Court Bill Dies Natural Death After Abilene Attorneys Frown

(An Editorial)

The bill introduced by Rep! Paul Brashear to add two counties to the 91st District Court has died a natural death.

Apparently you can credit this to the veto stuck onto the billaby Taylor County attorneys, who seem to want a clogged up court in which they can delay their so-called justice."

Although the bill was passed in the House, it never seemed to lift its head in the Senate. We would like to have seen a little more active support for it there, especially by our-own senator. However, we fully credit the bill's untimely death to the lawyers of Abilene, which is apparant ly becoming more and more a city which feels it must rule this area.

It seems to us that more than the Taylor County Bar Association should be consulted. For after all, who has Baptist Services more reason to want a trial delayed, unless perhaps it is the defendent, than the members of that Association'

The simplest way to understand stereo is to think of your two eyes as the two lenses on a stereo camera, your brain becoming the film. What your eyes see is registered on your brain in two separate images; one from the left eye and the other from the right. The difference between these images is slight, representing a shift in viewing position that is
