High School Year Books to Be Given Out at Teen Town

By NORMAN WRIGHT

All Ranger school students who placed orders for High School Annuals last year are asked to be at Teen Town Thursday night at 8 o'clock and their books will be delivered to them.

All students who did not place orders are also invited to be present to take a look at the Annuals which Mrs. Leslie Hagaman describes as the most beautiful she has seen since she has been connected with the High School.

Mrs. Hagaman, Annual Sponsor, said she hoped the students could have a regular "High School Annual Party" at Teen Town Thursday night when the books are distributed because she was sure there would be scores of them who wanted to exchange autographs in the books, and otherwise scribble messages for posterity, and this would be a wonderful opportunity.

Mrs. Hagaman said Ranger High School was one of the first schools in the state to get their annual material to the printer for summer delivery of the books, and the Ranger order was one of the very first to come off the press.

"We really outdid ourselves this year," Mrs. Hagaman said. "Everybody worked very hard and put a lot of thought into it, and the results certainly do show up in the books. We are sure everyone will be proud of their copies, and we are indeed proud to be able to deliver the books at this early date."

All students are asked to pass the word on to other students, so that no one will miss the big event Thursday night.

Area Draws 5 New Oil Tests

Eastland County oil observers have lifted an eyebrow in recent days as more and more activity is being reported.

On top of the recent announcement of plans to drill 66 new tests in the Jo-Kiel field in the west part of the county, four wildcats and one regular field try have been staked in this area during the past week.

Mrs. W. W. Bradley of Glade-water has staked the No. 1 C. W. Stuebel as a wildcat try 10 miles southeast of Cisco on a 160-acre lease. The try is a re-entry of a 1010 foot failure drilled in 1952. Drillers plan to test the Caddo and a line zone at 3625 feet. Location is 230 feet from the north line and 2310 feet from the east line of Section 117, Block 3, H&TC Railroad Survey.

Six miles northwest of Gorman on a 160-acre lease N. T. Smith of Shawnee, Okla. has staked the No. 1 P. C. Frazier. The wildcat try is located 2300 feet from the south line and 997 feet from the east line of Section 10, Block 1, H&TC Survey. The try is located three-fourths of a mile west of a 51-acre well. Proposed depth is 1900 feet with rotary to the Strawn sand.

Fan Says Ranger Does Not Support Hi School Bulldogs

By NORMAN WRIGHT
Ordinarily the Times, nor any other newspaper, will not print an anonymous letter. A person who does not believe his own convictions strong enough to be identified with them is not due the same sort of courtesy as a person who is willing to stand behind what he says.

Nevertheless, we are printing herewith a letter that was not only not signed, it wasn't even mailed, but stuck through the crack in the door at the Times office.

The letter said:
Dear Editor:
I know the article you put in the paper about the Bulldogs being so "weak" will make them feel real good about the coming football season. They try their best and they do pretty darn good considering the fact that the people aren't behind them a bit. Why don't you try encouraging them instead of saying they haven't got a chance? Maybe if the people and the coaches had a little confidence in them, and would let them know they were proud of them, they might get out there and really go places.

Let the Bulldogs know you're behind them and believe in them, and I am sure they will win every game they can.

A Bulldog Fan
After 25 years of it, and after trying it every different way there is, and then inventing some new ones, we decided long ago there was no "right way" to write about football.

We have taken the line many times that bragging on the team might help them get some place. So we have had vigorous campaigns in which we praised our teams to the skies and told the world they were going to sweep everything in their path, and warned the other teams that they might as well call off their game with us because they didn't have a Chinaman's chance, they were slunked before they even took the field.

We have written about the speed and power of our lines and the elusiveness of our backs and the legendary of our quarterback, and the invincibility of the whole shebang, and what happens? They go out for the first game and some third rate team mops up the field with them!

The coach yells that his team was over a confident and that his star half-back had been reading his press notices and had come to the conclusion that he was really a white-bang and nobody could tell him anything with the result that he was un-

Ranger Firemen Nip Blaze In Box Car

Ranger firemen saved a box car and a carload of lumber parked at 117th Street Sunday morning when they were called to fight a blaze at 9 o'clock after the box car and the lumber caught on fire as the result of a hot box. At least two-thirds of the lumber was saved, and damage to the box car was considered slight, since the whole business could easily have been a total loss.

Funeral Services Held Today for Thomas O. Rawls

Funeral services for Thomas O. Rawls, 65, were held at the First Baptist Church of Ranger at 4 p.m. today, Tuesday, with the Rev. Ralph E. Perkins, officiating. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery under direction of Killingsworth Funeral Home.

Mr. Rawls, who was born in Ranger Aug. 24, 1891, had lived in the city all of his life, and had been a telegraph operator for the Texas and Pacific Railway in Ranger for 40 years. He died at 9:23 p.m. Monday at the West Texas Clinic. He was a member of the Baptist Church, and although not considered an old man by any standard, he was one of the oldest native born citizens in Ranger to have lived in the city continuously all of his life.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Jack A. Rawls of Ranger and Jeff W. Rawls of Albany; one daughter, R. B. Rawls of Fort Worth; two sisters, Mrs. John M. Ghoslin of Ranger and Mrs. George L. Davenport of Eastland; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the West Texas Clinic, Tuesday, July 16, 1957, for Thomas O. Rawls, 65, who died at 9:23 p.m. Monday at the West Texas Clinic. He was a member of the Baptist Church, and although not considered an old man by any standard, he was one of the oldest native born citizens in Ranger to have lived in the city continuously all of his life.

Attorney General Says Constables' Raise Is Illegal

The Ranger Times learned this week that the Attorney General had ruled the Eastland County Commissioners acted illegally recently when they raised the pay of two constables.

A reliable source told the Telegram that the ruling said the Court did not publish a notice to the public declaring their intention to consider and vote upon a salary raise for constables in Justice Precincts 5 and 7 as outlined by law.

The two precincts are in Gorman and Rising Star. The raise would put the salary of the constables from $75 to $100. Original action of the raise was taken May 13. At that time Commissioner R. L. Carter of Rising Star made a motion that those two constables be raised and that Ranger, Eastland and Cisco constables' pay be lowered that a-

Weather Reports

Continued fair and hot Tuesday and Wednesday. High both days 88-100. Low Tuesday night 75.

Officers of Ranger's Little League, together with team managers and coaches and a host of Little League Dads, are preparing this week for the softball game here Saturday night at Little League Park between the "Ranger Dads and Whatnots" and the Amputee Ball Club of Fort Worth.

A contribution box will be placed at the field in which spectators may drop any kind of cash offering they wish for the benefit of the Ranger Little Leaguers, and the Amputees will not accept a penny of it, not even enough for gasoline money.

The Amputees are coming here to play the game for the benefit of the Little League and to demonstrate to one and all that a man who has lost an arm or a leg or both need not go through life as a handicapped person unable to enjoy the activities of a normal person.

One of the players, Billy Souzae, is a double amputee, having lost both legs, yet he plays ball like a professional.

He holds a regular full time job, and coaches a Little League ball club on the side in Fort Worth. All of the amputees are gainfully employed, financially independent, and their ball club is in demand all over the state for exhibition, benefit games. "We can't possibly make even half of the dates," president Capshaw says. "We try to stick around close to home and consider Ranger in our neighborhood, and it is really a pleasure to be able to come out here and play."

Capshaw has requested that the Little League install some sort of a public address system at the field because he wants to tell the spectators something about some of the players that they will see perform.

Hunting Uniforms
Meantime Ranger Dads are scouting the town for baseball uniforms. "We don't want to go out there looking like the bunch of clowns we are," said Curtis Blackwell, manager of the Indians and one of the "Dads" helping to stage the game. "We want to at least look like ball players whether we are or not, and we've got to find some uniforms."

Little League officials said there used to be a lot of adult uniforms around town, and anyone knowing the whereabouts of some of them are asked to call Leonard Pounds, president of the Little League, or Curtis Blackwell at his Gulf Service Station on Highway 80.

It is said the Amputees want to play two games, one a 7-inning affair, and the other a 9-inning affair. The Dads say they will do their best to accommodate them, however some of them figure they will be doing pretty good if they hold out for five innings.

The Little League is expecting an all-out 100 per cent turnout of Ranger citizens for this game. Considering the fact that the Amputees, a bunch of total strangers, are coming here to play the benefit game free, at their own expense, it is felt that Ranger should support the game to the hilt.

One of the most enjoyable outdoor evenings ever held here is promised.

Ranger's Xmas Card Girl Gets National Honor

Little 5-year-old Debbie Dixon of Arlington, to whom 163 Ranger residents sent Christmas Cards last year, has been named National Muscular Dystrophy Child of 1957.

She was named to the honor last Saturday by Comedian Jerry Lewis who is National Life Chairman of the Muscular Dystrophy Association of America.

Lewis was in Dallas and Fort Worth making personal appearances in connection with his newest picture, "The Delicate Delinquent," when he had Debbie and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Billy J. Dixon, flown in a helicopter to the Western Hills Hotel where he named her to the national honor, and posed with her for pictures as she sat in her wheel chair.

Debbie is a pretty red-haired, green-eyed little girl who cannot live, doctors say.

Last Christmas, when a piece appeared in the Times about Debbie, it was stated that she liked to receive pretty cards through the mail. Later it was revealed by Debbie's mother that 163 people in Ranger had sent her a Christmas card.

All teams held their places in the Little League Standings after the games Monday night which resulted in the Giants defeating the Dodgers 13-10, and the Indians defeating the Yankees 17-15.

As a result of their loss to the Giants, however, the Dodgers are now three games off the pace instead of two, as they were before Monday night's contest. The Indians remain one game away from a tie for first place.

Although the Giants won 13-10, there were moments Monday night when the Dodgers seemed ready to snatch the victory, but it was Giants held them off. Dennis Holmes, center fielder for the Dodgers, snatched a home run with two on. Jones started and was relieved by Peterson in the 4th. Lockwood pitched all the way for the Giants. The Indians just barely did squeak by the Yankees with a slim 2 run margin. Huerta started for the Yankees and was relieved by T. Townzen in the 3rd. Garcia started for the Indians and was relieved by Owens in the 2nd.

Box score in the Giant-Dodger game was as follows:

 Dear Norman:
 I have been informed there is some misunderstanding about the purity of the water in our Frank A. Gray Memorial Park Swimming Pool.
 I appreciate the fact that last year our water was low and we did close the pool on account of the drought, but this was a year ago.
 I am enclosing an article published in our paper recently. If you can run an item on this I will consider it a personal favor.
 (The article reads:)
 "The Frank A. Gray Memorial Park swimming pool water has been tested by local and State Department Health Laboratories and found to contain no coliform organisms which means that the water is of good bacteriological quality and no organisms found in sewage, or other disease producing organisms were found in the analysis."
 "A regular consecutive water analysis will continue to be taken to assure the public that the water will be of good bacteriological quality at all times."

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

The judge has many duties in a trial.
 He sees that it goes in an orderly way and according to the rules—in selecting the jury, presenting evidence, hearing the lawyers' arguments, instructing the jury, and bringing in the verdict.
 Before the trial starts, the judge sees that the questions put to prospective jurors are proper. He excuses jurors. He must see to the proper conduct of the litigants, lawyers and witnesses. He must put down public disturbances.
 The judge must see that the lawyers keep within due limits in questioning witnesses, in arguing to the jury, and in their attitudes toward each other and the judge.
 The judge tells the jurors their duties and what questions of fact to decide. He instructs them on what law controls the rights of the parties. He sees that the verdict is due in form. He must decide any requests for rulings by lawyers.
 For example, after the plaintiff's lawyer has made his opening statement or presented his evidence, the defendant's lawyer may move for a judgment of "nonsuit."
 This motion grants the plaintiff's facts but denies their cogency as a matter of law. If granted, the motion will not allow the plaintiff to recover judgment.
 A directed verdict also ends the case before the jury can decide it. It is a decision by the court on a question of law. Either plaintiff or defendant may concede the facts but deny, as a matter of law, their power to sustain the other party's case.
 A judge may render a "judgment notwithstanding the verdict" after the jury has brought in its verdict, when he should have granted, but mistakenly denied, a directed verdict.
 The judge now and then may rule on the law and thereby take the suit out of the jury's hands. His ruling in no way reflects on the jury, but works to keep down needless litigation. When he does this he usually expresses the sincere thanks of the court for the time of the jury in standing ready to do its work.

Goat Future Looks Good In Texas

College Station.—The future looks pretty good for Texas goat producers. Many farmers and ranchers are now combining sheep, cattle and goats on the same range and getting better weight gains with higher monetary returns.
 Selection of heavier-fleeced bucks for breeding herds has increased the average mohair clip three-fourths of a pound in 12 years, says Agricultural Economist John McNeely. Value of 1955 mohair, estimated at 13.6 million dollars, compared very well with the 19.9 million dollars for Texas wool.
 Texas' goat supply is seasonal and most producers market culls and undesirable regardless of price at the time. There seems to be no short term production or marketing response to high or low prices. Farmers buy or sell goats because of range conditions and mohair price. Packers vary purchases with the spread between goat prices and canner and cutter caws.
 About 47 percent of Texas producers sell some goats to neighbors or individual buyers, but over half the total annual volume passes through stockyards and auctions. About 27 percent market goats through livestock auctions and approximately 20 percent use the Union Stockyards San Antonio. Marketing season starts in March and April and is relatively steady through July, but a larger volume is marketed in August, September and October.
 Spanish goats are produced for meat, brush control or slaughter and stocker sales. Angora goats are raised primarily for the production and sale of mohair, but are also useful for brush control and eventually are sold for slaughter.
 Details of the Texas goat situation, compiled largely from a mailed questionnaire sent to farmers and ranchmen in the Texas goat raising areas, are available from the Agricultural Information Office at College Station. Ask for Bulletin 844.

 resources of relatives of persons who apply for aid.

The "permanency" and "totality" of the disability will be determined by a State reviewing physician after study of a complete physical or mental examination by the person's own private physician. Complete helplessness from a medical standpoint, rather than inability to work, is the criteria.

The state will pay the private physician for his examination. Funds for assistance payments will not be available until Sept. 1, but applications will be taken after July 15. While the helpless individual will not be able to leave home, the persons responsible for

Other players had become so snooty an account of their press notices that they felt aloof from other members of the team, and as a result of this his buddies would have nothing to do with him and the club was raked with disension.

Then we've tried the other line by telling the players they were the sloppiest bunch of athletes ever to put on a uniform with the result that some of them believed that, too, and quit showing up for practice before the season was under way good.

So, long ago we decided to stick with reporting the straight facts as they were, untarnished and unblemished. To say that Ranger has a weak ball club this year is telling the truth. But that does not mean the Bulldogs will not win a lot of ballgames. To spread the news that Ranger was again going deep into the state finals would be to spread a lot of joy that isn't here. However, we hope they do.

As for the fans supporting the Bulldogs, long ago before we ever came to West Texas, we heard talk all over the state that Ranger was the most avid football town in the West. We haven't missed very many Ranger people from the ball games, and we have been to many out of town games, personally, where more people from Ranger were in the stands than there were from the other team's home town.

No coach in his right mind, not even Bud Wikerson of the University of Oklahoma, is going to come out in advance of a season, or even a game, and announce that he is going to win. It just isn't done, and when a coach fails to do so it certainly does not indicate that he has no confidence in his team.

For anyone to say that Ranger does not support the Bulldogs, is to make an irresponsible statement of the first order, and we would not want to sign our name to it, either.

 amount. Commissioner's Carter and B. M. Bennett of Gorman voted for the motion, Commissioners J. B. (Tip) Arther of Precinct 1 (Eastland, Ranger and Olden) voted against it and Commissioner J. E. McClanlies of Cisco declined to vote. Thus the motion passed.

Arther then made a motion that the three constables whose pay was slashed get a $25 raise, which put them back up to the $75 figure where they started. All commissioners but Carter voted yes.

The Court inserted the required legal advertisement Thursday in The Rising Star Record. Apparently a new vote on the matter will have to be taken place Monday, July 22, when the next meeting of the Court is to be held.
