PRICE FIVE CENTS

A Small City with Big Industry - A Bright Spot for New Industry

RANGER, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1957

Fall "Bargain Days" Start Tomorrow Bulldogs Open Friday p. m. Against Merkle

One Of Only 4 Games to Be Played at Home

The Ranger High School Bulldogs, which wound up in a tie for second place in District 7-AA last year, will begin their 1957 football season Friday night at Bulldog Stadium in a game with Merkle, and it will be one of only four games to be played at home the entire year.

With such a short "at home" season, it is hoped that Ranger fans will support the Bulldogs to the limit by turning out for the four games in Bulldog Stadium in record-breaking droves. As a special inducement, the school is offering season tickets for the four games for an even $1.00 each, or four games for $4.00. Tickets may be bought at the school office at the bargain rate, while tickets bought at the gate will be $1.25 each, straight.

Last year the experts picked the Bulldogs as co-dwellers in the cellar with Cisco, only to see them keep climbing until they wound up the season tied for second place. This year the Bulldogs are not even honored with a cellar plate by the experts. They are picked to wind up in the cellar exclusively, and it is hoped the experts are handed as big a surprise as they were last year.

There is no question but what the Bulldogs lost heavily by graduation. Gone is Paul Hinds who won all-state honorable mention as a quarterback and who scored 118 of Ranger's 219 points. Gone also are three other All 7-AA performers in the persons of tackle John Hagaman, guard Dan Cruse and end Jerry Cantrell.

The Bulldogs have only seven lettermen returning and their chief loss this year is that they have an all-letterman backfield. This includes fullback David Wharton, a three-year letterman, who should be Ranger's star performer this year. There are also quarterback Lee King and halfbacks Charles Wolford and Jerry Basham, and Jerry Underwood, a 165-pound

Park Free all Day Saturday in Ranger

Ranger merchants invite everybody from everywhere, who has any shopping to do on Friday and Saturday, to DO IT IN RANGER! Friday and Saturday initiates the first of Ranger's Fall Bargain Days to be held on the first Friday and Saturday in each month from now through December.

One of the many conveniences offered to shoppers who come to Ranger on Saturday is Free Parking everywhere — none of the parking meters in downtown Ranger will be checked all day Saturday, and shoppers can park free anywhere they can find a place.

Employees Asked Not to Park At Meters Saturday

The Trade Extension Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, which arranged with the City Commission to declare a parking holiday Saturday for benefit of shoppers coming to Ranger, has asked that employees in Ranger stores, as well as store owners, please refrain from parking their own cars at the free meters.

Also as a special feature of Bargain Days, every store in town is taking advantage of the opportunity to raise the curtain on their new Fall lines of merchandise, whether it be clothing or home furnishings, and food stores have prepared some very special offerings for the two big days.

Many stores throughout the city are also offering many special Bargain Day features in brand new and timely items of merchandise that are being offered here in many years. Merchandise has prepared for a banner season between now and Christmas and they are certainly prepared to "deliver the goods" in quantity and quality at live and let live prices.

First It's Comet; Now Ranger Sees Aurora Borealis

Mrs. E. H. Bobo, a teacher in Young School, was the first to call the Times this morning about seeing the Aurora Borealis in the northern skies Wednesday night about 10 o'clock.

All stores are prepared to extend a very special welcome to both local and area shoppers over the weekend, and will take pleasure in helping them fill their needs profitably, or will welcome them just to shop and look around.

Record Crowds Swarm Lake Leon

A check-up with camp owners around Lake Leon shows that record crowds invaded the lake over the weekend and Labor Day. They were fishing, boating, skiing, picnicking and plain laying around the shade enjoying themselves doing nothing.

Opening Pep Rally Scheduled Tonight

Students of Ranger High School and the 62-Piece Ranger High School Marching Band in full uniform, will stage their traditional pep rally tonight at 7:30 in front of the Gholson Hotel signaling the opening of another football season and wishing the Ranger Bulldogs Godspeed as they open the 1957 campaign against the Merkle

EASTLAND COUNTY HISTORY REVIEW Frontier Pushed West

(Editor's Note: This is the thirteenth in a series of articles taken from the book, "History of Eastland County, Texas," written by Mrs. George Langston in 1904.)

The Moving Frontier Line
The line of settlements in Eastland County did not change for several years, but the force and power of the constantly increasing flow of human beings from the other States, which was stopped temporarily in the populated centers by the civil strife and the war of the Indian in the West—could no longer be checked.

1860 there were 99 inhabitants in Eastland County and in 1870 only 88 (including women and children.) The conditions prevailing at that time in this section will more readily be appreciated. From Mr. Brashear's letter it will be seen that the frontier line of 1863 still existed in 1872, one year before the County was organized, and was marked by Flanagan's Ranch, McGough Springs, and Jewel. Although the increase in population in one year was sufficient to organize the county as recorded in the following chapter, yet the name of no man has been discovered who located west of the line above referred to prior to 1872.

It is pleasant to note, however, that once the County was organized and its possibilities known, a steady influx of people began. In 1873 scarcely the 75 required number of voters could be found in 1875, when the county town was permanently located at Eastland City, there were 123 voters, and in 1880 the census gave 4955 as the population of the County.

The Rev. C. Brashears, who came to the county in the autumn 1872, writes of the conditions existing at that time: "Six families at or near McGough Springs, three families at Jansker Lake, one settlement at 'Lannagan's', consisting of a cow hand and one family; another on South Palo Creek of two or more families; these, with two families in Sabanno, three at Ellison's Spring, and three or four at Desbonna, made up the entire population of Eastland County when it came here.

This was the frontier line pushed farther and farther west, and the civilization of the Virginians, Carolines, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi found among this moving throng, tipping to see across and venture on and on as the line trode westward.

Mr. Bates was superintendent of the gas department of Southern Union Gas Co., in the Farmington area.

"This was a fine stock country. Game was plentiful—such as bear, wolf, deer, turkey, buffalo, a few panther, wildcat, catamount, fox, opossum, skunk and Indian. There were wild berries here at that time by number of cattle. This was a fine new country as there was a heavy mast. Hogs were plentiful."

During this period, 1873-1881, the old line of settlements was wiped out. Six families (names given elsewhere,) stopped in the Rising Star country; Major Mann, who had to go 18 miles to McGough Springs for his mail (which Postmaster Father McGough kept in a shoe-box under his bed), settled at Nimrod, and lives on the land he first purchased; R. F. Weddington grazed his cattle in the northwestern part of the County, as also did his neighbors, Charmed Hightower, Billy Stevens, John Crown, Bill Hilly and Joe Dennis and Joe Funk. Mr. Drake and sons settled lower down the Leon.

In the Cisco County were Messrs. N. Danvers, W. B. Cobb, Albert Stephens, Robert and Stuart Cone, N. Turkoette, John Davis, Josh and John Morris, Lucy Rhoads, Hanson, Townsend, T. E. Johnson, J. J. Wallace, J. P. Montgomery, John Lane, O. H. Lovelady, Frank Young, B. L. Pate, J. P. Loony, M. V. Palmer, Jim Carls and M. B. Owens.

ABUSE OF WATER PRIVILEGE

One Customer Uses 262,000 Gallons

Month before last the Ranger City Commission was stunned when one water customer who had signed up for the bargain rates used 356,000 gallons.

262,000 gallons the last reading will probably reach a half-million this next time if he can get that much through his taps.

Letters To Editor

Editor Ranger Times
My Dear Friend:

You mentioned 19 laws passed this last session of the Legislature in Texas. You don't mean to tell us we are going to discard the law requiring a majority vote of the people before a school can be integrated, and that a school so integrating would lose all state support unless such an election were held?

I hope you are not one of the publishers who has bowed to the mistaken idea that the Supreme Court is the law of the land, and anything they say is law.

Anyway, this should give the states a gimmick to interpose the Supreme Court's decision, and if John Ben Shepperd was still Attorney General he would carry it through regardless of political pressure, but I am afraid the present Attorney General is a politician playing the field until he finds out which number the gimmick on the wheel favors—in other words which party is the strongest.

Mac Cheshire
Cisco, Texas

Editor's Note: When we wrote the column on August 29 about the "ten new laws" we said then the column was late and should have appeared on August 22, because that was the date when those particular laws were put into effect. We were, therefore, talking only about the ten laws that went into effect THAT DAY, and not any other laws. Yes, we most certainly know about the law requiring a majority vote of the people before a school can integrate, and think it one of the best laws ever passed in Texas.

Newspaper staffs have a lot more members than they used to have. When I "broke in", the Memphis Commercial Appeal had, if my memory is correct, only seven reporters—not counting me, as I was working only for experience. The city editor was Arthur Forbes; and the assistant city editor was Fred Bencke, but he worked mainly as a reporter. Tom Fauntleroy was the "star" reporter. George Fossick had the courthouse run. Pat Brown was on the federal building and river assignment—and the river in those days teamed with steamboats. (He was hard of hearing but that did not seem to handicap him.) The police reporter was named Penney. He resigned right after that with the announcement that he was going to Muskogee to work for a millionaire oil man—at $50 a week! (This was more than double his salary as a reporter.) The seventh reporter was named Neeley.

Seven reporters to record the activities of a city of 150,000! And for the South's greatest newspaper, too.

I became a salaried member of the staff as the result of a combination of circumstances: Penney's resignation; Neeley's taking a leave to handle the publicity for Congressman Kenneth McKellar in his successful race for the United States Senate, and the arrival of the summer vacation season.

The newspaper's society department had two members: they were the city editor's daughters. Herbert Caldwell and Al Wilson comprised the sports department. Bill Adler was telegraph editor; Ned Courtney was tri-state editor and George McCormack, the night editor, also aided on the copy desk. The editor was C. P. J. Mooney.

We reporters wrote the headlines for our own stories—though, in our enthusiasm, we might make some they were cut down. We worked six days a week and we worked until we got through, a minimum of 10 hours a day.

The paper also had a market editor (T. Q. Galbreath); a drama editor, Hugh Huhn, who also wrote some of the editorials; and there was a cartoonist, J. P. Alley, creator of "Hambone." Also the paper had one photographer—but he didn't work full-time. There was the days!

Betty Lou Hagaman Becomes Bride of Thomas R. Doebbler

Miss Betty Lou Hagaman became the bride of Thomas R. Doebbler Saturday evening, Aug. 31, at 7:30 o'clock at St. Rita's Catholic Church in Ranger.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Leslie H. Hagaman and the late Mr. Hagaman of Ranger, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doebbler of San Antonio.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Father Boeman, priest at St. Rita's Catholic Church, amid baskets of white gladioli.

Miss Mary Frances Higgenbotham, organist, and Mrs. D. D. Pickrell, violinist, played "Ave Maria" and "I Love Thee." The organist played "Liberaum" preceding the ceremony, and also the traditional wedding marches.

Shower Honors Recent Bride

The house was decorated with arrangements of white fuchsia.

The bride is a graduate of Ranger High School, Stephens College in Columbia, Missouri, and a cum laude graduate in drama from the University of Texas where she was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority and drama organizations.

The bridegroom, who is at present working with the U. S. Coast Guard, is a graduate of Brackenridge High School, San Antonio, and studied architectural engineering at the University of Texas.

The couple will make their home at Freeport, Texas.

Have You Bought Your Lake Leon Licenses Yet?

If you haven't bought your new Lake Leon fishing and boating licenses yet, don't go out there without them, as the old ones expired August 31.

Fishing licenses are $5.00 per year which will admit a man and his wife and all children under the age of 17 years, and may be obtained almost anywhere that sporting goods are sold.

Boating licenses may be obtained only from Ed Richardson, caretaker at the dam, because he must make certain inspections of the boats to see if they measure up to requirements. Boating licenses are also $5.00.

At the same time State hunting and fishing licenses are subject to renewal, as of right now, for all persons between the ages of 17 and 65 who hunt or fish outside their home counties. Hunting license is $3.15 and fishing license is $2.15.

Licenses are also required for salt water fishing. Tourist licenses are reduced this year to the same as residents, $2.15. They may be obtained from wardens, county clerks and some sporting goods stores.

Shower Honors Recent Bride

Mrs. Jack Blackwell, of Eastland, recent bride, was complimented by a miscellaneous shower Tuesday, September 3, in the home of Miss Sue Garrett, 509 Page Street, Ranger. Hostesses for the occasion were Misses Garrett, Linda Shaffer, Pat Gallagher, Paula Angus, Deanne Hazard, Helen Carroll, Carolyn Weaver, and Dorothy Needham.

An arrangement of white carnations, centered with a bridal doll, was placed on a table in the living room. Guests were registered in a white guest book.

Shower Honors Recent Bride

Mrs. Blackwell, the former Miss Dorothy Eppley, and her husband will reside in Arlington where Mr. Blackwell will attend Arlington State College this fall.

Gifts were displayed under a pink and white shower tree.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a pressure cooker.

Arterburn Buyers Select Gifts From Southwest's Biggest Gift Show

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Arterburn, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Arterburn and Mrs. E. N. Varner spent Sunday and Monday in Dallas attending the Southwest's Greatest Gift Show, and buying new gifts for their store.

The show was being held in the Baker Hotel, the Adolphus Hotel, the Merchandise Mart and in the beautiful, new Memorial Auditorium in Dallas.

The Arterburns and Mrs. Varner bought merchandise in all four places and said that never before had they seen such an array of gifts as were presented this year.

Scores of new makers and new lines of gifts were offered, and the Dallas show, which attracted 6,000 buyers last year, doubled in size this year with 12,000 buyers attending.

Arterburn's in Ranger is fast becoming one of the outstanding stores in the area, including Eastland county and many counties surrounding. As a gift center, it is far and away the finest place in Eastland county, and shoppers come here from every section of the county for the express purpose of buying gifts for weddings, anniversaries and any and all special occasions. The store brings many people to Ranger who do shopping in other stores while they are here.

Salesmen traveling for leading manufacturing firms have stated that Arterburn's is one of the finest stores for gifts anywhere in their area, regardless of the size of the town.

Mrs. Varner and Mr. Arterburn said all the latest purchases would be in the store and on display somewhere around Thanksgiving.

 as he has.
 This particular example is only an extreme case, perhaps a hypothetical one. A great deal of the property in Ranger is already ordered pretty close to what it ought to be. Indeed, some of the property is actually rendered for more than it should be, and the Commissioners have already lowered the evaluations on some of it.
 Nobody is going to be asked to pay a cent more than anybody else. As it is now, great numbers of people are carrying the tax load because their property is rendered at a fair valuation, while others are getting by with paying practically nothing. There just isn't anything on earth fair about that, and there isn't a man in Ranger who can stand up and say there is.

To show you how little the town is going to be effected by the equalization, the Commissioners hope to get only $7,500 a year out of the entire city as a whole from the new valuations. Taken city-wide, that is almost nothing. The City Commissioners are five Ranger business men, about as sound and honest and fair as any to be found in any town anywhere. When they place a new valuation on a piece of property, you can bet the last dollar you've got that these men are going to have five sets of legs to stand on. They are going to KNOW that it is right before they put it on there as far as their combined best judgments can tell them.

 If they make an error, they want to know about it. If they don't make an error, a person had better be sure he knows what he is talking about before he goes before them seeking relief. The Board cannot afford to show favoritism to any person, or else their whole purpose of being fair about it is defeated.
 (Editor's Note: Every person in Ranger has a right to express his ideas on this or any other subject regarding his city, and the Times would be happy to publish any letters submitted, so long as they are signed).

Need A Buffalo For Your Locker?

Anyone wishing a buffalo for their frozen locker can get one now, according to John C. Gatlin, Regional Director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Albuquerque, N. M.

There are 225 of them available at the Wichita Mountain Refuge at Cache, Okla.
 A two-year-old in the corral is worth $150. A butchered animal can be had at prices ranging from $140 to $180 for processed and dry-iced meat.

It is said that Texans who have a taste for buffalo meat, or who specialize in serving the unusual at times, are buying up a lot of the meat for home freezers.

VISITS IN RANGER
 Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Aishman, Tommy, and Kaye of Andrews, visited her mother, Mrs. Matt Robinson, over the holiday weekend.

Bulldogs-

 In the Bulldog line, 200-pound tackle Robert Veale and 150-pound guard Wayne Jowers, have it all to themselves with the exception of the newcomers. Walter Hutchins, a 170-pound sophomore, however, shows every sign of making an outstanding center.
 Other promising newcomers are end Jerry Anderson, 155, tackle Joe Bradford, 190; and guard Charles Veal, 160.
 The Bulldogs' traveling squad this year will consist of 25 men as named below, according to head coach Harold Barrett. Note that each player is given two numbers, the first being his Maroon number that he wears at home games, and the second his White number that he wears away from home.

 ion show he said, the title of which is so copyrighted they had to get permission from the show even to use a take-off on it at a football game. "Even then," the director said, "we are not allowed to mention the title of the show, but we think people will have no trouble recognizing it when we get into the performance."
 Whitaker said all performances of the band for home games would be of the Pageant Type, but for out-of-town games they would stick strictly to precision drills because "we do not have an opportunity to become acquainted with the other field for Pageant shows."

The Ranger High School Marching Band will have 62 members this year, 12 of whom are from Junior High, for marching purposes only. The regular playing band will consist of 50 members, one of the biggest and finest aggregations in the state for a school the size of Ranger.

The Junior High Band alone has 47 members, and a Beginners Band is to be organized soon which will have from 25 to 30 members.

Pottery Goes On Display Friday

The display and sale of the ceramic-type pottery made by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Pentecostal Church in Ranger, will begin here Friday in the corner building across the street from Worth Food Mart.

The people of Ranger and elsewhere are asked to please stop in and see these beautiful works of art that have caused such a sensation in Fort Worth, Sherman and other large cities where they have been shown.

Gifts in the present selection have all been made within the past two weeks and have been labeled "Made in Ranger." They are on sale at seasonally low prices and the ladies are using the funds for the purchase of church pews.

The hand-made articles which include log-shaped and stump-shaped flower containers, make beautiful additions to a home, and are unsurpassed for gift, and give the impression of having cost three or four times what one actually paid.
