cureton.
 The revision to the city charter, permitting the paving program under chapter 11 of the revised state statutes, will not stand.
 According to Attorney General C. M. Cureton, Ranger's charter has never been approved by the attorney general's department, and ever act of the city since incorporation is invalid. City Manager Turner this morning stated that Mr. Cureton's signature, giving his approval to the charter, is in the city offices, so this last ruling will not stand.
 The problems which arose from City Secretary Alex G. Armstrong's trip to Austin to get the approval of the attorney general to the last city election and particularly for the bond issue, resolve themselves into these two: How to meet the paving situation; and how to hold, speedily, a legal bond election.
 The election order authorizing the city bond election did not state the maturity date of the bonds, according to the ruling. The ballot was not properly divided, so that each voter had a chance to decide on separate ballots for or against bonds for city hall, bonds for paving, bonds for sewers. Issuance of bonds to pay for fire station equipment, to install a fire alarm system, to furnish the city hall, is not permitted.
 In regard to adoption of chapter 11, the state laws maintain that no city charter may be changed, amended or revoked within two years. By the present charter, all paving must be paid for by the city and the cost collected by the city. Notes for the work from the property owner may not be negotiated by the paving contractor.

FULL ENDORSEMENT IS GIVEN BY THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The American Federation of Labor stood today before the country as an unqualified endorser of the strike of the soft coal miners and as bitterly opposed the action of the government in attempting to end the strike through injunction proceedings, which action it characterized as "so autocratic as to stagger the human mind."
 Endorsement of the strike was announced last night in a statement by the executive council of the federation, which pledged the strikers the full support of organized labor and appealed to the citizenship of the country to give "like endorsement and aid to the men engaged in this momentous struggle."

LABOR VS. GOVERNMENT, IS FORECAST
INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 10.—No hint as to what action is to be taken by the international officers of the United Mine Workers at the conference today was forthcoming, despite the action of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor.
 The federation's statement is believed in many quarters to presage a fight on the part of the miners, assisted by labor in general, against the mandatory injunction of Federal Judge Anderson.

BRITONS SCOFF IDEA OF AIDING SOVIET RUSSIA

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Lloyd George's hint in his Guild Hall speech Saturday night of an attempt to negotiate peace with Bolshevik Russia created a stir and the anti-Bolshevik press is indignant over the suggestion.
 The Daily Mail scorns the idea as "shaking hands with murderers," and generally denounced the suggestion, which it says, caused great amazement in political circles.

Interest in the section of Stephens county four miles north of Ranger is renewed by the arrival of the No. 3 well of the Superior Oil company on the M. H. Hagaman farm. It is making 2,000 barrels after a shot. Top of the black lime pay was found at 3,373 feet and the well went through the lime at 3,449 feet. It was shot with 160 quarts.
 The Hagaman six-to-seven acres is just south of the Brazos River Oil company's hold on the M. P. Massenburg, which has produced one big well. Both are in the L. C. Dennison survey.

COAL STRIKE IS NOT TO BE CALLED OFF?

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Labor leaders predicted today that the international officers of the United Mine Workers, meeting at Indianapolis, would not call off the coal strike whatever the legislations might be.
 One spokesman of the miners' organization said he doubted that Acting President Lewis of the miners and his assistants had the power, even if inclined, to comply with the mandate.
 "The strike order was issued by delegates at the miners' convention in the event the operators refused to grant our demands," the spokesman said, "and Lewis merely carried out his instructions in ordering the strike. The convention must call it off."

TOLEDO STREET CARS ARE RUN OUT OF CITY

(By Associated Press)
TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 10.—Toledo entered the second day today without street cars, which were all removed outside the city Sunday by the company as the result of an ordinance passed by a vote of the people Tuesday, ousting the Toledo Railway & Light company from the streets.
 City officials reiterated today their stand that the ordinance would not be repealed and that the company will not be given a franchise.
 They also criticized the local traction company, which operated the cars into Michigan before daylight Sunday without giving notice to the public.

 The town is on the proposed Hamon-Kell line and the Mineral Wells-Breckenridge interurban.

CISCO BUILDING PERMITS FOR THREE WEEKS $151,000

Cisco Round-Up: Since the last announcement of the number and value of building permits for the city of Cisco, a period of slightly over three weeks time, the city clerk has issued permits for the construction of buildings here to be valued at approximately $151,000, when completed.

No small number of structures included in the list are to form new rents in the Cisco skyline on Main St. and some permits were for an addition to be made on present buildings. The most satisfactory proof, however, that a solid civic element is taking root in Cisco is evidenced in the number of permits taken out for residence dwellings. Because of incomplete records there is no way of determining the exact number of residences to be built, a number of which are $5,000 structures.

SAN SABA NEWS.

SAN SABA, Texas, Nov. 10.—H. A. Martin, general manager of the drilling operations of the Martin Oil company, arrived today in San Saba, and says that as soon as he can convert a Packard touring car into a truck he will be on the move at the Martin well, ten miles from town.

F. R. Vulchov, brother-in-law of E. R. Keiser, came in from San Antonio a day or so ago, and decided this was good enough for him. He has bought an interest with Mr. Keiser in the Corner drug store. Mr. Vulchov's family will arrive soon to make their home here.

A smile worth while, that won't come off, is the kind we use down here. Recently we had another "chip floater" in San Saba and a farmer who had brought a bale of cotton to town and got rained in and couldn't get out, met a neighbor on a suburban street, who had started in, and got rained out, and this was their cheerful greeting: "Hello, Jones, wasn't that a fine rain we had last night?" "You bet she was a humdinger; just cost me $150, but I can't stop her, and I am glad that this year we got enough moisture to make an extra hundred or two to lose. Ha! Ha!"

Fishermen who started out to the mouth of the Brady, yesterday, changed their plans advisedly, and decided to save gasoline, and park their flippers along the bubbling sidewalks of San Saba, and why not? It looked like one might easily hook a whale.

Mrs. B. A. Buleson, chairman of the San Saba Ped Cross, called a meeting of her directors for Friday afternoon, but weather conditions were such that the meeting was postponed. Mrs. W. A. Martin, who is directing the work, has booths at the several drug stores and says that San Saba will not be found delinquent in this great drive.

TOM MOORE AT QUEEN.
Tom Moore adds to his popularity as a screen actor at the Queen theater by his excellent performance in the leading role of the new Goldwyn picture, "Lord and Lady Algy," which is being shown there today. The part calls for a light comedy touch, as well as the ability to reach heights of emotional power. To both these demands Tom Moore is more than adequate. He gives the sense of completely filling the part in every particular. His leading lady, Naomi Childers, is finely cast as Lady Algy, the beautiful and firm aristocrat who leaves her husband when he breaks his word to her to refrain from betting.

The story itself is the picture-drama of R. C. Carton's famous play of the same name, and relates the perilous episodes in the domestic life of Lord and Lady Algy, due to the young lord's insatiable betting proclivities. Many stirring dramatic and spectacular scenes give an added interest to an exceptionally well made photo-drama. Harry Beaumont, who has directed Tom Moore in all his Goldwyn pictures, again demonstrates his knowledge of the screen in "Lord and Lady Algy." The running of the Derby is beautifully done.

DOROTHY DALTON SCORES IN NEW PHOTOPLAY, "THE MARKET OF SOULS"

Dorothy Dalton's latest Paramount Artercraft photoplay, "The Market of Souls," which was supervised by Thomas H. Ince, opens at the Lone Star theater today and is one of the most powerful vehicles in which the popular star has yet appeared. The magnificence of many of the scenes and the close attention to detail throughout bespeak the master hand of Mr. Ince, while the intensely dramatic story is the work of two famous writers for the screen, C. Gardner Sullivan and John Lynch. In "The Market of Souls" Miss Dalton plays the role of Helen Armes, a girl from upstate in New York who has been trained as a nurse and comes to New York city to take a position. Her introduction to Broadway is at a New Year's eve revel at a notorious "shabrez"—a scene which for magnificence and lavishness of detail has never been equaled on the screen. Here she meets Temple and Lyle Bane. The latter, a dissolute young man, has been carrying on an affair with Mrs. Howell, with whom Helen is living, and, transferring his actions

Central Addition to Be Opened at Later Day

Hodges Central addition, which was to have been opened Friday, will not be placed on the market until the weather-becomes more favorable. Mr. Drier has arrived in this city from the north. He and Mr. Proper are in charge of the sale of the addition. A corps of expert salesmen are on their way to Ranger to assist in marketing the addition. The Hodges' Central addition comprises 245 acres located east of the railroad. All streets and alleys have been laid off and all lots staked. There are about 300 business and 90 residence lots in the addition. The land belongs to the Hodges estate and Mr. Proper and Mr. Driver are the exclusive selling agents.

A handsome administration building has been erected at the corner of Fifth and Bowie streets, in the center of the tract. This building will be the office from which all business relating to the sale of lots will be transacted. According to Mr. Proper low prices and easy terms will be offered on the lots. On account of the desirable location of the tract, almost entirely surrounded by well developed additions, the promoters believe that there will be a rush to buy, once the public is given an opportunity.

to Helen, attempts to win her by force. Temple Bane quarrels with his brother over Helen and in the fight follows is blinded by Lyle's hand. Helen is sent to nurse his sight back. As soon as Temple can see again he recognizes Helen as his nurse and reviles her because of the lies his brother had told him about their relations.

Adds to his popularity in
Lord and Lady Algy
A picturization of the famous play of the same name. It's a race story but different. Playing up all of Tom Moore's likeable traits.

Times has attracted my attention. The perpetrator of this attack had no sound reason for this attack upon a man who has been kind enough to give a large part of his time toward the organization of the Ranger chapter of the American Legion.

Mr. Jenkins has been foremost in promoting all of the legion's activities and I do not think that it is an exaggeration to say that without his help we could not have succeeded as well as we have. I have been an active member of the Ranger post for the past several months and am fairly well acquainted with the facts that led to the publishing of the aforementioned article. Mr. Jenkins had given us ample notice of his intention to charge us rent for the use of the library and we could hardly expect to use the building free gratis, when the electric bill, porter, etc., are considered. I for one, would like to state that I had nothing to do with the article which condemned the man who had done his best toward promoting the welfare of the American Legion at large and I feel that I am not the only one who condemns this article which was meant to put one of our prominent citizens to ridicule. Very respectfully,

R. L. KIRBERY,
Sec. and Gen. Manager.

Dreaming of Golden Burial "Sleepy" Works Unceasingly

BY LARRY SMITH.
 You might know "Sleepy." The chances are that as a working man, or if he's not, for some one whose office you frequently visit, or whose theater you patronize, or whose ship is a place where you often trade. In fact, if you're one of the folks who is not an employer of Sleepy directly or otherwise, you enjoy some what of a distinction by that very fact.

He's the "workinest nigger" in Ranger, by testimony of the block boys who are his contemporaries—porters and window-washers. Twenty hours of the twenty-four, impelled by the weirdest ambition which ever came in Senegambrian breast, he labors.

Sleepy is working to buy himself a gold coffin to be buried in.

Herbert Williams is the real name of this peculiar black boy, but if you want to make yourself understood when speaking of him, or to him, say "Sleepy." And it's easy to see how he comes by that nickname. When the call of his various duties is hushed for a moment, and he relaxes so far as to sit down, he's asleep in an instant.

Reporting one evening recently at the Crystal baths, in Shamrock alley, where he finishes the day by scrubbing up the bathroom, he paused for a moment just within the door. The warmth of the little office, after a hard night of billposting, surrounded him and crept within his ragged clothes. He stood for a moment, swayed slightly and started snoring. Harvey, the porter at the Crystal, guided him to the shoeshine bench, which is Sleepy's couch, and he tumbled over in blissful unconsciousness.

But let's review what Sleepy does for a living—no, that's wrong—what Sleepy does, he does for a living, the grandest dying that ever a hard-working boy staged.

He posts bills.
 He cleans out stores.
 He cleans out theaters.
 He cleans out office buildings.
 In his spare moments, he washes windows.
 And he winds up the day, about that time when very few Rangerites are awake, by scrubbing up a bath house. For this labor he gets a place to stay and something to eat. Duff Clancy, manager of the Crystal baths, provides him with sandwiches. Otherwise, it is his theory, Sleepy would not eat at all. Though he earns as much as any three negroes in Ranger, he saves everything he makes, or almost everything. This H. C. of L., now, means nothing to Sleepy.

He generally reaches that shoeshine bench about 2 a. m. Sometimes it is later. Not very often, it is earlier. But promptly at 6 a. m. he is up and gone. Dressing is a simple matter. He sleeps in his clothes.

We stopped him, in his rounds the other day, long enough to take an accounting of his labors. And here they are: He cleans up the Lone Star theater, the Opera House, all these floors of the P. & Q. Realty building and he private arrangement, most of the offices; the Western Union office, three stores on Main street, Richardson-Brown, the S. & H. store and the Academy dance hall. He posts bills for still another theater. He is going after the job of cleaning up the Republic Supply building when it opens. Every time a negro leaves town, Sleepy asks for his job.

"Come I got some other odd jobs heah an' theah," said Sleepy, after running over the list.

"Will see if I can find you some work," some one offered.

Sleepy's smile brightened. "Will you, suh?" he pleaded.

He has no family, but has a gal in Fort Worth, and he sacrificed a whole day of work to go to see her this week-end.

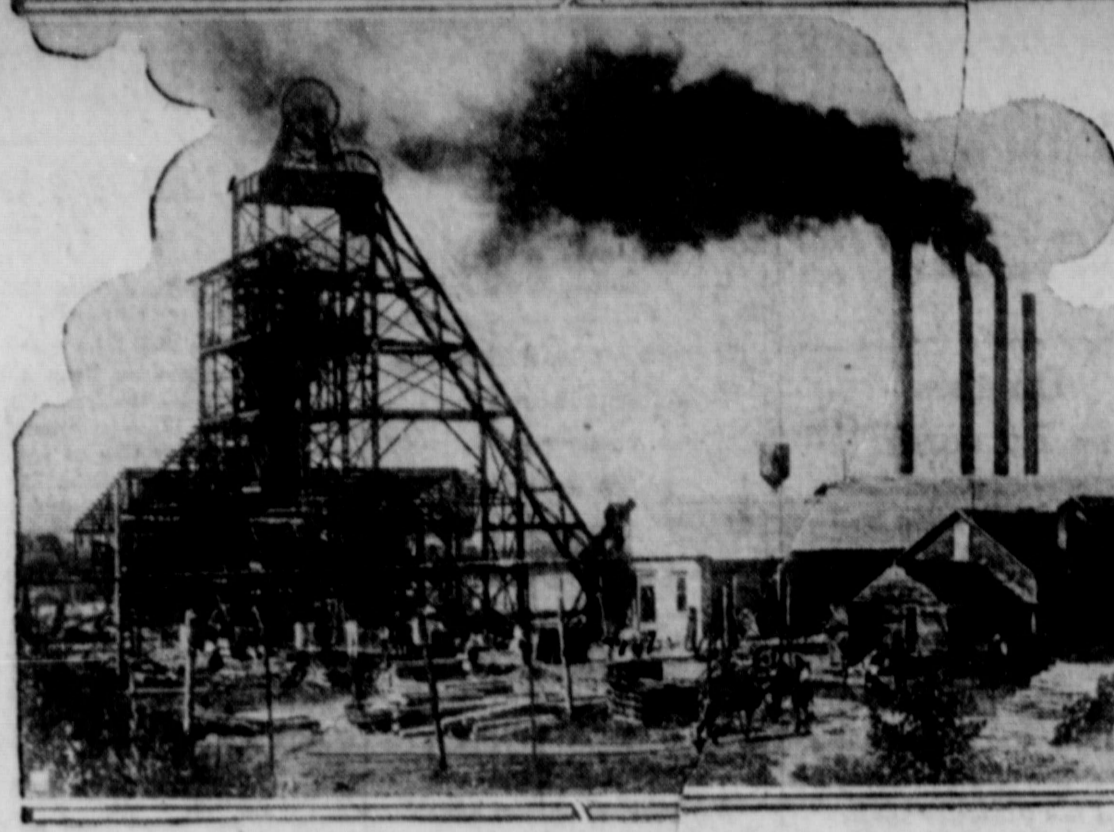

"Who takes your place?" he was asked.

"Lemme see, cap'n. I got one, two, fo'—I got six boys to tek cyah of my wuk."

His employers can testify to the worth of his work. The banks of Ranger, and he has accounts in all but one, can prove what he earns and saves. He is variously reported to be worth between $3,000 and $10,000. At any rate, he is well on his way toward his goal.

It's a hard life.
 But it'll be a gaudy funeral.

MINE THAT SET PRODUCING RECORD SHUT DOWN BY STRIKE

C. W. & F. Mine
 On March 6, this year, the mine of the C. W. & F. Co. Company at Orient, Ill., established a record when 6,776 tons of coal were hoisted from it. This mine is idle now, like hundreds of others in the country because of the strike of the bituminous miners, over 400,000.

ONE DAY LEFT TO "KICK IN" TO RED CROSS

Last week's total in the drive for a $10,000 fund for the Red Cross amounted to a little more than $5,000. Bad weather interfered seriously with the work of committees who are endeavoring to put Ranger over the top in the drive.

Renewed effort will be made to cure the city's quota.

Volunteers for the rest of the drive today and tomorrow are wanted and may apply to Mrs. John Gholem at the P. & M. bank. In the drive so far, $600 has been received by A. J. Beaman, cashier of the Texas Bank and Trust company, the money was raised at the stations in the banks.

Grades ten and eleven in the Ranger school shave "gone over the top" with 100 per cent quota, junior memberships. Miss Hooker is in charge of the work and the money raised by these subscriptions will be used in the school where it was given.

Those who wish to join the Red Cross, who have not been solicited, may get memberships by applying to the cashier of any bank in the city.

NEW ENGINE AT POWER PLANT TO OPERATE SOON

Construction work has been started at the plant of the Ranger Light and Power company for housing the new 400-horse power engine, according to an announcement made by the company this morning. The company expects to have the new engine in operation within the next thirty days, thereby relieving a situation that has become acute in Ranger.

The company declares that with the installation of this new engine adequate power for the winter will be assured the city and vicinity. By spring, it is declared that there will be a surplus of power to meet the needs of all.

The present plant, the company says, which is badly overcrowded, has been working under adverse conditions due to the shortage and slow delivery of electrical equipment, as well as local supplies.

The statement issued today says: "The shutdown of one entire circuit Saturday can be traced indirectly to lack of railroad facilities, as fuel oil has had to be hauled to the plant in trucks with the result that in the frequent handling, grilling and sand had become mixed with the oil, causing engine trouble." Company officials are doing their utmost to render service and consider that they have done wonderfully well considering the rapid growth of the city and that the entire plant and line system have been installed in the past eleven months."

S. W. Escue Says Record Is Clear

S. W. Escue, who was wanted recently in several towns in West Texas for alleged swindling operations, stated to a reporter for The Daily Times this morning that his record is now clear and he has satisfied all the men who have claims against him.

Mr. Escue won the admiration of officers in several counties by the adroitness with which he gave them the slip. He told the reporter that the police "raised the numbers" in a mule deal in which he was concerned at Albany—that instead of eighty-six head of mules, he mortgaged twenty-six.

Mr. Escue said he had no intention of defrauding anybody. He stated that he was about to be closed out on some ranch property worth $150,000 and he had to resort to desperate measures to keep from losing the property.

Ruling Accepted by Pipe Lines

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES.
 AUSTIN, Nov. 10.—The oil and gas division of the railroad commission lately has issued the following, which indicates that short pipe line companies are to accept the provisions of the act declaring them common carriers:

"The Western Oil Corporation of Wichita Falls and its orchestra will furnish music for a subscription dance Friday night, Nov. 14, at the Summer garden. R. S. Triebe and A. B. Carroll were fortunate in getting the services of the Gardner jazzers, as Jack only had three dates open between now and Jan. 15. He promised Ranger one of them. His parties are known throughout the state and his services are spoken for long in advance."

CHILD DRINKS GASOLINE; LIFE SAVED BY DOCTORS
 DENTON, Texas, Nov. 10.—The small child of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stone, living east of Denton, drank a small quantity of gasoline yesterday afternoon and was seriously ill for a time. Prompt medical attention saved its life.

School System Needs Your Taxes

Payment of taxes at the office of Director E. A. Ringold proceeded slowly the past week. A large number of persons called at the office for statements of the amount of their taxes. Statements were mailed to about 300 out-of-town property owners, mostly oil companies and supply houses.

On account of the congested condition of the mails at Ranger, Mr. Ringold will not attempt to reach tax payers living in the city, he stated today, and it will be necessary for them to call at the office to find the amount of their city and school taxes.

Among out-of-town persons who called at the office this week to pay taxes on Ranger property were D. F. Goforth, of Strawn, and Miss Anna Tolbert, of Muskogee, Okla., who owns valuable property on Austin street.

Mr. Ringold is anxious to collect a large amount of taxes in the next few days, in order to aid the school system, which is badly in need of funds to pay teachers' salaries and provide running expenses.

Sewer Lines Are Being Tied in

Sewer connections are being made with added rapidity since the start of a campaign in which fifty toilets, all within reach of sewer lines, have been closed and posted with board of health notices by W. H. Stone, sanitary inspector.

Water haulers are being taxed for their city licenses and those who are not getting water from certified wells are being made to change their source of supply, Inspector Stone says.

PERSONALS

J. M. Rusk of Abilene is in Ranger today. Mr. Rusk called at the office of E. A. Ringold, tax assessor and collector, and paid his taxes for the current year. He holds valuable property in this city.
