A Small City with Big Industry - A Bright Spot for New Industry

RANGER, TEXAS, THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1957

Ranger Citizens Present Argument Against By-Pass

Spokesmen for the City of Ranger, along with others from Eastland and Cisco, appeared before representatives of the State Highway Department at 1:30 today, Thursday, in the courthouse at Eastland, and presented a strong case on why the proposed new Highway 80 should not by-pass this city.

Ranger spokesmen tried to impress upon the Highway Department that Ranger is the only town in the county on Highway 80 that already has a four-lane highway through it, so why change it?

They pointed out the vast sum of money that has recently been spent to build the four-lane road from Ranger Hill and beyond, through Ranger. The present route does not go through Ranger at all, as it does the other towns, but rather skirts the edge of Ranger. There is only one traffic light on it which slows the speed of traffic only to 40 miles per hour, and if necessary, this light could be eliminated entirely by building a little wider approach from Highway 80 to Ranger's Main Street.

The spokesmen also pointed out that by maintaining the present four-lane route through Ranger, the Highway Department could eliminate the building of at least one clover leaf on the western edge of town and the purchase of several hundred acres of un-needed right-of-way at a savings estimated at $500,000.

Traffic which now flows through Ranger at great speed on the four-lane right-of-way is narrowed to a two-lane route as it goes through the dead center of Eastland, hampered by five or six traffic lights and city parking on each side of the street. The same condition is true at Cisco. In a strict sense of the word, Ranger is already by-passed by the road, and no wider road would be built no matter where it was moved.

Ranger spokesmen noted that the finest section of Highway 80 today is that part east and west of Ranger Hill and the part that goes through this city.

All of the remarks made at the meeting were recorded and will be placed back before officials of the Highway Department in Austin, and for the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

Dr. Whittington Tells Rotarians Of Lone Cedar

Dr. James Whittington of Eastland, spoke before the Ranger Rotary Club Wednesday and told members about the proposed Lone Cedar Country Club now forming, discussing especially the Land Company which must be fully organized before the Social Club can be formed.

Dr. Whittington stressed the fact that although the new Country Club would offer unmatched recreational facilities for its members and their guests, its greatest service would be for the progress of Eastland County as business leaders in all sections would have an opportunity to get together and discuss mutual problems and what to do about them.

June 30 is the last day in which membership in the Land Company can be obtained, according to Dr. Whittington. He said only two towns were short on their quotas of members, Ranger being short 16 and Cisco being short 12.

Eastland, Gorman and Rising Star are all over-subscribed, Dr. Whittington said.

New members added since the last list was published on last Sunday, June 23, include H. C. Westfall, Jim Baird, J. H. Caton, J. D. McElreath, E. E. Freyschlag and Judge Milburn Long of Eastland; W. E. Tyler and C. C. Rutherford of Rising Star; Dorothy Hatcher of Gorman, and Paul Pettigo and R. J. Carraway of Strawn. Three new members from Cisco have been added including A. Z. Myrick, Joe Lee Moore and Jack Holly.

Dr. Whittington said the membership goal was so nearly over the top he felt sure it would be reached before the deadline next Monday if everybody put forth an effort.

WHAT'S...

COOKING?

By NORMAN WRIGHT

A lot of mamas and dads in Ranger owe a great big "Thank You" to the men who are taking time out this summer to work with their youngsters in the Little League baseball program, and also in the Pony League and Teen-Age League organizations.

As a matter of fact, the entire City of Ranger owes these men its thanks for their work in helping to keep the athletic program going, when we are sure there are times when we would much prefer to be doing something else, both out of necessity as well as for their own personal enjoyment.

Outside of the regular officers in the League, we are speaking right now of the coaches who are actually the work-horses of the Little League and Pony League programs.

Walter Arterburn is coaching the Little League Dodgers, and he is assisted by Virgil Hogan. Willard Seymour, assisted by Jessie Renteria, is coaching the Giants; Curtis Blackwell, assisted by Marcus Matthews, are coaches for the Indians, and James Townzen is coaching the Yankees, assisted by Leonard Arterburn and Ray Hogan.

Too much tribute cannot be given these men for the work they are doing and for the time they put in on it.

Also, Ranger owes a tremendous vote of thanks to her professional coaches, all three of them, High School Coach Harold Barrett, Assistant High School Coach Drennon Daves, and Ranger Junior College Coach Tom Hestand.

These men are coaching over in the Pony League and the Teen-Age League, and after messing with kids all winter long they certainly did not have to do what they are doing this summer if they had not had an interest in the work and in the youngsters.

Barrett is coaching the 13-14 year old Red Caps; Daves is coaching the 13-14 year old Dodgers, and Hestand is coaching the (Continued on Page 6)

Beta Sigma Phi Bake Sale Set For Saturday

The Rho Pi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi will sponsor a Bake Sale to be held all day Saturday, June 29, beginning at 9 a.m., at Adams Grocery & Market on N. Austin Street in Ranger.

All proceeds from the sale will go toward the purchase of a gift which security members wish to present to Teen Town. Sorority members ask that all their friends remember the sale when planning their week-end food shopping, and suggest that this is a wonderful opportunity to stock up on pies and cakes for the Fourth of July holiday.

Continued fair and hot Thursday and Friday. High both days 95-100. Low Thursday night 70.

Pony League Needs More Boys

Now that the new Pony League Baseball Park is all complete and lit up like Yankee Stadium, a welcome is extended to a lot more boys to come on out and get signed up on one of the teams rosters.

There is room for a lot more boys in the 13-14 year age group and also in the 15-16 year age group.

There is a full summer of fun and recreation and a lot of good baseball playing in store for all the boys wishing to take part. In addition to frequent trips here and there in playing various other teams in the county which are on the game schedule.

Ranger's three professional coaches have charge of the three teams that are now organized, and boys wishing to learn baseball at an early age are being given every opportunity to do so.

Construction Begins on Lone Cedar Road

Coming Up... 4 Days of Needless Killing

The National Safety Council has sent out a reminder that the longest July 4th holiday in seven years is coming up next week, and it fears for another record number of highway and other casualties that may perhaps reach as high as 800 people.

The Fourth of July falls on Thursday this year, and many of the larger places all over the country which employ vast numbers of people have scheduled a holiday until the following Monday morning, July 8.

The National Safety Council points out that last year, in 1956, the country celebrated a one-day July 4th holiday, during which 137 persons died in motor vehicle accidents in that one day alone. Seventy-six were drowned, and 38 others died of miscellaneous other causes.

The last four-day Fourth of July holiday was in 1950 when a shocking 491 traffic deaths were recorded, with a total of 793 persons losing their lives from all causes.

The Safety Council points out that today, in 1957, the traffic death toll is running far ahead of what it was in 1950 due to faster and more powerful cars and many, many more of them. It shudders to think of what the total might be this year.

To show how ties have changed, the Safety Council points out that in 1953 fireworks took the lives of 466 people in this country on July 4th, whereas the fledgling automobile, only a stiff-jointed youngster then, took only 400 lives that whole year.

Last year in this country, only one person was killed by fireworks on the Fourth of July, but automobiles killed 137 persons on that one day alone, and almost 40,000 during the year.

The National Safety Council, in an effort to make this Fourth a holiday from accidents, urges motorists and swimmers who will swarm the beaches and the youngsters who will thrill to the excitement of fireworks, to "Be safe on the Fourth—he alive on the Fifth!"

Times to Publish Early Next Week

The Times will print its Tuesday paper as usual next week, but the Thursday paper will be printed on Wednesday, July 3. Everyone is asked to please make note and handle their news and advertising accordingly. We close for July 4, Thursday.

Little Water Users Can Get Lower Rates, Too

Water Commissioner Pat Thomas has asked the Times to clear up one point regarding the new summer water rates that has apparently been misunderstood from the beginning with respect to those who are eligible to take advantage of them.

It has been stated all along that in order to be eligible for the new rates, a user must have had an average bill of at least $10 a month for each of the months of July, August and September last year, and by adding 20 per cent to whatever his monthly average turned out to be he could have unlimited use of water this year at no further charge other than the 20 per cent per month.

Local Attorneys To Attend Meet Of State Bar

Judge L. R. Pearson and Dewey Cox will be among several attorneys from Ranger and Eastland County who will attend the 75th annual meeting of the Texas Bar which will be held at Fort Worth July 3-6.

Attorney Virgil T. Seaberry of Eastland, newly-elected president of the State Bar of Texas, moving up from vice-presidency, will assume the office of chief executive of the 12,600-member organization at the close of the Fort Worth meeting.

The convention will get underway Wednesday, July 3, with registrations, and two one-day institutes, titled "Texas Family Law" and "Texas Business Problems and Securities Transactions." A law student moot court competition, sponsored by the State Junior Bar, will include teams from SMU, the University of Houston, St. Mary's University and the University of Texas law schools.

Bert Smith, Abilene special counsel, will serve on a panel "The 55th Legislature and Its Record from the Citizens' Viewpoint" at a meeting of the Texas City Attorneys' Association.

Construction got under way this week on the new $94,494.74 section of road from Highway 80 west of Ranger to Lone Cedar Crossing.

A. L. Bucy of Brownwood has the contract, and work is supposed to be finished within 100 working days.

The first step to be taken this week as construction began was taken at Colony Creek, near the right-of-way of the new road and there will be eliminated and a brand new one built.

In this immediate area the old road makes a slight "S" curve, and this curve is being straightened as the new bridge is being released. It appears that the old bridge will be used as a by-pass until the new one is built.

Also, work has started on building detours around all other bridges that are to be widened. From all appearances the detours will simply be built up by-passes that run down into the ditches and around the bridges.

Underground culverts have also been spotted all up and down the right-of-way of the new road and these will be used in ditches where dirt roads from various farms and farm houses intersect with the main road. Fences and "Road Construction" warning signs have been placed at both ends of the road.

The new road will have a 100-foot right-of-way with a 20-foot hard surface on the top and will be the same as all other farm-to-market roads in the county. If the contractor is able to finish the road according to schedule, it should be completed about the middle of October.

Homemaking Class to Hold Achievement Day

Forty-three members of Mrs. Richard Henderson's Homemaking Class have designated tomorrow, Friday, as "Achievement Day."

The class will meet in the Home Economics department at High School at 10 a.m., and each member will display samples of her work and report on projects that have been developed during the month of June.

Mrs. Henderson said this was the biggest class in the history of the Summer Homemaking Courses and all of the girls had been most enthusiastic in their work. They actually attended class during the first two weeks of June, and the last two weeks were spent in (Continued on Page 6)

Supper Friday To Welcome New Methodist Pastor

The Men's Fellowship Club of the First Methodist Church will be host Friday night at 7:30 at a supper to be given in the church basement in honor of the new pastor, Rev. James Ellison and his family, and all members of the church, plus all the guests they can get together, are cordially invited to attend.

The Men's Club wants every church member to be present for this one big occasion, and every member is invited to bring a guest. There will be food for all, they say.

The Men's Club is not only going to prepare the food, but the men are going to serve it. They promise everybody an evening of good fellowship and "good eating."

A special program has been prepared during which the pastor and his family will be welcomed to the church.

Commissioner Thomas says the City Commission intended for this to apply to small users also, but in order to take advantage of the rate, they would first have to ASSURE that their bill was at least $10 a month last year.

For example, a user might have had a water bill that averaged only $7 a month for the months of July, August and September last year. He can assume that his bill averaged $10 a month, and by paying 20 per cent more which is $2, making a total of $12 a month this year, he can take advantage of the new rate and use an unlimited amount of water and not even have his meter read.

There are many users in this category, because many homeowners last year, confronted by the drought, said "Oh, what's the use," and simply didn't try to save their lawns and shrubs and flowers and therefore had low water bills. But if they wish to assume that their bills were as much as $10 a month last year, they may do so and sign up for the new rates.

Beats Eastland Plan
The City Commission is frank to admit that the plan has flaws, but it is far better than the one worked out in Eastland, as Eastland citizens are quick to admit who (Continued on Page 6)

Mr. and Mrs. Mills Nab 12-Lb. Catfish

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mills of Ranger were visitors at the Times Wednesday morning to display a 12-pound yellow catfish they had caught earlier in the day at Lake Leon. Mrs. Mills said she hung the fish on a regular cane pole and line but had to have some help from Mr. Mills in landing the chopper, which was quite a hunk of fish.

'Tender Years' Policy of Handling Juveniles Should Be Abolished

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was talking common sense when he said, "We no longer can tolerate the 'tender years' policy in dealing with juveniles." The over-protecting of teenagers who commit serious crimes encourages them and others to commit other law violations.

The quotation from Hoover was given by George Burton, chief FBI agent in Houston, in a speech before members of the National Sheriffs' Ass., in Galveston. Burton quoted Hoover as saying also, with reference to juvenile delinquents, "We must stop protecting them, must print their names, fingerprint them and let their records be known."

Burton urged members of the association to make public the names of juvenile delinquents, except in first offenses or minor delinquencies.

The time has come when juvenile offenders should have their crimes publicized, the same as adults. If the youngster is old enough to commit a serious crime while knowing that he is doing wrong, then he should have his name printed. There is, of course, an age of severance in treating a juvenile as an adult. For example, if a child of 5 picks up a hatchet and kills another child or a parent, he cannot be held accountable legally. The child has not reached the age of reason.

Law can well follow the rule of many churches, making the dividing line of self-determined acts the age of reason.

Youngsters in their teens know the difference between right and wrong. When a 14-year-old robs, assaults or murders, he knows he is doing wrong if he has halfway normal intelligence. The fact that he is only 14 does not mitigate the seriousness of the crime.

When law enforcement agencies drop the "tender years" policy of dealing with juveniles who commit serious crimes, a deterrent to juvenile delinquency will be created.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

Gene Reynolds was the "boy chief of police" in Ranger during the oil boom. He was said to have been the youngest police chief in the nation in 1919 and 1920. Some 20 years later, he was holding a responsible position with a big oil company and he no longer had the zest for danger which had characterized him in his younger days.

When he entered the lobby of a big hotel in a Southern city, he was startled. Men and women were lined up on one side and, on the other side, was a man who had been drinking and in his hand was a six-shooter. Tats individual proclaimed, "I'm the toughest blankety blank in this state." Reynolds recognized him as having been the worst of Ranger's "bad men." The last time they had met was in the Ranger police station when the gunman had been given hours to get out of town—and he had "got".

The man with the six-shooter looked around and saw Reynolds, who thought, "He's liable to decide this is a fine opportunity to get even." (No longer an officer, Reynolds did not carry a pistol).

For a long minute their eyes met and then the man with the gun turned around and said, "Ladies and gentlemen, I'm not the toughest man in this state; I'm the next to the toughest and I can prove it by him; he's the toughest" and he indicated Reynolds. The latter smiled and said, "Now, Bob, you've made your point, so I suggest you put up your gun," which he did. "And then," Reynolds relates, "I took the first full breath I'd had since entering the lobby."

One of the tragedies of my early boyhood was that I wanted a turtle-neck sweater but never got one.

Theodore Roosevelt did not want the vice presidential nomination. He referred to the office as a "sepulchre."

In horse back days in Arkansas, the standard greeting when a rider rode up to a farmhouse was "Light" (meaning "alight") "and look at your saddle."

The bridegroom was attended by his brother-in-law, Walter Pruitt, of Midland as best man. Ushers were Robert McKinney, Midland, Ronnie Carroll, Ranger, and Scotty Witt, Amarillo.

Mrs. Edna Carroll, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Patsy Halliday, sister of the bride, and J. A. Lightfoot, Odessa. The Matron of Honor and the Bridesmaids wore waist length gowns of blue lace over blue taffeta, fashioned with a blue satin cummerbund. The Matron of Honor carried a crescent bouquet of blue chiffon daisies and the bridesmaids carried nosegays of blue chiffon daisies encircled in nylon tulle.

The flower girl, Christine Stott, carried a white basket filled with white flower petals. She wore a blue taffeta dress with a bouffant skirt. Her hair was held back with a band of blue daisies.

The ring bearer, Mark Brannam, carried a white satin pillow decorated with orange blossoms and two tiny love birds.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white satin and alencon lace fashioned with a bateau neckline, embroidered with seed pearls. The full skirt extended into a chapel train. The lace sleeves were tapered to a point at the wrist and buttoned with tiny satin buttons.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a satin Juliet cap outlined in seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet consisted of a white lace covered Bible topped with gardenias, white satin streamers, and stephanotis.

The bride carried out the tradition of "something old, something new". For something old, she wore an antique pearl necklace; for something borrowed, she carried a lace covered Bible which was also carried by Mrs. W. J. Graham of Aberdeen, Md. For the traditional blue, a wedding garter was worn. Her wedding gown and veil were the "new", and she wore a lucky coin in her shoe.

Mrs. Halliday wore a Champagne lace sheath dress fashioned with champagne satin cummerbund, and a corsage of white gardenias.

Mrs. Lanier, Sr., wore a pink lace dress embroidered with tiny rhinestones on the bodice, and a corsage of white gardenias.

Reception

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, at 1201 Desdemona Blvd. Guests were received by Mrs. Halliday, Mrs. E. K. Webb, grandmother of the bride, Mrs. O. G. Lanier, Sr., the bride and groom, and the bride's attendants. Guests were registered in a white leather musical bride's book. Mrs. Walter Pruitt, sister of the groom, presided at the registry table.

The bride's table was laid with an imported white-linen cloth. The centerpiece consisted of white chiffon daisies arranged in a silver sprig, flanked by blue tapers in low silver candelabra. Guests were served wedding cake, fruit punch, and mixed nuts from crystal and silver service.

Floral arrangements throughout the house carried out the blue and white theme.

Many Dairymen At Brucellosis Meet In Ranger

About 60 dairymen from Eastland and surrounding counties attended the meeting in Ranger Tuesday night during which Dr. C. M. Patterson, veterinarian of the A&M College extension service, explained the Brucellosis Law that is to go into effect in about 14 months.

There are two plans under that law, Plan "A" and Plan "B", and all dairymen, everywhere, must sign up to follow at least one of them. The two plans are as follows:

Plan "A" provides for: 1. Test all breeding cattle on premises over six months of age except official vaccinates under 30 months of age. 2. Segregation of any animal showing a suspicious reaction to the blood test until the animal can be retested 30 days later. 3. Vaccination of all heifers to be retained as replacements between four and eight months of age.

4. Adding to the herd only animals that are official calfhood vaccinates or known to be free of brucellosis. 5. Disposal of all infected animals within 15 days of reaction to the blood test.

Plan "B" provides for: 1. Test all breeding cattle on premises over six months of age except official vaccinates under 30 months of age. 2. Branding all reactors and, if possible, keeping them separate from clean animals except at milking time. 3. Retention of branded animals in herd for a 3-year period. Herds participating under this plan may market milk from branded cows. 4. Vaccination of all heifer calves to be kept as replacements between four and eight months of age.

Dope and Lewd Charges Faced By Cisco Man

A Cisco man is being held in Eastland County jail in lieu of $2000 bond on a charge of possession of narcotics.

District Attorney Joe Nuesse identified the man as Virgil Hart, a Cisco pharmacist. Hart allegedly had morphine and other narcotics in his possession when arrested.

Brucellosis is a contagious disease of animals and man caused by a bacterial agent. In cattle, it has been called Bang's disease and contagious abortion. In swine it is also referred to as contagious abortion. In man it is sometimes referred to as undulant fever.

Besides the felony charge, the Cisco man also is charged in County Court with possession of lewd, obscene photographs. Officers seized several boxes filled with pictures which they said Hart told them he took. The pictures were of nude and near nude women in lewd poses.

Nuesse questioned a 14-year-old Eastland girl Wednesday and after the questioning said he may file an additional charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor against Hart.

The DA said he believed Hart planned to sell the lewd pictures.

ATTEND FISH SUPPER

A fish supper was held at the home of Mrs. Nell Brod, 533 Armstrong Ave., Tuesday night. Those attending were: Mrs. Thelma Williams, Mrs. Claudia Stewart, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Barres, Bernard Spruiells, DeLeon; Doc Short, Gorman; Esta Owens, B. E. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Boyett, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Boyett, Elmo Boyett, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Langford, Mrs. Rosie Boyett, Dorothy Nell Boyett, Sammy Boyett, Olden; and Mrs. Lora Lane of Ranger.

What's Cooking—

15-16 year old Ranger Rams.

Spectators who saw these old boys play ball last Tuesday night really got a treat because they looked like miniature professionals. All, or most of them, are graduates from the Little League, and they have had a lot of baseball experience. They got a bang out of playing the game and they've all got plenty of hustle and the old "talk it up" spirit that spread right into the grandstand Tuesday night and everybody had a whale of a good time. The only thing missing was the hot dogs and peanuts.

The one big driving force behind these Pony League and Junior Tonn-Age teams has been David D. Pickrell who ought to be given a new Cadillac for a present, or at least a box of cigars. Almost anyone else would have thrown up their hands and quit long ago when, at the beginning of the season, it was next to impossible to get enough players interested to organize the teams.

But there are now three dandy teams all suited out in full uniforms with the three professional coaches in charge, and they have an all-steel ball park that would be a credit to any "sandlot ball park" in the City of Dallas. Mr. Pickrell begged and borrowed until he finally got a lot of people working with him in helping to build the park, and a number of fine citizens donated labor and materials, but if anyone ever gets around to naming that place we suggest here and now that no better name could be found anywhere than "Pickrell Park." It even has a rhythmic sound to it.

The final session, Saturday, July 6, will feature an address by Attorney General Will Wilson; and a ceremony honoring Texas lawyers who have practiced 50 years or more. Chief Justice J. E. Hickman of the Supreme Court of Texas will preside.

It provided you're not tongue-tied and can say Peter Piper picked a peck of pickled peppers. If we hear a second to the motion we'll name that place Pickrell Park right now.

We did not attend the Little League games of Tuesday night but a lot of people told us about what appeared to them to be some unnecessarily rough playing on a part of a few of the boys. Perhaps it was all an accident, and we feel sure the coaches will watch it for any future repetition. If it happens twice, we imagine some lad will find himself turning in a uniform because Little League baseball was invented to foster true sportsmanship as well as for fun and recreation. There is no place in it for anyone who deliberately plays rough, thinking it is smart. Tossing baseballs at the batter isn't even allowed in the major leagues. Neither is the practice of running over basemen. Deliberately hitting another player with a fist or a bat or a water bucket or whatever happens to come handy will get a player suspended for life.

We would like to urge that everyone attend some of the games in either the Little League or the Pony League and see for yourself that you will really enjoy them. The nights are cool and there are few, if any mosquitoes right now, and getting out with your neighbors will do you some good.

Water Rates—

In Eastland, a homeowner must first use as much water as he did last year before he can even start on getting the new rate, and then his bill starts coming down gradually at so much per thousand gallons and nowhere does he reach the point where he can use all he wants to. He has to pay for every drop he uses.

Instead of there being no limit to the amount of water an Eastlander can use, there is no limit to the amount he can pay if he keeps using it. In Ranger there is a limit to what he can pay, which is 20% more than his average monthly bill last year for July, August and September, starting, of course, with $10 as a minimum average bill.

Best Deal in Texas

The Ranger City Commission feels that it is giving one of the best water rate deals in Texas, so good, in fact, that they have reserved the right to call the whole thing off, or at least to shut of the State Bar's 1957-58 officers, including Virgil T. Seaberry of Eastland, president; Fred Parks of Houston, vice president; and Leo Brewster of Fort Worth, president-elect, who will take office at the close of the July, 1958 convention.
