Olden Woman Bound And Gagged by Pair

By NORMAN WRIGHT

Jack Nunnery, who conducts the Suburban Editor program each Sunday morning at 10:30 over station WBAF, Fort Worth, has long been a booster of the country editor, or the home town newspaper editor as many people call him, but he has seldom got around to saying anything about the heroic women who are married to these guys.

This distasteful side of the fence was heard from quite recently at a meeting of the Idaho Press Association during which a young lady named Doris Young, who beyond doubt, must have been one of the wives, addressed the ladies of the Idaho Association on the trials and tribulations of being married to a country editor.

Doris started out her speech by asking how it was that a girl ever got trapped into marrying one of them in the first place, and then she answered her own question.

"Of course," she said, "when we were merely a student of journalism, with hair yet, and a girl could day-dream of being Mrs. Ed Sullivan or Mrs. Walter Winchell, so we marry the guy. "But, unfortunately," the lady continues, "every reporter, every news editor, every advertising manager or every printer's devil has a compelling urge one day to publish or edit his own weekly newspaper. And the day he does, my dear fellow sisters, you've had it!"

Mrs. Young then goes on to say, "Women who listened to their mothers and married farmers, doctors, salesmen or ditchdiggers lead normal lives. They have babies, raise them, cook, clean house, wash, iron, mend and things like that. But if you are married to a country editor, he expects you to do those little things left-handed, and in your spare time you're supposed to call for locals, type news stories, read proofs, take care of subscriptions, write a column, do the bookkeeping, send out bills, sell a few ads and make hard-to-get collections.

"It is understood, naturally, that these small gestures come under the head of 'wifely duties' so you do not get paid.

"Considering the quantity and variety of work available," Mrs. Young continues, "it would be very practical for a newspaper couple to produce at least twelve children for future help. And if they don't, we can only conclude that they couldn't find the time."

At this point, Mrs. Young interjects some snide comments on the frustration of cooking hot meals, and eating 'em cold, hours afterwards. And how the town council, school board and four-alarm fires come to inhibit one's social life.

Mrs. Young says she has gained three things being the wife of a country editor, her wrinkles, her circles and her nickname, which is (Continued on Page Four)

An Olden woman was left bound and gagged Sunday night by two intruders who broke into her home and ransacked the place. The two men were wearing women's hose pulled down over their faces and gloves on their hands.

Eastland County Sheriff J. B. Williams identified the woman as Mrs. C. A. Yarborough, who lives on old Highway 80 which runs through the community, which is located between Eastland and

Police Blotter Cleanest Piece Of Paper In Town

The Ranger City Police blotter, upon which is recorded all the errand ways of everybody in Ranger caught doing what they're not supposed to be doing, didn't have a scratch on it Monday morning for either Saturday or Sunday.

One glance at the blotter and a person can tell instantly what sort of day or night or week-end the town has been through. Everything from grass fires to unlocked doors at places of business, on up through the entire range of crime, is recorded on the blotter if it happens in Ranger, and there weren't any cleaner pieces of paper in town than the blotters for Saturday and Sunday.

Nothing happened.

All Heat Records Tied Monday With Official 107 Dgs.

If thermometers in Ranger were anywhere near what they were in Dallas, all heat records for July 29 were either tied or broken Monday.

The weather bureau at Love Field in Dallas reported an official temperature of 107 degrees in that city Monday and said it tied its all-time high record for July 29 which was set in 1944.

Readings in Ranger ran from 102 to 105 and higher, depending on where the thermometers were located. One downtown thermometer on the sunny side of the street at 3 p.m., registered 106 degrees, and it was every bit that, if not more, at that particular spot.

Sick and Tired of Scattered Shower Weather Forecast

Checking back over issues of the Times for the past month we have found that hardly a day has passed without scattered showers or scattered thunderstorms being predicted by the weather bureau.

Checking up on our rain record for the same period we find that we haven't recorded a drop within the city, as no real measurable amount has fallen.

We are therefore getting sick and tired of printing "Scattered Showers," then putting on our raincoat and going out to stand by the rain gauge.

If all sections of the county were being judged according to the rain that had fallen in Ranger, things would be looking pretty dark, but happily, most of the big peanut country received some good showers last week. However, every inch of the county could use a good flood right now.

Suit Filed Against Gorman Peanut Co.

Hollywood Brands, Inc., has filed a breach of contract suit for $18,233.64 in Federal District Court in Abilene against the Gorman Peanut Company of Gorman, which has been learned here.

Hollywood Brands, Inc., a Minnesota corporation doing business in Centralia, Ill., alleges in the suit that about Aug. 1, 1956, it entered into a contract with Gorman Peanut Company to buy half-million pounds of peanuts.

The plaintiff alleges the Gorman company shipped only 210,434 of the half million pounds. The

Mrs. Yarborough said the two men broke into her home about 10 Sunday night. She said they forced her arms behind her back, tied her hands and feet with strings pulled from a bed spread, and pushed a gag in her mouth. She related how she watched the two men then proceed to rip up her house, going through drawers and apparently looking for some unknown object. Sheriff Williams and Chief Deputy Sheriff Johnny Boyd ruled out routine burglary since the intruders left about $11 in her purse untouched.

Mrs. Yarborough said she was terrified when she saw the two men. "They looked like animals," she declared. Sheriff Williams, who is conducting a full investigation, said the hose trick is often used to hide identities. "It could have been someone she knows well," he stated, "and she still wouldn't be able to identify him." Williams pointed out that a person can see out of the hose, but that it is almost impossible to see in it.

The Sheriff told a reporter that this wasn't the first time the Yarborough home has been broken into. He said his department had received other complaints recently.

Mrs. Yarborough finally worked partially loose from her bonds after the two men left and crawled to a window. Her screams attracted a neighbor, Pete Rogers, who freed her. Her husband was not at home when the intruders broke in.

Highway Patrolmen Les Strawn and Alfred White were first to reach the scene. Sheriff's officers arrived soon after to take over the investigation.

The Yarboroughs could give no reason why anyone would break into their home. Mrs. Yarborough was not injured.

Star-Telegram Brags On Ranger Amputee Game

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram, in its Page One Column entitled "This Is West Texas, acknowledged in its Monday issue the big crowd of Ranger people who turned out for the Amputee Softball Game played here recently for benefit of the Little League.

Barney Capshaw, who is a T&P engineer and the organizer and president of the Amputees, left his beating drums for Ranger after he had seen the crowd at the game and noted the collection. He evidently beat them loud enough in Fort Worth that the Telegram took note of it, saying the "biggest baseball crowd in years" gathered for the game.

The Amputees are anxious to come back here again next year, and Little League officials are just as anxious to have them. Following the benefit game here, several Ranger Dads and Mamas took the amputees and their wives out to dinner at El Rancho. The Amputees said they had never been given a nicer reception anywhere.

Rotary Governor Coming Wed.

Dr. A. W. Brazda, president of the Ranger Rotary Club, wishes to remind all members that District Governor W. T. Walton will have charge of the program here Wednesday. All members are urged to be present and a 100 per cent attendance is desired, if possible.

FOR SUPERIOR PERFORMANCE

Martin Receives ASC Recognition

Everett F. Martin, county performance supervisor for the Eastland County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, this week received a certificate of merit and a check for $100 for "superior performance of field work from July 1, 1955 to May 1, 1957."

The certificate was presented by L. F. Bain of Stephenville, fieldman for the ASC State Office, and L. L. Womack of College Station, of the State ASC office. Martin, who has been employed by the County ASC office since 1940, was recommended for the award by Emmett Powell, county office manager. He began as an assistant to the performance supervisor, and in 1947 was appointed performance supervisor.

In July, 1955, Powell became ill and was absent from the office until October, the official report reads. "Fourteen reporters had been employed and partially trained for the job of measuring the planted acres of allment crops on 1300 peanut farms and 750 cotton farms. When the office manager became ill Mr. Martin assumed full responsibility for the measuring and completing the training of the reporters. When it became evident that some of the reporters could not perform the work in a satisfactory manner, they were dismissed. Mr. Martin secured and trained other reporters so that the work would continue on schedule. He, at the same time, was supervising the ACP work. There were several contractors working on oak control on range land and Mr. Martin had to make the preliminary and final inspections for this practice while supervising and spot-checking the contractors.

"Mr. Martin's thorough knowledge of the ACP program, both from the contractor's standpoint and the performance regulations, enables him to complete his work in one-third less time than is required of other performance supervisors.

"Through Mr. Martin's untiring efforts and long hours of work, the measuring of allment crop was finished 10 days ahead of schedule and with the same high standard of accuracy that is so essential to this work. Not only did Mr. Martin supervise the actual field work, he maintained an understanding relationship between the producers, reporters, contractors and office personnel, which made the work easier and more pleasant for all concerned.

"When the Soil Bank program was started in the summer of 1956, Mr. Martin became familiar with the details of the program. In the measuring and supervising of the average reserve he was able to be of great service to the farmers in explaining all the details and requirements of the program. "When the Conservation Reserve program began Mr. Martin checked all the farms that had a conservation reserve contract. Being familiar with the requirements of the program and at the same time knowing the farming conditions of the county, he was very valuable in working out a program with the producer that would fit his particular conservation reserve acreage problems.

"The Acreage Reserve and Conservation Reserve Programs were just extra to Mr. Martin kept up the other work of crop measuring and supervising ACP practices.

"Mr. Martin has conducted his work over the past years in such a high standard of accuracy and efficiency that he has never received an unfavorable report from an audit or from a performance supervisor from the State office."

James Lee Eakin, 15, Killed Enroute Here To Visit Relatives

James Lee Michael Eakin, 15, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Eakin of Ranger, was killed instantly Saturday near Kenedy, Texas, in what has been described as one of the worst accidents in Texas history when nine people were killed in a head-on collision.

James Lee, who had been living with his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Moas, of Loganside, was being taken by the Moas family to Kerrville where they were going to carry out an annual custom, which was putting James on a bus to visit his grandparents in Ranger.

The Moas car, a brand new 1957 model which was making its first trip anywhere, was in a head-on collision with another car on an open stretch of highway on a bright, dry afternoon, and everybody in it was killed including

City Comes Out OK On First Month Of Low Water Rates

City Manager Lester Crossley said today the City of Ranger "came out OK" on its first month of operation during which the low water rates were in effect for some 100 or more residents who agreed up to take advantage of them.

During the first month, having had no previous experience with such a deal, the City didn't know whether it was going to make money, go broke, or what on the water situation.

"Actually, we made a little money," Crossley said. Crossley said if all the water used during the Month of July had been charged for at its regular rate, with nobody getting any discounts of any kind, the City would have taken in only $226 more than it actually took in with the rates in effect.

"However, you must remember that we were getting 20 per cent more in a hundred or more cases," Crossley said, "and that more than made up the difference, and at the same time we were buying some of the water pretty cheap."

The City Manager said the outcome of the first month showed that Ranger citizens who had signed up for the low rates, and who were technically qualified to run their faucets 24 hours a day without even having their meters read, were quite considerate.

"Most of them showed restraint," he said, "in their use of water and none of them tried to abuse the privilege."

Crossley did say there was one man, however, who used 157,000 gallons. "How he did it is the mystery of the age," Crossley said, "because we didn't think it was possible for a whole block of houses to use that much, much less one man."

In a series of articles written by District Scout Executive Vail A. Hinkle, and distributed by Comanche Trail Council Area, Mr. Hinkle asks "What Is Boy Scouting?" and answers the question in the following piece:

So often we hear terms such as "Scouts Honor," "Be Prepared," "Do a Good Turn Daily," and others which are definitely connected with Boy Scouting. Yet how many of us know just what it is and these phrases and what they stand for? Certainly every one of us know a Boy Scout when we see him in uniform—but what does that uniform stand for? Is it the Scout Oath and Law? Is it the Cub Promise or the Explorer Citizenship Pledge? Just what is "Boy Scouting?"

Scouting is known to boys as a game and something to do to have fun. Surely Scouting is a game—a game with a purpose. That purpose may not be so noticeable to the boy—he only knows he has fun scouting. The purpose—to help men of today build men for tomorrow. In our modern day world we live at such a rapid pace that we are often unable to do the things with our boys that we would like to. Scouting gives our boys the opportunity to have the fun that we are unable to give them. Scouting directs this fun in such a way that it gives our boys citizenship training, character building, and physical development. All this is done by doing things the boy enjoys doing. Throughout the program of Scouting. (Continued on Page Four)

Ranger squeaked by Eastland, 4-3, and the Brownwood Nationals slaughtered the Brownwood American League All-Stars, 19-4, last night in first round play of the Area 1 Little League Tournament at Wright Field in Eastland.

The Ranger-Eastland game was nip and tuck all the way. Ranger's ability to get out of trouble probably being the difference. The Nats, who went into the game heralded as the team with pitching but little hitting, proceeded to blast the supposed to be hard-hitting American League out of the park and never let up through four pitchers.

Tonight Ranger meets Cisco in the featured game of the tourney. The Cisco team drew a first round bye and the Brownwood Nationals drew a bye into the finals, which will be played Wednesday night. Eastland and the Brownwood Americans got things underway tonight at 6 in consolation play. The Cisco-Ranger game is slated for 7:30.

Ranger's Donald Gore gave up seven hits and his teammates committed five errors, but when things got the blackest they played their best. Gore went all the way for the victory, while Larry Howell was the loser. Howell also was touched for seven hits.

Twice Eastland loaded the bases in the game, and twice Ranger got out of the situation with little damage inflicted. In the first frame the visiting team got a lone tally after Carrol Jowers led off with a single. Howell got the next two men, but then David Lockwood pounded out a hard hit single to drive Jowers to third. Jowers then scored on an error by the plate.

Eastland tied the score in the bottom of the inning, however. Cliff Thomas smashed out a double as lead off man, and Tommy Beck sent him to third on an error. Ranger then deliberately walked hard hitting Bubba Hunt to load the bases with none away. Gore then got the next three men to face him, but not before Eddie Cooper had sacrificed home Thomas to tie the score.

Neither team could score in the second frame. Then in the top of the third with two away Charlie De Los Santos smashed Howell's offering over the left field fence for a home run, Eastland matched that, however, as Tommy Beck (Continued On Page Four)

Services For Mrs. Norman Zahn To Be Wednesday

Funeral services for Mrs. Norman Zahn, 71, of Strawn, will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. at Baum-Carlack Funeral Home in Mineral Wells. Mrs. Zahn died Monday.

She is survived by her husband and one brother, F. O. Stokes, of Mineral Wells, and a large number of nieces and nephews.

Two Oil Tests Staked In Arec During Week

Two new wildcat oil tries have been staked in Eastland County. H. R. Emerson of Cisco will drill the No. 2, C. V. Fox 6 1/2 miles south of Ranger on a 100 acre lease. It offsets a 1200 foot depleted production well. Location is 1050 feet from the south line and 200 feet from the east line of subdivision 28, McLeannan, DSL Survey No. 2. Proposed depth is 1250 feet with casing tools.

W. G. Foret No. 1 is being put down by Harding Bros. of Dallas. The try is six miles northeast of Eastland on a 160 acre lease, one-fourth of a mile north of a marginal producer. Location is 1650 feet from the east line and 1090 feet from the south line of Section 9, Block 4, H&TC Survey. Proposed depth is 2400 feet with rotary.

Turn a Task-Force truck loose on a tough haul and you've got it made. You've got a truck that'll stay and save on any job!

From that big six-wheeler, above, right down the line, Chevrolet trucks offer the most advanced hour- and dollar-saving features you'll find anywhere. Chevy pickups, for example, offer high-capacity bodies up to 108 inches long with no wheelhousing bulges in the payload area. They bring you the latest in cab comfort, too, with many de luxe features at no extra cost.

Then look at Chevrolet's advanced truck V8's. These modern, lean-muscle engines are standard equipment in heavyweights and most middleweights. Here are super-efficient V8's with the short-stroke piston under any truck hood. Right off, that means less wear, less money going out for upkeep. If you specify a 6-cylinder Task-Force engine, you're sure of the thriftiest brand of truck power money can buy.

Your Chevrolet dealer's the man with the details. See him and start a Task-Force hauler saving on your job right away.

"Old Cheerful!"

"I do sincerely hope your domestic situation is different from mine," she says. Perhaps you'd be 'Old Cheerful' too if your husband came home at night to find bookkeeping spread all over three rooms, your typewriter smoking, and you with your tongue hanging out, and said: 'Isn't supper ready yet?' ... Dusted lately? ... What have you been DOING all day?"

Well, there you are, Mr. Nunnery. You see what us editors have to put up with. As if there were not enough things to worry about, what with Civil Rights, Federal Aid to Education, Disarmament, Clean Bombs, and all that stuff, we now have this subversive propaganda being hurled at us by our wives, whom we have always considered the happiest women in the world. If they are now going to allow other things besides the paper to assume any importance in their lives, the country newspaper, bulwark of the nation's moral strength, is damaged.

Come to think of it, maybe we had better tell the little woman to take the rest of the day off—and buy a new hat. We're going to need her pretty bad, tomorrow.

YOU HAVE A PHONE and so do we, No. 224. Call us about any news you may run across. Always happy to hear from you.

Ranger Nips—

took a one and two count and then knocked the longest ball ever hit over the right field of the Eastland park. Thus at the end of three it was two-all.

The fourth inning was a big one for Ranger. Bobby Owens reached first on an error and Bato Jiminez scored him with a double. Vern Peterson then singled home Jiminez. Eastland got out of the hole with their second double play of the night.

The tourney host team didn't score in the fourth, but in the fifth frame loaded the bases again. Hunter got on via an error, and Gary Graham walked. Cooper got on with a fielders choice, forcing out Hunter at third. Then Beck singled to load the bases. Graham came on home on an error at home plate, then Ranger pulled off a double play of their own to stop the fireworks. That was all the scoring.

Brownwood Battle

It looked like a battle for a while in the second game, but the Brownwood Nats had too much power for their rival Brownwood team, the Americans.

It was three up, three down for both teams in the first inning. The Americans couldn't score in the second frame, but the Nats got four off as many hits. Phillip Fenlon smashed a three run homer to get the scoring started, and then Benny Ellodge, batting right behind him, blasted another out of the park to make it 4-0.

The Americans tied it up in the third, though. Four hits in a row gave the losers as many runs before fast-baller Eddie Daniels, the winning pitcher, could put out the fire. That was all the scoring for the Americans, however, as Dan-rever got in trouble again.

The Nats were just started. They got a single run in the third and 12 in the fourth. James Scott and James Bunnell both had home runs in that hectic inning. In the fifth the Nationals got two more runs to cinch the affair.

District Scout—

ing the boy is taught to be faithful in his religious obligation to God.

The boys in scouting are led by volunteer men who are dedicated to the job they are doing for our boys. Men whose purpose is not self-glorification, but rather the development of boys into citizens. Their reward is not monetary—rather it is in the satisfaction of seeing todays youth, who get a Scouting start, develop into the kind of citizen that America can be proud of.
