LETTER FROM WILSON IS READ TO CONFERENCE OF DEMOCRATIC SENATORS

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A letter from President Wilson advising administration senators to vote against ratification of the treaty with the foreign relations committee's reservations was laid before a conference of the administration senate forces today by Senator Hitchcock.

The committee program, the president wrote, would provide "not for ratification" but rather "for nullification of the treaty."

The conference was called to decide upon the final tactics of the administration for ratification of the treaty. After the president's letter was read there were indications that unless some compromise was effected the administration senators would line up solidly against ratification.

The decision of the Democratic friends of the treaty to vote against ratification resolution was confirmed at a conference of the Democrats immediately after the senate met.

Senator Lodge presented a resolution for ratification containing fifteen reservations, adopted by the senate majority.

JAIL ORDER FOR JENKINS MADE BY MEX. JUDGE

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—A formal order for the imprisonment of William Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, on charges of having made false declaration and threats against persons in the Mexican city, was issued yesterday by Criminal Judge Gonzales Franco, at Puebla, according to advices received here today.

Jenkins, however, is not in jail and the statement in the press that he is not allowed to leave the city is untrue.

The assertion is made at the Jenkins affair is obscure. The next move evidently devolves upon officials there as Jenkins has given his word that he would be present at court when needed.

The assertion is made at the foreign office here that no formal note has been received from the United States demanding the release of Jenkins although it is known that representations have been made to the Mexican Government regarding his "molestation."

The charges against Jenkins seemed to be based on the testimony of persons who allege that they saw him in company with the bandit leader, Cordova, but newspapers published stories to the effect that there was coercion on both sides, which probably will be developed if Jenkins succeeds in securing a formal trial on the allegation that he conspired with the bandit for his own abduction.

He explained that it was his purpose to furnish the conference data he would use in determining what wage advances, if any, that are agreed to by the operators and miners, could be borne properly by the public.

Immediately after convening the operators and miners decided to continue negotiations for a wage scale for the competitive bituminous coal fields through a sub-committee of eight from each side.

Carlisle boarded the train at Rock River, entered the tourist sleeper by smashing the vestibule window, and fired a shot through the roof to notify the passengers and forced all but the "old men, women, children, soldiers and sailors," to "contribute."

"I do not rob those," he told the passengers as he stood in the vestibule waiting for the train to stop. A passenger fired at close range and the bandit is believed to have been hit. Blood was found on the pistol which he dropped in his hurried escape. Carlisle escaped from the state prison at Rawlins Saturday.

MANY MISHAPS IN FILM-ING ARSENE LUPIN PICTURE

Hard luck nursed the filming of "Teeth of the Tiger" the Paramount-Artcraft picture about the adventures of Arsene Lupin, which will entertain the patrons of the Lone Star theater Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Anna Lehr was originally selected to play the chief feminine role in support of David Powell. After a number of scenes in which she appeared had been completed, Miss Lehr was suddenly stricken with a severe illness and forced to discontinue work. By good fortune Marguerite Courtot had just finished a picture with another star and was able to fill the breach nicely. However the sets in the former scenes, which had been removed, had to be completely rebuilt and the episodes reshot.

As if this were not enough, when the result of the first week's work was shown in the private projection room of the studio, it was discovered that the film was so badly scratched that the work had to be done all over again. This delayed completion of the picture by two weeks. Local screen lovers declare "Teeth of the Tiger" is well worth waiting for, as it is one of the best mystery-detective stories ever seen.

MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN AMERICA AT OPERA HOUSE

Olive Thomas, who will be seen in the first of her series of Solznick pictures, "Upstairs and Down," on Thursday at the Opera House, has been called the most beautiful girl in America—and justly so. With her gorgeous mass of wavy chestnut hair and shining eyes of deep sea blue, her superb form and lovely face, Miss Thomas most assuredly deserves the title bestowed on her.

When this dainty bit of femininity come to New York a few years ago from her home in Pennsylvania, she made that blase town sit up and take notice. She created a sensation. She began her career the way many beautiful girls do—in the Folies. For three years she continued to attract nationwide attention in the show which is reputed to contain the most beautiful girls in the country.

During this time, she also was a model for the great American painter, Harrison Fisher. It was he who labeled her "the most beautiful girl in America." She also posed for Raphael Kirehner and Haskell Coffin, who made several portraits of her which have graced magazine covers and the walls of notables' homes.

TOM MIX PROVES HIS LOVE FOR THE HORSE

There is a very warm spot in the heart of Tom Mix, the William Fox motion picture star, for animals. Here is an amusing story he told on himself during the filming of his latest picture, "The Speed Maniac," in which his famous horse Tony figures prominently.

"The Osage Indians have a peculiar custom of tying the pony of a dead man alongside his grave," said Mix. "Food for a day or so is left near the pony. If the animal breaks away the Indians say the dead Indian was a good Indian and that his spirit has moved on to the happy hunting ground. But if the pony dies of starvation and thirst beside the grave the Indians have no good thoughts for the departed owner. This is judgment passed on the dead.

Mix chuckled and continued: "Many bad Indians were thought good by the Osage tribe simply because, when I found a pony tied by a grave I turned it loose. Doubtless I confused the Indians in their calculations, but I saved many a pony from a forlorn death."

Mix and Tony do some absorbingly interesting things in "The Speed Maniac," photoplay of love and rapid action, which will be shown at the Liberty Friday and Saturday, and which is said to be the best and biggest thing this brilliant star has done.

BREAD CONDITION IN TEXAS SERIOUS

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—Texas is facing a serious bread situation owing to heavy rains throughout the summer and fall which prevented farmers from preparing the ground for winter wheat, according to H. B. Dorsey, secretary of the Texas Grain Dealers' association. "This condition also prevails over practically the entire country," the secretary said.

With prospects for dry weather Mr. Dorsey expresses the belief that there is yet ample time to raise winter wheat and in a circular letter he urged bankers, merchants and grain dealers and others to encourage farmers to plant immediately the largest possible acreage. "Our climate in Texas," he says in the letter, "is more favorable to showing wheat at this late date than in any other state."

Texas wheat growers lost heavily on last season's crop. Mr. Dorsey said, owing to inability to secure sufficient threshers and inability to market wheat "because of embargoes at ports and failure to secure boats and cars to handle the crop." Many farmers affected by these conditions, he said, "are not overly anxious to plant wheat now" and should be given every encouragement to do so.

"Those who sow wheat now will certainly get good prices and will help supply the country with bread," according to Mr. Dorsey's letter.

TRAFFIC SAFETY LEAGUE FORMED

DALLAS, Nov. 19.—A traffic safety league of 200 Dallas citizens is working on plans for a similar statewide movement to have traffic laws and regulations observed, the management of the Dallas Automobile club has announced.

The plan is to supply 200 citizens with cards which they will fill out with the name, time and nature of the offense of drivers which comes to notice. These cards, addressed to the automobile club, will be mailed and the club will then write the offender inviting him to call at the club and explain why he failed to observe the law. If the invitation is ignored a second letter will be sent him, and if this is ignored his case will be taken to the police court.

THIS WEEK—

"There hasn't been an issue of any daily paper in Dallas for several days that did not report an automobile accident, and in almost every instance some one was seriously injured," said E. Dek Spillers, gunnager of the Dallas Automobile club. "This club will lend its full support to the safety first campaign. The object is to insist on more careful driving and not to prosecute a violator. If, however, a violator is reported a second time his case will be taken to the courts."

Men Die Ingeniously.
Government and Labor.
The Editor's Problem.
Sunny Southern Oases.
BY ANTHONY BRISBANE

A new kind of suicide is invented by a Frenchman, Adrian Thumerel. Men often show more ingenuity in ending their lives than in making them more worth while.

A well known ancient philosopher jumped into the mouth of a volcano. He wanted to impress the world with his wised end. That was vanity.

A Russian prisoner feared that torture would make him betray his friends, and he endured agony to make his friends safe. On the way to his cell, high up, was a small, smoky oil lamp with bare flame. He lit himself above the flame, holding to the bars of the cell window. He had burned in his side a hole big enough to cause death. That was courage, such as thousands of women in men have shown in fighting the czar.

One young Russian woman, sentenced to death for killing a brutal officer in Siberia, could have saved herself by letting it be known that she was about to become a mother. The officer's brutality let him send women to Siberia, but his generosity would not let him kill an unborn child. The young woman deliberately allowed herself to be executed, to make the czar worry, upon learning too late of her condition.

Men have fallen upon their sword points, jumped over cliffs on horseback, tried all kinds of poisons and weapons. The blind king of Bohemia had his horse chained between the horses of two faithful soldiers and with them rode into the thick of battle, hacking at the unseen enemy with his sword until he and the two were dead.

The latest is thoroughly modern and scientific. Monsieur Thumerel and his fair one were unhappy—the world had disappointed them; in fact, monsieur was accused of stealing bananas.

He was determined the world should hear of him, and it did. He got thirty-five pounds of melonite, the highest sort of explosive, shut himself, his lady and the melonite in a small hut and exploded himself out of the world. The noise was heard for miles, property was destroyed all around and there was not enough left of the two bodies to make a canary's food.

There is no moral to this, but it is interesting, showing what queer ideas are locked up in half-developed human beings, who believe that a useless life can be made better by a noisy death.

A question important now, and that may continue to be important for many years—at least long enough to upset the country seriously—is this: "Just what can the government do to control great bulges of organized workers now seeking to regulate their wages and hours through industrial fights when those fights appear to menace the general welfare?"

You can have courts enjoin the men from striking. That has already been tried, but the men have struck. You can have soldiers to protect those willing to work against those that are on strike. That experiment will be tried today.

You may by injunction, through restraint of court proceedings, and by action of the nation's legal department, punish men for conspiring to violate court orders; but you cannot punish a man for not working in a real mine if he does not want to work there.

A big problem has been growing up slowly, getting bigger and bigger, and the war with the reckless outpouring of money and the great increase in wages has brought on the crisis.

Within a few weeks or months the country will know a great deal more than it does now about the power of government when it deals with bulges of men running into the millions.

Italy's Mr. Sir, whose interesting story about the human finger in the shoe has persuaded Theodor Roosevelt temporarily to desert the American meat business in Europe, has a de-ficiency of the necessary business facilities of the nation's labor who are that will interest real laborers who are wondering when their next overload of paper is coming from Mr. Sinclair, quoting an ancient one, says: "Liberation consists in having whipsper at 2 cents a pound and selling it at 10 cents a pound."

It may surprise Mr. Sinclair, who has always been too much of a lawyer to be careful about facts, to learn that the newspaper publishers in our life are wondering how he can sell 10 cents' worth of paper for 2 cents and remain financially healthy.

An able American hotel man has been one of the biggest hoteliers in Havana and will make it bigger. In these pleasant southern islands near us there will be many little fashionable and expensive oases established rapidly.

Americans with much money to spend and nothing to spend it on, will see eggs from the United States to spend the money. It may be necessary to follow prohibition legislation with a similar legislation, taxing doubly, or triply, the incomes or even the assets of those who live abroad on what they get here. From Texas the money is taken from one country to be spent in another.

FOOTBALL AT CREST OF WAVE

Popularity of Game Greatest Ever Known; Longer Season Advocated; Scheme to Pick Championship Team.

International News Service. NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—In line with every other form of sport, college football promises to reach heights this year never before attained. Always the most popular form of outdoor sport in the fall, gripping because the gridiron battles have back of them more than simply interest in the outcome as measured from a public standpoint, there is every indication that the game this season, both as regards amateur sport and the gate, will far exceed any other similar season.

The war put a quietus on football to an extent, but this year it has shown a reaction that is reflected in the crowds that attend the games and in better contests. There is always something that thrills about the rivalry between institutions of learning, and there is no better method of settling their differences than these gridiron battles. Intercollegiate debates may be all right in their way, but it takes athletic contests, football especially, to really help rank the colleges with the public at large.

The only regrettable feature of the football season is that it is not longer. A lengthened season would go far toward settling many disputed questions as to which institution had the better team, which system of coaching yielded the best results. As it is now, the only way of determining anything approaching a football championship, particularly in the East, is by way of comparative scores, and everyone knows how unreliable these often are, because all the big colleges do not play one another.

The West has its conference games, and the winner of the "Big Ten" with some show of justification has been hailed as the champion of the Middle West. But no such method obtains in the East, and the consequence is that the titular college honors furnish no end of argument, and will continue to do so as long as some of the larger institutions do not meet.

What college football needs is a final game, something on the order of the world's series in baseball. This way of having champions of the coast colleges, of the Middle West and the eastern end in doubt is all wrong, and only can be righted by an extension of the season, which is the climate obtains during playing time is hardly possible. But it would be ideal and sane to settle arguments where it is possible for the sectional winners to meet and definitely determine the disposition of the gridiron crown.

The American sporting public dearly loves a champion. Whether it is professional or amateur sports an effort is always being made to determine and honor the ultimate title holder. It was this spirit which was responsible for the world series in professional baseball. Now there is a scheme on foot to work out some sort of an American championship in college football. This year there are no inter-sectional games of importance by which the relative strength of the East and West can be determined.

The proposal is therefore being made that at the end of the season a committee of football experts pick an all-Eastern football team made up from the strongest eleven in this section and match it against an all-Western eleven. This is proposed as a substitute for the more logical but impossible arrangement of having all the eastern teams play a round robin schedule, with the winner meeting the winner of the conference Association of the Middle West.

The difficulty of arranging a series of either sort is that the eastern colleges, at least Harvard, Yale and Princeton, will never consent to enter such an agreement or league. Efforts have been made for many years to get these three principals to come out of their little triangular league and meet the other big universities of the East. But for reasons which seem to be sufficient for them they cannot be bitted and the other colleges are about ready to let them go their own way. Therefore the suggestion of another plan to bring about some kind of post-season game.

It is easy to be seen that the selection of the all-Eastern team as proposed would not be satisfactory. In the first place the proposal smacks too much of professionalism to suit most college authorities. There is, in fact, a standing rule at many eastern institutions against post-season games of any sort. Indeed, nearly every transcontinental football jaunt has left a bad odor in intercollegiate athletics, and few institutions which have made the experiment are anxious to try it again.

Two Franchise Changes Made in International

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 19.—Decision to transfer the Newark International league baseball club franchise to some other city is announced here by Ernest C. Landgraf, president of the club, who said he had received permission from the league to take such action. The franchise, it was stated, is being sought by Scranton and Montreal.

This is the second change in the international circuit for next season, as the Birmingham franchise has been transferred to Akron, Ohio. Akron business men paid $30,000 to the International league for the franchise, which had been forfeited by the Birmingham owner. It is reported that Hans Wagner, prominent citizen of Pittsburgh, will manage the Akron team.

STARS PROVE HITTING ISN'T EVERYTHING IN BASEBALL

The "bat" thing is an usually worn to know that a new owner in baseball is "Can't hit" but it is generally an error as one of the prime requisites of a major league ball player. And yet there are stars in the game's history who came over the top in years although they failed to stay long in the 300 class of batters. Some of them were able to hit 300 or better only once. In this list are Joe Tinker, Tuck Turner, Artie Hoffman, Bob Becher, Fred Merkle, Harry Hooper, Ike Stahl, Tommy Leach and Joe Birmingham. Derrill Pratt, one of the young players, is the name today, is recommended as a brilliant performer and a possible asset to a club which he has hit 300 only once.

Herrmann Is Ready to Resign Chairmanship

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—August Herrmann, president of the champion Cincinnati Reds, is ready to resign as chairman of the National Baseball Commission as soon as his successor is named. "Suggestions have been made that I resign as chairman of the National Commission," said Mr. Herrmann. "I have already made my position clear in that matter. I am ready to step down and out when my successor is named. I was a party to the proceeding in the National League which decided that some man, not a club owner or identified with either league, should be the new chairman. But my resigning now, with the committee which is choosing my successor at loggerheads, would gain nothing. The commission would simply be left without a chairman and the selection of the successor would not be hurried at all.

"The winning of the pennant by the Reds has been a big thing for Cincinnati. The town has been advertised as never before, especially through the South. Trade has swang to us simply because of the baseball championship. We like the sensation and we're going to repeat next year, whether I'm chairman of the National Commission or just president of the Cincinnati Reds."

PASS-THE-HAT BOUTS POPULAR IN COLORADO

International News Service. PUEBLO, Colo., Nov. 19.—Unique in prize fight promotion is the system used by R. H. Richards, who is running boxing exhibitions here on the "pass the hat" plan. Richards is staging bouts without charging admission, and so liberal have the fans been when the hat was passed that he has been able not only to pay the participants a bonus over their guarantee, but is picking up many shekels for his own coffers. Richards is new in the sport world, but events of the past few months indicate that he is destined to become as well known as Jack Curley, Billy Gibson and others, the mantle of whose names immediately attracts the eye of the sport fan. Richards was serving on a committee for a fraternal organization down in Colorado Springs when the suggestion was made that a few boxing exhibitions be included in a program of entertainment that was being arranged to raise funds. A local ordinance prohibited the sale of tickets for the fight show, so Richards decided to "pass the hat." And he's been doing that same little stunt around Colorado Springs and Pueblo for some time—but the "surplus" coin goes to Richards instead of a fraternal organization now. In a recent show that he staged for the public in Pueblo, the card included such well known performers as Otto Wallace, Johnny Noye, Mike Ertle and Frankie Tucker and the various hats that were passed among 1,500 fans netted something over $5,000.

Richards is arranging a classy card for Thanksgiving day, and is negotiating with Benny Leonard, Lew Tendler, Johnny Dundee and other high class talent, and says that he can pack 5,000 fans into the Auditorium here that will easy throw over $10,000 into the hat. Richards frequently gives guarantees of from $2,500 to $5,000 on the strength of nothing more than the "pass the hat" prospect. "And," he declares, "if that isn't taking a chance, then they don't gamble in Wall street." A feature of the bouts has been the large attendance of women. Smoking is not allowed and registering approval or disapproval is confined to hand clapping only. No shouting, howling, or noisy demonstrations go. "Remember there are ladies present," reads a notice plastered in all parts of the house.

Gasser Extends North La. Field

Special to The Times. SHREVEPORT, Nov. 19.—Features of last week's developments in the North Louisiana oil fields have been the addition of approximately 50,000 barrels of potential production in the Houma-Clabornes district and in the bringing in of the H. Kendall-Boone Oil company's 15,000,000-foot gasser three miles south of production in the Bull bayou district.

The Boone company has announced that it will make no attempt to encounter the oil sand in its gasser but will convert the well into a gasser because of its fuel value in the Bull bayou district. This well has virtually extended the field three miles.

Mr. Sullenberger said that besides the three gassers his company is drilling two other wells on the same tract in order to insure the gas supply to insure adequate supply for Amarillo and its numerous industries. Henry Noble and S. F. Sullenberger have secured 40,000 acres on the Bravo dome west of Amarillo, half of which was obtained from the Sholtz & Matador and contract has been let to Benedict & Trees—the Transcontinental company—for the drilling of two or three deep wells.

OWNER OF BIG HAPGOOD GAS WELL IS HERE

S. F. Sullenberger, one of the owners of the famous Hapgood gasser near Amarillo, and one of the most prominent citizens of the Hub of the Panhandle, is in Ranger a few days on a visit to friends after an extensive trip through the East and North.

Brings in Gasser. Prior to bringing the oil game Mr. Sullenberger was president of the National Bank of Commerce at Amarillo field. On his property on the Canadian river, north of Amarillo 27 miles, Mr. Sullenberger and associates let the contract for a 2000 foot test to the Hapgood company.

When 1900 feet was reached the well came in a huge gasser, making 10,000,000 cubic feet a day. The derrick was considerably shattered and the gas escaped for several months before it could be curbed. It is maintaining its 10,000,000 cubic feet. Later two other wells were drilled on the same territory, three-fourths a mile apart. Each of these, known as the Masterson No. 2 and No. 3, came in with 10,000,000 cubic feet. Later two other wells were drilled on the same territory, three-fourths a mile apart. At six feet in the pay at 1,900 feet, the well is estimated to produce 15,000 barrels a day. The company is rushing an extension of its ten-inch pipe line from the Tepetate sector to care for the oil.

NO REAL DEMOCRACY IN U. S., SHE SAYS. DALLAS, Nov. 19.—There is no real democracy in the United States and there never will be until "industrial democracy" has been attained, Miss Mary McDowell of Chicago (settlement worker, speaking here before the Dallas school of social work.

"We merely have the machinery for democracy, we do not have it," she declared. "We are not democratic politically, socially or industrially, and I hasten to say that we will never have democracy at all until we have it industrially, for that is basic."

Women are in no way to blame for present unsettled conditions, Miss McDowell said, "because we have little voice in determining what course shall be followed. Our helplessness is inherited and we must not brood over our inability to remedy matters."

Speaking of strikes, Miss McDowell said: "The strike is an undeniable right of the working class, but it should be used only as a last resort."

"As to foremen, I will say they will obey the laws if Americans enforce the laws. Americans need to be Americanized more than the foreigners."

Report "Second Sand" at Desdemona

Special to The Times. FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—A "second sand" is assayed in practically every part of the Desdemona oil field, according to a statement made here by W. B. Austin and H. M. Bundeck, of German, who have opened up an office here.

Derricks are being taken back and built over the former dry holes which were abandoned when they failed to produce on the first sand strata from 2,600 to 2,700 feet, and the second sand is being struck, according to the statement of these men. The second sand is found at 3,600 feet.

CANT FLOW WELLS FOR PHOTOGRAPHS

Special to The Times. FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—The oil and gas division of the Texas railroad commission has adopted a ruling prohibiting spectacular flows of oil wells for the purpose of making photographs.

In announcing this ruling the commission points out the fire hazard, in addition to a useless waste of oil. Dr. George C. Bute, supervisor of the department, warns that prosecution will follow violations of this ruling.

Diphtheria Takes Toll at Cisco, Texas

Sugar Shortage in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—Despite the fact that several hundred pounds of sugar were unloaded on the market Tuesday the shortage still remains acute in Fort Worth and relief is not promised until early next week.

The tentative promise of relief is only problematical as jobbers are not sure as to just what time new shipments will arrive. A low rate seemed to be the consensus of opinion that sugar would be around 30 cents a pound.

Texas Railroads Need Coal Badly

Ranger's Biggest Real Estate Deal

Are you keeping in touch with local real estate? Then you can't help but realize what rapid strides are being made in Ranger's development.

Just thing, the deal just made for the 30-foot corner on Main Street (now occupied by the Guaranty State Bank) involved $100,000. Yet Rev. Ray, who disposed of it, paid only $200 for the entire ground and held on to it for 14 years—until Saturday. This is only one of our recent deals. We will tell you about others, too. Of course we can't all be ministers' sons nor can we all do as well as Preacher Ray, but some of us are just naturally sleeping on opportunities. Why not let us show you some of these?

Her work completed, she found it would be little more than an hour before Bruce would be home. She would have plenty of time to dress and read awhile before starting to prepare dinner. She had just been in the sun parlor a few minutes trying to become interested in a late novel, when Bruce arrived. She saw him coming up the walk, carrying a square white box under one arm and a long box in his other hand. "Flowers and candy," thought Helen. This had happened once before, when Bruce left the house in a bad humor after breakfast, because Helen had served bacon with their eggs, and Bruce did not eat pork "in any way, shape or form." Flowers and candy were his peace offering, which always covered any breach. Well, he must learn differently. She usually ran to the door to meet him, but today she pretended to be reading.

Bruce entered the house and, placing his packages on the table, he went to her quietly. "Helen, dear," he began, "I want to talk to you. It is about last night. Why, what did it mean? This persistent tone from Bruce. And he had never before said he was sorry. Perhaps she had been too hasty about buying the new things for the living room.

"Oh, Bruce, wait! I want to tell you about this afternoon. I—"
She was interrupted by Bruce. "I have been a selfish cad. I know how you must feel about my selecting everything for our home, and trying to supervise their arrangement. But I must tell you how I came to realize this. This morning going to town Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Travers got on at Homewood. They took the seat right back of me. At first I did not recognize their voices; then they mentioned your name." Bruce paused, made another effort, then went on, "Mrs. Warren was saying some nice things about you, when Mrs. Travers remarked 'What a pity she allows her young husband to run everything. Why, when you asked her where she bought her pretty cushions and the reading lamp, she looked confusedly at her husband and he had to answer. ### A LESSON IN TIME

There was no more devoted and happy couple than the Warde, who had been married a few short weeks; but today Helen was not happy. This was due to the fact that she had taken the time this morning to review the events of the past few weeks. She knew that Bruce loved her dearly, and in his good-heartedness would deny her nothing to make her happy. But now she had to acknowledge he had one serious fault, which was a menace to their future happiness. His belief that it was his sole right to supervise everything about the household clashed harshly with her free and independent ideas.

Helen had religiously refused to allow these thoughts to enter her mind until last evening, when they had entertained for the first time in their new home. She had looked forward with much pleasure to this event, and thought with a touch of pride how Mrs. Warren would compliment her on the haven of delight that she and Bruce had created for their home. But what a bitter disappointment it had been to her as she stood by and heard Bruce, in answer to the many pleasant exclamations from the guests, as they viewed the furnishings, assume the credit to himself in a proprietary manner, with not one word of praise for herself. The realization of this trait in Bruce had spoiled her evening, and she was unable to be the gay, light-hearted girl they had always known.

After the guests had departed, Bruce had asked her what was wrong; but her efforts at an explanation only aroused in him a feeling of resentment. Her gentle remonstrance at his persistent ignoring of her, set only in the selection of the household furnishings but their arrangement as well, had brought forth from him his declaration that he was "master of his home."

She realized the futility of further discussion of this subject with Bruce, because she knew him to be too positive in his ideas. She thought over all this, carefully, and made up her mind to change things. Yes, she would begin right now. She called her mother on the phone and asked her to go shopping with her.

Helen bought new silk covers for the round cushions, new curtains for the windows and a beautiful, rich brown cover for the library table. She had wanted those things in the living room, when she was first married. Well, now she was going to have them. Mother had always selected these things at home. Other women planned the arrangement of their homes. So would she.

After they had tea she left her mother and went home. Hurriedly slipping into her large blue gingham apron, she went to work. First, she took down the curtains in the living room. Mrs. O'Brien had cleaned the windows just two days ago, so she could now put up the new curtains. Then she opened her packages. "What a beautiful, rich golden brown!" she thought, as she held the curtains up to admire them. "And how well they looked with the brown rug!" Soon the room took on a new pretty effect. True, the curtains and other things that Bruce had bought were lovely, but they were not just what Helen had wanted; and then, she must show Bruce that she, too, could plan and furnish a room with excellent taste, and that it was her right.

Her work completed, she found it would be little more than an hour before Bruce would be home. She would have plenty of time to dress and read awhile before starting to prepare dinner. She had just been in the sun parlor a few minutes trying to become interested in a late novel, when Bruce arrived. I should hate to think that I would ever become a nonentity in my home. I wonder how such men would feel if their wives interfered in their business? I, well I was furious. I couldn't stand to hear any more, but when I got to the office and thought things over, I knew that Mrs. Travers spoke the truth. Oh, please don't cry, Helen." And Bruce dropped his head on his hands. "To think that I should ever give any one cause to say those things and to pity the poorest girl in the world!"

Helen dried her tears. She was hurt, and she knew what Mrs. Travers said was true, but how dared she speak that way and how humiliating for poor Bruce.

"Bruce, you have never given any one reason to pity me. Don't say that. And, even if Mrs. Travers did suspect, she doesn't belong here. As you know, Mrs. Warren is my dearest friend, and I have no doubt that if you had heard the rest of their conversation you would have heard Mrs. Warren telling her, kindly but firmly, that she knew us to be the happiest of couples, and that she just imagined those things. Mrs. Warren never speaks unkindly of any one, nor lets a chance go by to say something nice about one when another in her presence makes disagreeable remarks."

Bruce lifted his head. "Well, from now on things will be different. I have been brought to my senses. If I had only listened to you when you talked of those things, instead of being so sure I was right, in my own way, I wonder that you didn't—"

"I did, this afternoon," Helen interrupted, leading him out of the living room. "And oh!" and her face lit up. "Why, Bruce, Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Warren came into 'Gambles' just as I was buying these new curtains and cushion covers." "Thank heavens for that!" muttered Bruce. "They are a great improvement to the room, Helen, and from now on, you—"

"No, not just me, Bruce dear—his," Helen said, softly, as she slipped into his arms.

"I hope I have learned my lesson in time," murmured Bruce, as he bent his head down and kissed "the dearest girl and wife in all the world."

Bruce lifted his head. "Well, from now on things will be different. I have been brought to my senses. If I had only listened to you when you talked of those things, instead of being so sure I was right, in my own way, I wonder that you didn't—"

"I did, this afternoon," Helen interrupted, leading him out of the living room. "And oh!" and her face lit up. "Why, Bruce, Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Warren came into 'Gambles' just as I was buying these new curtains and cushion covers." "Thank heavens for that!" muttered Bruce. "They are a great improvement to the room, Helen, and from now on, you—"

"No, not just me, Bruce dear—his," Helen said, softly, as she slipped into his arms.

"I hope I have learned my lesson in time," murmured Bruce, as he bent his head down and kissed "the dearest girl and wife in all the world."

GREAT BELIEVER IN BLACK-DRAUGHT

Oklahoma Lady Tells How Her Husband Believes in Black-Draught and Uses It For Many Ailments.

Nowata, Okla.—Mrs. W. B. Dawson, a resident of this place, says: "My husband is a great believer in Black-Draught and thinks it cures about everything."

It is splendid for headache, constipation (which usually causes headache), indigestion, or any kind of stomach trouble, and we just keep it for these troubles. I don't know when we haven't used it, and we always find it satisfactory.

I know it has done us both a lot of good and saved us many dollars. I use it in teaspoon doses at first and follow with small doses, and it does make a person feel like new.

It cleanses the liver better than any other liver tonic I have ever used and after taking a thorough course nature asserts itself and you are left in a constipated condition. It follows a lot of other active medicines. This is one thing I like especially about it.

For over 70 years Theoford's Black-Draught has been in use for many simple ailments and today is a recognized standard remedy in thousands of family medicine chests. It will pay you to keep Black-Draught in the house for use when needed. Your druggist sells it.—Advertisement.

CAR OF PIPE NEEDED HERE IS AT GORDON

Hope of relief of the shortage of pipe, keenly felt when the days are nippy, is held in the news that the long wanted carload of pipe for the Sammie Oil corporation has at last come as far as Gordon. Its progress is being speeded.

R. M. Steele, Superintendent of Transportation, Texas & Pacific Railroad, Dallas.

L. F. Dickson Joins Force of Chief Parrish

L. Fenwick Dickson, for seven years a member of the world-famous Northwest Mounted Police, is now mounted officer for the local police force. He reported for duty yesterday in response to a telegram sent by Chief of Police Byron Parrish.

Mr. Fenwick came here from Gainesville, Texas. He was raised in western Canada, put in a seven year "hitch" with the famous Northwest Mounted Canadian constabulary—went to France with the first Canadian contingent. He spent two years in France as a member of the 15th Field Ambulance. He was promoted to the rank of Captain before the signing of the armistice.

Captain Dickson has many relatives in Texas. He is a nephew of the late Major Dickson, of Houston.

The Northwest Mounted Police is one of the most famous organizations in the world. It is organized along the same lines as the Texas Rangers and enjoys the same respect in the sparsely settled portion of western Canada as the Ranger force does along the treacherous Rio Grande. In securing the services of Captain Dickson, Chief Parrish is carrying out his announced intention of securing the best men available to aid in the work of enforcing law and order in Ranger.

Captain Dickson talks with a pronounced Canadian accent. He is tall and well built, tanned from an outdoor life, and he looks to be what his recommendations say he is—a fearless and capable officer.

MEL SHUGERT SUPERINTENDENT SINCLAIR CAMP

Mel Shugert, formerly chief scout for the Sinclair Gulf Oil company, is now superintendent of the Sinclair's Ranger camp, succeeding R. W. Hanna, Superintendent. Shugert has his new position on his return to Fort Worth from a scouting trip over the Ranger field. He came back to Ranger at once to take his new position. Mrs. Shugert and the rest of the family, Jim and Mary Shugert, have moved to Ranger and will make their home at the magnificent Sinclair camp.

Scouts of the Ranger and Stephens fields under Superintendent Shugert when he was in the capacity of chief scout were C. C. Phillips, A. Martin, covering the Ranger field; J. W. Vanderson and Mr. Oberlie, covering the Stephens field.

Oil Companies Promise Quota to Red Cross

With three days to go in the last of the Red Cross drive, Miss Mary Ann Cross, division representative for the southwest division of the Ranger work, and Bob Hansford, an oil company representative, in their efforts to bring Ranger up to its quota.

Miss Cross solicited the oil companies Tuesday and was assured by every officer with whom she talked that the oil companies would see that their employees approached the 100 per cent enrollment.

LEVEILLE MAHER NOT IN HARDWARE BUSINESS

Through an error, the building permit issued to the Leveille-Maher Motor company was carried in The Times as "The Leveille-Maher Hardware company." To still the uneasiness arising in the minds of hardware merchants of Ranger, Ed Maher wants it understood that the Leveille-Maher Motor company is continuing its efforts to Ford sales and rebuilding.

The permit is for the new quarters of the company on Main and Hodges streets, opposite the Fovea tool company. It will be 75x120 in size and will cost $15,000.

FRANKELL FIRST STEPHENS COUNTY TOWN ON WICHITA FALLS. RANGER & FORT WORTH R. R., OPENS DEC. 8TH

The first oil field town on the line of the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad in Stephens county is ready to be opened Dec. 8. This is the town of Frankell, named in honor of Frank Kell of Wichita Falls, one of the builders of the railroad. Jake L. Hamon, his partner in the enterprise, said today that the new town will be one of the most sightly and best situated oil field towns in the entire Texas field.

It is on the Goswick land and embraces 320 acres that is in the western part of the Caddo pool and in the center of a rapidly developing region where new wells are being started every week. This town is twelve miles north of Ranger and eighteen miles southeast of Brookside.

"Frankell looks like a mighty good town just now," said Mr. Hamon, "and it has been designed to be a good town. It lies well and is well located with reference to the needs of the fields in Stephens county. Good progress has been made on construction work on the railroad in that direction and the prospect is that the railroad will be operating into Frankell within thirty days after the town is opened.

"This will add much to the importance of Ranger as a trade center and will be a factor in developing a good farming country and a fine oil field.

Many people are planning to open business in Frankell immediately after the town is opened with the assurance that the need for a railroad town in that vicinity will make the new town a superior point for business and develop it into a big place within a few weeks.

Production in the wells that are being brought in the Frankell vicinity is such as to indicate that it will soon be the center instead of the edge of a big oil pool. A shallow gas sand at 2,100 feet has been developed by the Texas company two miles northwest of Frankell has added to the intense interest that the region is awakening and the drilling campaign there is increasing in volume all the time.

DRY WEATHER IS PUTTING ZIP IN ROAD WORK

Oil company teams and the power grader owned by the city are taking advantage of the pretty weather to get some of the streets in shape for travel. Teams doing excavating for the General Construction company, on Austin street, also are helping the work along. The Harris Contracting company, which will do preliminary grading for the McKemie interests, have not yet started on this work.

The city's power grader is at work on Tiffin road, trying to put that morass into shape that it may be used by the supply and lumber companies located along it. Fifteen acres with yards along this road have been marooned by the bad road and compelled to seek some device to raise it and out.

Lamar and Oak streets are some better from the work of scrapers of the oil companies. These streets and Hunt as far as the Spring road, have been made passable by filling in with dirt taken from Austin street, where Supt. Campbell's grading is being done.

Unless the gas company gets in and finishes the work started on Rusk street, between Main and W. Houston, by draining the water which has collected in the ditches dug for gas and water mains, the paving of that street will be held up.

In conference with City Manager Turner this morning, H. B. Houghton, president of the Sammie Oil Corporation and Inspector Gibson considered what streets should be closed next. Another conference will be held this afternoon. It is probable that Oak, Houston and Lamar streets and Railroad avenue will receive first attention.

RUNAWAY TEAM KILLS MAN ON MAIN STREET

John White, an aged soap dealer, was almost instantly killed about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when a buggy he was riding in was struck by a runaway team and he was thrown to the pavement and trampled by one of the runaway horses. He was rushed to the office of Dr. C. O. Terrell, where he died in about three minutes.

The team which broke away belonged to Henry Roland. It had been tethered in the team track district, on the east side of the track north of Main street. The team first ran north, suddenly turned and made a frantic run up Main street, narrowly missing a number of automobiles and vehicles. White was in his buggy near the intersection of Main and Rusk when the wild team bore down upon him, striking his buggy and throwing him to the ground. One of the horses felled him and trampled upon his breast, crushing him almost to death. He sustained other injuries, it was stated.

White was a familiar figure on Ranger streets. He sold a special brand of soap. Roland, when seen by a reporter, stated that he could not understand how the team became frightened and how it avoided being stopped when approaching Main street because of the large number of wagons and people standing there. No blame whatever is attached to Roland, who deeply regretted the accident.

If Compromise Fails Democrats Oppose Treaty

LETTER FROM WILSON IS READ TO CONFERENCE OF DEMOCRATIC SENATORS

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—A letter from President Wilson advising administration senators to vote against ratification of the treaty with the foreign relations committee's reservations was laid before a conference of the administration senate forces today by Senator Hitchcock.

The committee program, the president wrote, would provide "not for ratification" but rather "for nullification of the treaty."

The conference was called to decide upon the final tactics of the administration for ratification of the treaty. After the president's letter was read there were indications that unless some compromise was effected the administration senators would line up solidly against ratification.

The decision of the Democratic friends of the treaty to vote against ratification resolution was confirmed at a conference of the Democrats immediately after the senate met.

Senator Lodge presented a resolution for ratification containing fifteen reservations, adopted by the senate majority.

Jail Order for Jenkins Made by Mex. Judge

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 19.—A formal order for the imprisonment of William Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, on charges of having made false declarations and threats against the president, was issued yesterday by Criminal Judge Gonzalez Franco at Puebla, according to advices reaching here today.
Jenkins, however, is not in jail and the statement in the press that he is not allowed to leave the city is untrue.
The exact legal status of the Jenkins affair is obscure. The next move evidently devolves upon officials there as Jenkins has given his word that he would be present at court when needed.
The assertion is made at the foreign office here that no formal note has been received from the United States demanding the release of Jenkins although it is known that representations have been made in the Mexican Government regarding his "molestation."
The charges against Jenkins seemed to be based on the testimony of persons who allege that they saw him in company with the bandit leader, Cordova, but newspapers published stories to the effect that there was coercion on both sides, which probably will be developed if Jenkins succeeds in securing a formal trial on the allegation that he conspired with the bandit for his own abduction.

City Prepares a Bomb Proof Bond Election

City Manager Turner returned Tuesday from Dallas and presented for the approval of the board of commissioners preliminary election measures requested to be bomb proof by W. M. Harris of the legal firm of Harris & McCall. These attorneys specialize in bond work and gave Mr. Turner the assurance that if the instructions given and the forms prepared were followed to the letter, the bonds, when passed, would receive the approval of the attorney general's department.
The preparations for the election, which will be held Dec. 22, were completed by the commissioners Tuesday.
Each issue of the bond election will be placed on separate ballots, one ballot for each vote cast for certain bonds, and one for each vote cast. There will be no marking of ballots, the voter using one mark only, "for bonds in the amount of $40,000 for the purpose of erecting public buildings, to wit, fire station and the purchase of the necessary sites thereof," or a similar one, starting "A—yes."
The bonds which will be considered are:
In the amount of $315,000 to retire warrants issued for improvements already made; in the amount of $40,000 for fire station and site; in the amount of $50,000 for city hall; in the amount of $265,000 for paving; in the amount of $50,000 for additional sewers.

The bandit secured about $250 from the train.
Carlisle boarded the train at Rock River, entered the tourist sleeper by smothering the scotchman window, and fired a shot through the roof to notify the passengers and forced all but the "old men, women, children, soldiers and sailors," to "contribute."
"I do not rob these," he told the passengers as he stood in the vestibule waiting for the train to stop. A passenger fired at close range and the bandit is believed to have been hit. Blood was found on the pistol, which he dropped in his hurried escape. Carlisle escaped from the state prison at Rawlins Saturday.

TO SUBMIT WAGE SCALE THAT WILL PROTECT THE INTERESTS OF PEOPLE

(By The Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Speaking with the full authority of President Wilson's cabinet, Fuel Administrator Garfield told representatives of the bituminous coal operators and miners today that "the people of the United States need, must have, and will have coal."
"And as long as the governments stands they will not be prevented from getting it by anything the operators or miners may do," Mr. Garfield added.
He explained that it was his purpose to furnish the conference data he would use in determining what wage advances, if any, that are agreed to by the operators and miners, could be borne properly by the public.
Immediately after convening the operators and miners decided to continue negotiations for a wage scale for the competitive bituminous coal fields through a sub-committee of eight from each side.

THEATERS

MANY MISHAPS IN FILM-ING ARSENE LUPIN PICTURE

Hard luck attended the filming of "Teeth of the Tiger," the Paramount-Artcraft picture about the adventures of Arsene Lupin, which will contain the nation's first color scene. The picture was shot at the State theater Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Anna Lehr was originally selected to play the chief feminine role in support of David Powell. After a number of scenes in which she appeared had been completed, Miss Lehr was suddenly stricken with a severe illness and forced to discontinue work. By good fortune Marguerite Courtot had just finished a scene with another star and was able to fill the breach nicely. However the scene in the former scenes, which had been removed, had to be completely rebuilt and the episodes reshot.

As if this were not enough, when the result of the first week's work was shown in the private projection room of the studio, it was discovered that the work had to be done all over again. This delayed completion of the picture by two weeks. Local screen humor declares "Teeth of the Tiger" is well worth waiting for, as it is one of the best mystery-detective stories ever seen.

MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN AMERICA AT OPERA HOUSE

Olive Thomas, who will be seen in the first of her series of Selznick pictures, "Upstairs and Down," on Thursday at the Opera House, has been called the most beautiful girl in America—and justly so. With her gorgeous mass of wavy chestnut hair and shining eyes of deep sea blue, her superb form and lovely face, Olive Thomas most assuredly deserves the title bestowed on her.

When this dainty bit of femininity came to New York a few years ago from her home in Pennsylvania, she made that blouse town sit up and take notice. She created a sensation. She became the most beautiful girl in America—and justly so. For three years she continued to attract nationwide attention in the show which is reputed to contain the most beautiful girls in the country.

During this time, she also was a model for the great American painter, Harrison Fisher. It was he who labeled her "the most beautiful girl in America." She also posed for Raphael Kirchner and Haskell Coffin, who made several portraits of her which have graced magazine covers and the walls of nobles' homes.

Miss Thomas is the first Selznick star and will make a series of eight pictures a year for that company. Her first picture, "Upstairs and Down," is a delightful comedy plus drama about a house party given by the elite of Long Island society and the scrapes and troubles of the "baby vamp," Alice Chesterton, the role ably portrayed by Miss Thomas.

TOM MIX PROVES HIS LOVE FOR THE HORSE

There is a very warm spot in the heart of Tom Mix, the William Fox motion picture star, for animals. Here is an amusing story he told on himself during the filming of his latest picture, "The Speed Maniac," in which his famous horse Tony figures prominently.

"The Osage Indians have a peculiar custom of lying the pony of a kid man alongside his grave," said Mix. "Food for a day or so is left near the pony. If the animal breaks away the Indians say the dead Indian was a good Indian and that his spirit has moved on to the happy hunting ground. But if the pony dies of starvation and thirst beside the grave of the departed owner, this is judgment passed on the dead."

Mix chuckled and continued: "Many had Indians were thought good by the Osage tribe simply because, when I found a pony tied by a grave I turned it loose. Doubtless I confused the Indians in their calculations, but I saved many a pony from a forlorn death."

Mix and Tony do some absorbingly interesting things in "The Speed Maniac," a photoplay of love and rapid action, which will be shown at the Liberty Friday and Saturday, and which is said to be the best and biggest thing this brilliant star has done.

TRAFFIC SAFETY LEAGUE FORMED

DALLAS, Nov. 19.—A traffic safety league of 200 Dallas citizens is working on plans for a similar state-wide movement to have traffic laws and regulations observed, the management of the Dallas Automobile club has announced.

The plan is to supply 200 citizens with cards which they will fill out with the name, time and nature of the offense of drivers which comes to notice. These cards, addressed to the automobile club, will be mailed and the club will then write the offender inviting him to call at the club and explain why he failed to observe the law. If the invitation is ignored a second letter will be sent him, and if this is ignored his case will be taken to the police court.

"There hasn't been an issue of any daily paper in Dallas for several days that did not report an automobile accident, and in almost every instance some one was seriously injured," said E. Dick Spillers, manager of the Dallas Automobile club. "This club will lend its full support to the safety first campaign.

"The object is to insist on more careful driving and not to prosecute a violator. If, however, a violator is convicted a second time his case will be taken to the courts."

BREAD CONDITION IN TEXAS SERIOUS

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—Texas is facing a serious bread situation owing to heavy rains throughout the summer and fall which prevented farmers from preparing the ground for winter wheat, according to H. B. Dorsey, secretary of the Texas Grain Dealers' association. "This condition also prevails over practically the entire country," the secretary said.

With prospects for dry weather Mr. Dorsey expresses the belief that there is yet ample time to raise winter wheat and in a circular letter he urged bankers, merchants and grain dealers and others to encourage farmers to plant immediately the largest possible acreage. "Our climate in Texas," he says in the letter, "is more favorable to showing wheat at this late date than in any other state."

Texas wheat growers lost heavily on last season's crop, Mr. Dorsey said, owing to inability to secure sufficient threshers and inability to market wheat "because of embargoes at ports and failure to secure boats and cars to handle the crop. Many farmers affected by these conditions, he said, "are not overly anxious to plant wheat now" and should be given every encouragement to do so.

"Those who sow wheat now will get a fairly good crop and will help supply the country with bread," according to Mr. Dorsey's letter.

Men Die Ingeniously.
Government and Labor.
The Editor's Problem.
Sunny Southern Oases.
BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

A new kind of suicide is invented by a Frenchman, Adrian Thumel. Men often show more ingenuity in ending their lives than in making them worth while.

A well-known ancient philosopher jumped into the mouth of a volcano. He wanted to impress the world with his witted end. That was vanity.

A Russian prisoner feared that he would make him betray his friends, and he endured agony to make his friends safe. On the way to his cell, high up, was a small, smoky oil lamp with bare flame. He tried himself to blow the flame, holding to the bars of the cell window, and he had burned in his side a hole big enough to cause death that was certain, such as thousands of victims, as had been shown in fighting the czar.

One young Russian woman, sentenced to death for killing a brutal officer in Siberia, could have saved herself by letting it be known that she was about to become a mother. The officer's brutality let him send her to Siberia, but his superstitious woman would not let him kill an unborn child. The young woman deliberately allowed herself to be executed, to make the czar worry, upon learning too late of her condition.

Men have fallen upon their sword points, jumped over cliffs on horseback, tried all kinds of poisons and weapons. The blind king of Bohemia had his horse chained between the horses of two faithful soldiers and with them rode into the thick of battle hacking at the unseen enemy with his sword until he and the two were dead.

The latest is thoroughly modern and scientific. Monsieur Thumel and his fair one were unhappy—the world had disappointed them; in fact, monsieur was accused of stealing hams.

He was determined the world should hear of him, and it did. He got thirty-five pounds of melinite, a high sort of explosive, and himself, his lady and the melinite in a small hut and exploded himself out of the world. The noise was heard for miles, property was destroyed all around and there was not enough left of the two bodies to make a sanitary funeral.

There is no moral to this, but it is interesting, showing what queer ideas are held on in half-developed human beings, who believe that a useless life can be made better by a noisy death.

A question important now, and that may continue to be important for many years—or at least long enough to upset the country seriously—is this: Just what can the government do to control great bodies of organized working men seeking to regulate their wages and hours through industrial fights when those fights appear to menace the general welfare?

You can have courts enjoin the men from striking. That has already been tried, but the men have struck. You can have soldiers to protect those willing to work against those that are on strike. That experiment will be tried today.

You may by injunction, through contempt of court proceedings, and by action of the nation's legal department, punish men for conspiring to violate court orders; but you cannot punish a man for not working in a coal mine if he does not want to work there.

A big problem has been growing up slowly, getting bigger and bigger, and the war with the reckless outpouring of money and the great increase in wages has brought on the crisis.

Within a few weeks or months the country will know the deal that the government when it deals with bodies of men running into the millions.

Unten Sines' whose interest in the human element is the cause of his newspaper, has been temporarily to destroy the American mind of business in Europe, the indignity of the new war business that will interest publishers who are wondering when their next carload of paper is coming from Mr. Sinclair, quoting an ancient one, says: "Jealousy consists in having white paper at 2 cents a pound and selling it at 10 cents a pound."

It may surprise Mr. Sinclair, who, like others, is too much of a hatter to be careful about facts, to learn that the newspaper publisher in our life is wondering how he can sell 10 cents' worth of paper for 2 cents and remain afloat financially.

An able American hotel man has bought one of the biggest hotels in Havana and will make it bigger. To those pleasant southern islands near us there will be many little fashionable and expensive oases established rapidly.

Americans with much money to spend and away from the United States to spend the money. It may be necessary to follow prohibition legislation with restriction, legislation, taxing doubly or trebly, the incomes or even the principal of those who live abroad on what they get here. From 1919's history we learn what happens when money is taken from one country to be spent in another.

HERE'S FRIEND HOD IN A NEW ROLE

Hod Eller, known best as one of the big guns of the recent world's series, was presented with a handsome gun by the folks of his old home town, Danville, Ill., when he blew in there to have the laurel wreath placed on his brow. And, like any youngster with a strap, Hod wasn't contented until he had tried it out.

Hod took up trapshooting, as soon as the town got through giving him banquets and presents, and, judging from the way he started, he'll soon be as good at bringing down the clay pigeons as he was at slipping the ball past the White Sox batters.

In his first match at the Danville Rod and Gun club Hod blazed away at 180 birds and brought down 160, which is right smart shooting for a young whippersnapper, according to the old boys. The photo of Hod was taken during the first tryout of the weapon.

STUDENTS RIDE FREIGHT TO GRIDIRON GAME ARRESTED

They tried the side door Pullman route and were arrested at Gallon. In police court it cost $9.5 each and only the intervention of school authorities lifted a ten-day jail sentence.

Freight Traffic Conditions Are Now Improving

ABILENE, Nov. 18.—A great improvement in freight traffic reported by local grain, lumber and wholesale men. Cars are now available in fairly large numbers and as a result the farm products of the West are being shipped out rapidly. Local grain men who were forced to cease buying for many weeks because of the emergency caused by car shortages, are now taking all the wheat offered them. Several carloads of lumber also were received here the past week, relieving what threatened to be a shortage.

THE WEST'S OPPORTUNITY.

Now that the sun has come out again and some of the moisture has vanished, it is a good thing to think of the irrigation needs of this great empire of West Texas. The Times is strong for irrigation. It believes that this will be the remedy to take the embarrassment out of our periodical droughts. Abilene is taking lead. Stamford is getting ready to duplicate. Wichita Falls is going to startle the southwest with its great scheme within a few months. What can now be predicted for those sections can likewise be predicted for a number of other sections of the great west. Even the Palo Duro might be dammed, giving a body of water 1,000 feet deep and from a quarter of a mile to a mile wide. Great West Texas by nature; greater it can be made by the assisting hand of man.

LOCAL GAMBLING.

The state department at Austin has taken cognizance of the universality of gaming in the oil fields of Texas and has declared that unless it is shortly suppressed efforts will be called into service that will degenerate the devotees of the pastime. Ranger has been overrun with gamblers for several months. For a time the crusade against them was so rigid that they had to hie to the mountains, canyons, creeks and secluded places in the vicinity of the city. Yet gaming is going on in various parts of the city—in private residences, clubs and the like, and many of them are being "lifted" by the police. Gun toting and gaming in Ranger must be stopped. The law is against this pastime. The officers are against it.

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Passenger traffic into Ranger is increasing daily. Persons cognizant of the trend of "immigration" to Ranger for the last several months will attest to the fact that the Sun-

SCRIPTURE

Comfort ye, comfort ye my people, saith your God.
Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem and cry unto her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned: for she hath received of the Lord's hand double for all her sins.
The voice of him that crieth in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight in the desert a highway for our God.
Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain:
And the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it.
The voice said, Cry, and he said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the goodness thereof is as the flower of the field.
The grass withereth, the flower fadeth: because the spirit of the Lord bloweth upon it: surely the people is grass.
The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, but the word of our God shall stand for ever.
O Zion, that bringest good tidings, get thee up into the high mountain: O Jerusalem, that bringest good tidings, lift up thy voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid: say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God!
Behold, the Lord God will come with strong hand, and his arm shall rule for him: behold, his reward is with him, and he will requite him.
He shall feed his flock like a shepherd: he shall gather the lambs with his arm, and carry them in his bosom, and shall gently lead those that are with young.

shine Special which arrives here at any time between 7:20 to 11 p. m. each evening is carrying more than its "quota." Probably the banner passenger list was carried last Saturday. Many minutes were consumed unloading the human freight.

The fact that thousands are coming to Ranger indicates plainly that the oil field center is a good place to come to. Thousands of people out of employment in other places come to Ranger. And they are satisfied here.

LOCATING IN RANGER.

A number of towns which gave such "hospitable" welcomes to the first arrivals in Ranger because the latter was unable on account of housing conditions and lack of modern conveniences to accommodate them, are sending people back to Ranger. "Sending" is not a good word in this case. It would be better to say that the people are coming back voluntarily because of the high rents, high "everything" that it being put upon them. As Ranger builds hundreds of new homes and can show the towns which profited on them how far ahead of them it has become in a few months, it regains these people—the family, if you please.

"RUN OUT OF SCHEDULE."

Chambers of commerce and commercial organizations along the Wichita Valley railroad are trouncing that line to get a revision of the train schedule. Though a new train was installed a short time ago it isn't suiting the towns at all. What the commercial organizations ask should be granted. Sometimes trains are run "out of schedule" just to "prove" that they are not needed.

Ranger has an adequate gas supply. This is the best inducement that any railroad could urge to establish Ranger as a winter resort. Other towns are gasless and coalless now. Palms and flowers may look good, but they don't furnish heat.

Toledo walks and cusses. It didn't think it was possible, but somewhere over in Michigan the vehicles that used to joyride Detroit is waiting until Toledo becomes repentant, thinks Doherty.

The Times is not an agricultural journal. It would be more pertinent that it advocate "planting more oil wells," but for once it urges upon farmers of West Texas to plant wheat and oats in acreage comparable with that of last year. Production is what the world is needing today and will need tomorrow.

We have had the army plane, the commercial plane and now we're about to get the T. B. plane. Scientific medicine say tuberculosis can get a knockout high in the air, but do not speak of the knockout which the patient might get by "steering" to earth.

And even old Ohio seems to be for the prohibition ratification. Its ratification has nothing to do with national prohibition, but it just wanted to show us that it was in line with the great moral forces of the age.

OIL OPERATOR OF CALIF. TO FORM TEXAS CONCERN

Special to The Times. ABILENE, Nov. 19.—Senator Nathan W. Hale of Los Angeles, Cal., is among the well known oil men who have given the Abilene country the once over, and also a boost. Senator Hale is an extensive oil operator in the Midway field of California, being president and general manager of the Hale-McLeod Oil company, one of the big independent corporations of that state. In addition to his operations in California he is president of the Hale Syndicate, operating 7,600 acres in Menifee county, Kentucky.

Senator Hale is in Texas to complete the organization of a $10,000,000 oil company which owns in fee 174,000 acres of land in Texas. A portion of this acreage is in proved territory and the company intends to develop some of the unproved stuff.

The company has just made arrangements for building a $500,000 refinery in Stephens county. Senator Hale is to be manager and chairman of the board of this new company, most of the capital for which is coming from California.

With his son, Lowell S. Hale, and John G. Jackson of Abilene, Senator Hale is extensively interested in the Ekota territory in southeastern Fisher county. The senator said the Ekota dome is the most perfect he has ever seen. Speaking of the Abilene field, he said: "Prospects of oil in this vicinity are very favorable and I have long since gathered leases here which I consider very valuable."

STEPHENS CO. VOTES $3,500,000 ROAD BONDS.

BRECKENRIDGE, Nov. 19.—In the election Saturday Stephens county voted $3,500,000 worth of good roads bonds. The majority is better than five to one according to an incomplete count.

The thefts were petty, but the thieves left the bungalows in disorder, strewn the contents about.

TEXAS G. O. P.'S ORGANIZE AND FORM PLATFORM

DALLAS, Nov. 19.—The most enthusiastic gathering of Texas Republicans in recent years was held yesterday at the auditorium, at the Chamber of Commerce in this city and was attended by leading business men from all sections of the state.

The convention was almost equally divided between old line Republicans and former Democrats and both classes took an active part in the deliberations of the convention.

A declaration of principles was adopted by the convention, which urges returned soldiers to become candidates for public offices on the Republican platform and pledges the support of the Republican party candidates. The declaration of principles as adopted pledges allegiance to the constitution of the United States; suggests a large merchant marine but opposes government ownership of public utilities; asks for a speedy return of the railroads to their private owners; recognizes the right of labor engaged in private industry to organize and a man's right to leave his employment at his will, but opposes the unionization of national, state or municipal government and favors the open shop system; opposes strikes among those engaged in the operation of public utilities; condemns anarchy and Bolshevism; takes the President seriously to task for his influence in pardoning Mooney, Haywood and other alleged conspirators; condemns the Terrell election law; pledges legislation to distribute the cost of the war over a period of years; demands honesty and efficiency in government; suggests another strong political party as a cure for the present political ills in Texas; asks that Texas educational institutions be taken out of politics; approves the reservations to the peace treaty passed by the United States senate; favors a high protective tariff, and declared that the government and the Republican party in Texas should continue to be managed by the white race.

Water Cased Off in Sweetwater Well

SWEETWATER, Nov. 18.—The drillers at the Bitter Creek well have succeeded in casing off the salt water with eight-inch casing at a depth of 3,000 feet, and will soon resume drilling.

With a flow of gas at this depth it is expected that this well will be brought in as soon as the black lime is penetrated a few feet.

'It Beats Anything I Ever Saw,' Says Oil Broker

E. P. Saunders, a well known and popular oil lease broker, residing at 1224 Ross avenue, and whose office is 311 Main street, Fort Worth, Texas, came in Renfro's Drug Store recently and in relating his experience with Orgatone, the treatment that is accomplishing such surprising results everywhere, said:

"This Orgatone has simply doubled my energy and fixed me up so I can do more work and do it easier than I could in a long time. For the past six months or more, I have been a constant sufferer from a bad case of indigestion and what others called 'constipative dyspepsia.' My kidneys bothered me continually, and I was troubled with chronic constipation nearly all the time. My liver was out of order and sluggish and I was never free from that dragging feeling and felt tired and worn out all the time and had so little energy and ambition that I never felt like staying on the job.

"A very good friend of mine told me about the wonderful results that were being obtained with the Orgatone treatment and I decided to try it myself. I have taken four bottles so far and it beats anything I ever saw. My appetite is getting so big I can hardly get enough to eat. My kidneys have stopped bothering me and my constipation troubles are fast disappearing. Orgatone has put new life and energy into me and I can get around with as much vim and do as much work as I ever could. I can recommend Orgatone, for it has done everything for me where nothing else would help me at all, and I have told several about it who I thought needed just such a treatment."

There are thousands of people who complain of being nervous and run down. They are not sick exactly, but feel tired out and good for nothing most of the time. They simply need something to build them up and throw off the symptoms of this weakened, debilitated condition.

The system, besides being purified by Orgatone, is toned up and invigorated as the treatment aside from assisting the blood, reinvigorates the constitution, overcoming as it seems to quickly do, nervousness, indigestion, non-assimilation of the food, headaches, backaches, kidney disorders, cerebral debility and many other complaints so common to the thousands of half-sick, depressed men and women.

Orgatone is not a so-called patent secret remedy, but a new, scientific treatment, absolutely free from alcohol in any form, and is sold in Ranger exclusively by the Ranger Drug company under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative.—Advertisement.

Why Brunswick Tires Win Preference

There are two main reasons—one, the name itself, which certifies superior value—the other, that time tells the same story.

Thus reputation and performance unite in giving you all you expect—and more. Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires. Many motorists would pay more readily, but the Brunswick idea is to GIVE the utmost, rather than to GET the utmost. And this has been true since 1845. You can appreciate what Brunswick Standards mean by trying ONE Brunswick Tire. It will be a revelation. You'll agree that you could not buy a better, regardless of price.

And, like other motorists, you'll decide to have ALL Brunswicks. Then you'll know supreme satisfaction from your tires—longer life, minimum trouble, lower cost.

FOOTBALL AT CREST QWAVE

Popularity of Game Greatest Ever Known; Ever Season Advocated; Seen to Pick Championship in.

International News Service. NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—In line with every other foot sport, college football is about to reach heights this year it has never attained. Always the popular form of outdoor sport in the fall, gripping because the on battles have back of them more than simply interest in the outcome measured from a public stand, there is every indication that game this season, both as regular sport and the gate, will exceed any other similar season.

The war put a quon football to an extent, but that it has shown a reaction that is better in the crowds that attend games and in better contests. It is always something that thrills the rivalry between institutions, and there is no better of setting their differences in these gridiron battles. Intense debates may be all right in their way, but it takes athletic football especially, to rank the colleges with the fat large. The only regrettable of the football season is that it is not longer. A lengthened season would go far toward settling disputed questions as to which team had the better team, whether of coaching yielded the bouts. As it is now, the only determining anything approach football championship, particularly in the East, is by way of private scores, and everyone knows the big colleges do not.

The West has its confederates, and the winner of the "C" can with some show of justice be hailed as the champion of the Middle West. But no such mountains in the East, and the college football is a game of no end of argument will continue to last as long as the larger institutions do not. What college football is a final game, something of the world's series in baseball, way of having champions, that colleges, of the Middle West, the eastern end in doubt is being, and only can be righted by a season, which is hardly possible. But it is ideal and serve to settle arguments, were it possible, football winners to meet and determine the position of the gridiron crown.

The American sporting dearly loves a champion, or it is in professional or amateur effort is always being determined and honor the title holder. It was this spirit was responsible for the work in professional baseball. No is a scheme on foot to ship in college football. There are no intersectional importance by which the strength of the East and West is determined.

The proposal is therefore made that at the end of a committee of football experts from all Eastern football teams from the strongest eleven Western eleven. This is proposed as a substitute for the more logical arrangement of having the eastern teams play a round schedule, with the winner of the winner of the Conference of the Middle West.

The difficulty of arranging series of either sort that the colleges, at least Harvard, Yale Princeton, will never consent to such an agreement or league. Ed have been made for many years these three principals to come of their little triangular league and the other big universities of the But for reasons which seem sufficient for them they cannot and the other colleges about ready to let them go their way. Therefore the suggestion of another plan to bring about some of post-season game.

It is easy to be seen that the location of the all-Eastern team proposed would not be satisfactory. In the first place the proposal smacks too much of professionalism to most college authorities. There is, in fact, a standing rule at many eastern institutions against post-season games of any sort. Indeed, nearly every transcontinental football team left a bad odor in the colleges, and a few institutions which have made the experiment are anxious to try it again.

Two Franchise Changes Made in International

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 19.—Decision to transfer the Newark International league baseball club franchise to some other city is announced here by Ernest C. Landgraf, president of the club, who said he had received permission from the league to take such action. The franchise, it was stated, is being sought by Scranton and Montreal. This is the second change in the international circuit for next season, as the Birmingham franchise has been transferred to Akron, Ohio. Akron business men paid $30,000 to the international league for the franchise, which had been forfeited by the Birmingham owner. It is reported that Hans Wagner, prominent citizen of Pittsburgh, will manage the Akron team.

STARS PROVE HITTING ISN'T EVERYTHING IN BASEBALL

The first thing a fan wants to know about a baseball player is "Can he hit?" Artie Merkle is generally accepted as one of the prime requisites of a major league ball player. And yet there are stars in the game's history who were famous for their batting years although they failed to stay long in the 300 class of batters. Some of them were able to hit 200 or better only once. In this list are Joe Tinker, Tuck Turner, Artie Merkle, Bob Bescher, Fred

Herrmann Is Ready to Resign Chairmanship

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—August Herrmann, president of the champion Cincinnati Reds, is ready to resign as chairman of the National Baseball Commission as soon as his successor is named. "Suggestions have been made that I resign as chairman of the National Commission," said Mr. Herrmann. "I have already made my position clear in that matter. I am ready to step down and out when my successor is named. I was a party to the proceeding in the National League which decided that some man, not a club owner or identified with either league, should be the new chairman. But my resignation now, with the committee which is choosing my successor at loggerheads, would gain nothing. The commission would simply be left without a chairman and the selection of the successor would not be hurried at all.

"The winning of the pennant by the Reds has been a big thing for Cincinnati. The town has been advertised as never before, especially through the South. Trade has swung to us simply because of the baseball championship. We like the sensation and we're going to repeat next year, whether I'm chairman of the National Commission or just president of the Cincinnati Reds."

Johnny Dundee has held his own in the ring for years, but he has decided to change his style. He has been known for his powerful punches and aggressive style, but now he is adopting a more defensive and technical approach. This change is expected to make him a more formidable opponent in the future.

PASS-THE-HAT BOUTS POPULAR IN COLORADO

International News Service. PUEBLO, Colo., Nov. 19.—Unique in prize fight promotion is the system used by R. H. Richards, who is running boxing exhibitions here on the "pass the hat" plan. Richards is staging bouts without charging admission, and so liberal have the fans been when the hat was passed that he has been able not only to pay the participants a bonus over their guarantee, but is picking up many shobles for his own coffers.

Richards is now in the sport world, but events of the past few months indicate that he is destined to become as well known as Jack Copley, Billy Gibson and others, the amateur of whose rames immediately attracts the eye of the sport fan. Richards was serving on a committee for a fraternal organization down in Colorado Springs when the suggestion was made that a few boxing exhibitions be included in a program of entertainment that was being arranged to raise funds. A local ordinance prohibited the sale of tickets for the fight show, so Richards decided to "pass the hat." And he's been doing that same little stunt around Colorado Springs and Pueblo for some time—but the "surplus" coin goes to Richards instead of a fraternal organization now.

In a recent show that he staged for the public in Pueblo, the card included such well known performers as Otto Wallace, Johnny Noss, Mike Ertie and Frankie Tucker and the various hats that were passed among 1,500 fans netted something over $5,000.

Richards is arranging a classy card for Thanksgiving day, and is negotiating with Benny Leonard, Lew Tendler, Johnny Dundee and other high class talent, and says that he can pack 5,000 fans into the Auditorium here that will easy throw over $10,000 into the hat. Richards frequently gives guarantees of from $2,500 to $5,000 on the strength of nothing more than the "pass the hat" prospect. "And," he declares, "if that isn't taking a chance, then they don't gamble in Wall street."

A feature of the bouts has been the large attendance of women. Smoking is not allowed and registering approval or disapproval is confined to hand clapping only. No shouting, howling, or noisy demonstrations go. "Remember there are ladies present," reads a notice plastered in all parts of the house.

OWNER OF BIG HAPGOOD GAS WELL IS HERE

S. F. Sullenberger, one of the owners of the famous Hapgood gasser near Amarillo, and one of the most prominent citizens of the Hub of the Panhandle, is in Ranger a few days on a visit to friends after an extensive trip through the East and North.

Brings in Gasser. Prior to entering the oil game Mr. Sullenberger was president of the National Bank of Commerce at Amarillo field, on his property on the Canadian river, north of Amarillo 27 miles. Mr. Sullenberger and associates let the contract for a 2000 foot test to the Hapgood company. When 1500 feet was reached the well came in a huge gasser, making 10,000,000 cubic feet a day. The derrick was considerably shattered and the gas escaped for several months before it could be curbed. It is maintaining its 10,000,000 cubic feet. Later two other wells were drilled on the same territory, three-fourths a mile apart. Each of these, known as the Masterson No. 2 and No. 3, came in with 10,000,000 cubic feet. Later two other wells were drilled on the same territory, three-fourths a mile apart. Each of these, known as the Masterson No. 2 and No. 3, came in with 10,000,000 cubic feet. These wells were drilled to prove to the Union Petroleum and Gas company in the East that the Hapgood or Masterson No. 1 was not a "pocket" gasser, so that the company would pipe the gas into Amarillo for fuel. Arrangements are being made for the gas to be supplied to that city, but some opposition has been shown by local element which has hindered the connecting up of the gassers with the Amarillo Gas company's extensive mains.

Mr. Sullenberger said that besides the three gassers his company is drilling two other wells on the same tract in order to increase the gas supply to insure an adequate supply for Amarillo. He mentioned that the Henry Noble and S. F. Sullenberger have secured 40,000 acres on the Bravo dome west of Amarillo, half of which was obtained from Shelton & Matador, and contract has been let to Benedict & Texas--the Transcontinental company--for the drilling of two or three deep wells.

Fifteen Wells Drilling. "We have fifteen wells being drilled in the Amarillo territory," said Mr. Sullenberger. They have all been shallow wells. The wells which we are putting down on the Bravo dome will be 3,500 feet deep, at which depth we expect to encounter some heavy pressure, but we are sure of the world's championship for oil production to Amarillo."

Speaking of the gasser which was brought in south of Amarillo in the past week, he said, "I am sure below the surface of the plains, Mr. Sullenberger said it was a gigantic one, but contained only "dead" gas or nitrogen. Considerable trouble has been encountered in this well; due to the heavy pressure, but work is now progressing."

Asked as to the progress Amarillo is making, Mr. Sullenberger said there probably is not another town in the state which is making as great progress industrially, commercially and structurally.

"It is building faster than ever in its history," he said, "which means something when it is known that from 1910 to 1919 Amarillo showed a greater percentage of growth than any other town in the United States. I figure that Amarillo now has under actual construction not less than 600 structures, ranging in value from $2,500 to $50,000. In fact, the greatest railroad facilities in the entire west and the Santa Fe general offices employ more than a thousand men and women.

"You can look for Amarillo to show at least 35,000 inhabitants when the first sand is taken. In 1900 Amarillo had less than 2,000 inhabitants."

Report "Second Sand" at Desdemona Special to The Times. FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—A "second sand" is assured in practically every part of the Desdemona oil field, according to a statement made here by W. B. Austin and H. M. Bundick, of German, who have opened up an office here.

Derricks are being taken back and built over the former dry holes which were abandoned when they failed to produce oil. The first sand strata from the cruiser John Orden, have been recovered at Munichising, Mich.

GREENSBAY, Wis., Nov. 19.—Reports from Michigan today said eighteen bodies, believed to be those of the crew missing from the cruiser John Orden, have been recovered at Munichising, Mich.

Diphtheria Takes Toll at Cisco, Texas

Special to The Times. CISCO, Nov. 18.—An epidemic of diphtheria is prevailing in this city. Several deaths have resulted within the past few weeks. The local board of health is doing everything possible to stamp out the disease.

The board has requested that several hundred doses of prophylactic serum be rushed here by the state board of health for immunizing all children who have been exposed. Each case is quarantined by the city health officer as soon as it is reported to him.

Sugar Shortage in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—Despite the fact that several hundred pounds of sugar were unloaded on the market Tuesday the shortage still remains acute in Fort Worth and relief is not promised until early next week.

The tentative promise of relief is only problematical as jobbers are not sure as to just what time new shipments will arrive. At any rate it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that sugar would be around 20 cents a pound.

Texas Railroads Need Coal Badly

Special Leased Wire. FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—"Very serious" was the manner in which the coal situation on the various railroad lines operating in Texas was summed up by local officials of several of the lines entering Fort Worth yesterday.

Unless some definite action is taken by the state or national government within the next fifteen days to supply the fuel used on railroads whose engines burn coal, curtailment of several of the trains on various lines will result.

15,000-Bbl. Well of Texas Co. in Mexico

Special to The Times. FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—Word has been received in Houston by the Texas company of the bringing in of a big well on its Boyer lease on lot 123, Chinompa, in the Las Narandas district, Mexico. At six feet in the pay at 1,900 feet, the well is estimated to produce for 15,000 barrels a day. The company is rushing an extension of its ten-inch pipe line from the Tepehate sector to care for the oil.

NO REAL DEMOCRACY IN U. S., SHE SAYS DALLAS, Nov. 19.—There is no real democracy in the United States and there never will be until "industrial democracy" has been attained, said Miss Marcy McDowell of Chicago (settlement worker) speaking here before the Dallas school of social work.

"We merely have the machinery for democracy; we do not have democracy itself," Miss McDowell declared. "We are not democratic politically, socially or industrially, and I hasten to say that we will never have democracy at all until we have it industrially, for that is basic."

Women are in no way to blame for present unsettled conditions, Miss McDowell said, "because we have little voice in determining what course shall be followed. Our helplessness is inherited and we must not brood over our inability to remedy matters."

Speaking of strikes, Miss McDowell said: "The strike is an undeniable right of the working class, but it should be used only as a last resort. A strike is a war and as such is never quite either a success or a failure."

"As to foreigners, I will say they will obey the laws if Americans enforce the laws. Americans need to be Americanized more than the foreigners."

BIG SPRINGS COTTON IS HEAVIER THAN IN 1918. BIG SPRINGS, Nov. 19.—Big Spring weighed 2,106 bales of cotton this season. Coahoma has weighed 1900. Last year only 1608 bales were weighed in the entire county.

BODIES OF MISSING CREW RECOVERED GREENSBAY, Wis., Nov. 19.—Reports from Michigan today said eighteen bodies, believed to be those of the crew missing from the cruiser John Orden, have been recovered at Munichising, Mich.

THE TIMES' DAILY SHORT STORY

A LESSON IN TIME

By J. K. Marshall

(Copyright, 1919, by McClure News-paper Syndicate.)

There was no more devoted and happy couple than the Wards, who had been married a few short weeks, but today Helen was not happy. This was due to the fact that she had taken the time this morning to review the events of the past few weeks. She knew that Bruce loved her dearly, and in his good-heartedness would deny her nothing to make her happy. But now she had to acknowledge he had one serious fault, which was a menace to their future happiness. His belief that it was his sole right to supervise everything about the household clashed harshly with her free and independent ideas. Helen had religiously refused to allow these thoughts to enter her mind until last evening, when they had entertained for the first time in their new home. She had looked forward with much pleasure to this event, and thought with a touch of pride how Mrs. Warren would compliment her on the haven of delight that she and Bruce had created for their home. But what a bitter disappointment it had been to her as she stood by and heard Bruce, in answer to the many pleasant exclamations from the guests, as they viewed the furnishings, assume the credit to himself, in a proprietary manner, with not one word of praise for herself. The realization of this trait in Bruce had spoiled her evening, and she was unable to be the gay, light-hearted hostess they had always known.

After the guests had departed, Bruce had asked her what was wrong; but her efforts at an explanation only aroused in him a feeling of resentment. Her gentle remonstrances at his persistently ignoring her, not only in the selection of the household furnishings but their arrangement as well, had brought forth from him his declaration that he was master of his home.

She realized the futility of further discussion of this subject with Bruce, because she knew him to be too positive in his ideas. She thought over all this, carefully, and made up her mind to change things. Yes, she would begin right now. She called her mother on the phone and asked her to go shopping with her.

Helen bought new silk covers for the round cushions, new curtains for the windows and a beautiful, rich brown cover for the library table. She had wanted those things in the living room, when she was first married. Well, now she was going to have them. Mother had always selected these things at home. Other women planned the arrangement of the room. So would she.

After they had tea she left her mother and went home. Hurriedly slipping into her large blue gingham apron, she went to work. First, she took down the curtains in the living room. Mrs. O'Brien had cleaned the windows just two days ago, so she could now put up the new curtains. Then she opened her packages. "What a beautiful, rich golden brown!" she thought, as she held the curtains up to admire them. "And how well they looked with the brown rug!" Soon the room took on a new pretty effect. True, the curtains and other things that Bruce had bought were lovely, but they were not just what Helen had wanted; and then, she must show Bruce that she, too, could plan and furnish a room with excellent taste, and that it was her right.

Her work completed, she found it would be little more than an hour before Bruce would be home. She would have plenty of time to dress and read awhile before starting to prepare dinner. She had just been in the sun parlor a few minutes trying to become interested in a late novel, when Bruce arrived. She saw him coming on the walk, carrying a square white box under one arm and a long box in his other hand. "Flowers and candy," thought Helen. This had happened once before, when Bruce left the house in a hurry after breakfast, because Helen had served bacon with their eggs, and Bruce did not eat pork "in any way, shape or form." Flowers and candy were his peace offering, which would cover any breach. Well, he must learn differently. She usually ran to the door to meet him, but today she pretended to be reading.

Bruce entered the house and, placing his packages on the table, he went to her quietly.

"Helen, dear," he began, "I want to talk to you. It is about last night."

Helen gazed at him in surprise. Why, what did it mean? This pent-up tone from Bruce. And he had never before said he was sorry. Perhaps she had been too hasty about buying the new things for the living room.

"Oh, Bruce, wait! I want to tell you about this afternoon. I—"

She was interrupted by Bruce. "I have been a selfish cad. I know how you must feel about my selecting everything for our home, and trying to supervise their arrangement. But I must tell you how I came to realize this. This morning going to town Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Travers got on at Homewood. They took the seat right back of me. At first I did not recognize their voices; then they mentioned your name." Bruce paused, made another effort, then went on. "Mrs. Warren was saying some nice things about you, when Mrs. Travers remarked, 'What a pity she allows her young husband to run everything. Why, when you asked her where she bought her pretty cushions and the reading lamp, she looked confusedly at her husband and he had to answer, 'I should hate to think that I would ever become a nonentity in my home. I wonder how such men would feel if their wives interfered in their business? I, well I was furious. I couldn't stand to hear any more, but when I got to the office and thought things over, I knew that Mrs. Travers spoke the truth. Oh, please don't say, Helen.' And Bruce dropped his head on his hands. 'To think that I should ever give any one cause to say those things and to pity the nearest girl in the world.'"

Helen dried her tears. She was hurt, and she knew what Mrs. Travers said was true, but how dared she speak that way and how humiliating for poor Bruce.

"Bruce, you have never given any one reason to pity me. Don't say that. And, even if Mrs. Travers did suspect, she doesn't belong here. As you know, Mrs. Warren is my dearest friend, and I have no doubt that if you had heard the rest of their conversation you would have heard Mrs. Warren telling her, kindly but firmly, that she knew us to be the happiest of couples; and that she just imagined those things. Mrs. Warren never speaks unkindly of any one, nor lets a chance go by to say something nice about one when another in her presence makes disagreeable remarks."

Bruce lifted his head. "Well, from now on things will be different. I have been brought to my senses. If I had only listened to you when you talked of those things, instead of being so sure I was right, in my own way. I wonder that you didn't."

"I did, this afternoon," Helen interrupted, leading him out of the living room. "And oh!" and her face lit up. "Why, Bruce, Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Warren came into Gumbles' just as I was buying those new curtains and cushion covers."

"Thank heavens for that!" muttered Bruce. "They are a great improvement to the room, Helen, and from now on, you—"

"No, not just me, Bruce dear—us," Helen said, softly, as she slipped into his arms.

"I hope I have learned my lesson in time," murmured Bruce, as he bent his head down and kissed "the dearest girl and wife in all the world."

New Shallow Sand at Sipe Springs

Three miles south of the town of Sipe Springs, the Homer Peebles Oil company, drilling on the Doty tract, reports that it has struck a shallow sand at 150 feet while the drillers were spudding in the well. After going 15 feet in the sand the tools were removed and about 60 barrels of oil were bailed from the open hole.

The Watkins well of the Atlantic Oil & Refining company, three miles north and a little east of Sipe Springs is drilling below 2,600 feet and is being watched closely.

The Dunn well of the Humble Oil & Refining company is getting down towards the sand level, but this well is being held by a fishing job.

GREAT BELIEVER IN BLACK-DRAUGHT

Oklahoma Lady Tells How Her Husband Believes in Black-Draught and Uses It For Many Ailments.

Nowata, Okla.—Mrs. W. B. Dawson, a resident of this place, says: "My husband is a great believer in Black-Draught and thinks it cures about everything.

It is splendid for headache, constipation (which usually causes headache), indigestion, or any kind of stomach trouble, and we just keep it for these troubles. I don't know when we haven't used it, and we always find it satisfactory.

I know it has done us both a lot of good and saved us many dollars. I use it in teaspoon doses at first and follow with small doses, and it sure does make a person feel like new.

It cleanses the liver better than any other liver tonic I have ever used, and after taking a thorough course nature asserts itself and you are not left in a constipated condition that follows a lot of other active medicines. This is one thing I like especially about it."

For over 70 years Theford's Black-Draught has been in use for many simple ailments and today is a recognized standard remedy in thousands of family medicine chests; it will pay you to keep Black-Draught in the house for use when needed. Your druggist sells it.—Advertisement.

DRY WEATHER IS PUTTING ZIP IN ROAD WORK

Oil company teams and the power grader owned by the city are taking advantage of the pretty weather to get some of the streets in shape for travel. Teams doing excavation, by the General Construction company, on Austin street, also are helping the work along.

The city's power grader is at work on Tiffin road, trying to put that street in shape that it may be used by the supply and lumber companies located along it.

Unless the gas company gets in and finishes the work started on Rusk street, between Main and Wall, by draining the water which has collected in the ditches dug for gas and water mains, the paving of that street will be held up.

The intersection at Marston and Main streets, which will be paved by the General Construction company, has been made passable by filling in with dirt taken from Austin street, where Supt. Campbell's grading is being done.

White was a familiar figure on Ranger streets. He sold a special brand of soap, Roland, when seen by a reporter, stated that he could not understand how the team became frightened and how it avoided being stopped when approaching Main street because of the large number of wagons and people standing there.

John White, an aged soap dealer, was almost instantly killed about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the buggy he was riding in was struck by a runaway team and he was thrown to the pavement and trampled by one of the runaway horses. He was rushed to the office of Dr. C. O. Turcell, where he died in about three minutes.

The team which broke away belonged to Henry Roland. It had been tethered in the team track district, on the east side of the track north of Main street. The team first ran north, suddenly turned and made a frantic run up Main street, narrowly missing a number of automobiles and vehicles. White was in his buggy near the intersection of Main and Rusk when the wild team bore down upon him, striking his buggy and throwing him to the ground.

Other Prairie men who will attend the shrine are Scott Blair, E. J. Wilson, Harry Cook and Nelson Myers will represent the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil company.

Garret Bohning, Ernest Buchwald and O. W. Faradye are in Dallas and will go to Fort Worth for the work.

Mrs. Rex Outlay returned today from a month's visit to her parents at Throckmerton and friends in Fort Worth.
