

Tarleton Head Will Address Area Scouts

Dr. E. J. Howell, president of Tarleton State College at Stephenville, will be principal speaker at the annual dinner and meeting of the North District scouts and their wives Monday at 7:15 p.m. on the roof garden of Hotel Connelley in Eastland.

Attending from Ranger will be troop committeemen, scout masters and assistants, institutional representatives, professional scouters and adult leaders. The officials will be accompanied by their wives for the "ladies night" event. A troop from Breckenridge will give the opening and closing ceremonies.

Dr. Howell was Dean at Tarleton from 1945 to 1948, prior to his appointment as president.

He is a graduate of Waco High School, took his Bachelor of Science in engineering at Texas A&M took graduate work at Baylor University, and received his doctor's of law degree from Howard Payne College in 1951.

Active in scout work, Dr. Howell was president of the Boy Scout's Comanche Trail Council from 1948 through 1951.

He is serving or has served on various education committees with in the state and has been an army reserve officer since June 6, 1922. He was ordered to extended active duty in June, 1941 and served at various bases in the states.

Dr. Howell is listed in "Leader in Education," "Who's Who in Engineering," and "America's Young Men."

DR. HOWELL

The Pathfinder

By Lee Harr

Patient: How can I ever repay you for your kindness to me?
Doctor: By cash, check, or postal money order.

We suppose that one week of nearly perfect football forecasting is all any prognosticator is allowed in any one football season. After losing only one-half game by tie last week we lost four of 12 this week for a non-so-bright .663 percentage. But, all-in-all the season average remains fairly high.

Last Friday and Saturday, we took three bumps on local high school guessing and another in the Southwest Conference.

Locally, Throckmorton beat Merkel, the Eastland Mavericks upset Cross Plains on two fourth-period watermelon passes, and Haskell, Albany's only threat in District 8-A, was upended by Munday.

The Arkansas Razorbacks measure the SMU Ponies in a Mustang 6-9, in the Southwest Conference reversal.

Gold Star mothers, listed incorrectly previously, present at the American Legion's Auxiliary's annual turkey dinner last Thursday night were Mrs. Julia McCleskey, Mrs. E. P. Weaver, Mrs. T. E. Hale, Mrs. J. B. Ames and Mrs. Mollie Patterson.

Also deleted, was the presentation of the past post commander's pin to A. H. Powell by Ray Williams, present post commander.

It's a pity that Maverick Stadium in Eastland is not larger. It's very doubtful that the field can appropriately accommodate even half of the large crowd that will probably attend. Possibly the only real solution would be to play the first half in Eastland and the second half in Ranger. That way, every fan that wanted to see the contest could either witness the first or second half from a seat in the bleachers.

One of the dissatisfying practices witnessed on many of the stadiums in this area is allowing fans to roam up and down the sideline during a contest. The practice has been evident in a good portion of the stadiums where the Bulldogs have performed this year.

The view of those sitting in the lower seats of the stands and those sitting in cars, some invalids and cripples, are blocked and ruins the clear and unobstructed view of the spectacle in progress on the turf below for any sitting in any portion of the stands.

Deer Season Opens -

Pastures, Hills To Blaze With Activity Wednesday

Varying Game Laws Peril Local Hunters

One of the best hunting seasons "in decades" will open in Eastland County early Wednesday when hundreds of nimrods search the nearby pastures, hills and ravines for an antlered deer.

Nearly normal rains, and an abundance of foods has contributed in stocking the nearby countryside with plenty of fat deer with big antlers, local sportsmen say.

Farmers in the area have complained of deer destroying or damaging their crops. So the problem may be plenty of deer and nobody to shoot them—until Wednesday anyway.

Several persons have reported large deer with tremendous antlers placidly grazing near roadsides. It's doubtful that they will be so easily found after Wednesday.

In general, Texas hunters generally will find abundant targets of well-conditioned deer when the big game season for the state at large opens one-half hour before sunrise.

Local hunters trying out of county spots should well remember that under the general law, hunters are entitled to two buck deer. But there are so many local laws effecting dates, limits and restricted weapons that hunters should check with their local game warden if a copy of the game law digest is not available.

Paralleling the general deer season is the wild turkey shoot. Dates are same and shooting hours likewise are from one half hour before sunrise to one half hour after sundown.

The turkey limit under the general state law is three gobblers, but because of unfavorable hatching reports in recent years many landowners and counties have reduced the bag limit or have eliminated turkey hunting altogether. This year, as most in the past, the well behaved Texas big game hunter will have a few extra hazards to trip him this fall if he doesn't study local regulations closely.

This peril mainly concerns an ever widening pattern of regulations which has been necessary to adjust hunting conditions to the far-flung areas within the state. For example, some groups of counties or single counties outlaw .22 rifles for deer and many counties ban .22 rim fire cartridges.

The model hunter will be familiar with provisions of the Game Law Digest, the only true outlet for safe guidance, with the exception of game wardens, of course. Generally in this immediate area, the hunting season is expected to bring some "city hunters" while some residents here are planning a trek to the hill country where deer are far more plentiful but not so large.

However, land owners in that section of the state are complaining that good leases are on file in the chamber of commerce. The two-week buck season is blamed for the hunters shying away from some areas.

In some sections of the hill country where merchants look upon the hunter as a visiting diplomat who all totaled bring more than a million dollars during the hunting season to a county, have broken out their welcome signs and offered prizes for the biggest, fattest and first deer brought in.

For like Llano County, where there are an estimated 49,226 deer or one to each 7.11 acres, the hunting season represents a business.

Friday's Game May Cause Ticket Battle

Tickets for the Ranger-Eastland football game Friday night went on sale here this morning in the school office, G. B. Rush, superintendent said.

At present 400 general admission tickets are available. Eastland has not furnished Ranger with any reserve seat tickets.

General admission tickets are 75 cents each and student tickets are 25 cents.

Tickets for the Friday contest may be at a premium before the game begins. Officials said that when Cisco played there, the ticket line was so long that fans were still trying to get in at halftime.

A much larger crowd is expected for the Ranger-Eastland game.

Frigidaire Sports New Ideas In Design, Styling

Many exciting new ideas in design and styling, including a unique new ice servicer and snap-on Decorator Panels in seven colors, are featured in Frigidaire's electric household refrigerators for 1956, now on display at Killingsworth's in Ranger.

There are 11 new models with capacities ranging from 4.4 to 14.3 cubic-feet. All reflect Frigidaire's sleek new fashion-flair styling motif.

Refrigerators come in a variety of designs, including models with two doors, single full-length doors and cabinets with food freezers at the bottom or top.

There are glamorous new exterior colors for next year's refrigerators including warm Mayfair pink and Sheffield gray. Models also will be available in the popular Stratford yellow, Sherwood green and snowy white.

The Decorator Panels provide even more color for homemakers because they are available in chrome, yellow, green, blue, pink, maroon and copper. DR. BETTYE SHIPMAN

Former Ranger Woman Speaks To Doctors Group

Dr. Bettye Shipman of Sweetwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Jones of Ranger, was the principal speaker during the sessions of District Seven, Texas State Chiropractic Association, which was held in Sweetwater last Sunday.

She is a graduate of Ranger High School and Ranger Junior College.

"The President's condition has brought about a heart scare," she said. During her lecture Dr. Shipman reviewed the methods of examination of the heart for pathology and pointed out that the activity of the heart is controlled by the body's nervous system. She followed her discussion with a 16-mm sound film on the heart and circulation.

A business session was held with reports being given by various committees and officers of the district. The next meeting of the group will be in Brady on Jan. 8. Dr. Richard Shipman, District President, presided. Doctors attended the sessions from Abilene, San Angelo, Amos, Ballinger, Snyder, Colorado City, Miles, Eden, Brady, Winters, Breckenridge, Stamford, and Sweetwater.

Dogs Stake Title Hopes

BY LEE HARR

One of the oldest continuous, and most competitive gridiron rivalries in the state will be resumed Friday night when the Ranger Bulldogs and Eastland Mavericks meet in Eastland in a crucial contest that will decide the District 7-A championship.

Playing opposing types of football as far as the season went and last columns are concerned, sportswriters have given the fast improving Mavericks a slight point advantage over the hot-and-cold Bulldogs.

True, Eastland was setback in three of the four initial tilts this season, but they have improved so that their district record closely resembles that of Ranger and they are no doubt the most improved team in District 7-A.

It is close enough in fact, that the statistics make the normal Ranger fan shudder. Only in the Cross Plains contest were the scores of the two teams varied to such extent.

Ranger, unscathed in district play, trumped the Bulldogs 25-0 in what was supposed to be the deciding 7-A contest. Last week, the Mavericks scored twice in the fourth period to upend the favored Bulldogs 27-23.

In other district contests the Mavericks have taken Gorman, 21-0; Rising Star, 57-0 and Wylie, 35-0. In the same cycle, Rangers blanked Gorman, 39-0; Rising Star, 45-0; and Wylie 58-0.

However, another common foe, DeLeon, blanked the Mavericks, 19-0 while the Bulldogs scored almost at will in whipping DeLeon 49-18. Dublin managed a 6-6 tie with Eastland while the Bulldogs found candy at Dublin, 48-19.

Both contests were much earlier in the season, and before Eastland found a winning combination and can hardly be compared with the team that won only one game in five contests at the beginning of the season.

At any rate the conference race boils down thusly. Ranger was picked as the 7-A kingpin at the opening of the season. Cross Plains with only a defeat to Coleman pushed the Bulldogs down the stretch and all interest within the district shifted to their meeting on Oct. 28, in the game that was expected to settle the district crown once and for all.

Then at that date the upstart Mavericks began rolling, taking their second conference win over Rising Star and since that time no district contender has been able to quench the flame and the battle down to the wire has ensued with both teams finding opposition light—until Eastland ran across Cross Plains last week.

The climax is hardly fitting in the district where huge, one-sided scores are prevalent among the top three teams as they battered their way down the line in a struggle for the crown.

The struggle will be abruptly ended Friday night, with only Cross Plains, in the top three, guaranteed a position. The winner of the Ranger-Eastland game Friday night will naturally assume the district crown and just as naturally the loser will play second fiddle, not too bad a spot for any contender in any sport.

WSCS of First Methodist Church Meet For Mission Study Monday

The WSCS of the First Methodist Church met Monday, Nov. 14, at 3:30 p.m. at the church for its fourth session of mission study on "Christian Missions in a Revolutionary World," presided over by Mrs. Arthur Deffebach.

The spiritual life group met in prayer before the meeting. The opening prayer was led by Mrs. Stanley McAnelly.

All circle leaders made reports on their last meeting. The treasurer made her report.

The following program was presented: Mrs. Deffebach spoke on "Individual Christianity and Fellowship Christianity," which was followed with a round table discussion, being divided into two groups as to their individual opinions.

"We judge individual religion by asking if it is good for the group—and judge fellowship religion if it serves the individual."

Mrs. Bruce Weaver discussed, "Christianity is Fellowship," and gave the story "What does Salvation mean for my family?"—A story of a college girl who was converted and finally led her family to Christ—as fellowship is a necessary part of Christian faith.

Mrs. J. E. Mathews read several verses of scripture from fourth chapter of John. Mrs. Creager talked on "Old Wines and New Skins—giving experiences of two young men in the Mission guest house of Wellington square, in the heart of Calcutta. One a doctor, one an inhabitant named Rathin, who became a convert and today is in college preparing for full time Christian service. She considered the death of Jesus on the cross the world's greatest example of sacrifice for a cause."

Mrs. Alexander presented "The living word in a Revolutionary age—the religious system of today and the work of Lamas and the month of Lamasain."

Mrs. A. J. Ratliff told of the work in West Africa entitled "The Devil under a microscope—the work of witchcraft Angola in West Africa and through ignorance people think all diseases are communicable through evil spirits—which are propagated by the Devil."

Following the program an announcement of the District meeting to be held in Mineral Wells, Nov. 15 at 10:00 a.m., was made.

Posters which were made by Mrs. Arthur Deffebach, were displayed showing the World up side down and right side up. Pictures of delegates were shown who attended the meeting in Evanston of World Councils of Churches with 60 different Nationalists being present.

Mrs. Deffebach led the closing prayer.

New Nightwear Is Far Cry From Nightmare

BY EDNA MILES

FASHIONS in sleepwear keep pace, these days, with fashions in ready-to-wear. We have robes in nylon-and-orlon, pleated wool jersey, wool corduroy, silk, satin, nylon, wool and every possible combination of these fabrics.

Gowns come dress-length, ankle-length, with or without matching robes. They come in pale pastels or vivid colors. There are brunch coats for lazy breakfasts, robes to wear in the evening for viewing television or reading, pajamas with their own robes. No excuse at all now for not looking pretty around the house.

For those who tend to like their nightwear comfortable, soft and practical, there's news that you may have all three and still look pretty. One maker of lingerie has brought out a whole line of pajamas influenced by the classic Norwegian ski-sweater prints.

These are done in soft, brushed rayon. They are cut with ski-type trousers and have snug cuffing at neck, wrists, waist and ankles for perfect fit.

Each of a pair is this combo of a Norwegian ski-print top in screen print pattern, with trousers of same material—brushed nylon. Ensemble is styled by Carter.

Colorful Household Gloves Are Styled to Fit

BY EDNA MILES

THE grudge that most housewives have against household gloves is that they don't fit. They grant that they're necessary, that gloves protect the hands and keep them from roughening. But, they say, they're clumsy to wear and it's difficult to handle things with them on.

Actually, they should fit. So news of household gloves that are streamlined for fit (and pretty, too) is welcome. You try on these gloves just as you do your dress gloves. They're made of neoprene, are completely washable and resistant to oils, acids, caustics and greases.

Styling has been added to fit. There's a glove in ebony black, there's a fabric-lined glove in delicate pastels and there's a glove in celestial blue.

You should make a habit of wearing your household gloves whenever you do dishes, whenever you do any housework hard on your hands. In addition, keep your favorite hand cream or lotion handy on a shelf in the kitchen for a good creaming several times a day. No manicure can pretty up hands roughened by heavy housework and lack of care.

Fit to wear, that's the news in household gloves. Homemaker has chosen this pair, after trying on several sizes.
