WHAT'S...

COOKING?

By NORMAN WRIGHT

Now is as good a time as any to get off of our chest some of the things we have been wanting to say about Ike's speech last week in support of his $72 Billion Budget, which speech, incidentally, had about as much effect on the American people and Congress as water running off a duck's back. They are both through with Ike. Skipping over all the other parts of that speech, we want to mention specifically the $451 Million Ike says he must have for Federal Aid to Education. He stood there on the TV screens bold and barefaced telling the people how necessary it was that the Federal Government get into the education business, but he didn't tell them how they had been hood-winked by the U. S. Office of Education. We don't know exactly how it all started, but at any rate somebody in the government decided the country needed some more classrooms and that the government should help build them. Back in 1955 Ike called a conference on education in Washington and invited people to it from all over the nation. Even one lady from Eastland County attended. Ike told these folks what a terrible condition their schools were in, and proposed that the government step in and help them build a lot of new school buildings and classrooms, and he laid out the biggest program anybody ever heard of. But all of the representatives, all of them from all over the country, or at least ninety-nine per cent of them, listened politely and then told Ike "No, thank you, we don't believe we'd care for any." All of the delegates went back home thinking the (Continued On Page Four)

Ranger people passing by the high school Sunday night enroute to the First Baptist Church where graduation exercises for Ranger Junior College were being held, noted the cars and said to themselves that nobody would be at the church because they were all at high school.

Those passing by the church enroute to high school noted the cars at the church and said surely they were going to be the only ones to show up at the auditorium.

Truth of the matter is, a person was hard put to find a place to park within walking distance of either building. The church was overflowing with all Sunday School rooms opened into the sanctuary and ushers filled all other available spaces with individual chairs.

Dr. L. D. Ligon, vice-president of Midwestern University at Wichita Falls delivered the baccalaureate address for 123 Ranger Junior College graduates who received their Associate of Arts degrees.

The Rev. C. Boesmans delivered the baccalaureate address at the high school auditorium for the 1957 Senior Class as every seat was taken and chairs were pressed into service. Most churches of the city had dismissed their Sunday evening services in order that the two graduation programs.

Only one more night graduation event remains for the week and that is Commencement which will be held in the High School Auditorium on Friday at 8 o'clock, at which time the seniors will receive their diplomas.

Sixth Grade graduation exercises are to be held at 10:30 Friday morning in the auditorium, and eighth grade exercises will be at 1:00 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Leon Bourland Funeral Services Held Monday

Funeral services for Solon Leon Bourland, 55, of Eastland, and a former resident of Ranger, were held at 10 a. m. Monday at the Eastland Church of Christ with Otis Johnson, minister, officiating. Burial was in Eastland cemetery under direction of Hamner Funeral Homes.

Mr. Bourland passed away at 3:45 p. m. Saturday at All Saints Hospital in Fort Worth of a blood clot. He had been carried there several days ago suffering from a heart condition. He was well known in Ranger and many people from here attended his funeral.

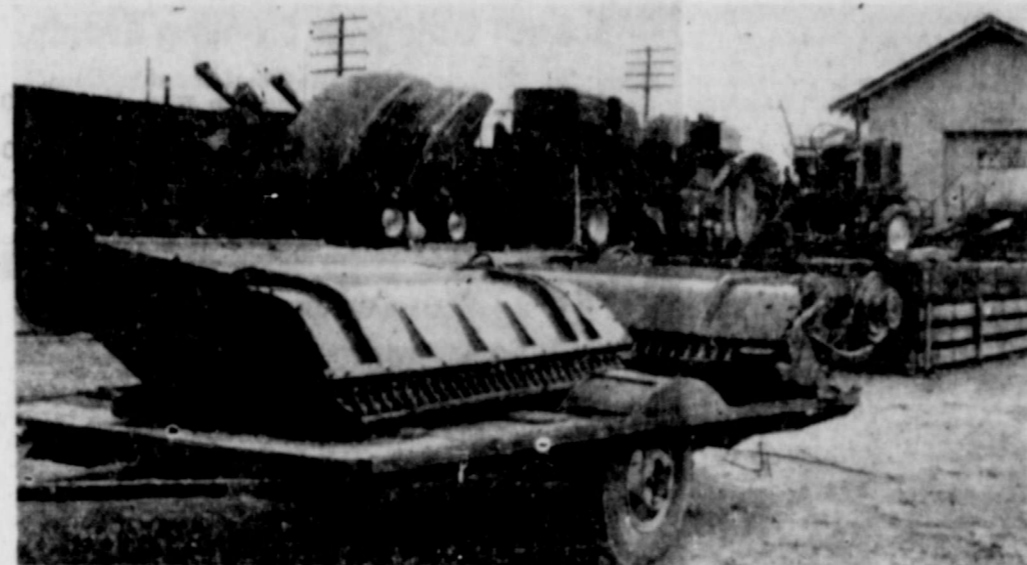

Mr. Bourland was born on Sept. 26, 1901 in Eastland County and spent his early life around the Deadman community. At the time of his death he was operating the meat market in the A&P Store at Eastland and only recently celebrated his 29th anniversary in the market business.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Betty Sue of Eastland and Mrs. Robert Hollowell, a member of the society staff of the Abilene Reporter-News; one son, Richard Earl of Amarillo; four half-sisters, Mrs. Guy Sherrill and Mrs. Milton Nash, both of Eastland, and Mrs. Stell Hill and Mrs. Jack Kimbell, both of Fort Worth, and one half-brother, W. T. Self, Jr., of Dickinson.

Huston said that area golfers could enter the tournament by telephoning in a qualifying score to the C's's Office. (Continued on Page Four)

LOOKS LIKE OLD TIMES: It looked like old time farm prosperity one afternoon last week when John Tibbels unloaded this entire carload of bright green John Deere farm equipment. In another few days this equipment will be chugging around all over Eastland County farms getting the planting season under way as farmers are planning to go all out this year for what promises to be a great season. With good rain, good land, good seed and modern equipment like this shown above, a farmer has a big start on the road to success. But two big things will need watching, a recurrence of the drought, and bugs. Capps Studio Print.

Farmers Big Need Now Good Planting Weather

One of the biggest needs today of Eastland County farmers is an opportunity to start farming. Texas weather is like a lot of people—it gets on something and doesn't know when to get off, and that's the way it is now. Farmers of the area could use three or four weeks of good, solid sunshine and rainless days in order to get in this 35,000 acres of peanuts, and the small grains also need some rest from so much rain and wet and wind. Data, now standing about knee high, got a knocked flat during the winds and rain of last Friday night, and some of it was damaged severely, in spots.

In other parts of the state, cotton farmers are really suffering for want of dry and warm weather. Once it does get dry enough to get farming equipment into the fields, farmers and their families are going to be as scarce around town as hen's teeth. A lot of farmers have been heard to say that at least school is out and they've got plenty lined up for the kids for the biggest part of the summer.

All of the land will have to be given a thorough stirring up again, and many terraces are in need of repair. Many farmers did not even get their fertilizer out before the rains started away back in March. They are ready to go as soon as the elements will cooperate, and the sooner the better because most of them are straining at the leash.

T. C. Wylie, owner of Ranger Peanut Company, said the biggest bulk of peanut seed was yet to be bought. Farmers went on a buying spree while back that lasted only briefly when they were forced to quit on account of too much rain. Wylie said after a week or so of sunshine there would be a rush on for seed and he hoped there was enough to go around.

The same story is true of fertilizer. Many farmers started putting it out but had to stop, and a vast amount of that work is yet to be done. In order to do good, all of the preliminary work should be done and peanuts actually in the ground in at least 30 days from now.

HOUSE GUESTS Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Pearsall will have as their house guests Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Strickler of Shenandoah, Virginia. Mrs. Pearsall is a daughter of Mrs. Strickler's.

Little League Games Finally Get Going

The Little League baseball season finally got under way in Ranger with a parade Monday afternoon and two games Monday night that saw the Giants while the tar cut of the Yankees 23-3 while the Dodgers outlasted the Indians 11 to 7.

At pre-game ceremonies the Rev. Ralph Perkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the invocation and Mayor W. F. Creager threw out the first ball.

Homecoming Is Set for Colony Community

A homecoming is being planned for ex-residents, students and teachers of the Colony Community, with June 16 the date and Willows Park in Ranger the site. It is to be an all day affair, and those attending are asked to bring box lunches and prepare to spend the day visiting old friends and acquaintances.

Leaders of the homecoming committee have agreed that all Colony residents write letters immediately to all of their acquaintances who are away from home at the time, and urge them to attend the homecoming, and to spread the word in every way they can. It is hoped that a large number from out of town will take advantage of the reason to return home, and if enough interest is shown, plans will be made to make it an annual affair with an organization being set up for next year.

Lone Star Gas Employees Send Aid to Lampasas

Employees of Lone Star Gas Company from Ranger, Eastland and Breckenridge sent a truck load of clothing to flood victims in Lampasas last week.

With Mrs. G. M. Hargus acting as chairman, the ladies of Ranger Plant No. 3 Headquarters sorted all the clothing as to size, and packed it in boxes furnished by Mrs. Ira Wolford of Betty's Flower Shop.

G. M. Hargus and W. L. Gann took the clothing to Lampasas in a truck and delivered it to disaster headquarters.

Hargus received a letter from H. C. Ballou, chairman of the disaster fund, which read as follows: "Will you please convey our deep appreciation to the employees of Lone Star Gas Company in Ranger, Eastland and Breckenridge for the supplies sent for Lampasas disaster relief."

Dorothy Needham Industrial Theme Contest Winner

Dorothy Needham has been named winner of the local contest for "What My Town Can Do to Attract Industry." Jerry Bradford and Jonell Renny were tied and were therefore named second and third place winners.

Miss Needham won a prize of $7.50 and the other two split a prize of $5.

The contest was open to High School Seniors and winning entries will be forwarded to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for further competition for larger prizes. Twelve seniors in all wrote themes for the contest and they were all excellent.

Local judges were members of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee, Wilson Guest, Lester Crossley, Marys Newham and Norman Wright.

BEAUTY AND BRASS—High-ranking Texas National Guard officers compliment the Ranger battalion's sweetheart, Miss Jeannie Pittman of Eastland, at the Armed Forces Day program Saturday at Ranger. Taking part in the dedication of a new $80,000 armory there were, left to right, Lt. Col. Ralph M. Trollinger of San Angelo, Miss Pittman, Brig. Gen. Clayton P. Kerr, and Maj. Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson, both of Dallas, and Capt. Cecil C. Carr of Rising Star, Commander of the Ranger unit.

Capt. Cecil C. Carr, commanding officer of the National Guard Unit here, said today that Ranger's response to the dedication ceremonies of the new $80,000 Armory Building Saturday night was "too good to be true" and far beyond anything any of them had expected, considering the wet weather and threatening clouds that hung around all during the program.

Warrant Officer Jess Cole said the people turned out in such great numbers and were so nice about the whole thing he had to go off once and cry. He said nothing could have been done to make the dedication any more perfect. He said Ranger people not only made every man in the guard feel good but they sent the high brass away from here feeling good and wanting to come back.

Major General Albert Sidney Johnson was so impressed with the turnout and the reception he received that at one place in his dedicatory address he opened the whole new building to the people of Ranger and told them to come on up there and use it as if were their own for any kind of gathering they wanted to have.

Cole said he didn't know just how many people did show up for the dedication, but 250 of them, by actual count, ate a barbecue supper. The guard got at least $1.00 each for those suppers, and in many cases people paid a lot more since the proceeds were going to buy furniture for the new building. Most everything was furnished for the plates, as Captain Carr, himself, donated 25 turkeys. With the exception of a few minor expenses, the guard managed to get together a fair sized fund with which to buy their furnishings, or at least enough to make a mighty big start.

Among some of the higher officers present besides General Johnson were Lt. Col. Ralph M. Trollinger of San Angelo and Brig. Gen. Clayton P. Kerr of Dallas.

A representative of the Abilene Reporter-News was present taking pictures of everything in sight, including Miss Jeannie Pittman of Eastland, Battalion Sweetheart, whose chances of being elected sweetheart of the 49th Division were not hurt by her meeting with the commanding general.

Dogcatcher to Start Picking Up Strays May 28

It is going to be hard on a lot of poor Ranger dogs next Tuesday morning, May 28, if their owners don't beat what they're doing and get them vaccinated and tagged between now and the close of business Monday, May 27.

Since the decision was announced a week ago today of the City Commission's action to begin strict enforcement of the "Dog Ordinance" beginning May 28, only 15 pets have been vaccinated for rabies and tagged with a city license, according to news from the City Hall.

The so-called "Dog Ordinance" requires that all dogs be vaccinated against rabies, and that a city dog license be obtained and displayed on a collar around the dog's neck. The City Commission allowed two weeks of grace, last week and the current week, in which to have the dogs vaccinated, and the City Manager has been instructed after that time to put a dog catcher to work and pick up all the animals that do not have the tags.

The dogs will be held in detention for 72 hours after which they will be destroyed if their owners have not called for them and made every compliance with the law.

Dogs may be vaccinated for rabies at Hodges Veterinary Clinic for $2.00, and the city's fee for dog licenses is $1.00 for male dogs and $2.00 for female dogs.

City Manager Lester Crossley said the city hopes it does not have to pick up a single dog, "but we have our instructions and we have the law," he said. Prior to this action by the City Commission, the City Hall and Police Department had received many calls over a long period of time from people complaining about dogs running loose, and in packs, and creating a public nuisance. It was decided to take the present strict action at this time because hot weather is just around the corner when rabies are more prevalent than at any other time, and the action was taken as a safety measure as much as anything else.

It will also give the city some authority to rid the town of stray dogs, because most people who care for their pets will have them vaccinated and kept close to home. Weld Cutting Due City officials are also hoping for a stretch of dry and sunny days during which crews can be put to work cutting high grass and weeds along the city's ditches and in the alleys.

Attention of citizens is called to the city's suggestion that they buy a gallon of coal oil and pour some on any water holes that are left standing around on their premises in order to eliminate some of the breeding places of mosquitoes. The city also hopes to spray the whole town within a short time as a protection against flies and mosquitoes.

Science Projects On Display In Store Windows

Two outstanding projects developed by freshmen students in General Science and Biology classes taught by Mrs. D. L. Penney, are on display in downtown show windows and have been creating quite a bit of interest here.

One of the exhibits, on display at the Chamber of Commerce building, shows an oil derrick, a slush pit, three oil tanks, a tool house and pipe rack, the eruption of a volcano and a model of the crust of the earth.

Almost anyone who sells lawn supplies can provide disodium methyl arsonate, which is known under a variety of trade names. Here's how you use it:

Mix four to five ounces of the technical material with a wetting agent—such as a common household detergent—in two to four gallons of water, and apply in a fine mist spray from a hand or shoulder-pack sprayer. This amount will cover approximately 1,000 square feet—more actual Dallisgrass area than will be found in the average lawn. It should be applied during periods of lush growth—spring or early summer. After you apply the chemical, wait two to three days before watering your lawn.

Chemical Controls Dallisgrass In Bermuda Lawns

COLLEGE STATION—Tribute to Dallisgrass in lawns and parks is ended, and homeowners may rise from their knees and stand like free men!

Rule by this bane of lawn-growers is ended, thanks to a chemical called disodium methyl arsonate.

Recent research by Gene Bockholt, a graduate student in the Agronomy Department at Texas A&M shows how to end those unsightly clumps of Dallisgrass without damage to Bermudagrass.

Bockholt's tests show that disodium methyl arsonate gives kills of 90 to 99 percent in Dallisgrass; leaving Bermudagrass strong and healthy. However, he advises against its use on St. Augustine lawns, and cautions against getting it on flowers or shrubs.

Quick as a cat can wink its eye

Thanks to the miracles of frozen foods and prepared mixes, the modern housewife can bake a cherry pie or concoct a whole meal "quick as a cat can wink its eye."

But what does she do with the time she saves? Just takes care of three or four kids, makes slip-covers and drapes, acts as family chauffeur and nurse, does the washing and ironing, entertains her husband's boss, probably helps out at the local hospital or maybe serves as Den Mother for ten bushes, unruly Cub Scouts.

And she does even more! Chances are she acts as family purchasing agent and bookkeeper. And her family's financial standing depends as much upon her ability to budget and save money as it does on her husband's ability to earn it.

That's why so many women today are helping their husbands get started on a regular savings program in U.S. Series E Savings Bonds. Everybody wants to save, but modern women face the fact that few people can do it on a hit or miss basis. The secret of saving is system, and one of the easiest systems to follow is for the family breadwinner to buy Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. Once a wage earner signs up for this plan where he works, his money is automatically saved for him in safe and sure U.S. Savings Bonds.

Help your family win financial security by encouraging your husband to join the Payroll Savings Plan or invest in Bonds regularly where he banks. He'll thank you for it tomorrow!

Former Ranger Girl To Wed In Abilene

Wedding plans for Billye Fox and Jerry Griffith were announced Wednesday evening by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Fox, formerly of Ranger, in a party at their home at 725 E. 14th St., Abilene.

The wedding will be July 1 in the chapel of the College Church of Christ.

Griffith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy A. Griffiths of Waco, who attended the party. He is stationed with the Navy at Pensacola, Florida.

At the party, the mothers of the couple and the bride-elect received the 65 guests.

Lutrece Lowe registered guests. Jo Ann Jay served the cake and punch was ladled by Peggy Fox, sister of the honoree.

The serving table was laid in blue under white lace. A white styrofoam heart pierced with a silver arrow held the names of the couple and was encircled with an arrangement of baby white iris and candytuft. Blue tapers lighted the centerpiece. Appointments were crystal and silver.

Mrs. Derry B. Fulks . . . weds Saturday
Sara Rose Ellis and Derry B. Fulks Marry in Abilene Rites

Miss Sara Rose Ellis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ellis of Abilene, and niece of Mrs. W. S. Poe and Mrs. Francis Cooper, became the bride of Derry Boyce Fulks Saturday evening at 7 o'clock in the chapel of the College Church of Christ in Abilene. Lavelle Layfield, Abilene, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Arrangements of white gladioli flanked by candelabra holding lighted white tapers set the wedding scene. Pews marked with white satin bows and plumosa fern.

The bride groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis L. Fulks of Abilene.

Don Jones, Abilene, soloist, sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an imported white lace dress over taffeta. The waist length skirt was very full tiers of lace worn over hoops. The strapless bodice was topped with a short fitted jacket with long sleeves pointed at the hands. She wore a wristlet of white stephanotis centered with a white orchid. A fingertip veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap of lace edged in pearls. She wore a single strand of cultured pearls.

The brides cousin, Mrs. Roy Ray, was matron of honor. She wore a pink crystalline dress styled with a soft fold at the low cut neck which formed a bow in the back. Her wristlet was of feathered pink carnations.

Paul Fulks, brother of the bridegroom from Lubbock, was best man. Ushers were Henry Grant Gray of Austin, Bill King and Duncan Mann of Abilene. Jan Fulks, sister of the bride groom was candle lighter.

In the reception room at the church the brides table was laid with an imported cutwork cloth. The cake was beautifully decorated in the brides chosen colors, pink roses and garlands of pearls made of spun sugar. It was a three-tiered confection topped with a bride and groom. White stock and pink carnations in a silver compote, with white tapers, completed the decor.

Mrs. Gordon Cooper of Wichita Falls laded the pink punch. Mrs. George Hogan was at the brides book. Mrs. Carroll Dillingham, Mrs. Bruce Stringer, Mrs. Bill Epiens, Chief of Austin, and Miss Delores Hogan, completed the house party.

On their wedding trip the bride wore a navy silk linen suit with white accessories and white orchid.

Both are graduates of Abilene High School and attended Abilene Christian College. Fulks is employed at Oglesby Surveying Co. They will live at 1456 Paramount Avenue, Abilene.

VISITS IN AUSTIN

Mrs. W. W. Mitchell spent Saturday in Austin.

What's Cooking-

matter had been settled. But not the U. S. Office of Education. They set out to prove this country needed some more classrooms, so the Office of Education got up a questionnaire and sent it out to all the States.

Now we're not just dreaming all this up—it is right here on our desk, documented. When these questionnaires were filled in and sent back to Washington, if the federal agency didn't like the answers, the agency sent the questionnaire back for revision, and the Office of Education complained about the failure to answer the questionnaire to the satisfaction of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The Office of Education threatened some State officials by saying, "The U. S. Office of Education does not want to make an official complaint regarding the inadequacy of data supplied by your State."

In many instances, following such a threat, the original figures were very considerably raised. Old estimates were struck out and new estimates put in as a result of the U. S. Office of Education telephoning or writing a state. As a result of such padded figures, the U. S. Office of Education decided the country REALLY needed some more classrooms, and those were the figures that he has lazily handed out to the American people the other night in telling them what a mess their schools were in, and that it would take the Federal Government, spending $451 Million, to straighten them out.

In gathering these phony figures, in only seven states out of the 48, did the superintendent or assistant superintendent of education sign the questionnaires. In no case was any of the information obtained from any local school board, the only authority that can speak for any school district.

No Governor, no legislator, no school board has come forward asking for federal aid to build classrooms. But like is trying to force Federal aid and Federal control of the schools on the States in spite of all the States can do to prevent it, and saddle them with another tax load in the meantime.

He's appeal for Federal Tax Dollars to build school classrooms ignores entirely what American citizens have accomplished on their own in providing new school buildings and new classrooms in the last ten years, from 1947 to 1957.

During that time, the American people, including all the little local schools like Ranger and thousands of other towns, large and small, have built 470,000 classrooms, including all the 290,000 classrooms. In other words, they have built 180,000 classrooms MORE than were actually required due to the increase in student population.

This does not mean that a surplus of 180,000 classrooms are sitting around idle and empty and not being used. This 180,000 was built to replace old schools and old classrooms that had been worn out and discarded from use.

So the American people are doing fine with their school building needs. If they are not right up to the second with them, they are fully capable of attending to the matter themselves. So why doesn't he shut up and sit down? He has been told and told that the people do not want his Federal money, and his Federal control. And besides, a local board can build a school or a classroom about three or four times as cheap as the Federal government, which wanted $6,000,000 for building Lake Leon, and the people of Eastland and Ranger built it for $1,500,000 doing it their own way.

And another thing, the minute a local school board accepts money from the Federal government, there will be enough strings attached to it to bang the whole board, including full integration of Negroes and Whites.

If he isn't smart enough to know that the figures presented him by the Office of Education following their juggling of the questionnaires are phony, then he isn't smart enough to be president. If he knows the figures are false, and tries to feed them to the American people as he is doing, then he should be impeached.

What a pity he didn't stick to just being a good general.
