Win Would Tie Bulldogs With Coleman Record

EDITOR'S NOTE: Shortly before press time today, Supt. G. B. Rush told the Times that a few reserve seat tickets to the Ballinger game were available in his office. There are reserve tickets, mind you. They are $1.25.

Ranger's "Whistle Stop" Bulldogs journey over into Runnels County tomorrow night to take on the Ballinger Bears, one of the "Big Three," in what is hailed as "the top tilt in District 7-AA this week."

A Ranger win would pull the Bulldogs ahead of the Coleman Bluecats who have won two conference games and lost none, and it would also knock the Bears out of the running by handing them their second District loss.

It is therefore a battle of survival for Ballinger and they will certainly uncork every bag of tricks they've got because "tomorrow will be too late" if they lose to Ranger. It is now or never for Ballinger and they have everything to win and nothing to lose which places them in an enviable position.

Ballinger, an old member of the District, has been ranked a favorite all along over Ranger, a stark newcomer, and will probably go into the game a favorite Friday night by some of the so-called experts who don't know what they're talking about, and who have labeled the Bulldogs a "Whistle Stop" tall club. If Ranger gets by Ballinger, it will probably be up to Ranger and Coleman to fight it out for the District Championship on the following Friday night, Nov. 9. And since Coleman has an open date this week, you can expect not only every member of the Coleman coaching staff, but every member of the ball club including the water boy, out scouting the Bulldogs in their battle with the Bears.

The Bulldogs were scouted by both Ballinger and Coleman last week and by the time Coleman gets through looking them over again, there ought not to be many secrets about Ranger that they do not know.

But Coach Boone Yarbrough and his staff and all members of the ball club haven't given Coleman a passing notice all this week, as every second of time and every ounce of energy has been concentrated on winning the ball game from Ballinger.

The club is expected to be a little stronger this week than last, if that is possible, inasmuch as David Wharton is back in the lineup after missing last week's game with Cisco. The Bulldogs have a good game under their belts after crushing Cisco 54-14, and some measure of confidence in knowing they can work together, but they are not overconfident. They know they're taking the field Friday already beat on paper and they know it is going to take four periods of solid football with no mistakes in order to wrap up a victory.

The Bulldogs may possibly get beat before the 1956 District 7-AA Championship is decided, but we do not believe Ballinger is the team that will do it. Ballinger beat Cisco by 35 points, and Ranger beat Cisco by 40 points, and Cisco had a much better team here than they had at Ballinger because a lot of their men had recovered and saw service here that never did get into the game at Ballinger.

Cisco made 15 first downs against Ballinger and 9 against Ranger; the Lobos made 265 yards rushing against Ballinger and 163 against Ranger; they passed for 57 yards against Ballinger and 17 against Ranger.

The Bulldogs are at least 100 per cent improved over what they were at the beginning of the season. They are now a settled down ball club with a purpose. Paul Hinds runs it with a sureness that comes of know-how, and what his men can do. They're a cool-headed crew, well coached, and not giving to blowing up. If they get beat tomorrow night, we're going to be the worse fooled men in West Texas.

As far as can be determined, nearly everybody is going to Ballinger that turns out for the games here, since we haven't heard anybody say they were not going.

Herewith are two tables, showing District 7-AA teams in their season standings and their district standings. In the season's stand-

260 To Attend Banquet

A last minute check made by members of the 1920 Club showed today that 260 Ranger citizens will be in attendance at the Community Improvement Banquet to be held at the First Methodist Church.

That many tickets have actually been sold, and there will be even more than 260 present counting all those who will be serving the dinner and preparing it. It is perhaps the biggest turnout for an event of its kind in the past 39 years, many have said.

Pictured herewith are several of those who will be on the program and who have worked to make the banquet a success.

W. F. Creager, president of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce will introduce T. J. Vandergriff, Mayor of Arlington, who will be speaker for the evening.

Fred D. Baumgardner, director of the Fine Arts Department of Ranger Junior College, will furnish organ music for the program. Mrs. A. W. Brazda and Mrs. J. F. Killingsworth are co-chairmen of the arrangement committee for the banquet, and Mrs. R. L. Hamrick, president of the 1920 Club, will preside during the program.

Although 260 turkey dinners will be arranged on the tables, the Methodist women have said that the hall should not be over-crowded because it can seat 300 comfortably.

There is very little left to be said about the banquet except that to stress that everyone please show up who has a ticket. They explain that this banquet was not arranged as a ticket-selling, money-raising affair, but as an occasion whereby the people of Ranger could be boosted into doing greater things for their city.

The 1920 Club feels that if it had searched all over America it could not have found a better speaker, since Mr. Vandergriff has made an outstanding record as Mayor of the city of Arlington which has faced every kind of a problem there is during the past few years and its population jumped from 8,000 to 35,000 almost overnight.

It will be an evening well worth everybody's time, and it should be an enjoyable affair from first to last. Nothing has been spared to make the event "First Class All the Way," and a cordial welcome awaits you at the First Methodist Church tonight.

WHAT'S...

COOKING?

By NORMAN WRIGHT

Tonight is the 1920 Club Community Improvement Banquet and you have a ticket. These women around town know exactly who you are and exactly where you're supposed to sit and if you are not there you are going to get on somebody's list. So you might as well get busy and slick up a bit and get on up to the church where you will learn something. Don't eat anything before hand because there will be more there tonight than you can possibly put away. Don't know when we've heard of so many people attending a banquet, and it shows a genuine interest on the part of the people of Ranger to want to do something for their city. The only ones who will be disappointed will be the ones who couldn't make it, for one reason or another.

We are going to stick out our neck right here and say something about the conflicting Thanksgiving dates in Ranger. As has been previously announced, Ranger merchants at a meeting held several nights back at the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of discussing Christmas plans, voted to close up on Thursday, November 22 in observance of Thanksgiving, and voted that the 22nd would be the date when all Christmas lights downtown would be up and burning.

Since that time, practically everything else has announced that November 29 would be the official Thanksgiving for them, due to previous commitments or other regulations. These places include the public schools, the bank, the Lone Star Gas Company, the County offices, and a long list of others.

We believe that the merchants of Ranger had just as soon close up the 29th as the 22nd, and possibly had a little bit rather. The 22nd was determined for no particular reason other than a time to have the Christmas lights up. We are sure the merchants would be perfectly agreeable to close the 29th, along with everybody else.

In-as-much as plans are already advanced toward stringing up the lights, why not go ahead and string them up and turn them on the 22nd? And then let everybody close together on the 29th, since it doesn't matter so much, anyway.

Wonder whatever became of all those Uranium Dirt Sitting Houses. If we knew where one was we could go get it today and re-energize ourselves. We've got the 1920 Club Banquet tonight, and a 2000 mile round trip to a hall game tonight, and the Texas Electric Company Banquet Saturday night, and all that staying up to being an old man like us pretty fast.

Incidentally, if you want to die (Continued on Page Two)

The Texas A&M Arkansas football game will be on live TV Saturday with Kern Tips, according to announcement from The Humble Company. Game time will be 8:30 p.m. Texas-SMU, Baylor and Rice-Utah will all be radioed, starting at 1:50 p.m.

Man 25, Charged In Slaying Baird Hi School Quarterback

Albert Kanady, a 25-year-old Baird service station operator, has been charged with murder following the fatal shooting early this week of James Tyson, 16-year-old quarterback of the Baird High School football team.

The shooting occurred Monday night during what Kanady is said to have believed was a burglary of his service station.

Kanady had previously reported to officers that the Coke box on the outside of his service station had been broken into on three consecutive nights, and he had gone to Sheriff Homer Price and told him that he planned to spend the fourth night inside the station in an attempt to catch whoever it was that was doing the mischief.

Monday night Kanady said he locked his station, turned off all the lights, and took up a position inside. About 9:30, he said, a carload of youngsters drove into the station and stopped in the driveway. Kanady said two of the youngsters got out of the car and started tampering with the Coke box and he jumped through a window holding a .22 rifle and shouting "Hold it! Hold it!"

The two youths at the box were said to have stepped back and waited for those remaining in the car started to drive away. Kanady said he fired one shot at the car, while holding the gun below his belt, "not meaning to hurt anybody."

Young Tyson, who was driving the car, was struck in the neck by the bullet and fatally wounded.

time, nobody knew what it meant to sprinkle water on a lawn. Six summers passed in Terrell without a drop being turned around for sprinkling. Only the very rich and the Silk Stocking Set could afford this luxury and they made a half-dozen men wealthy who had gone into the sprinkling business. For $10 one of these fellows would haul you a tank of 1000 gallons of creek water and park the tank on your lawn overnight while you sprinkled the stuff around, and they actually got rich in the business. But common, ordinary poor white trash who owned modest homes which made up 99 per cent of the town, had to do without lawn water. There wasn't a live sprig of grass in town and what few shrubs were still alive were kept that way by saving the dish water and a t h water and pouring it around them. Even huge trees gave up the ghost and died.

So, this summer, Terrell finally ran smack out of water and that is when the city began to pour out money like Fort Knox turned upside down. City officials saw it coming so the first thing they did was to spend $25,000 in tax money they didn't have in a desperate attempt to dig some wells but they all turned out to have salt water and couldn't be used. They voted another million dollars worth of bonds to start digging another lake but everybody knew that couldn't possibly be finished in time to do them any good, but they voted them, anyway.

Here and There News About RJC

Students at RJC have certainly been busy the past several days, but all agree that the nicest thing about nine weeks tests is the fact that they do not come any more often than they do.

A new face appeared on the RJC campus this week. Shirley Matlock from Oiden, enrolled. Shirley attended RJC one semester last year. She is majoring in education, and plans to live in the girls dorm.

The girls dorm seemed empty this weekend for many of the girls journeyed home. Mrs. Jameson, the dorm mother, took her car to Abilene to the football game. Several of the girls accompanied her.

Charlotte Clark, of New Mexico, was in charge of the devotional Monday night in the girls dorm.

A birthday party for Doris Nabers was given in the dorm this week. Doris had a birthday Oct. 26th.

The thing that gets the most attention on the RJC campus is what?—the mailbox.

The biology students are wondering why the coach is suddenly so interested in Elvis Presley. Everyone is indeed happy to have Mrs. Dorothy Ashton back at RJC after her illness.

All Is Quiet On Hallowe'en

Outside of a little window-soaping, all was quiet among the Hallowe'en spooks in Ranger Wednesday night. A few boxes and benches were moved around, but on the whole everything was nice and orderly.

The police department picked up two men, one charged with ordinary drunk, and the other, drunk in car.

County School Board Head Urges 4th Amendment Support

"The most vital, urgent and badly needed measure ever submitted to voters in Texas will be at stake in the General Election on November 6," W. P. Roach, president of the Eastland County school board, declared today.

Mr. Roach said that Constitutional Amendment No. 4 on the ballot would modernize the Texas Teacher Retirement System adopted during a late depression year. It would thus help relieve the teacher shortage which threatens to become a state and national disaster.

Seven thousand teachers must be hired every year to replace the trained persons leaving the teaching profession in Texas, he explained, creating a serious loss economically and to the children of the state. Another 4,000 must be recruited to handle an enrollment that annually increases by 100,000.

"Today's birth rate, compared to those of 20 or 25 years ago, means that the number of children is far outstripping even the number of potential teachers," the school board head pointed out. "It thus becomes doubly important to stop the annual exodus from teaching."

Amendment No. 4 would increase the security, prestige and attractiveness of teaching as a profession, thus easing the task of teacher recruitment. It would also encourage teachers to stay on the job, despite the better pay and other inducements offered by private employers.

Teachers could contribute six per cent of their pay, compared to a present maximum of five per cent.

Teachers retiring at 60, after 20 years of service, would qualify for a minimum monthly payment of $100, compared to present amounts ranging much less than half that amount. Compensation for death or disability would be added.

Reciprocal privileges would help attract teachers from other states, thus reversing the present flow of qualified teachers out of Texas to neighboring states with more to offer.

The present law would be clarified, streamlined, and brought up to date. Administration would be improved.

No new tax bill would be needed. Roach made clear. Local school district taxes would not be involved.

Ranger Rangers Seek Win From Kilgore Rangers

The Ranger Junior College Rangers left Wednesday with their small but active posse for Kilgore where they will meet the Rangers of Kilgore Jr. College tonight (Thursday) at eight o'clock.

Early season prediction classed Kilgore as the Number One team in the Southwest. Kilgore was beaten by the highly-regarded Tarrant State Flowsboys 46-43, but since that clash the Kilgore Rangers have improved their squad into a good, hard-hitting ball club. They have since beaten the strong Victoria team.

The last time the Rangers tangled with Kilgore was in 1948 when Kilgore won 34-14.

Although a little lean on the winning side of the blotter, the Ranger Junior College Rangers are looking for a victory. Spirit is high and injuries are at a minimum, as the purple and white plan their battle strategy.

Game time is at 8 o'clock at the R. E. St. John Memorial Stadium in Kilgore.

Kilgore is one of the six richest junior colleges in the nation situated in the heart of Kilgore, the oil capital of America. Enrollment for 55-56 totaled 1800. The Blue and Gray Rangers are members of the Longhorn Conference.

Texarkana JC Forfeits Game With Cisco JC

Texarkana Junior College, which was in the nationwide limelight a few weeks ago on account of disturbances brought about when two Negro students attempted to enter the all-white school, has forfeited its football game this week with Cisco Junior College, apparently because Cisco has Negro players on its team.

The Hardin - Simmons "B" team has replaced the East Texas school on the schedule and will play the Wranglers Saturday night, according to Coach Arnett Weeks.

Blinn Junior College of Brenham was the first to forfeit a game to Cisco this year, presumably for the same reason. Indications are, however, that the remaining teams on Cisco's schedule will go through with their commitments and play the Wranglers.

Remaining games are with H-SU Burton, the ACC 'B' Team, Paris Junior College and Ranger Junior College. All of Cisco's remaining games are at Cisco, with the exception of the Ranger game, and that will be played in Ranger on Thursday night, Nov. 22.

Lake Saves Thousands

By NORMAN WRIGHT

Conversation around drug store coffee cups the other morning turned toward dry weather, as usual, and the opinion among experts was that if Ranger had been depending upon Lake Hagaman for water this year the city would have been hauling it in for the past 60 days, with still no relief in sight.

That started us to thinking about the untold thousands of dollars that Lake Leon has saved the City of Ranger since it has been built, and there is no way under the sun of estimating its value in the future.

To best illustrate our point, let us tell you a little more about the City of Terrell, where we had been living for the past five months, up until October 15, a city that actually did run out of water this Summer.

Terrell, of course, had been on the verge of running out of water every summer for the past six years, but just as the city would be getting down to its last cupful, the Lord would somehow come along and send down a flood and rescue the people for another year.

But what little water they had, even in good times, had to be rationed down to the last cupful, because the city had only a very small lake and there was never any water except for the barest necessities.

Like Ranger was for a long

They finally ran into a stroke of luck because Forney, a nearby city 18 miles away, had had the foresight to join the North Texas Municipal Water District, which built Lake Lavon, and Forney was due to start receiving Lake Lavon water this very coming November 1st, today it is, by the way.

Then Terrell got to work and made a deal with Forney to tie on to that city's old water wells as soon as the Lake Lavon water started flowing. This was all right with Forney, who was glad to sell some water from the old wells, but it was just the beginning of expense for Terrell. First thing, they had to have 18 miles of pipe—great big pipe, and they had no money to buy it with. Then came weeks of negotiating with the United States Disaster Relief people to see if they couldn't borrow some pipe.

After many a nerve-racking day, the relief people said they had finally located some pipe in Kansas City which Terrell could borrow if Terrell would pay the freight on it down there and back to Kansas. Terrell jumped at the chance but the freight bill turned out to be $20,000 each way, and a government regulation stipulated that the pipe could be loaned only for a period of six months. After that Terrell would have to try something else if they didn't have water by then.

Since Terrell had borrowed government pipe, they had to handle it the government's way, and that made it cost a whole lot more. The government prescribed that two pumps would have to be installed over the 18 mile route and men hired to man them 24 hours a day. So Terrell had to agree to hire three shifts of men to watch the pumps around the clock for the next six months at least.

Then after spending all this money, the city is still assured of only enough water to drink—they'll have to be rationed even more than they were to start with—and the whole thing is only on a short temporary basis of six months at the most.

By the time it is over, Terrell will have spent enough money to build a lake like Lake Leon, but they won't have a thing to show for it except more dead lawns and trees and sky high insurance rates. Insurance rates alone, are so high that prospective new industries shun Terrell like the plague and think of the untold thousands of dollars they are losing in that respect.

Even though everything was not all sweetness and light among all citizens of Ranger and Eastland when the idea of building Lake Leon first came up, we doubt that a man can be found today that would say it was all a mistake.

MARINE, NOT MARTIAN -

A new specially designed diving suit, called the "Galeazzi," is demonstrated by Italy's ace diver, Capt. Raimondo Bucher. Exploring the Gulf of Naples, Bucher has reached depths of about 820 feet, in contrast to the limit of 360 feet in ordinary diving suits.

Because there the lake is, all built and full of water, and a source of supply for all time to come, and it is a relief and a joy forever. Right now, today, there are more beautiful lawns in Ranger than perhaps ever before. It is one of the few spots in all Texas that has all the water it can use—far better off than even such cities as Dallas and Fort Worth and other large Texas municipalities that are still fighting their water battles with no end in sight.

The beautiful part about it is, the matter of paying for Lake Leon could not possibly be working a hardship on anybody. As we understand it there is a tax of about 25c per $100 valuation to pay for the lake. That means an average home rendered at $2,000 pays $5.00 a year in tax for the lake. Brother, do you know something? If you didn't have any water in Ranger today you would pay $5.00 for five lousy little bottles of water just to drink! Five bottles of electrified water, just to drink, would cost you as much as you're paying on a $2,000 valuation for a whole year and for 28,000 acre feet of the stuff! About $10 you would pay for a tankful of dirty creek water just to dump on your lawn! What a bargain you've got! And how thankful you should be for it!

Religion Too Often Used for Selfish Ends

CHRISTIANITY made such progress in the ancient city of Ephesus that the worshipers of Diana became alarmed. The alarm particularly concerned those who were making a commercial business out of religion.

These craftsmen could not have had much success if they had said to the public, "These men are endangering our business." Their self-interest would have been made altogether too apparent. Instead they aroused the great cry that the worship of Diana was being endangered, and they stirred up mob violence with the rallying slogan, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians."

How true is this to every age! Consider the profiteers from every form of commercialism, be it worthy and legitimate, or some unworthy and vicious thing. When profits are endangered, those whose interests are affected almost always hide behind some pretense of principle or conviction.

It may be a plea of personal liberty; it may be patriotism, it may be some form of religious profession or prejudice. But examine closely, and you will find self-interest at the heart of the thing.

Fortunately, it has not always been so. There have been great occasions in history when individuals and groups have been able to rise above self-interest, and see issues in terms of social and moral reality.

It is these who manifest the spirit of true religion. A man's religion ceases to be worthy the moment his motive to make a profit from his faith becomes paramount.

Let us beware lest the noble ideal of religious conviction be tarnished by those who say "our religion" when they mean "ourselves." There is nothing finer than saying "our religion" when we mean it and when our devotion matches our profession.

Bank has erected on Highway 80 between here and the county seat. But we've been watching that board since it started up, and if it didn't say what it says, we would have torn it down already.

The board has a big picture of Lake Leon on it, with big boxcar letters saying "Lake Leon." Then in equally large letters it says "Eastland, Home of." And then down under that, in very small letters, it says "Old Rip." Actually, the sign says, "Eastland, Home of Old Rip," but to a guy whose eyes aren't a good 20-20, it says "Eastland, Home of Lake Leon."

We always did say there was something fishy about folks who dealt in fine print.

Don't know whether you've thought about it, but this is an important week in these United States. It is National Popcorn Week, believe it or not. But week or no week, popcorn has been a year-round snack for Americans every since the first Thanksgiving when the Indians served the early colonists their first glimpse of the stuff. But whether it is for a July picnic or for Christmas decorations, it takes only a moment to transform a few ounces of kernels and bubbling oil into a fluffy heap of hospitality and the stuff is good.

Carmel Popcorn Balls were always our favorite. You take a half pound package of dairy-fresh caramels (28 pieces) and melt in two tablespoons of water in top of a double broiler. Then mix that with a couple of quarts of popped and salted corn and you've got something. Wish we had some right now!

PER CAPITA INCOME IN 1955 AND PERCENT OF GROWTH SINCE 1929

Prepared by NAM from Gov't Statistics

Southeast Areas Exhibit Most Rapid Growth

The economic growth of the various regions of the United States can be measured by the per capita personal income of their peoples.

For the United States as a whole the per capita income of $1,847 in 1955 was 163% greater than in 1929. Less than half of this gain was real—the rest being pure inflation. However, since all regions of the country were hit by the inflation, the relative growth shown in the chart is significant.

While there is considerable range in per capita income between regions, there has been a strong tendency for those regions which have the lowest per capita incomes to grow more rapidly than those which are above average. The region with the highest per capita income was only 1.7 times the lowest in 1955, compared to 2.6 times in 1929.

The lowest per capita income is still to be found in the Southeast region, but this area's gain since 1929 was the greatest. Its income of $1,292 per person for 1955 was 3 1/2 times that of 1929. The Southwest and Northwest regions' per capita incomes were also below average, though gains were much above average since 1929.

The Middle East region, conversely, had the highest per capita income in 1929, but its percentage growth has been the lowest of all areas. The Far West, with $2,189 per person income, was the highest of the seven regions in 1955.

Since 1929, the regions have exhibited a wide variation in per capita income growth, but relative positions of the areas, except for the Far West's replacement of the Middle East in the top position, have remained the same.

Here's How To Carve Turkey

Three things are necessary for efficiently carving a turkey: a sharp carving knife, sturdy carving fork, and a kingsize platter.

Place the turkey with legs to your right and begin carving the side toward your guests. Hold the drumstick with your fingers, cutting the joint joining the leg to the backbone, suggests the November issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

Place the turkey with legs to your right and begin carving the side toward your guests. Hold the drumstick with your fingers, cutting the joint joining the leg to the backbone, suggests the November issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

Then, hold the leg on the plate and cut the joint to separate the drumstick and thigh. Slice the drumstick, turning for even slices. Cut the thigh in slices parallel to the bone.

To cut white meat, the magazine says, first make a deep cut into the breast to the body frame, parallel to and as close to the wing as possible. Anchor the turkey with a fork.

Starting halfway up the breast, cut thin slices of white meat down to the cut made at wing level. Take stuffing from the opening where the leg was removed, the magazine says.

Are You Living On Your Lot?

The average homeowner knows all about his house from foundation to rooftop, but is often completely "in the dark" about his exact property lot lines. A simple $20 to $40 lot survey can tell all and settle disputes before they occur.

When you buy or sell property, consult a reliable attorney and hire a good surveyor, advises an article in the November issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine. The attorney checks the legal description and abstract for flaws. The surveyor locates the property on the actual ground.

From the surveyor's work you discover: If existing fences are true property lines, if garages or sheds are on your property or your neighbor's, if your house is located on the lot to conform with zoning regulations . . . all things you should know before you buy to avoid expensive legal difficulties later.

A realtor can point to a fence and say, "That's your boundary." The present owner can indicate a stake and say, "That's your corner." Both may be wrong. Hire a surveyor, the magazine says. He's the only one who can tell you for sure.

It's a common experience for surveyors to find that property lines don't correspond with fence lines. If the difference amounts to a few inches, there's generally no argument. If the fence line misses the property line as much as three feet, an unneighborly situation can arise.

If the neighbors cannot agree on a common line, it's up to the courts to declare a true boundary. If a fence has marked the line for 20 years or more, the court will be more inclined to accept that as the true property line. In doing so, the court applies the "Law of Adverse Possession."

However, if the neighbors agree on the surveyor's line, they have the expense of moving the fence line, and they have to have the deed description changed. In any case, a survey would have been much less trouble.

When you have your lot corners put in, request that they be set in concrete. It will be somewhat more expensive, but the corners will be more permanent and carry more authority. If you build a fence along a surveyed line, set it six inches inside your line to avoid future disputes, the magazine says.

In event of a major attack on the United States, farmers and small town dwellers would be expected to take care of target city evacuees and aid in restoring the damaged area, according to the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

November Treat: A Deep-Dish Vegetable Pie

Appetites vary according to seasons and the cool, sometimes chill winds of November are just what doctor ordered to make the family ravenous. This is the best of months—before the frost arrives—for combining bountiful, flavorful harvest vegetables in a hearty dish that will satisfy hunger and still have the family begging for more.

Here's a recipe for a November table treat that is delicious and different—a deep-dish vegetable pie. The vegetables are simmered gently to produce a mouth-watering medley of flavors and they are topped with a crust equally as delicious as the filling itself. Light, crisp and tender, the crust is made with golden shortening to give it its special golden flakiness. The harmony of flavors between crust and filling makes this an ideal dish to serve as a main Autumn luncheon course or as a special dish for the evening meal.

Deep-Dish Vegetable Pie
1 small eggplant, sliced
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons shortening

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon oregano
1/2 green pepper, finely chopped
3/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese

3 zucchini, sliced
1 onion, sliced
3 large tomatoes, sliced
Golden pastry for one crust
Dredge the eggplant lightly in flour. Blend shortening with the 3/4 cup flour to make a smooth paste. Place a layer of eggplant in a greased casserole, sprinkle with half the salt, oregano, green pepper, and cheese and dot with half the shortening-flour paste. Add a layer of zucchini, sprinkle with the remaining salt, oregano and green pepper and dot with the remaining shortening-flour paste. Add a layer of onions and finally a layer of tomatoes. Top with golden pastry (see below) and bake in a 425 degree F. oven for 25 to 30 minutes. You'll be delighted with the special golden flakiness of the crust when you remove the pie from the oven.

Golden Pastry
1 1/2 cups enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Fluffo (golden shortening)
3 tablespoons water

In a mixing bowl combine flour and salt. With a pastry blender or two knives, cut in the golden shortening until the mixture looks like coarse cornmeal. With golden shortening it's easy to tell when the mixture is properly blended. Add the water, one tablespoon at a time, and mix lightly with a fork until all the flour is moistened. With the hands gather dough into a ball. On a lightly floured board, roll out the dough in a circle 1/8 inch thick and about one and one-half inches larger in diameter than the pie plate. Fit the golden pastry loosely into the pie plate and trim off the edge, leaving one-half inch overhanging. Fold overhanging edge under and flute deeply. Prick top of pastry with a fork to let the steam escape.

Apple Treats For The Family

Apple Muffins belong with the easy-to-make apple treats such as Dutch Apple Cake, Apple Turnovers, and Apple Dumplings. Don't you just long to make them all, now that apples are back in season?

Here is a little different recipe for Apple Muffins in which each muffin is crowned with a ring of apple dipped in sugar and cinnamon. You'll enjoy your first autumn batch of these apple treats and so will your family.

Apple Ring Muffins
2 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
3 eggs, well-beaten
3/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons shortening, melted

3 to 4 tart apples
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Sift together flour, salt, 1/4 cup sugar and baking powder. Combine eggs, milk and shortening. Add to dry ingredients, mixing only enough to dampen all flour. Wash, core and par apples. Cut a 1/2 inch slice from the top and bottom of each apple. Chop the slices and fold into flour mixture. Fill well-greased large muffin pan half full.

Cut remainder of each apple into rings about 1/2 inch thick. Mix 1/4 cup sugar and cinnamon. Dip apple rings into sugar mixture. Place a slice of apple on top of batter in each muffin cup. Bake in a hot oven (425°F) for 30 to 35 minutes or until muffins and apples are done. Branch apple rings with butter or margarine while hot. Serve hot or cold. Makes 10 to 12 large muffins.

Leftover gravy need not be thrown away. It will taste just as good several months from now if you freeze small amounts in clean baby-food-size cans, unmold, seal in plastic bags, and place in your freezer, says the Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

It's HOME FASHION TIME, Sept. 29-Oct. 8. This is the time of year the new home furnishings styles are introduced to the home-maker. Most retail furniture stores are holding open house so that you can see these new fashions.

The new fashions for your home are elegant and tasteful. The dining room shown is typical of today's trend. Furniture is scaled for the smaller dining area, yet styled for the more formal setting. This particular group is a classic contemporary version of Italian Provincial styling.

Circle dining tables have found a return to popularity and it is not difficult to see why. This one is truly elegant, as well as functional. Note the casters for easy mobility.

Generously proportioned, the drop leaf serving cart has many purposes. It may be used as a tea wagon, a bar cart, a room divider, or a living room console. It too, is on casters. The entire surface, including the drop leaves, is of a white formica to insure permanent liveliness.

Walnut wood has been used for this grouping. This is highlighted with brass trim seen in medallions on the table apron, in the lovely loop drawer pulls, and the tiny orbs atop the chair back. To unify the setting, wall-to-wall carpeting is used.

During HOME FASHION TIME you can preview these new fashions for your home.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas

WHO ENDORSED THAT CHECK?

Many people scarcely look at the endorsements on a check, even though they accept it from a stranger, and that can lead to trouble.

Take Jack Storm down at the neighborhood hardware store, for example. He's one who will warn you — emphatically, with gestures — that it's smart to follow the simple rule: "Know your endorser."

Our laws set up many rules to protect us, and one of these rules protects the holder of a check by declaring that if he can't collect from the person who wrote out the check (the drawer), he can collect from the person who signed the check over to him (endorsed it). This, of course, applies only where a check changes hands at least once.

We mentioned Jack Storm. He accepted a $100 check from a nice looking fellow who said he needed to buy a RIT of tools for his new job. We won't use real names, but let's say the check was made out to Will Works and signed by Art Jayson.

"Sure, Art Jayson's lived in the neighborhood for twenty years," Jack said. "I know him well. Just sign your name on the back."

Jack forgot to identify the endorser, and it turned out that Will Works was a phony name, and that Art Jayson's signature was a forgery. Jack had no idea where to find the stranger, and he ended up losing about $40 in tools and $60 cash.

Right after that a good friend, we'll call him Bob Samson, bought a $2 paintbrush from Jack, and gave him a $60 check. It was made out to a Paul Smart and signed with "Regno Canning Co., Inc., Rex Rogue, President." Bob Samson placed his signature beneath Smart's endorsement, and Jack gave friend Bob the paint brush and $58 cash.

Well, there wasn't any "Regno Canning Co., Inc.," and this check also was worthless. But it was a different story this time for Jack. He contacted Bob Samson, and, of course, Bob had to make good on his endorsement.

Bob Samson managed to find Paul Smart, and it was Paul who ended up minus $60. But, what if Smart had been a stranger to Samson?

In a nutshell, anyone who endorses a check guarantees that any previous signatures are genuine and that the check will be paid. If the check is worthless, or the original maker's signature has been forged, then you may collect the amount of the check from the last endorser. Be sure you know the endorser personally, so you can fall back upon him in event it becomes necessary.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts change the application of the law.)

Cattle Raisers Warned To Control Lice

Cattle raisers were reminded this week that measures should be taken at once to control lice if the pests are spotted in their herds.

The American Foundation for Animal Health reports that prompt application of control measures at this time of the year should greatly reduce the losses caused by these parasites and will help protect the herd during the winter months ahead.

Lice not only cause damage to the skin and hair coat of cattle, but may also be responsible for serious anemia. In fact, the Foundation says that such severe infestations may result in death of young animals. Certain blood sucking cattle lice may serve as vectors (transmitters) of several cattle diseases.

All cattle and their quarters should be sprayed with a recommended insecticide, mixed according to directions of the manufacturer. If cold weather makes spraying impossible, dusting with a powdered chemical can be done.

Lice infestations are fairly easy to spot because the affected cattle start rubbing and scratching. However, the Foundation warns that other conditions may cause skin irritation, so a veterinarian's diagnosis should be obtained to determine the exact cause. A veterinarian can also recommend sanitation and control measures which will help head off serious infestations and losses.

New Tricks With Aluminum Foil

There's no limit to the number of things you can do with the many varieties of aluminum foil. It is useful in all phases of home-making.

In the kitchen, use a foil lining for your brown-sugar cannister. It will keep the brown sugar soft and moist, says an article in the November issue of Better Homes & Gardens magazine. To keep portions of the Thanksgiving turkey from getting too dark, wrap foil strips around the end of each leg and cover the breast loosely with a square of foil.

Foil helps the garden enthusiast, too. Wrap tender perennial bulbs in foil to keep them plump. Tests show they will last the winter in fine shape. Store the foil-wrapped bulbs where the temperature will be around 40 to 45 degrees, suggests the magazine.

Plastic bags made airtight with aluminum foil provide safe keeping for silver or for wool clothes. Tear a two-inch strip of household foil, fold it in half lengthwise, fit the folded strip over the open end of a plastic bag holding the item to be stored. Set the iron on "wool" (medium heat), quickly run the tip of the iron across the strip of foil. Let it cool, lift off the foil, and you have an airtight bag.

Floranna sweetclover, in the area south of an east-west line from College Station to Eagle Pass, will give two to four weeks earlier grazing and will mature that much earlier, than Hubam, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist. North of this line Floranna is no earlier than Hubam.

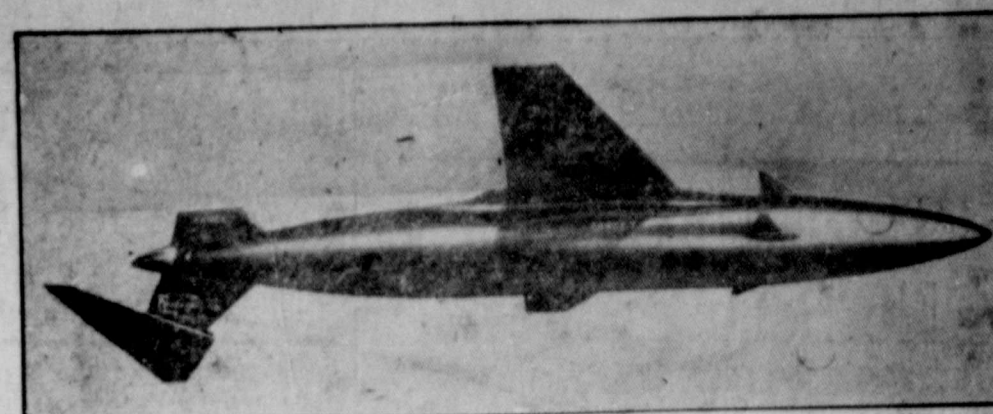

A worker with a wife and two children, who earned $3,000 in 1939, needs to earn $6,122 in 1956 to match the take-home pay, according to the National Industrial Conference Board.

Tex Says He's No Expert But He Believes Ike Is

The other night a bunch of us were sitting around in the drug store after the football game, drinking coffee and talking. You know how it is after a game in a small town, especially after the home team loses. Nearly every man in the crowd had a theory as to why we didn't win the game. Most of them, of course, blamed the coach. I couldn't help remembering that before we consolidated the county schools we didn't even have enough boys to make up a football team. And these same football experts who were saying what Rockne or Bud Wilkinson would have done, up until a few years ago they didn't know a football from a watermelon.

But that's the way it is in a small town (and in big ones, too, I understand). I guess there's no real harm done, although sometimes it's pretty rough on the coach.

I guess we have a right, in this free country, to be self-appointed experts in any line we want to pick out. It seems to me that most people choose either football or politics.

Take this presidential election coming up next Tuesday. During the last few weeks I have heard so many different theories from so many different political experts that I nearly got confused some times. I have to stop and think that the fellow who is talking probably doesn't know any more about it than I do, and that helps me keep straightened out.

In fact, I guess I have had my mind made up all along. To make no bones about it, I like Ike. He's a man you can always look up to and respect—the kind of man you'd be proud to point out to any person, from any country on the face of the globe, and say: "That's our President!"

About Adlai, now, I'm not so sure. Of course, if he was elected, he would be my President, too, and I would hope he'd do a lot better than most people around here seem to think he would. This is something I don't think we need to worry about, because from all I can hear and read, Ike is going to win it again.

It seems to me that if Adlai ever had a chance around here, he threw it away when he came out with that H-bomb business. Now, the folks in our town don't know much about H-bombs, except that they don't want any personal dealings with them. Our scientific knowledge of H-bombs is about on a par with our football knowledge. I reckon. But we do know one thing: We don't want some misguided, inexperienced fellow fooling around with our national defense. When it comes to trusting what Bulgarian says or what Eisenhower says, I'll take Ike. So will the rest of the country, if I don't miss my guess.

Just before we broke up the other night Doc Brown came into the drug store, and somebody asked him: "Hey, Doc, how's Ike doin'?" Doc said: "Well, it's a busy campaign for the medical profession. Last week Ike went and got his heart examined, and I understand that this week Adlai is going to get his head examined."

Yours truly,
Tex

WSCS Continues Study Of Asia

Members of the WSCS met at the First Methodist church Monday afternoon for their weekly meeting.

Mrs. A. W. Brazda, president, presided. The opening song was, "Kingdom of God".

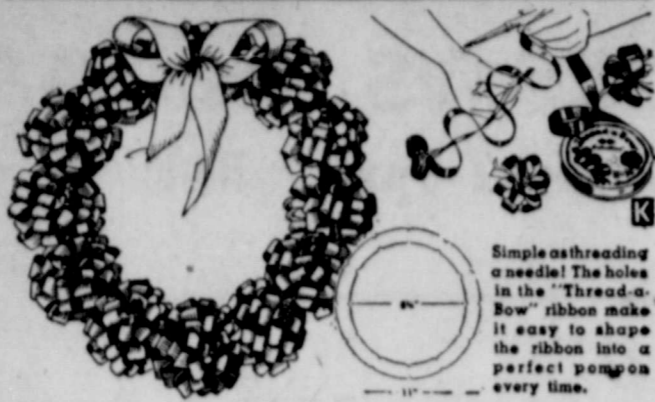

Mrs. Arthur Deffebach presided over the program and conducted a short litany. She introduced her subjects and led in prayer. Mrs. J. L. Turner spoke on the Isle of Taiwan or Formosa and gave the story of the work of Rev. Haines, who is a missionary. Formosa means beautiful island. Labor is still done by the water buffalo and man power. Religion is on the up grade in Formosa and churches are being organized.

Mrs. C. E. May, Sr. spoke on Hong Kong giving the background of its history and how in less than a century has been transformed from a nest of pirates to one of the most important centers in the world. There are 100 schools, 3 training colleges and one university with 863 students.

Mrs. A. J. Ratliff spoke on Indo-China. Official permission is given to Protestant workers. Work is going on in Indo China regardless of the many hardships. Churches, pastors and the people have been persecuted for years. Pastors serve without pay.

Mrs. Vernon Deffebach gave the description of a man who was restored to health in one of the hospitals by the united efforts of the doctors. The title of the story was, "Doctors, we Thank You." The closing prayer was led by Mrs. Wolfe.

How To Make A Christmas Ribbon Wreath

It's simple to make a perfectly shaped wreath which can be kept indefinitely. Use it at Christmas and through the holidays. Keep it till next year, if you like.

For doors, windows, mantles or as a table centerpiece, it's as decorative as it is fun to make. The only materials you need are a piece of cardboard—a laundry shirt stiffener will do—12 very full pompons and a yard of 1 1/2 inch red Satintone ribbon for the large bow topping the wreath.

For a 12-inch wreath, cut cardboard ring as shown in the diagram: 11 inches diameter overall, with a band 1 1/2 inches wide. The band may be narrower if the cardboard is very heavy.

Notch the ring evenly on the inside and outside of the rim, the notches directly opposite each other. Make 12 notches in this size wreath.

Tie the finished pompons to the cardboard ring at the notches covering the entire ring. Top the wreath with a large ribbon bow—and hang it just about anywhere in your home for a bright Christmas note throughout the season.
