

Proposed Dam Road Placed Under Table

Court States Other Roads to Come First

County Commissioners Monday reversed a decision they reached in January, voting unanimously to rescind their earlier vote to write a letter to the State Highway Commission requesting that extra funds be used to build the road over Lake Leon Dam.

Action came quick and apparently in planned order. As has been the case the last two times representatives of the Eastland and Ranger chambers of commerce appeared before the court, the commissioners courtroom was full of rural citizens, all of who had a road which "needs building worse than the dam road."

Eastland attorney Virgil Seaberry Jr. made quick order of the situation. He handed the court a prepared statement which carried a five-point outline requesting what the Ranger and Eastland C-C representatives thought a letter to the State Commission should include.

The C-C delegation asked these five points:

1. The letter (to the State Commission) should be a formal request from the Commissioners' Court—not a mere handing on of a request by anyone else.
2. The formal request should be made that the dam road be incorporated into the farm-to-market road program of this County.
3. Inasmuch as the Court does not want certain other projects to be deferred by the work on the dam road, such other projects should be specifically set out, and it should be requested that the construction of the dam road not interfere with the allocations for such other projects.
4. The request should be that the dam road be built as soon as possible, with extra funds if available, but not to interfere with funds allocated to the above specified projects.
5. The letter should indicate the need for the dam road, if the Court wants extra funds to be obtained.

As the Eastland-Ranger delegation left the room Commissioner B. M. Bennett of Gorman made a motion that the Court table all action on sending a letter to Austin. The motion got a quick second from Commissioner Bob Carter of Rising Star and was unanimously approved.

Resident highway engineer Gordon Smith was asked to address the group. He said he felt there are other roads in the county needed more than the Lake Leon dam road and added, "we can come back to that road a little later." His comments fell on favorable ears. Most of the onlookers were from Nimrod and they were requesting a road. The Nimrod group, with Bill Pope as spokesman, pointed out the road they want surfaced has a 60-130 car daily count. The Nimrod group got assurances from both Smith and the Court that they would get their road.

Commissioners also accepted a bid of $1308 from Fullen Motor Co. in Eastland for a new Chevrolet for the Sheriff's department. It will replace a 1955 Oldsmobile now in use.

Two new typewriters were purchased for the county clerk's office and the Court agreed to purchase $80,000 worth of Albany School Bonds as an investment for the county.

WITH ARLINGTON STATE REBELS

Rangers Closeout Season Tonight

The Ranger College Rangers displayed some stubborn resistance here Saturday night before bowing out to the Tarleton State Ploxyboys 89-72.

It was the seventh Pioneer Conference loss for the eagles, of Roy Barrett and the 15th season loss with a goose egg still in the win column for season and conference play.

Tonight, the locals close out the 1958 season as guests of the Arlington State College Rebels, a season that has been a dismal one for the basketballers.

Bobby Sullivan took game and team honors in the scoring department in Saturday night's game that witnessed the crowning of Miss Barbara Mauldin of Abilene as basketball sweetheart.

Sullivan and Jim Clark crowned the freshman student, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Mauldin of Abilene.

Sullivan collected 23 points with seven field goals and nine free-throw shots. Second best for the local crew was John Steward with 19 points. Steward tallied his sixth seven field goals and five free-throw shots.

McQuercy recorded 20 for the winners, and Hart came in second with 19 points.

It was the second win off the Rangers by the Stephenville boys. Earlier in conference play, the Ploxyboys collected a close 67-54 win.

The Rangers jumped to an early 18-9 lead and clung to it until the closing minutes of the initial frame when the Tarleton crew moved ahead for keeps. Late in the final stanza, the Rangers moved within ten points of the invaders but were unable to pass them.

Both teams had 23 personal fouls called against them.

The Tarleton victory left them in the second place slot and gave the local crew cellar rights.

AT SCHOOL AUDITORIUM...

Senior Class Play Set Friday Night

The senior class of Ranger high school will present "A Man Called Peter", a three-act dramatization by John McGreevy, in the high school auditorium Friday at 7:30 p.m.

From the book by Catherine Marshall, it is produced by special arrangement with the Dramatic Publishing Company of Chicago.

Cast of the three-act play includes all high school students.

Dale Cozart plays the dedicated young minister, Peter Marshall, and is expected to turn in a fine performance. His wife, Catherine, author of the celebrated book that captured the hearts of millions of Americans, is played by Judy Craig.

Peter John, the small son of the Marshall's, is portrayed by Richard Craig.

Sisters Judith and Jesse Bickle are played by Corene Sutton and Mary Halton, respectively. Fred Cooper turns in an excellent performance as a sensitive young man, Allan Talbot.

Patsy Halliday acts the part of Susan Grant, a confessed young woman. And Ann Robinson and Tommy Walton play the parts of Marian and Steven Grant, parents of Susan. George Yost, engaged to marry Susan, is played by Ferry Price.

An underprivileged boy, Joe Keating, is played by Bill Creager.

Senator James Knox Polk is portrayed by Richard Spindle. A pair of high school seniors are played by Mary Pugh and Maxine Vandergiff in the parts of Nancy Everett and Barbara Logan, respectively.

Hulda, the inefficient housekeeper is played by Brenda Brooks.

The three-act play takes place in the living room of the Marshall residence. It is directed by Miss Marie Winston, teacher at the high school.

Stage crew for the event includes Steve Lee, Wayne Jowers, Don Deffebach, and Johnny Young. Prompter is Ruth Miller. Ushers will be Odus Fuge Carver, You Wana Adams, Susa Stagner, and Jimmie Mae Miller.

Local residents may recall the celebrated novel that eventually was presented on the Broadway stage, and later became a very successful movie. The senior class annually presents a play at the high school.

The senior class is sponsored by Mrs. Helen Hagaman and Miss Marie Winston.

Officers of the class are Richard Spindle, president; Don Deffebach, vice president; Judy Craig, secretary; Betty Gail Gardshire, treasurer; Bill Creager, reporter; and Ann Robinson, representative.

At Guard Armory...

Sanders Chosen Unit Sweetheart

An attractive Ranger high school student was selected sweetheart of Service Battery, 648th Armored Field Artillery, Texas National Guard Saturday night at the local guard armory.

She is Carol Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Sanders of Ranger.

Other activities in the annual Muster Day program in observance of Washington's birthday were an open house at the armory and a cake cutting ceremony at 8:30 p.m.

The one-day event started at 5 p.m. with the open house and was climaxed with the cake-cutting ceremonies and the naming of the battery sweetheart.

Miss Sanders won over seven other contestants' all entered by members of the local unit.

Jimmie Mae Miller, daughter of Mrs. Alberta Miller, was runner-up. Third place went to Jamie Stamey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Stamey of Eastland.

Selection was made by a panel of six judges, Dr. Price Ashton, Wilson Guest, Rip Galloway, Virgil Elliott, Johnny Bates, and Ray Swindell.

Miss Sanders will represent the local armory in the battalion contest scheduled April 15 in San Angelo. Winner of that contest will qualify for division competition July 5 at North Fort Hood.

The four other girls in the contest were Judy Craig, Ruth Miller, Gail Kapp, and Glenda Webb, all Ranger high school girls.

Warrant Officer Jess Cole served as emcee for the annual event.

Captain Cecil Carr is commander of the local unit.

A large number of people attended the event to witness the selection of a sweetheart, and tryouts by a group of high school students to appear on a Fort Worth television program.

Bargains To Be Offered...

Dollar Days To Start Monday

Ranger merchants and businessmen were preparing this week for the initial Dollar Day scheduled for Monday. The event will be held the first Monday in each month.

The event was created by the trade extension committee of the chamber of commerce with the cooperation of local businessmen. Morris Newham is chairman of the committee.

Merchandise, clothing, and various other things are to be placed on sale during each Dollar Day by the local merchants.

There were no indications that the city would "sack" the parking meters for the benefit of shoppers. In a similar event held September through December, 1957, the city commission voted to "sack" the meters.

However, the proposal has not been presented to the commission for approval.

Serving on the trade extension committee with Newham are John Tibbels, W. H. Stevenson, Calvin Lipkin, and John Smith.

This project is one of many the committee has for the coming year.

GRID COACH TO BE NAMED HERE FRIDAY

A coach at Ranger College is expected to be named Friday, according to Dr. Price Ashton, president.

Dr. Ashton said Monday that two applications were received over the weekend to bring the total to ten applicants seeking the job.

The president of the college indicated that more applications may come in before the end of the week. He said two men were under consideration for the job named by Tom Hestard who did not ask for renewal of his contract.

The board of regents recently declined to re-nue the contract of Roy Barrett, head basketball coach and assistant football coach.

Dr. Ashton said the new coach will be free to name his own assistant.

SEE WHAT I MEAN?
By RAY SWINDELL

IT'S A modern world in which we live, or should we have said: It's a modern world we live in. Nope, never end a sentence with a preposition. Sir Winston had a cute remark pertaining to ending a sentence with a preposition.

BUT WE are drifting away from our original statement: It's a modern world in which we live. There are machines for everything from drying the hair to getting a package of cigarettes. And the latter can develop into a major operation if one would allow it.

WE HAVE no earthly use for any type of vending machine. They are more nuisance than beneficial not only for customers who may use them but also for businessmen in whose place of business they may be located.

CONSIDER these few percents of thought. How many people walk up to a cigarette machine with the proper amount of change? These days it takes a quarter and a nickel for a package of t h i s writer's brand; others take a quarter and a dime.

AND OTHER vending machines which offer candy, cold drinks, and similar things require a nickel and penny or a thin dime. So, when you walk up to one of the machines, in your pockets for change and find you do not have the right kind.

YOU HAVE got to get change from a companion or from a waiter, attendant, or whatever the case may be. This is wasteful by both parties. And then, when you drop your money in it, it does not work. Next, the attendant has to get the key to the machine and unlock it, get your money, let you try it again with the same result—all of which is entirely too much work.

AND ALL because of this modern world.

Here is something reprinted from a bulletin of the U. S. Press Association:

Are men vainer than women? Most any woman will say so, but no man will admit it. In fact, as every man knows, nothing in the world is vainer than a woman—unless it is a peacock. But, if we dare to mention that, the lady comes right back at us with the reminder that it is the gentleman peacock that is vain, not the lady of the species.

Certainly, the question is no nearer to settlement than when Adam and Eve (probably) first brought it up. Meanwhile, however, our smarter manufacturers have been taking cognizance of the fact that ours is an appearance conscious world. The latest appeal is a cover-up for minor wounds and blemishes—a new adhesive bandage that is transparent, so that our handsome epidemics can show through.

"Sheer" is the word for it, and because of the ingenious cross-hatching in neutral flesh tint on the transparent material, the entire bandage is practically invisible.

It makes sense to protect even the tiniest injury, but isn't it funny that we're so self-conscious about the smallest bandages, when, if a king-size mishap befalls, we're equally proud of our splints and mummy-type wrappings?

We sometimes think the human race is a nut!

Consoling on the college level seems to be a problem in both of the junior colleges located in Eastland County. We note that Cisco Junior College is also without a coaching staff.

Indications are that Ranger College will have a coach by Friday — if all goes well. Ten persons have applied for the job and Dr. Price Ashton says a couple are under consideration.

Campaign Starts For Club Piano

A group of Ranger ladies, all members of the various women's clubs here, have launched a campaign to raise funds to purchase a new piano for the Community Clubhouse.

The 16-member group voted to hold a bazaar and give away four United States Saving Bonds at the clubhouse on March 14.

Tickets for the event are expected to be placed on sale Wednesday. Members of the seven clubs present at the meet this week will sell the tickets for one dollar each.

The savings bonds to be offered as prizes include one $100 bond, one $50 bond, and two $25 bonds. Lucky ticket holders will be the winners.

Members present at the meeting agreed that the clubhouse was badly in need of a new piano in order that proper fine art programs may be presented. It is a project for the betterment of Ranger and local residents are urged to take an active part.

Clubs represented at the program were the 1920 Club, New Era Club, 1947 Club, AAUW, Columbia Study Club, Lone Star Ladies Club, and the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority.

Present at the meeting were: Mmes. D. T. Wier, W. A. Robinson, F. P. Brashier, Lloyd Bruce, D. L. Covington, Marshall Jolly, B. A. Tunnell, F. P. Brashier, Jr., Charles Milliken, E. E. Crawford, Arthur Deffebach, W. A. Lewis, C. E. May, and J. E. Matthews.

150 Persons Attend Masonic Lodge Feast

An estimated 150 persons attended the George Washington banquet sponsored by the Ranger Masons Monday night in observance of this country's first president.

An interesting program was presented by a group of youngsters from the Masonic Home and School in Fort Worth, and a musical program was presented by a group of Ranger College students.

Frank Hicklin served as master of ceremonies for the event held at the Masonic Temple here. Attending the fete were Masons and their families and members of the Eastern Star and their husbands. Hicklin introduced Al Lotepich, dean of music at Ranger College. He along with his wife at the organ and a group of college students, presented a musical program. Jimmie Mae Miller sang "A Very Special Love" and David Hale sang "When Your Lover Is Gone."

A trio composed of Mary Lou Wright, Gail Bagley, and Elpidia Gonzales, sang "To Be Alone" and

"Born to be With You".

Hicklin, in speaking of Public School Week set for March 3-7, urged all local residents to visit the schools of Ranger and take an interest in the administration and the different functions of the schools.

Virginia Rogers, senior honor student at the Masonic Home, told the group gathered what the "home is doing for us". She noted that the home is operated by the Grand Lodge of Texas and that each Mason has an active part in providing for the children in the home.

She added that "the home is well fitted for handling the education of the children from providing them with clothing to medical and dental care." It is affiliated with all colleges and universities in the state. Through the training received at the home, the children are able to "get along with each other."

Nineteen year old Peggy Sales, another honor student of the home, spoke of some of the distinguished ex-students of the Fort Worth home. She is a cheerleader at the Masonic Home.

She pointed out that 57 percent of the graduates of the home attend college and many make notable contributions to the world.

Among the exes of the home, one is now dean of law at Baylor University, one is a graduate of West Point, one was the 1961 Mayor of Midland, Texas, one is now a judge of an East Texas town, and one is now an official of the Gulf Oil Company.

Other representatives from the home introduced by Hicklin were:

Despite Muddy Roads...

SALES CONTINUE AT CATTLE BARN

A slight decrease was noted this week in the number of livestock sold at the Ranger Livestock Commission but officials of the company said inclement weather and muddy roads was the cause of the decrease.

Total number of cattle, hogs, and goats sold Monday at the 4 h e auction barn was 125 compared with 136 February 17, the opening day of the livestock company. The 125 livestock sold for $8,146.00 slightly lower than the $9,582.62 for the first day of the sale.

The auction barn is operated each Monday by Bill White of Wichita Falls and his son, Wilford White, of Mountain Creek, Oklahoma.

The elder White indicated that

Despite Muddy Roads... SALES CONTINUE AT CATTLE BARN

This week's sale would have been larger than the previous week had it not been for bad weather conditions the past few days. Muddy roads, throughout the county and the surrounding area, caused some ranchers not to bring their cattle.

Expectation is that if the weather continues to be fair, a large number of ranchers will be present at next Monday's sale.

Last week, ranchers from as far away as Nocona and Woodson brought cattle to the auction. The cattle, including baby calves, averaged $94 per head. Goat and hogs, the first sale, brought $843 in all. In yesterday's sale there were 114 cattle and eleven hogs and goats.

May, whose office is located on Main Street, said he has licenses for passenger cars, farm trucks, and pickups, commercial trucks and pickups, and small trailers.

The cost of registration is ten percent higher this year, May said. Ranger numbers start DH 5500.

We spoke out for the joint system and nobody commented. So, are we to conclude that all of Ranger wants such a system? Your city commissioners will do the deciding when the proposal is presented to them. So, whether you are pro or con, might we suggest that you start saying what you think.

You might get something down your throat you cannot chew, and at the same time, you may not be allowed to enjoy the fruits of life.

Peanut Association Aids Local Growers

A bulletin from the home office of the Southwestern Peanut Growers' Association located in Gorman gave a brief history of the organization that should be of interest to local residents.

Storage warehouses in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico are created by the association by contracting with warehousemen. With money advanced by Commodity Credit Corporation, the association is able to pay to the farmer government loan prices for his peanuts.

According to the bulletin, the association was organized in 1937 for the purpose of assisting peanut producers in the marketing of their product in a profitable manner.

This method is especially helpful to the farmer when the market is low by virtue of the shellers having large stocks on hand.

And from all indications made by county pecan growers, the organization has done just that.

The pamphlet further points out that after the peanuts are stored in the warehouses, the association often gets an opportunity to sell a part of its stock to the trade.

The Association, since its beginning, has served as a stabilization co-operative. It has done this by working with the U. S. Government to make price support on peanuts available to all producers in the entire southwest area.

Through this procedure, the peanut growers' association sometimes realizes a profit and is then able to pay to the farmers who participate in the program a dividend.

Officials of the association point out that in addition to insuring that producers receive at least support prices for their peanuts, the association has been and is active in many other activities instrumental in improving the production and market value of peanuts.

Since its organization in 1937, the association has paid back to farmers over $4,600,000 in dividends, according to the pamphlet.

In co-operation with research organizations, through contributions and personal contacts, the latest discoveries relative to farming methods, insect and disease control, improved seed strains, and other pertinent information are made available to producers.

The organization has expended into something beneficial to peanut growers of the southwest and it keeps them posted on current happenings through an association newspaper and newsletter, published at intervals.
