Gulf Gas Well Is Roaring Out 75,000,000 Cubic Ft.

GULF CO'S. S. F. MOORE IS BIGGEST GASSER IN STEPHENS CO. FIELD

Gulf Production company has the biggest gas well in Stephens county on the S. F. Moore tract, with a flow estimated at 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 cubic feet. The stratum was struck at 2,008 feet, according to Stephens scouts. The roar of the new well can be heard for three miles. It is coming from ten-inch casing.

Despite the size of the well, an immediate effort to harness it will be made. The job approaches in size that of taming the famous State's Harrell.

The Moore tract, 100 acres, is three miles northwest of Caddo. Texas company's J. S. Pierce, 265 acres, lies to the west; Texas company's S. P. Neill, 165 acres, to the north; O. H. Chapman's H. E. Downing, 60 acres, to the east, and Magnolia Petroleum company's S. T. Lanham, 185 acres, to the south. Texas company and Gulf have considerable holdings in that section.

Oil Hearing at Austin on Tuesday

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—The railroad commission has issued formal notice of a meeting next Tuesday, Nov. 18, to consider adoption of rules 36, 27 and 38 of the oil and gas division. In the notice of the hearing the commission, as per agreement last Tuesday, omitted from tentative rule 36 the clause which would require gathering pipe lines to obtain written permit from land owners before laying pipe lines across such property. Main lines must have such permit. This is acceptable to the pipe lines and the commission. A permit to operate a pipe line must be obtained from the commission, is revocable and must be renewed at the end of a year.

Rule 27 tentatively forbids the drilling of a well within 300 feet of another well or 150 feet of the property line. It is acceptable, with modifications to cover vested property rights, elongated tracts and peculiarly shaped leases. Rule 38 was accepted. It requires maps and drawings filed with the commission to be on basis of 500 feet to an inch, unless the area involved is two acres or less, and the basis shall be 50 feet to one inch.

Balentine Forms $10,000,000 Concern

DALLAS, Nov. 14.—The organization of a $10,000,000 oil company to be known as the Balentine Oil corporation, headed by S. F. Balentine, a well known operator in the West Texas and Louisiana fields, is one of the largest financial developments reported from the oil fields. When asked about the new corporation, Mr. Balentine confirmed the report. The holdings of the company will consist of production in Eastland county, at Ranger and DeWanna, as well as refinery interests. Mr. Balentine is president of the Ranger Oil & Gas company of Eastland. Headquarters of the new corporation probably will be in Dallas.

ELDORADO IS NEXT BIG BOY IN WEST FIELD

Eldorado Oil & Gas company, on the Brooks heirs, seven miles due west, probably will furnish the next big boy of the west field, when that well reaches the big day, today or tomorrow. Rickard Texas Oil company's Barker No. 2, is making fifty barrels of oil and five million feet of gas from 3,535 feet. Chapman et al on the Wright No. 2 are getting sixty barrels, from 3,495 feet with a fishing job on their hands. Another gasser is Eclipse Oil company's O. J. Coiton No. 3, which is completed at 3,444 feet, sand 3,465 to 3,422 feet, making five million feet and a few barrels of oil.

Epsilon Petroleum company's Hawk No. 1 is regarded as a completion with three feet more of drilling. This extension well is rated at 2,000 barrels, and the sand runs from 3,625 to 3,633 feet.

A copy of the resolution, signed by all members of the Colombian senate, was forwarded President Carranza through Gerzaya Ugarte, minister from Colombia. Ugarte is credited with fomenting much anti-American propaganda recently circulated in Colombia.

An album has been sent to the main foreign office containing the signatures of 5,000 Colombian University students lauding Mexico's attitude toward foreigners, and has reference to the controversies between Mexico and the United States over the attempted seizure of Mexican oil lands.

They Get Oil at 50 Feet in Florida

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 14.—Will Florida be the next big oil field? This is a question which is now being answered in the distinct affirmative here and elsewhere in the state. Oil drilling operations in the West Florida section, which have been in progress for many months, are about to bear fruit, according to reports from that section. In Wakulla county, sixteen miles south of Tallahassee and five miles north of San Marcos on the gulf, two wells have been sunk. The Standard Oil company is completing the purchase of 140,000 acres of land in that section and already near Chapley is drilling one well and preparing to drill others.

One company in Wakulla county brought in pay oil at fifty feet, but is carrying the shaft deeper in the hope of striking a gusher at less than 250 feet. A number of companies have been organized, and development of the western section of the state is expected to take a distinct boom as the result of these operations.

R. R. Commission Not to Give Data on Oil Concerns

AUSTIN, Nov. 14.—The Texas railroad commission has announced that it will not furnish information as to oil companies operating in Texas from reports these companies are required to make to the commission.

The statement said that the law does not intend that the commission should disclose information of the financial condition of reporting companies, and the announcement is made because hundreds of letters requesting this information have been received.

The law does provide, however, the statement continued, that companies shall keep their books open for the inspection of any stockholder on shareholder or royalty owner, and if the railroad commission is furnished with evidence of the refusal of a company to comply with the law in this respect, "the commission will direct suit to be brought or other proper action to be taken against the concern without delay."

"THAT LITTLE GAME" Host Can't Find Cards

Census Takers Are Still Lacking

Ranger still lacks a single enumerator for the census, according to a letter received by the Chamber of Commerce from A. W. Sledge of Ballinger, supervisor of the census for the seventeenth district of Texas. The aid of the chamber is asked. Mr. Sledge writes:

"My assistant, Mr. Todd, will be in your city some time next week, to make an effort to get census enumerators to take the census in your city. I haven't received an application from Ranger. I have only received a few applications from Eastland county.

"The department instructs me to exert every effort possible to get competent men and women to take this work, where I feel that they can do the work, to make appointment without the usual examination.

"It appears to me that there should be a sufficient number of men and women in your city who can do this work without interfering with any other line of work that they may be engaged in.

"High school students are eligible if they can find time to do the work. I am also instructed to appoint school teachers, who are in a position to do the work, after school hours, holidays and on Saturdays, and if necessary time will be extended for them to finish the work.

"I will appreciate it if you will assist Mr. Todd in getting enumerators, not only in your city but in other districts in your county."

UNDERSTANDING EACH OTHER.

So much has been said and written about the machinations of the radical element of labor unions that there seems to be nothing else to say. Yet late developments in Washington indicate that the I. W. W. and kindred elements are strongly entrenched and far from being destroyed. The most fertile field for their sinister operation is where industry is briskest. Several months ago The Times was informed upon reliable authority that "red flaggers" were enroute to the oil fields to stir up enmity among oil workers and their employers; and a few came. To what extent their agitation thrived The Times does not know but the oil workers in bulk proved themselves to be sane, provident and loyal to themselves and to their employers.

Two much tommyrot has been indulged in about the "reds." Whenever a strike starts an element vitally concerned in curbing labor, yells "bol sheviki!" If all engaged in strikes were of this ilk, as this element would have us believe, we could reasonably conclude that the great preponderance of the laboring class was "bolshie viki." Not one tenth of those it strikes this year had any relation with the "reds." On the contrary they undertook upon their own initiative to secure better working conditions. To list all strikers with the anarchists, "reds" and bolshie viki is a reflection upon the fair name of honest labor.

Frequently we search the rottenest nations on earth to get a name for our radical elements. One would now conclude that all that is despicable and sordid comes from Russia, when, as a matter of fact, much of our seam of humanity comes from the top right here in the United States and conceals industrial schemes which make Russian radicalism puerile in comparison. It is true that enemy aliens are commonly at the bottom of attempts to overthrow industry and government. Even sometimes we hear native Americans spitting out venom against national dignitaries and our free institutions. The fact that we are a democracy with opposition political parties provides a license to thousands to speak disrespectfully, derogatorily and ignominiously of those who conduct the destinies of this country. W.

SCRIPTURE

Luke 15:11-20.

And he said, A certain man had two sons; and the younger of them said to his father, Father, give me the portion of goods that falleth to me. And he divided unto them his living. And not many days after the younger son gathered all together and took his journey into a far country, and there wasted his substance with riotous living. And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that land; and he began to be in want. And he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine. And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat; and no man gave unto him. And when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger! I will arise and go to my father, and will say to him, Father, I have sinned against heaven and before thee, and am no more worthy to be called thy son; make me as one of thy hired servants. And he arose and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off his father saw him, and had compassion, and ran and fell upon his neck and kissed him.

cannot curb free speech and free newspapers without the consequence of losing the privileges, rights and freedom under a democracy. "Talk is cheap," is an expression which extenuates the harshness of the thousands of rash assertions which we have cause to hear so frequently in recent days about our American institutions.

The class of workers for whom we should have the greatest concern is that which not only spouts out "hot air," but which attempts to put its radical principles into practice. The labor union which tolerates an enemy alien is not a sane union. It has polluted itself. It should be exposed. The labor union which distrusts the efficacy of the government to rectify its wrongs is on the road to destruction. The organization which exceeds the bounds of propriety to throttle unwarranted wages and luxurious working conditions from employers, simply because it has the strength to impose these conditions, is a national menace.

The Times realizes that differences exist between employer and employer which should be solved. The present procedure to secure such adjustment seems to start a flame of hate among employers against employees, transmit an impossible demand without reservations, and, if not acceded to, precipitate an unjust, public-suffering strike whose end is loss, waste and extravagance. While employers sometimes rashly decline to discuss grievances with their employees, in most cases if the demands are not excessive and the spirit which demands is not of braggadocio harshness, conferences can be arranged at which differences could readily and reasonably be composed.

It is essential that employer and employee know more about each other. The employer must remember that labor is the greatest problem with which he will have to contend. It is, therefore, in this modern day the height of folly to fail to appreciate his work, his needs and the necessity to make him contented if the acme of satisfaction is to be derived from his labors. On the other hand, labor must study the employers' business and the condition of trade, his financial difficulties and obligations, percentage of profits, and should ask himself at heart if he is giving the employer a square deal in work so he can come out ahead on his investment and make the position he occupies more worthy. Many times employer is nearer starvation than employee. Employers oftentimes are tyrannical and imprudent with employees; but when labor and its master become closer friends in business and study each others' needs closer so as to mutually improve the service and working conditions, then will industrial unrest be reduced to a negligible quantity in the nation.

To Aid Soldiers of Texas Now III

AUSTIN, NOV. 14.—The local draft boards over the state have come to life. Their resurrection was made possible by a touching appeal by Maj. John C. Townes Jr., formerly in charge of the selective draft in Texas, who is now leading the campaign for the assembling of a fund of $500,000 to build hospitals at Carlsbad to take care of the more than 4,000 Texas soldiers who contract tuberculosis while in the army defending their country. Governor Hobby, Maj. John C. Townes and a large committee of well known Texans are bending every effort to collect this fund and they will wage a statewide drive from Nov. 19 to 26 inclusive to get the necessary money. The local draft boards have been impressed into service and are expected to serve with the same devotion to duty as they did during the war. They realize it is the last big war drive and one of the most worthy, therefore, they are giving their service unflinchingly.

It is not that the federal government is refusing to take care of the Texas boys, but the government can find no hospitals in Texas to accommodate them and is sending those who will go, to Louisiana and other undesirable climates. Texas are asked to provide the hospitals and Uncle Sam will do the rest by paying $3 per day for each soldier's maintenance and give for medical and hospital treatment. There are more than 4,000 soldiers of Texas who have developed the dreaded white plague. Its ravages must be stopped and liberal contributions during the drive will do it.

BRITAIN'S LAND GIRLS TO STAY, KNEE BREECHES ALSO

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Britain's land girls, a war emergency corps, will remain. The knee-smocked, vigorous type of womanhood who helped to increase the nation's food supply want to remain on the land, and the government is not objecting. Most of the 8,000 members of the corps, still undemobilized, want little farms of their own, because of the independence it gives.

Thus, Phyllis, with her ruddy, open-air face, will get about her farmyard duties in slouch hat, coruscating bloomers, leggings and yellow smock, knowing she is no blot upon the landscape.

Land girls invariably are married in their work costumes, for they know that they are becoming.

Persia, Neglected at the Peace Table, Is to Dictate the Fashions

BY NEWTON C. PARKE

International News Service Staff Correspondent.
PARIS, Nov. 14.—Persia got nowhere in particular at the peace conference, but the Persian influence is having a lot to do with Paris fashions for the winter season. And so we have again the "trouser skirt" and some beautiful evening gowns that veil the once completely bare back in bewitching mystery.

The trouser skirt is solely for morning wear in the house—that is, so far. But there are some hints from the modistes that if it takes a few daring models may be sent out to the races next spring to try it on the male public. It is modeled something after the costume of the French Zouaves, with soft, loose folds tied about each ankle in a big bow.

"It is the most practical costume for a woman yet designed," says one gownmaker who is bringing it out. "Narrow skirts cause a woman to trip and are dangerous; wide skirts are always in the way, and short skirts are positively indecent when one sits down. The trouser skirt is easy to get about in and has none of these drawbacks."

The models shown over here are real cheap, too, if you look at it that way. They cost only around $250.

The evening gowns with the eastern influence are "perfect dreams" of shimmering beaded embroideries. Some of them have square trains or trailing veils of dazzling materials. To a certain extent they have caught the eye of American buyers, but their principal appeal thus far has been to the gentlemen representing firms in Buenos Aires and Rio de Janeiro.

EUROPEAN CATTLE DECREASES OFFSET BY INCREASES HERE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Decreases in cattle, sheep and swine in nine countries of Western Europe have been offset by increases in other countries, including the United States, so the present situation with respect to number is very much the same as before the war, the United States department of agriculture announces.

American exportation of meats and meat products may reach the pre-war level before the herds and flocks of Europe have been increased to pre-war numbers.

Cattle decreased a little more than 7,000,000 in Western Europe, while in America, Canada, Argentina, Australia and New Zealand and elsewhere the increase has been a little more than 16,000,000. The loss of swine in Europe (this does not include Germany) amounted to 24,000,000.

Near East Relief Fund to Be Raised

DALLAS, Nov. 14.—The program as arranged for the conference of all those interested in the relief work in the Near East to be held in Dallas, will be extremely interesting based on the caliber of the representatives of the national association who will appear on the program. All speakers have seen at first hand the conditions in Armenia and Syria and will relate their experiences. The conference is held for the purpose of acquainting all county chairmen and workers in the recent campaign of the results of their efforts, and will be held in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce on Monday, November 17th. Pulpits in many of the churches of the city will be filled by the visitors on Sunday.

Among those who will be in attendance is General Mansop Newton Anagnostis, General Anagnostis is a graduate of Robert College, Constantinople, the University of Geneva, and Columbia University in New York City. For many years he was in the military and diplomatic service of Persia and was raised to the rank of Major General. He was also Aide-Camp to his Imperial Majesty, the Shah, and upon his return to America in 1904 was appointed first Secretary of the Legation at Washington. He later served in Russia in the service of the Imperial Russian Red Cross as a physician, and was awarded the medal of merit and the Cross of Vladimir. He speaks English, German, French, Armenian, Persian, Turkish, Greek and Russian.

J. O. Arroll, an American, who was sent as a Y. M. C. A. Secretary to Russia and then into the Russian Caucasus and, who refused to leave that country when the desperate people were surrounded by Turks and Tartars, has just succeeded in breaking through and has returned with a story said to rival Stevenson's.

Other speakers will be Mrs. Florence Spence Duryen, who is in charge of Woman's organizations for Near East Relief, John W. Macy, a field organizer for the committee for several years, and several Armenians.

Charles L. Sawyer of Dallas is State Chairman of the Committee for Relief in the Near East and Charles P. Sites, is State Secretary. Through the efforts of the officers of the State association the national speakers have been brought to Dallas. A luncheon will be held in their honor on Monday, November 17, at the Adolphus Hotel for all persons attending the conference.

Mr. Blank is very wealthy and very close. An acquaintance of his met Blank's son the other day and said:

"Your father seems to have lost a good deal of money lately. The last time I saw him he was complaining, and saying he must economize."

"Economize, eh? Did father say where he was going to begin?"

"Yes, on his table," he said.

"Then I guess he must be going to take away the tablecloth," was the final declaration.—Houston Post.

$4,000,000 IS ASKED FOR T. P. IMPROVEMENT

Special to The Times.
FORT WORTH, Nov. 14.—The Fort Worth division of the Texas & Pacific sent in its annual budget request for the year yesterday morning. One and a half million dollars were asked for permanent improvement work in addition to current expenses.

The Rio Grande budget was sent to the Dallas headquarters along with the Fort Worth division. This request calls for two and a half million dollars for permanent improvements.

This money is for such improvements as new roadbed and heavier track, trestles, bridges, stations, etc. It is likely that the request will be reduced somewhat before they are granted. They must be approved by the Railroad Administration.

SAYS CHINESE LOVEMAKING IS BEST WAY IN WORLD

International News Service.
BOSTON.—Chinese lovmaking is the best way in the world, take it from Dr. Iou Kahn, Chinese woman physician, and the "oldest" old maid in China. Dr. Kahn is here for the congress of missionary workers.

Adoption of Americans of Celestial marriage customs, which include a simple courting system, would bring these benefits, Dr. Kahn says: Solution of the mother-in-law problem, as parents may not live with married children.

Disappearance of old maids, as the oldest maid in the household must always be the first married.

A decrease in divorces and an increase in the birth rate.

F. C. Foster, a foreign missionary for the Baptist church, who spent three years in the Orient, opposing the Chinese idea, said:

"Every Chinese father is a monarch in his own home. He keeps his eye out for a girl for his son and when she is a little empty says, 'Son, this is your wife.'"
"The young man may never have seen the young lady. A woman has no social opportunity in China. There are no divorces in China because the women have no status. Chinese wives amount to little in their households and are made to feel it."

BALLINGER, Nov. 14.—Charlie King, negro, who knocked down the wife of the jailer while being fed Sunday, has surrendered, asking for food and a bed. King spent two days in the weeds and brush along the Colorado river, near the city.

Women Wear Too Many Clothes; Yes and No

NEW ORLEANS.—"Women should wear more clothes and pay less heed to styles."

"Everybody wears too many clothes, even the women of today. The difference of opinion was not settled. It is still up for argument. And:

"What the women of America need is more baths—hot and cold—and not so much darning in and powder."

This is what some of the physicians argued at the recent convention of the American Public Health Service association.

Dr. Augusta Rucker of New York, disagreed with Dr. Jeanette Throckmorton of Charlton, Iowa, on the point of the necessity of a woman covering her entire body with clothes.

All people would enjoy better health, she said, if fewer clothes were worn and more healthful exercise taken in clothing and shoes that were loose enough to be comfortable to admit of free movement.

Dr. Jeanette Throckmorton called the present styles of women's dress suggestive.

Arguments as to Styles. "American mothers are to blame for allowing their daughters to wear them and we cannot censure the manufacturers for producing what the women want," she declared.

"It is inexcusable to go without underclothes or without sufficient underclothes to cover the skin," asserted Dr. Throckmorton. "The human epidermis has other functions than to act as the lining of sheer waists and diaphanous skirts."

"What we need is sensible American styles for American women, and it is time we stopped aping the immoral styles of the French as applied to women's clothing. Even though materials have sufficient substances to render them opaque, the styles now worn are so tight and scanty that a woman shows her whole form as plainly as though she wore transparent clothes."

Dr. Rucker disagreed with Dr. Throckmorton. The argument was based on the necessity for a woman covering her entire body with clothes. "All people," she said, "would enjoy better health if fewer clothes were worn."

Women are silly enough to wear new freak styles in shoes if they die in the attempt, while a man demands comfortable shoes and the manufacturer supplies them," she concluded.

Lines for Perfect Feet. The foot of the society belle is far from normal, according to the physician. Out of 2,000 society women examined recently, only one possessed normal feet and out of 2,900 working girls examined, only four owned feet that were not distorted. Corns and bunions and callouses are common with women, she said.

Some of her axioms for a perfect foot are: If your foot is a No. 7, wear a No. 7 shoe. Many a "crab" would have a sweet disposition if it were not for aching feet.

A size too small fools no one but the wearer. Shoes and stockings should be changed daily. Remove shoes upon arriving home in the evening for soft house slippers.

Low shoes are better than high shoes. She said that of all the accidents sustained by women in New York last year more than one-half were caused by slipping or falling, due to high heels or improper shoes not giving the wearer full balancing control.

FIVE YEARS OF SUFFERING. Eupora Lady Broke Down and Was Most Miserable, But Cardui Brought Relief and Now She Is Well.

Any Eupora, Miss.—Mrs. B. E. Tedder, recently spoke as follows: "About five years ago I broke down and took to my bed. What I suffered no one knew, I heaved in so much pain from my knees and my waist, cramping and drawing, young girl I thought I would certainly die, and then grew so weak I couldn't eat, and riotous dizzy and faint and every time I And when in my feet I had the most miasma a mis and heavy feeling in the lower and he begs my body.

And he of that gas on Cardui. It strengthened his fine after a few doses and did And he washed the belly with the did, and I commenced to feel And later. I regained my appetite. . . . father, and he was strong. That has spare. I been four years. I can do all my work and feel fine."

Cardui has been found to be a valuable tonic for women. It is composed of harmless medicinal ingredients which act in a mild and gentle way on the system and help to soothe the body and nerves. Buy the famous druggist tells Cardui. Try it, neck and shoulders.

Kentuckian Has "Death Battalion" Girl as Bride

NEW YORK.—A bride who was once a member of the famous Russian women's "Battalion of Death" arrived here on the steamer America with her husband, Harry D. Menesee, of Covington, Ky.

Mr. Menesee served in the army and was later attached to the peace commission as clerk.

Mrs. Menesee was formerly Agnes Roskivska, the daughter of a Russian general. She joined the "Battalion of Death" when she was 17, was wounded twice and taken prisoner by the Germans. Mrs. Menesee wore the decorations of the Croix St. Ann and the Croix St. George.

DIMPLED KNEES STRIKE THE IRE OF RECTOR

PORTCHESTER, N. Y.—A sensation was caused in social and religious circles when Rev. Harry B. Heard, rector of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal church, requested that because of the abbreviated skirts and diaphanous draperies worn by young women engaged in a "parade," a pageant of dancing and singing, his own name and that of his wife be stricken from the list of patrons and patronesses.

The pageant was for the benefit of the Women's Club tuberculosis fund. Seamless low cut costumes, skirts worn only to the knees and six inches of naked limbs in the costumes of sixteen girls in a Scottish drill are said to have caused the rector's action.

SAN SABA NEWS.

Special to The Times.

SAN SABA, TEXAS, Nov. 14.—A very interesting game of football was staged here resulting 12 to 7 in favor of San Saba. The game lasted forty-eight minutes. Hoke Smith of San Saba starring with Mr. Creamer as loose second.

Seven carloads of Cherokee people were here for the game, besides the football team, a bevy of junior high belles. They were chaperoned by Misses Tinsley and Enochs, popular teachers from the Cherokee college.

Judge F. J. Johnson and Will Grey from Llano are here attending court this week. Judge Johnson says that oil activities in Llano county are not very exciting yet, as they have so much on top of the ground to look after they haven't had time to grub up oil.

A train of nine coaches packed to the guards with men, women and children from eastern Texas came into San Saba yesterday. These people are coming to the promised land to work and get strong. Some of them are cotton pickers, others are woodchoppers and peacan gatherers. Many of them are intelligent white people, who have been attracted here by call for laborers to a healthful locality. There are many negroes and Mexicans among them. Quite a few embarked here and others went on to other parts of the county.

THE TIMES' DAILY SHORT STORY

REJUVENATED JANE

By Lillian Hall Crowley

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Jane Mathews was sitting on the veranda, chatting and laughing with one of the young men of her set when her mother joined them.

"Jane, darling, the evening is chilly; let me wrap you in this." She had a heavy, crocheted wool shawl of a dull, dismal aspect which immediately absorbed all of Jane's bright color and spirits. The young man frowned.

"You're not in a comfortable chair, dear, and you know you're drowsy." Her mother, in solicitation, was hovering over her.

The young man, who had risen to his feet when Jane's mother came out, and had remained standing during this scene, at once offered Jane the chair he had occupied.

"Oh, yes," said Mrs. Mathews, "it is more comfortable. Do sit here, Jane." She pulled the protesting girl to the other chair.

"Mother, I'm very well—I like the chair I have and this shawl is too warm."

"No, it isn't!" answered Mrs. Mathews with decision. "Jane is so delicate," turning to the young man. "I feel like a brute," said he, "and I'm sorry that I overlooked Jane's comfort."

"No! No!" said Jane.

Her mother silenced her with a loving look and went on to enumerate her daughter's weaknesses, mentioning the vegetables and fruits and other things that did not agree with her.

Jane's wretchedness was increased by the look of boredom on the face of the young man.

"Pardon me, Mrs. Mathews," he interrupted, "but I must be going. Goodby, Jane—see you tomorrow night at the dance."

"If she's feeling strong enough," answered Jane's mother for her.

Another night finds Jane seated on the veranda and in the same chair from which her solicitous mother had ousted her before. Another young man came along and seeing Jane decided to drop in. Jane, expecting him, smiled happily.

Mrs. Mathews nodded from the window and the young man raised his hat and bowed to them both—passed by.

Jane looked puzzled and disappointed.

The young people feeling annoyed by Mrs. Mathews care of Jane, decided to have Jane with them without going to her house. They telephoned her to come to the home of Penelope Jones, one summer evening, for an informal dance. One of the boys would go home with her.

Jane went and was having the time of her young life. Eyes sparkling, cheeks glowing, nimble feet flying when her father arrived at 10 o'clock with a heavy, dust-colored cloak to take her home. They begged that Jane might stay an hour longer.

"No, Jane isn't strong, you know, and her mother worries about her. She won't sleep a wink until Jane is in bed."

No one felt very gay after this and the party broke up.

Several years of this kind of thing passed by until nobody wanted to include Jane in the social affairs. It was too much bother and they always had to reckon with Mrs. Mathews in some way by apologizing for heat or cold, or the weather or the salad. They were bored to death—and out of patience with their old friend too.

Jane had lost her bright color and her charming smile. She had become listless and lacked initiative and the men were not interested in her any more. A very few childhood friends remained faithful.

Some of the girls were married and some were engaged; some had lovers, but all had attention except Jane. One young man remarked:

"If I took a box of candy to Jane her mother would think I meant her to have ptomaine poisoning, and if I took flowers they would be expected to give her hay fever."

The worst of it was that Mrs. Mathews was always home, or if she went for a short trip she took Jane with her. Jane never went anywhere alone.

Mary. "Because she wants to be proud of her friends and we've all got to look the best we can. Come on, let's look at your things, Jane, because we haven't much time."

Upstairs Bessie said: "Make all these skirts narrower and the evening gowns lower. Why, I'd smother in this high thing."

"Mother thinks my lungs are weak," replied Jane apologetically.

"Never mind if they are," said Mary, "forget them for one month because we've got to show Jim and his friend a good time. It's our duty to Bessie and we'll have to forget ourselves for once."

"I'll do anything I can to help," said Jane with a loving look toward Bessie.

"We're going to have swimming parties, too," announced Mary. "Never mind about taking cold—" Mary waved aside Jane's objections. "What if you do take a cold—get over it."

"Jane," said Bessie, putting her hands on her friend's shoulders and looking into her eyes, "if you follow Mary and me for one month, I believe that you will never have an ache or a pain again. Will you?"

"Yes," replied Jane. "I will! I've felt for a long time as though I had lost my right environment."

"Now the first thing—get a bathing suit that you can swim in and take a few lessons while you are getting your clothes made."

"This is fine," said Jane, a slight color coming into her cheeks.

"Remember you are to do as Mary and I plan," admonished Bessie as the girls were leaving.

When the young men came they found a bevy of young people ready to show them a good time. No one was more eager to join in than was Jane. The girls had made her dress her hair in a more modest manner and the excitement of anticipation had restored her color.

It was a beautiful Jane, indeed. There was no one to hinder her from being beautiful and charming and her natural gaiety at last had an outlet and she was free in spirit.

She danced, swam, golfed and ate anything she pleased. Bessie and Mary were delighted with their success.

No one was more pleased with Jane than was Grant Bristow. He had never seen a prettier girl and most of all he admired her radiant health. They were together constantly and Jane and Grant became better acquainted than they could have been in years under other conditions.

One moonlight night Grant proposed.

It seemed to Jane that she must be the happiest girl in the world—no one else could be so happy.

"Now that you have accepted me," Grant went on, "I must tell you that that is proposal number one. Number two is, that you marry me at once and go with me to South America."

Jane gasped, thinking of her mother.

"It's this way, dear, I had this trip planned before I met you and my business future depends on it. It will be our wedding trip, too."

"I know mother will object," said Jane.

"We won't tell her," Grant smoothed her objections with kisses. "Let's just be married here without fuss and telegraph your mother afterward. I shall be the happiest man on earth."

"And I the happiest girl!"

"You'll do it?"

"Yes," said the demure Jane.

CISCO TO SPEND $750,000 SOON FOR BUILDING

CISCO, Nov. 14.—At the regular meeting of the city commission Mayor Williamson discussed with the commission the plan which has been adopted by the mayor and the commission for continued municipal improvements. The program as planned will call for extensive civic improvements in street, sewer, water and other work of minor importance. Mayor Williamson expressed himself to members of the commission that the future outlook for civic work was indeed flattering and the city government was in a most gratifying financial condition. The program now outlined would call for the expenditure of about $750,000. The biggest item to be financed from this fund would be the building of permanent streets. Contracts have already been let for the paving of many streets. Main streets is about completed with brick.

The city's sewer department is being rushed to carry sewer accommodations to every addition in the city. Water mains are under continuous extension to meet all demands by the many new residences having been completed.

The commission was authorized to buy and survey a body of land about five miles from the city containing a wonderful watershed for the purpose of building the city's third reservoir. This lake will be constructed in such a manner as to give the city water on gravity pressure. The mayor says work will begin on the dam about Jan. 1. The people will be asked to vote bonds in the sum of $400,000 to cover the expenses.

The mayor announces the city tax rate of 75 cents on the $100 valuation is the lowest of any city of its class in West Texas.

Blame Soldiers for Coin Shortage

NEW YORK.—Dispatches from Paris indicate that the shortage of silver coins has passed and the monetary difficulties which have confronted the French capital since the home-ward movement of American troops is viewed in this country with particular interest because of the part overseas soldiers played in the situation.

The main cause of the condition is attributed not only to the present high price of silver which makes the coin more valuable as bullion than as money, but also to the fact that the American soldier has had a hand in the matter. According to competent exchange authorities, during the activities of United States troops in France it is estimated that approximately 5,000,000 1 and 2 franc pieces were either manufactured into silver hand rings and other souvenirs or destroyed by the men during the experimental stages of manufacturing souvenirs. Although army orders were issued prohibiting the destruction of French coins at the request of the French government when the destruction became noticeable, it is estimated that an average of two coins for each man were either made into souvenirs, destroyed in the attempt or brought back to this country in their natural form never to go into circulation again, the latter despite the fact that an order from general headquarters was issued to all troops departing from France prohibiting them from taking silver coins from the country.

OH, BOY! THIS GIRL WOULD PAY ESCORT'S BILLS

International News Service.

NEW YORK.—An advertisement, which, according to the advertising department of Columbia University's daily newspaper, the Spectator, is the legitimate appeal of a young woman, appeared in a recent issue of the paper over the address "E 26 Spectator." The ad reads: "Are you bound by convention? A Columbia girl from out of town, cultured, well bred and fairly good looking, wishes to make the acquaintance of several men in order to be introduced at Columbia functions. She is entirely unconventional and is willing to meet the men half way by paying all expenses. Strictly confidential."

Several hundred students are patiently awaiting a reply, for the ad was well answered.

FAIR SWIMMERS ADOPT ONE-PIECE BATHING SUITS

International News Service.

BERKELEY, Cal.—One-piece bathing suits of white cotton are the official garments adopted here by 175 fair swimmers of Annette Kellerman, being members of a swimming class conducted by Playground Supervisor Schneider here. They voted this as their official attire.

Shocking? Not a bit of it, they say. Many of them are married and mothers. So they ought to know.

Von Mackensen, Once Great German Field Marshal, Now Interned Outside Saloniki

By Associated Press

SALONIKI, Nov. 14.—Field Marshal August von Mackensen, who commanded the German forces which invaded Rumania, and his staff, have been brought here by the French military authorities from Northern Siberia and interned just outside the city. The German military leader and his officers are permitted to go freely about the streets, but they usually are accompanied by a French officer. The correspondent, however, observed two of their number riding horseback on the outskirts of the city without guards. Each officer wore an iron cross and displayed a pride and bravado not quite in keeping with men whose army had been vanquished.

Mackensen has been given a large and comfortable house opposite the French aviation field and overlooking the Aegean sea. It formerly was occupied by the higher French official and is elegantly furnished. A day or two after his arrival the field marshal strolled through the roadways of the British military encampment, which is many acres in extent, and was amazed at the thoroughness and completeness of everything. The British have since withdrawn from this encampment.

The German generalissimo has "hanged little in appearance since the war and apparently is not worrying greatly over what fate he may suffer at the hands of the allies. The general impression is that he will be interned here until the allies are ready to try him. It is felt the most serious charge against him is wanton destruction of railroads and other property in Rumania after the signing of the armistice.

None of the allied officers of troops now salute him as he walks along the streets of Saloniki. He still retains all his pride in his achievements on the field, for he wears an iron cross and a number of other decorations. These and the usually red-trimmed uniform he wears excite no small curiosity among the pedestrians of Saloniki.

Mackensen and his aides suffered a double humiliation while en route through Siberia. They were guarded by a company of Senegalese soldiers and were forced to go through the very tunnel which the former German emperor ordered constructed in 1916 so his troops might pass through Serbia. This tunnel is about forty-five miles from Skopje. There are two inscriptions over it, one in German and the other in French. The first inscription reads: "The German kaiser ordered this tunnel built so his troops could pass through Serbia."

The second inscription, which is directly under the German caption, reads: "General Franchet d'Esperey, French commander in chief, ordered his troops to drive the Germans out of Serbia through this tunnel."

Mackensen undoubtedly felt the humiliation of his position, for he pointed to the tablets at German entrance and engaged his officers in conversation on the subject.

POLISH PEASANTS LIVE ON BREAD MADE OF GRASS

International News Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Living upon bread made from grass, nettle and heather, peasants are returning to their former homes on the eastern border of Poland and the western border of Russia, which they evacuated during the war, says an announcement from the United States department of agriculture.

Food conditions, owing to lack of cultivation, are wretched, but the shortage in Eastern Europe for the most part is local. Wheat bread is common in all markets except those of Germany, where white bread is not to be had. Throughout Germany the entire acreage is under cultivation, although the yield will be below normal, owing to the lack of fertilizers.

Belgium is highly cultivated, with good crop prospects, while France and England have both been affected by drought and their prospects in bread grains are not encouraging.

Crying Need for Apartment Houses

Every day a dozen people call at our office in the quest of a home. If we have a two-room shack it goes like wildfire.

Why, with all the capital in Ranger, can't we provide living quarters for our population. We are hindering the progress of Ranger because we cannot house these people comfortably and as a result they seek homes in other nearby towns.

Right now we have a beautiful apartment site just four blocks from the business center. This can be purchased on most unusual terms with very little cash, but buyer must be able to finance building. Someone should get this bargain quick. Just skim over these, too:

A BUSINESS LOCATION—Lots on Main street and every other street, 25-ft. to 150-ft. frontage; which owners will sell, or lease, or build on for you.

A HOTEL—20 rooms, fireproof, in the heart of Ranger's business district. Clearing about $750 per month. Ample insurance. Requires $2,500 to handle. We have many others.

A RESTAURANT—Near McCleskey hotel. Clearing about $2,000 per month and good for more. Selling at a sacrifice. Look over our list of other restaurants.

A CLOTHING STORE—Best location available; excellent stock and lease. Doing big business. Price is right.

A STORE ROOM—20x50, well located and reasonable rent; also spaces 16x20, 20x40, 25x40, 20x 100, and many others.

TRUCKAGE—From 50 feet square to 50 acres, and in the choicest locations.

HOMES—Ranging from $1,500 to $35,000 and from shacks to bungalows and mansions. Something for everybody.

Prices That Speak---Values Are Real

Where the Aviation Field was—the large Hodges tract—where you have always thought you'd like to own a home. This summer a field of waving grain—today a spic and span new residence subdivision—beautifully appointed—with graded streets and wide alleys.

EVERY LOT PRICED LOW EVERY LOT A BARGAIN FOR A HOME OR PROFIT

READ WITH CARE

It is unnecessary to dwell on the desirability of this subdivision. Our concern in undertaking the sale of this property was whether it could be so priced that every lot would afford a future profit to the buyer. In subdivision work we undertake as selling agents, we base the possibilities of our success on the price of our lots, their real bargain value. We believe that such lots are already more than half sold, and that they need but proper advertising to complete the work.

These lots are thus priced, not just one or a few but literally scores of them. The future profits have not been "squeezed out" as is generally the case in residence lots, and particularly so in these days of universally inflated prices. These lots are so priced that their present owners are giving other people a chance to live and start a home or make a profit. You don't need to be told this! The prices tell you that story! We challenge comparison with any values in Ranger.

There is no doubt but that real estate is the very best investment for small savings. It is bound to grow and grow into money. More fortunes are accumulated from the rise in real estate values than all other causes combined. To speculate in stocks is risky and even dangerous, but when you buy real estate you are buying an inheritance.

Buy one of these lots for a home or as an investment for yourself, or son, or daughter! And do not delay in making an early choice. Select now—today.

NO QUESTION OF THE CITY'S GROWTH TO THIS ADDITION. THAT IS ALREADY A FACT

To Own Property Gives a Man Credit, Confidence, Self-respect, Honest Pride and Standing in a Community

Do You Lay Aside Any Money?

BUY REAL ESTATE; buy it cautiously and carefully. Invest discreetly. Don't exaggerate your power to pay. Keep well within your means. Buy for a home, and where you buy to build, buy if you can, a few extra lots. These you can use for gardens, for chickens, and other useful purposes; later their increased value will give you prosperity, or a site for your children's homes when they marry.

"Paying for land on installments, if you keep within your means, compels economy, gives an object in life.

"Your chance is now. It is just as easy to make money in real estate today as it was fifty years ago, and the profits come more quickly. Buy good property and then hang on to it."—Editorial N. Y. Evening Journal.

Let Ranger Work for You

Real estate values in Ranger are bound to increase steadily. Now don't say they won't! Don't say this town will not grow, but just look back and see how many lost out by think-ink and talking that way. Desirable property in the prosperous city of Ranger has doubled and tripled in value in the past year. It will continue to do so. A lot purchased in this high grade subdivision we are here offering in this rapidly-growing city, viewed from whatever standpoint you choose to take, is bound to increase in value and make a handsome profit on the investment. Buy one of these lots and get your share of profit!

MUSIC AS MEANS OF REDUCING CRIME.

DALLAS, Nov. 14.—Study of music in the public schools would decrease crime by keeping "youngsters out of mischief and detaching any criminal tendencies" they might possibly possess, according to Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler, the pianist. "My dream is to have every person in the world thoroughly musical," said Madame Zeisler. "If I had my way I would make musical education in the public schools compulsory. The man who claims he is not musical does not know himself or psychology. Every human is born with a sense of rhythm which is the basis of music.

MUSIC AS MEANS OF REDUCING CRIME.

"Music should be taught to infants as soon as possible because it makes them happy as nothing else can." Phonographs are "strong agents for cultivating a taste for good music and they create a desire to see the various artists in the flesh," Madame Zeisler believes, "and this in turn creates a demand for more good artists and advances the musical profession."

PARADISE IS NO PLACE FOR THE AVERAGE TEXAN

There will be no headlong rush of American citizens to "Paradise," the little Republic of Andorra, where everything is reported by visitors to that land who now are in the United States to be "just as it should be." No strife, no rich people, no poor people, no politics, no competitive system—these are some of the lacks of Andorra which are pointed to as reasons for the place being considered Paradise.

But Andorra also is short on other common institutions, it should be noted. There are no newspapers in this little European Paradise, its visitors from our shores proudly declare. Then, representatives of the region admit less happily that the people are very illiterate.

None of Andorra for the good American man or woman. It doubtless contains in its national life weaknesses in addition to its poverty in newspapers—but knowledge of that one lack is sufficient to cause the human being of modern times to lose all interest in that sort of "Paradise." People who are peaceable only because they do not know enough to be disputatious, who are strangers to ambition so long as their stomachs are reasonably full, who feel thoroughly contented with conditions as they are rather than as they can be made, who know nothing of the remainder of the world and who care nothing for it—people, indeed, who make of themselves dumb oxen and plodding tortoises—these are not examples which humanity will for a moment consider.

There have been periods in the world's history when very nearly all of mankind was of the Andorra sort. Those times offer the unhappy pages of earth's history. The only savor of their being is found in the fact that somewhere, sooner or later, a soul blossomed out in the desire to be different—and the world was saved for worth-while experiences thereby.

There are many and varying ideas concerning Paradise. Not many folk, however, are willing to think of it as a place or a state where ignorance, physical content and forgetfulness of the beauty of spiritual things alone are counted desirable.—St. Louis Times.

GRANBURY WELL MAKES 25,000,000 FEET OF GAS

GRANBURY, Nov. 14.—The well six miles northwest of here on the Cogdell-Whitten ranch picked up fifteen feet of hard gray gas sand at 2,030 to 2,045 feet, producing about 25,000,000 cubic feet of dry gas.

THEATERS

"FIT TO WIN."
The Queen theater, commencing Saturday, will show "Fit to Win." The picture was originally designed for the exclusive use of the army and navy.

So instant and widespread has been its success in military camps that the civilian population of the country has justly demanded an opportunity to witness the picture, which, with a single blow, shatters superstitions, lies and hypocrisies regarding vice and venereal diseases.

The story combines vital medical facts with thrilling dramatic situations in the lives of its five main characters—young Americans called from widely different environments to the service of their country.

So frankly are their trials and experiences pictured that no one can doubt the consummate skill and the depth of human understanding revealed by the author and producer, Lt. E. H. Griffith, U. S. A.

FEATHERS ARE ON THE DOWNWARD PATH

Every true American man and woman will take deep and lasting pride in the fact that the United States is the first great nation in the world to bring the light of truth to play upon a question affecting the lives and happiness of millions.

It is a significant fact that the motion picture has been chosen by the government as the most suitable medium for revealing its great human purpose to the vast American public. Tested and proven by the exacting demands of the army, "Fit to Win," stronger than ever in its human appeal, is ready for public presentation.

It is now under the auspices of the United States public health service and it is safe to predict that here as elsewhere the exclusive showings for men and women will draw capacity houses.

"Fit to Win," unquestionably the first picture of its kind in this or any other country, records an epochal advance in the use of motion pictures, and in recording a government's obligation splendidly fulfilled.

Several notable players appear in support of Wallace Reid in "The Valley of the Giants," the great Paramount picture which will be shown at the Lone Star theater two days, beginning today.

For his leading woman the popular young star will have Grace Darmond, the charming screen favorite who has appeared on many pictures opposite Earl Williams and who is accounted exceedingly beautiful and talented.

Miss Darmond had several years' stock experience before going into the films and played leading roles in "The House of a Thousand Candles," "A Texas Steer," and other well-known plays. She began her screen career with Selig in support of Tyrone Power, Otis Harlan and Harry Messinger, and later went to Astra, where she did important serials.

She appeared in the Technicolor picture, "The Gulf Between," and then became identified with Vitagraph.

Kay Laurel, the beautiful Folies girl, also has a part in the picture. Miss Laurel was one of the sensational beauties of the Ziegfeld shows, and her poses have attained world-wide fame.

This charming and unusual turban shows the new tendency which all feather trimming is displaying to sweep downwards over chin and cheek and then coyly curl up and tinkle one's chin. Sand colored velvet, sddy pleated, fashions the hat and a rich brown curled ostrich plume is jauntily placed across the top of the hat and let fall as it will over milder's chin.

Small hats like these are particularly good with the large fur coats of the season.

LONE STAR THEATRE

Shows at 2:00, 3:30, 5:00, 6:30, 8:00, 9:30.

7,500,000 WOMEN SIGN W. C. T. U. PETITION.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 14.—The famous W. C. T. U. polygot petition, bearing more signatures, it is said, than any other petition ever drawn up in the world, has reached here and will be placed on exhibition at the national convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which is meeting here this week.

The petition is said to contain the signatures of 7,500,000 women in supplication for the abolition of the evils of alcohol and opium from the nations of the earth. The signatures are of women of practically every known race and creed.

The names are inscribed on 3,000 yards of muslin web. The petition has been assembled by women working in fifty different countries and parts of it have traveled over the entire world.

The task of gathering the numerous names on the petition is ascribed to Mrs. Rebecca Shuman, who has devoted two years to the tremendous job of assembling it.

SATURDAY ONLY

By Lt. E. H. Griffith, U. S. A.

Any man can fight, but it takes a clean fighter to win. This is a story of a clean fighter who was called a mollycoddle; of a ring champion who lost his title because he trained on women and wine; of a country boy who forgot his dad's warning; of a gilded youth who went the pace to dishonor; of a "wise guy" who got burned.
