Fair Dove Hunt is Predicted by Dry

Mourning dove hunting prospects in Eastland county were rated as "fair" Thursday by Maurice Dry, state game warden.

Dry said that the recent cool spell "saved the day" as far as local hunters are concerned. The season opens Saturday and closes Oct. 17.

"Up until it turned cool the birds were migrating," Dry explained, "but they decided to stay here awhile when it turned cool."

Eastland county hasn't been favored by moisture, but quite a bit of food and water exist in the county. Field reports indicate that native birds will comprise the bulk of the population.

Field men for the Texas Game and Fish commission have said there "will probably be tremendous concentrations of doves around tanks still containing water, especially if there is feed nearby."

Dry reminded hunters to keep a few routine things in mind, citing that hunting is from 12 noon until sunset, that daily and possession limits both call for 16 doves, danger from fires is very high, permission should be obtained from land owners at all times and game should be promptly drawn to avoid spoilage in heat.

"Great care should be taken not to shoot in the vicinity of field workers or livestock," Dry said.

Texas may hunt doves in their own home county without the usual $2.15 hunting license. Guns must be plugged to restrict shell content to three, and hunting on public roads is unlawful.

State executive secretary of the commission has instructed wardens to cover water hole concentrations closely.

"They have no other choice but to file on those caught abusing the limit he said."

Dry pointed out that a good rain could really save the day and make hunting excellent.

Bulldog Band is Drilling Daily for Football Opener

The 1956 Bulldog band is going through practice drills daily under the direction of the band director, Dan Whitaker.

The marching band this year will be increased to 54 members, three majorettes and one drum major. A four-member color guard will march in front of the band, according to the director. Last year the entire marching group numbered approximately 40 members.

Drill sessions are being held each morning this week from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock. During the week of Sept. 3, the band will drill at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in preparation for the opening football game with Merkel.

On Thursday night, Sept. 6, the band will appear in full uniform at the pep rally. This will be a dress rehearsal and uniform inspection to see that all have proper uniforms and equipment, Whitaker declared.

All home and road games will be attended by the band this year, it was announced.

Marching lineup will be definitely decided by the first day of school. Some eighth grade students will be used in the marching season only. After the season they will return to the junior-high band for the remainder of the year.

The uniform to be worn by the band will be substantially the same as the past year with the exception that white gloves will be added. To give an added flash the band will use plumes during their performances at the games.

The director stated that 30 coats which were worn or frayed were replaced. The band is awaiting the arrival of seven new shakos which were ordered in mid-summer.

Whitaker also announced that students wishing to take band for the first time this fall, will be contacted in their classrooms during the first week of school.

Two things Ranger high will have and can be proud of this year — a football team and a band.

STARTING LINE-UP

Probable starting line-up for the opening football game of the season with Merkel is given below. This is by no means definite, and changes may be made.

Are We Getting Our Money's Worth in Our School System?

The basic aim of education is often being neglected, and educators themselves frequently aid in furthering the neglect, according to William Porter, State University of Iowa journalism professor, writing in the September issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

He says education's aim is to teach certain basic information and basic skills, and how to put the two together. The school, from kindergarten to PhD, is still primarily a place to learn, and in a rather narrow sense of the word, he says.

Schools are expected to cure juvenile delinquency; teach domestic obedience, respect for elders, proper use of the knife and fork, and rock-hard virtue beginning at puberty. And, they are to do this in about 30 hours a week; the fact that the youngsters are in their parents' charge for the other 138 hours apparently is disregarded.

Educators frequently compound this error by implying that they can, indeed, assume responsibility for the whole business of character, personality and bodily development — especially if they have just a little more money.

Among other pressures which have mushroomed the size and cost of the educational system are gymnasiums and the variety of highly-specialized professions taught in tax-supported colleges and universities. Physical education in the schools has failed to turn out a healthier and stronger America. And, every citizen trained in a state-supported institution for a profession which does not require college training costs every taxpayer in the state extra money.

We must run a continuous review of all our school programs to make certain they are genuinely devoted to learning. This doesn't mean "stripped down" or "minimum" education.

On the contrary, it means freeing the schools for the proper job, the job which they do best.

Smile, Dagonit That Was Rain

Rain again came to Ranger on Tuesday, Aug. 28, for the second time in two weeks.

On Aug. 15, a reading of .50 was recorded in the rain gauge. This time the precipitation was some better with a reading of .80 on the gauge.

Farmers and ranchers were happy for the moisture, even though it was a little late for crops.

There were reports, unsubstantiated, that hail fell at Lake Leon, and the waves were white-capped Tuesday evening.

Waters ran almost curb-high in Ranger during the second shower as it "poured down" for a few minutes. The first shower was in the afternoon and the other late in the evening.

Late Wednesday afternoon showers again hit the Ranger area this precipitation measuring .20.

The three showers total an even inch on the rain gauge.

Dale Carnegie Course to be Offered in Area

Local residents have been invited to sign up for the Dale Carnegie course which will begin in Breckenridge Sept. 7 at 7 p.m. in the Junior Ball Room of the Burch Hotel.

A spokesman said that last year a very successful course was held with people from Eastland, Ranger and Cisco driving to Breckenridge to participate.

Four objectives of the course are to conquer fear and develop poise and confidence; develop abilities in handling people through human relation principles; develop ability to speak more effectively; and to develop new interests and enthusiasms.

"Nations Business," official magazine of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, had this to say about the course:

COLOR, COLOR, AND MORE COLOR
Nowadays, products of every kind seem to be coming out in more colors than the rainbow. You see the advertisements for these products in magazines, and you see them in stores and shops around town. Yes, everyone is "going to color."

The telephone company is, too. Our new color telephones come in eight bright colors to blend or contrast with the color schemes in your home, office, or store.

And that means a double advantage for you. Because if you've been thinking about ordering an extension telephone, why not ask for one in color? You get extra convenience with an extension, and color adds a touch of good looks to your home or office.

You can select from among ivory, green, beige, yellow, red, blue, gray and brown.

Just call the telephone business office, or stop in next time you're in the neighborhood to get the rate.

BRIGHTEN UP YOUR WEEKEND
Summer weekends are times for mowing the lawn, putting around the house, and relaxing a bit. Or maybe you like to golf, prune the flowers, or just keep cool. At any rate, summer weekends are always perfect for "get-togethers" with family or friends.

For many of us, family or good friends are just around the corner or up the block.

But if members of your family or old friends are miles away, you can still count them in on your weekend get-togethers—with a Long Distance call. And hearing their voices again adds to your weekend fun.

Why not call this weekend? Rates are lower all day Sunday, and after 6 p.m. on weekdays. And when you do, call by number—it's twice as fast.

CARTOONS TELL A STORY
We see cartoons from time to time of the man calling home to tell his wife he'll be late for dinner. As she hangs up the telephone, she races to pull dinner out of the stove.

Maybe the moral of the story is to call your wife if you're going to be late. Otherwise, you'll be eating a burnt dinner.

At the telephone company, we read between the lines and see that the telephone "saved the day" once again. Actually, the telephone "saves the day" many times each day as we count on it more and more to save us time and steps.

Dear Sir:
Thanks very much for the space you have given to the item of Relief Fund by the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association for the benefit of the families of the men who lost their lives at Dumas and Sunray.
You have been most kind in your giving of this space.
Respectfully,
Olin Culberson, Secretary
State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association.

Editor, The Times:
Hi, partner! More power to you for sticking to your guns about freedom of the press. Thank God we still have freedom of speech and press.
If Harry stuck around long we might not have these freedoms.
In my opinion Harry doesn't have a very good opinion of himself. He came out for Harriman because he knew if he did Harriman wouldn't have a chance for the nomination for President in the democratic convention.
Anyone who watched his face and saw how happy he was with the outcome of the convention, couldn't help but see that this was "Operation Louse-Up," which is the best name for this little deal.
I'm a Democrat myself, but when I vote I think more about the man and what he stands for and what he wants to our country and our people, not whether he is a Democrat or a Republican.
Here's a Ranger person for you. Keep up the good work.
Yours truly,
Mrs. H. C. Montgomery

HITS and MISSES

By ED JOHNSON

Well, here goes nothing: the ballot was mailed this week for the TCU sports poll for the outcome of the SWC football battle. Since there is nothing anyone can do about it, here is the way you truly picked the final standings:

Texas, Baylor, TCU, A&M Arkansas, Rice, SMU, in that order.

Now I suppose everyone will think that I am crazy, but that's the way I voted. Remember that at season's end.

Said a married man: "My wife has the awfulest memory I ever heard of. She remembers everything I ever promised her."

The Bulldogs of Ranger high are working out twice daily under the watchful eyes of Boone Yarborough and Harold Barrett. The physical condition of the squad seems to be fair. However, it will take top condition to stand the pace of 2-A this year.

It is no good. No one can honestly look at himself through the eyes of another. You've lived with yourself too many years. You may be able to make a perfectly honest self-appraisal but that doesn't mean another person sees what you do. You have to remember that you've spent all your life building up a false facade for the world to look at. How can you know how well or ill you've succeeded in hiding your real self from view? It's an interesting game but you don't really get anywhere playing it.

Tuesday I published the fact that the "Moron Five" were contemplating a javelina hunt in the future, it brings back to mind the hunt last year and thereby hangs this story:

The five of us, Jack Carney, Ray Tucker, Bill Sokolich, Red Kimble and myself, started for South Texas on what was to be a javelina hunt and the things that happened to five broken-down, half-nuts, would-be editors and sports writers shouldn't have happened to a pack of dogs.

To begin with, the old "loopy" got a first class case of "studs" before we had covered 50 miles. None of us are mechanics by the wildest stretch of imagination—there we were. Red finally found the trouble (he had greased a wheelbarrow one) and we chugged on south.

About 9 o'clock we decided to make camp for the night. Selecting a dry wash we pitched in. It was just about turning-in time when the mosquitoes decided on their annual picnic, "hel-n-b-happy" we had to move.

We decided to push on south throughout the night. Have you ever tried sleeping with three other morons on a pile of camping gear with a dope that's half asleep doing the driving? Try it sometime, it's very educational, to say the least.

Oh, we knew where we were going, all right. Arriving in Uvalde county the next afternoon we drove out and looked up Joe Kinkaid.

Joe is our annual guide. There is really no describing him, suffice to say that there will never be another like him, thank goodness.

"Hi!" yelled Joe, with a hellow that shook the mesquites for several hundred yards around. "Get out and come in." Well, we go out, all right, but we did NOT go in, even my belly wouldn't stand that kind of torture—and believe you me, it has been tortured plenty in its time.

We unloaded the gear, careful to keep Kinkaid downwind at all times, talking up a fast stream of nothing.

Joe said he knew where the wildhuns were feeding. I took a look at his shack and had a hunch that I knew also. It turned out to be a wrong hunch, however.

Next we pitched camp along a stream, careful to keep Joe's shack downwind, we had hunted that country before. Then we started the bull session.

Next morning with Joe in the lead, way out in the lead, we strung-out in a line about a quarter-mile long, and started west. It was definitely javelina country. Along about 14 a.m. the old legs were beginning to complain when on the south flank there came the spiteful crack of a .30-30 and Ray had the first hog of the hunt. We gathered in and stood off while Joe dressed him out.

I honestly believe he was wearing the same clothes he did the previous year, and without benefit of washing. The boar would hit about 85 pounds dressed.

That afternoon Red came up with a 70-pounder dressed and we knew then, that this was to be a successful hunt.

Next morning we set sail full of vim, not 300 yards from camp a Winchester barked, and we all gathered up again, this time it was Bill—he had an armadillo—people did he get ragged!

Nothing more happened that morning. In the afternoon we swung in a wide circle and started in the direction of camp. About 3 o'clock I noticed a movement and started a slow stalk—was it a hog—or was it not? That new .30-06 was really itching to be fired as it had never been used on game before. It was a hog all right. The entire group were in sight of each other when they saw me start the stalk, and sportsman like, began to creep in for the kill.

Whamo! I cut loose, and "durned" if I did any more than wound him.

Now I had heard that a wounded hog would call for help. He let out a squeal that could be heard for miles and the dam' country came alive with hogs, and they DID make a charge.

If they were expecting action, people they got service. For once there was no bickering or arguing about who was going where—they just went. About that time, I was setting a new world's record for speed afoot and high-jump ability. The only unoccupied tree was about 20 yards away. The time it took me to cover that distance was considerably under "double-nothing-flat." Then came the jump record, we measured it later—the lowest branch was 21 feet from the ground, I leaped up and—missed it, going up, that is—but I caught it on the way down.

The "durn" boar fell dead at the foot of that very tree. The others, after a time wandered off—and we set foot on earth once more.

He dressed out at about 80 pounds—but believe you me, he looked as large as an elephant when he decided that he didn't like Mrs. Johnson's little boy. The others got theirs without any trouble. We packed up and headed home—I took plenty of razzing, that I promise you. But it was a "heluva" good hunt, and we are looking forward to another this year.

Hope Joe has had a bath and change of clothes by the time we get there.

PAT DIAL HOLDS JOB OF MANY VARIETIES AT A&M

COLLEGE STATION — You looking for a real dream job? Well, Pat Dial, business manager for athletics at Texas A&M college, has just the thing.

In his job he gets lots of variety. He meets all types of people. He gets to see the football games, talk to the coaches, sportswriters, alumni and football fans in general.

He associates with lots of money. He gets to travel and no day is just like the day before.

There are, of course, a few small lumps in all this gravy:

For example, Dial is called on to handle from 250,000 to 400,000 tickets a year, making sure that these tickets will be just what and where the purchaser wants them and at just the price he is willing to pay.

This can be done — in theory. In practice it is an operation that Dial ranks alongside the little chore of figuring out where you are going to put a million cars in parking space for three hundred automobiles.

It's somewhat like the other little minor challenges — the business that comes up each Saturday during or after the game or reuniting from two to half a dozen lost youngsters with their parents.

What adds to this "daddy-daddy - where's - my - daddy" situation is the fact that the parents are usually hunting where Junior was, and the searchers are usually looking on the side of the field where Junior is and never the twin do meet.

Also, Dial may have to figure out who will shoot the extra dogs off the playing field. Or, who is going to peddle popcorn between ramp A and B, and who between C and D, and so on ad infinitum.

And he may be asked, and generally is, several times before each game for everything from elevator service to extra Boy Scouts to serve as ushers over the West stands.

There are always the people who arrive at the window six minutes before kickoff, and hubby begins, "uh, say, we just got in from Snook and just as we started over to the gate I remembered that I told Helen this morning to be sure and put the tickets under the clock on the mantlepiece in the front room. And, you see, she did and I was supposed to pick them up, but somehow I forgot it and I was just wondering if you

"We have these heart patients, too," sighs Dial. "Some of them can drive four or five hundred miles to the game and climb out of the car carrying seat-backs and blankets and hampers and all kinds of stuff and they look like they're in pretty good shape. But when they get here all of a sudden they have to have a seat, right on the 50-yard line, where they won't have to walk more than about six steps up . . ."

After the game - is - over collections are fun, too. Then Dial and associates in Campus Security are confronted with finding the rightful proprietors of assorted dozens of car keys, raincoats, sweaters, overcoats, spectacles, thermos jugs, special seat-backs, sandwich hampers, binoculars, cameras, gloshes, hats and general paraphernalia used by football fans. (Lost children have already been discussed earlier in this report.)

There are some problems with arrangements for visiting teams, with supplies and/or requests for gauze, liniment, tape, cleats, footballs, helmets, buckles, braces, buckets and noseguards. But these are trivial items.

With all this, however, Dial wouldn't swap places with anyone on the campus. He's bound to like the work, for he gets very happy over the fact that this year ticket sales are already running 40 per cent over sales a year ago and 110 per cent over the comparable period in 1954.

This means that Dial's fifth season as business manager will be busier than ever. He's really quite enthusiastic over it.

And how does one qualify for this sort of dream job?

Well, Dial did it this way. He got born over in Trinity county in East Texas. He graduated from Diboll high school and Stephen F. Austin State Teachers college. He came to work in the chief clerk's office in the Texas Agricultural Experiment station 22 years ago, and he served three years in the Navy in World War II. And five years ago he just naturally got made business manager for athletics.

Also, he married a girl named Mary Alice who is very kind and patient with him during the season when ticket sales are heavy and troubles come from all directions.

That's all that's required, 29 or so years of work, an understanding wife, patience, a liking for sports — and a healthy set of nerves.

Home Loans Can Be Financed One Of Nine Ways

Homeowners can finance a partial or entire home improvement project in one of nine different ways, says the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers association.

Open-end mortgage. An open-end mortgage simply means a homeowner can reborrow some money he already has paid on his present mortgage. Payments on the new loan can be made by raising the present monthly mortgage rates, or by keeping monthly payments the same and extending the mortgage contract for several additional years. In either case, the interest rate of the additional loan remains the same as the original mortgage.

Second mortgage. Many banking agencies holding a mortgage returned from a visit with Mrs. McMinn and her sister Bess Fox who were visiting here.

Mrs. C. C. Martin is moving into the Gene Rowch house this week.

Sunday visitors in the home of Mrs. Annie Wilkerson and grand-daughter were Mrs. Hamrick's brother, Willie McNutt and a nephew from Oklahoma City, R. J. Wilkerson from Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Howell and David from Breckenridge.

Mrs. Leonard Anderson and children of Odessa have returned home after a week's visit with relatives here.

Mrs. Sorrelly and son of Pennsylvania arrived in Olden last week for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Cagel.

Martin Smith is very ill at this writing.

will grant a home improvement loan if the borrower has good credit. This is called a second mortgage and generally carries a lower interest rate than non-mortgage loans.

Conventional property improvement loan. Some banks and agencies will lend up to $2,500 especially for remodeling. The borrower must repay the money within three years.

Title I Home Improvement loan. The Federal Housing Administration insures low-interest home improvement loans by qualified lending agencies. For a one-family house the loan insurance limit is $2,500, repayable within three years and 32 days.

Veterans Administration - Insured loan. Veterans may set aside part of their $10,000 "GI" mortgage for home improvements. This loan is insured by the VA and obtained through private banking institutions at interest rates up to 4 1/2 per cent. The repayment time limit is 30 years.

Direct Veterans Administration loan. The VA offers direct home improvement loans in roughly 2,500 counties where other adequate financial help is hard to obtain. Such loans usually have low interest rates.

Open Plan loan. Many banking institutions offer their own plans for home improvement loans. These generally have liberal credit terms.

SHOULD LAWYERS REPRESENT CRIMINAL DEFENDANTS?

The cardinal principle of American law is that a man is considered innocent until proven guilty by proper legal proceedings. Everyone pays lip service to this ideal, but many fail to realize that the right to be represented by counsel is a logical and essential corollary of that ideal. There is a good deal of criticism of attorneys representing defendants in criminal cases. Some of this criticism is unjust.

Should lawyers defend in court persons whom they know or have good reason to believe are guilty of the crimes charged against them? A recent scientific sampling of the attitude of the public in Texas toward lawyers and law problems shows that more than half of all persons interviewed thought it was wrong for a lawyer to defend such a person. Such an attitude is rather startling to thinking citizens and members of the bar. Surely the guiltiest criminal has a right to a fair trial by the law of the land. Such a trial he cannot have without a competent attorney to see that a fair jury is selected and that only lawful evidence is introduced against him.

With reference to this feeling on the part of a sizeable portion of the public, a certain district judge who tries many criminal cases, and who served eighteen years as a prosecuting attorney before his election to the bench, recently offered the following comments: "The result of this survey is no surprise to me, in that during my eighteen years of prosecuting, this feeling has been made known to me by hundreds of persons.

"The feeling on the part of the general public in this regard is brought about to a great extent by the sincere efforts on the part of the defense counsel to see that his client receives the benefit of every legal safeguard to which he is entitled. These legal maneuvers are often misunderstood by the layman as an unethical effort to defeat justice, by delay of the trial, and by taking advantage of certain defenses that to the layman appear to be trivial technicalities.

"Attorneys are the only ones who can correct the erroneous feeling of the general public regarding the defense of one who appears to be guilty as charged. We attorneys should emphatically state to the inquiring person that it is one of the cardinal rights of the individual in a democratic society to be considered innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt by legal and competent evidence.

"The public must be brought to the realization that all who are charged with crime are entitled to the expert counsel and aid of an attorney, and that the sworn duty of such attorney is to see that such protective legal right, to which the accused is entitled, is afforded him.

Now and then a lawyer will overstep the bounds of his duty in defending those charged with crime. When that happens, the legal profession is even more indignant than the public generally, and appropriate disciplinary proceedings are instituted where warranted.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

County Farmers Can Get Roughage, Hay

Eastland County has been designated as one of the counties eligible to participate in the hay and roughage program, Homer P. Cole, Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, announced today.

Applications to participate in the hay and roughage program will be received by county Farmers Home Administration committee immediately at the Farmers Home Administration office located at Eastland, Cole said.

The hay and roughage program was worked out between the governor and the secretary of agriculture to provide emergency assistance to farmers and ranchers in the state's designated disaster counties. Under the program the local county FHA committee will determine each applicant's eligibility and will issue a certificate good for $7.50 per ton on roughage actually purchased. The applicant will then apply the certificate on the purchase price of roughage from any dealer he chooses. The dealer endorses the certificate and draws a draft on the Emergency Drought Committee's account.

Applications may be filed through Dec. 3 for a supply of roughage needed to last through Dec. 31. Roughage under the program includes hay either baled or loose, cotton seed hulls, peanut hulls, corn cobs, sorghum bundles or ensilage.

Sheriff's Posse Wins First In Abilene Parade

Eastland County's Sheriff's Posse won top honors in the Championship Rodeo parade of the American Junior Rodeo Association held Friday in Abilene.

The riding group was presented the winning trophy before the start of Friday night's performance of the rodeo. Finishing second behind the Posse were the Haskell Saddle Tramps, and in third place were the Gap Riders of Buffalo Gap.

Next scheduled performance for the Eastland County group will be in the pre-Madison Square Garden rodeo parade in Dublin.

Child Should Have Physical Before School

AUSTIN — "Children are not really ready to enter school until they have had a complete physical examination," Dr. Henry A. Holle, commissioner of health reminds parents. All boys and girls enrolling in the kindergarten or first grade classes of Texas schools should be taken to their physicians, or to a public health clinic, for an immediate physical check-up if they have not had such an examination in recent months.

It is important to act as promptly as possible. This is recommended in order to allow time for medical treatments or corrections that may be necessary before school opens. No youngster should be permitted to begin a school career with less than the best possible physical equipment.

As most parents know, vaccination against smallpox is necessary. Those who received this immunization in infancy should be vaccinated again in order to assure a high degree of immunity, and those who have never received this protection should be vaccinated without delay.

Dr. Holle urges parents whose children have not received Salk poliomyelitis vaccine to have this administered before entering school. The safety and efficiency of this prevention has been proven and all children should be protected against this crippling disease.

Diphtheria immunization is also an important safeguard for all boys and girls about to enter school. Those who have never been immunized against this disease should receive toxoid shots now. Children who were inoculated against diphtheria when they were babies should now have a "booster dose" in order to maintain their immunity at a sufficiently high level.

Other immunizations that the individual physician may recommend are also desirable as further health protection. Whooping cough, typhoid fever and tetanus are among the diseases against which the doctor may advise safeguards.

fairgrounds will limit its speed. It will probably take about two minutes to travel from the front part of the fairgrounds to the back, exclusive of the time it takes to load passengers at the intermediate stop.

The line will be operated by the Texas Skyways Co., a subsidiary of Monorail, Inc., under terms of a six-year contract with the state fair. A 25-cent fare will be charged. After the fair, the Monorail will be operated throughout the year on weekends and at other times.

Merchants, Business Men Congratulate Ranger Hill Opening

Merchants and business men who operate in and around Ranger are congratulating E. E. Ford and J. E. Jones on the occasion of the formal opening of Ranger Hill.

Ranger Hill is a cafe, courts and service station located on Highway 80 east of the city limits about two miles. An ideally located truck-stop, the establishment has been operating informally for the past several weeks.

Attractive waitresses, with pleasing personalities and friendly smiles, the quick, efficient service from the kitchen provide a refreshing change from the run-of-the-mine cafes for weary and hungry truckers and travelers. The service station will take care of your needs with dispatch.

The large parking area is free of "meters" and roomy enough to get in and out of with a minimum of trouble. No highway giant is too large to be accommodated, likewise the tiniest foreign car still has plenty of room.

COMPLIMENTS FROM FRIENDS

Nine Schools To Take Part In Workshop

Teachers from nine Eastland county schools will convene in Eastland Thursday and Friday for their annual pre-school workshop.

Theme of the workshop is "Improve Pupil Education by Exchanging Teachers' Ideas." The workshop will be under the direction of County Superintendent H. R. (Pop) Garrett and County Supervisor H. L. Glass.

Schools which will take part in the workshop and their superintendents are: Wendell Seibert, Eastland; G. B. Rush, Ranger; Robert Browder, Carbon; R. N. Pierce, Desdemona; Graydon Base, Gorman; Travis Hilliard, Olden; Sam Jones, Rising Star; and Carl Elliott, Scranton.

Consultants will include representatives of Scott-Foreman Publishing Co., Webster Publishing Co. and Texas Education Agency.

In announcing the workshop, a spokesman said:

"This workshop has only one main idea in mind. An informal meeting of the teachers of Eastland county to hear and exchange ideas in methods of teaching. The object is not to change your methods or ideas, but to add something to your methods which would tend to make your work more interesting to you and your pupils."

"We have brought in some outside consultants, which we hope will give us more new ideas which we would not have otherwise gotten."

"The fields in which the consultants specialize were chosen as a result of the testing program carried on during the year and by special request of some of the administrators of the county."

"This workshop was planned as an informal workshop to gain needed knowledge, yet to enjoy ourselves through fellowship with teachers of our county.

"Cafeteria personnel have also been included in the workshop to exchange their methods and ideas. A child's nutrition is very important in establishing a readiness to learn. A mal-nourished child is unable to learn to his top-most ability. By providing well balanced meals for as many students as we can possibly reach, we also provide a better teaching and learning situation."

"Teachers and cafeteria personnel should work together to provide better understanding of each other's job, which has the same ultimate goal, to provide and teach a better way of life to the children of Eastland county."

The workshop will begin Thursday morning at 9 a.m. At 9:30 a consultant from the Texas Education Agency will speak on "What Should the Elementary Student Know When He Enters High School."

Following a 30 minute coffee break at 10:30 another session will be held and then lunch will be served at noon in the lunch room at Eastland High school.

At 1:15 Miss Marie Williams of Albuquerque, N.M. will speak on "Improving Student Reading on All Levels." Cokes will be served at 2:15 and a consultant from TEA will speak on "Let's Improve Our Social Studies" at 2:45. The workshop will dismiss for the day at 3:45.

Friday each teacher will go into the room in which the subject or subjects they are interested in are being discussed. Chairmen have been named for each group.

Mrs. Ed Layton of Eastland is chairman of the first grade group; Mrs. Tyler of Rising Star heads the second grade teachers; Mrs. J. M. Cooper, Carbon, third grade; Mrs. Irene Hallmark, Cisco, fourth grade; Mrs. H. H. Durham, Eastland, fifth; and Mrs. Emily Bryan, Desdemona, sixth. All of the groups mentioned above will meet in the classrooms at Junior High.

Other discussion groups will meet in the High School building. They are: social studies, Mrs. Edward Lee and Miss Marie Winston, Cisco; English, Miss Verna Johnson, Eastland; math; L. C.

HOSPITAL ADMINISTRATORS, NEWSMEN TOLD Newspaper and Hospital Should Join Hands to Put Over Big Job

BALLINGER — "The newspaper and hospital should join hands to put over a big job since both are vital organizations in a community," Henry Denning, assistant administrator of Hendricks Memorial Hospital in Abilene told delegates to the Southwest Area Hospital Council here Thursday.

Attending the Council meeting, a public relations forum, from Eastland were Mrs. Grace Reed, administrator of Eastland Memorial Hospital, and Mrs. O. H. Dick, of the Eastland Telegram.

Delegates heard four outstanding speakers, Denning; Amos Pool, administrator of Sweetwater General Hospital; Dean Chenoweth, editor of the San Angelo Standard-Times; and John King, administrator of Ballinger Hospital.

Pool spoke on the problems a general hospital has in release of news for publicity. Denning discussed "Good Press, Radio and TV Relations — What It Can Mean to a Hospital." Chenoweth spoke on press difficulties in collecting news, and King led a round table discussion on how to reach a better press-hospital relationship.

"Both the newspapers and hospital (sometimes fail to understand each other's problems," Denning declared.

Chenoweth told delegates that the hospital could help the newspaper give the public proper news coverage by cooperating with the press. He said it would build up the public's confidence in a hospital to know more about that institution.

Houssel, Rising Star; science; Marvin Moore, Gorman; commercial, Miss Anna McEver, Ranger; agriculture, E. C. Brandlett, Gorman; home economics, Mrs. Elizabeth Vaught, Olden; and band, Howard Gill, Eastland.

At 1 p.m. representatives of Carbon, Olden, Desdemona and Scranton elementary schools will meet in three groups to discuss problems in small schools.

Antelope to be Released In West Texas

AUSTIN — Release of antelope trapped mainly in over populated areas has expanded the West Texas range of the speedy pronghorns, states the assistant director of wildlife restoration for the Game and Fish commission.

This announcement came as Chief Clerk Vernon Skaggs reminded Texans to mail their applications for the 1956 antelope season by midnight Aug. 31.

He said 811 antelope were transplanted after last fall's hunt failed to meet the harvest quota, and that most of the surplus animals were taken from West of the Pecos. The remainder came from the Panhandle. The bulk of the trapped animals were released in West Texas.

The USDA reports that a $3 million investment in research has given more than $1 billion in added returns to oat growers.

Twenty-eight areas in 25 counties were inspected as possible transplant sites. Nine of these were rejected because of unsuitable habitat.

Persons interested in the hunts which begin Oct. 1, should write Chief Clerk Skaggs for the standard literature and the official forms to be submitted in connection with the applications.

Lone Star Gas Announces Plans For New Contest

Lone Star Gas Company is offering substantial cash prizes to winning gas appliance dealers in a window display contest promoting this year's Fall Gas Range Campaign, to be held in October and November.

Oct. 15 is deadline for entries and the deadline for photographs is Nov. 30, according to H. E. Lawson, Lone Star manager here. Window displays, as shown in photographs, must remain before the public a minimum of two weeks.

Separate contests will be held in Lone Star's Dallas, Fort Worth and General Divisions of Distribution. The top prize in each division is $100, second prize is $50 and third prize is $25. A special prize of $25 will go to any one of the prize winners with a gas range connected on his sales floor.

A Lone Star spokesman pointed out that quality of photographs is not important. Window displays will be judged primarily on originality of ideas and secondly on clarity of presentation.

You'll be giving them a good start toward good grades when you check your youngsters' home study lighting. Good lighting aids concentration... reduces eye fatigue and drowsiness... makes homework seem easier.

Good study lighting is easy and inexpensive to provide. In most cases, a good table lamp equipped with a 150-watt bulb will provide adequate light. The lamp should be well shaded to prevent glare and tall enough to spread light evenly over the entire work area.

New Partridge Test Observed

AUSTIN — The experimental release of Pakistanian bred partridges in the Palo Duro canyon area in the Panhandle was accomplished with the loss of only four birds, stated the director of wildlife restoration.

Sixty-four birds, including 43 Seesee partridges and 20 grey partridges all imported from the dry areas of Pakistan, were turned loose.

"They were quickly swallowed up by the good growth of cover in that area," reported Wildlife Biologist A. S. Jackson. "We may get a reading on them later when the vegetation recedes."

Jackson said only four birds were lost after they arrived by plane. Three died and one was headed by a night-prowling varmit that reached through the wire netting around the holding pens.

Mourning Dove Hunt Prospects Are Depressed

AUSTIN — Mourning dove hunting prospects in Texas seem "rather mediocre" barring scattered areas favored by moisture, according to the executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission. dooves around tanks containing water, especially if there is feed nearby. "This condition will work hardship on the bulk of the hunters since the fowl birds simply will not be scattered enough to accommodate the majority of them." He went on to say that substantial general rainfall could have a bearing on the situation and relieve the crowded conditions around the sparse water supplies. The executive secretary said the depressed dove population prevails particularly in the south central part of the north zone, which comprises about three-fifths of the state. "Reports indicate that a strip across the northern part of the state is more favorable", he said. "The Panhandle white dry in places still is lush as compared to the areas hardest hit by the drought."

He emphasized that hunters "should keep a few routine things in mind," citing: hunting is from 12 o'clock noon until sunset daily and possession limits both call for 10 doves; danger from fires is very high; permission should be obtained from land owners at all times; game should be promptly dressed to avoid spoilage in heat; great care should be taken not to shoot in the vicinity of field workers or livestock; Texans may hunt doves in their own home county without the usual $2.15 hunting license; persons over 65 or under 17 do not need dove hunting licenses; rules of safety should be observed; game should be promptly dressed to avoid spoilage in heat; hunting on public roads is unlawful.

Concluding, the executive secretary suggested: "watch your bag limits, particularly you fellows hunting around a popular water hole. You can knock 10 birds quicker than you think. Our wardens stand instructed to cover these concentrations closely. They have no other choice than to file on those caught abusing the limit. Federal wardens who operate in Texas, since mourning doves are migratory game, have like responsibilities."

HOW TO CHANGE OR REVOKE A WILL

Changing and revoking wills has involved many an estate in litigation because the proper legal methods were not used and the statutes were not followed.

Take the case of Mr. S. Some time ago he went into his lawyer's office and laid in front of his attorney a will which had been prepared for him about a year previously. He said that he had made a few changes in it and wanted to know whether his attorney thought the changes were all right.

Mr. S. was attempting to change two items of his will by drawing lines through certain words in these items and interlining, in his own handwriting, the changes he wanted. He was not attempting to revoke his entire will but merely trying to change these two items.

If Mr. S. were to die with his will in that condition, the probate court would not recognize the changes that he had made, but would probably probate the will as it was originally written. Mr. S. was surprised to learn this and immediately requested that a new will be prepared.

After the will has been once executed, changes cannot be made legally by crossing out parts of a will and interlining corrections or additions. To change a will, an entirely new will must be written and properly executed or an addition by way of a codicil should be executed.

But suppose you want to revoke your will entirely. Here again, the surest and most effective method is to execute a new will or codicil.

Since a will does not take effect until the death of the person making it, the provisions of the will should be reviewed by the maker at least once a year to be sure that changing conditions and circumstances have not been such as to require a modification of the will. It is very easy to postpone doing a thing of this kind, but failure to do so may result in the intentions of the maker of the will being thwarted to a certain extent.

There are many changing circumstances which would be brought to his attention if a person would review his will at least once a year in the light of circum-

AT STATE FAIR—The nation's first commercial operating Monorail line, latest development in modern express transportation, will be installed as a top feature of the 1956 State Fair of Texas in Dallas, Oct. 6-21. The 4000 foot line will run from the front of the fairgrounds to the main parking lot on the rear. The Monorail will be "safe, silent and swift," according to Monorail, Inc., of Houston, which will construct the line.

The Navy's modern ice-breaker, USS Glacier (AGS) can deliver up to 20,000 horsepower. With a beam of 74 feet and round bottom she has a tendency to rock and roll in a manner similar to a barrel in rough seas. However, once in the area of pack ice and icebergs she will plough through dense ice packs and pick out a route for other ships to follow.

1956 Amendments To The Social Security Laws

The 84th Congress and President Eisenhower have put into effect a number of changes in the old-age and survivors insurance provisions of the Social Security act. This series of short articles will provide information about each of the changes summarized below:

1. Reduced age for women. Widows and dependent mothers may receive same benefit that would heretofore have been payable at age 65; wives and insured women may receive slightly reduced amounts; new age requirement is 62 instead of 65; November of 1956 is first month for which such benefits may be paid.

2. Disability payments. Cash payments can start in July 1957 to those aged 50 and above who are so disabled that they are unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity, provided they had sufficient social security coverage before the onset of the disability.

3. Disabled children. Age 18 no longer stops child's benefits if he meets disability requirements; some claims can now be payable for such children where parent died after 1939 and disability has existed since before the child was 18; effective January 1957.

4. Armed forces coverage. Compulsory, contributory coverage under social security becomes effective Jan. 1, 1957.

5. Extension of coverage to more self-employed in 1957.

6. Changes in self-employed farmer or rancher's coverage for 1956.

7. Changes in coverage of farm or ranch employees, in 1957.

8. Other technical changes regarding interest rate on trust fund, new disability trust fund,

OVERSTOCK CUTS DOWN FISH SIZE

AUSTIN — A South Texan has just determined that overstocking of his private pond, and not some mysterious ailment, was responsible for the abnormally small catfish he has been catching.

Communicating with the chief aquatic biologist of the Game and Fish commission, the man learned that the 700 plus big and little channel cats he placed in his one-acre tank originally comprised about 15 times more than recommended by technicians. He had complained that, after four years, the catfish he was catching were only five or six inches in length.

The chief aquatic biologist explained that planting 50 catfish fingerlings in a tank the same size will produce amazing growth. He wrote to the mystified land owner:

"From experiments conducted by our W. H. Brown, it was found that in a one-acre pond 50 channel catfish after eight months had an average length of 18.9 inches and a weight of 33 ounces.

"When 75 channel catfish per acre were stocked, at the end of 18 months they attain a size of 16.3 inches and a weight of 23 ounces. When 100 catfish per acre were used, at the end of 18 months they had an average length of 15.9 inches and a weight of 22 ounces. We also have received verified reports that nine months after stocking, some pond owners when stocking 100 fingerling catfish per acre were able to catch some channel catfish that measured 15.75 inches.

"It is a truism that waters are capable of producing a given amount of fish weight. Thus, if the fish are limited in population, they will grow to be bigger fish than if the fish are present in large numbers. For example, if a pond is stocked with 100 fish per acre and a like pond is stocked with 1,000 fish per acre, the two ponds will produce the same poundage of fish. You can readily see that the pond with the 100 fish per acre will be the pond that produces the large fish.

"It is also true that any time bluegill sunfish are present in a body of water, they reproduce so bountifully that they soon become present in such quantities as to cause a stunted population of their kind."

CMD Opinion, Air Conditioners Now a 'Must'

DETROIT — Automobile air conditioners, while making strong sales gains nationally, are mounting as motoring "musts" in the wide open spaces of the Southwest.

This trend is emphasized in Chevrolet's June retail sales, according to W. E. Fish, general sales manager. He estimates that one of every eight new passenger cars delivered by the company in the Southwest region during June was equipped with air conditioning.

The company's action this spring of introducing units applicable to either a six-cylinder or a V-8 car and making it available as a dealer-installed accessory has spurred popularity, he said.

Further advantages, he said, are the three different choices of air conditioning packages; dealer installation and service facilities developed through the company's nation-wide field training program; and quicker deliveries.

When introduced on 1955 models, the Chevrolet air conditioner was offered as a factory-installed unit on V8s only. This is continued, while the new accessory unit for sixes and V8s comes in three choices — one with a built-in heater, another without a heater and a third for cars already equipped with heaters.

Dealer installations, which doubled from May to June, already equal the factory output with final returns on the hot months of July and August still to come, Fish said. The company's air conditioner sales for the 1956 model year to the end of June were about three times greater than the total for all the model year of 1955, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cook celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary and Mrs. Cook's 78th birthday Sunday in the home of Mrs. Cook's sister-in-law, Mrs. J. M. Robinson.

The birthday celebration was held at noon with only the family attending. The traditional birthday cake was heart-shaped and topped with red roses. Over 60 relatives were present, including 2 grandchildren and 7 great grandchildren.

The anniversary celebration was held at 3 in the afternoon. Mr. Cook, who is in the hospital, was taken to the Robinson home in an ambulance for the affair. Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. J. M. Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. Cook's two daughters, Mrs. M. D. Cox of Ranger and Mrs. Tom Koonce of Borger.

The dining table was laid with a white drawn-work linen cloth and centered with the anniversary cake, which had the names "Jim and Alice" and the number 58 across the top. An arrangement of white carnations completed the scene. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Cake and punch were served by granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mrs. John McKenzie of Merkel and Mrs. Frankie Joe Kammerer of Somerville.

Others in the house party were grand nieces of the Cooks: Misses Ann Robinson, Ranger; Betty Burton, Comanche; Sheila Holmes, Big Spring; and Sandra Leazar, Arlington.

The honorees were at the gift table which was laid with a white cut work cloth and centered with a beautiful arrangement of red gladioli.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married in Desdemona and have lived in Eastland county all their married life. They have been residents of Ranger for the past 12 years.

Over 100 guests called during the day.
