

ROAMING THRU RANGER WITH RON...

By Ronald Waters

Have been doing a little research on first names, and have come up with some interesting results. I am trying to discover all the possible derivatives and variations of common first names. And some of the most interesting so far have been these: John, Lewis (Louis), Henry, Charles, Elizabeth and Helen.

Let us start by examining one of the most common names—John. John becomes Giovanni in Italian, Johannes or Johan in German, Hans in German, Ivan in Russian, Ian in Scottish, French is Jean; Irish is Sean, or Shawn. Then we have Juan (Don Juan), Jean, Jacques and Jeanne. Feminine variations include Jeanette, Jo Anna, Janet, Jessica, Jessie, Juana, Juanita, Joan and Johanna. Have I over-looked any?

Elizabeth is a name for queens, and being another royal name it has many variations. Some of these are not so flattering—such as Lisa, Lise, Lisette, Elisa and Eliza. Others are little better—Bessie, Beth, and Libby. Then we have Betty, Elise, Elsie, Elspeth, Isabel, Lee, and you can take your choice.

Helen is a derivative of Aileen and from these we get such interesting names as the following: Helena, Aleana, Elena, Lena, Elaine, Elaine, and Ella. Others are Ellen, Alienor, Eleanor, and Eleonora. Short forms are Lenore, Leora, and Leonora.

Alice may feel like she's in wonder land when she sees all the derivatives of her name. There's Alicia, Alex, and Alys and equivalents—Lisa and Lise.

Then some cities have fascinating titles—such as Santa Fe—which is really Real Ciudad del Santa Fe de San Francisco. This is Spanish for the Royal City of the Holy Faith of St. Francis.

Other interesting names of people and cities will come later. But if you know of any—please call them in.

Well, back to poetry. This time, we reprint another high school student's poem which won special mention in the National High School Poetry Association's annual.

It is by Patsy Halliday.

Enchantment
Enchantment is a starry night,
The full moon giving light
To all the world beneath its rays,
To every child of God who kneels and prays.

Enchantment is the sighing wind,
The scampering clouds which send Children into dreamland
Where they walk barefoot in the sand.

Enchantment is the deep blue sea,
The breaking waves which call to me,
To come on out
And cease to be.

LAKE LEON CATCHES—Gerald Ables, left, and Paul Tankersley had a run of luck this week at Lake Leon. They pulled these four catfish off of one trotline. The fish weighed 11, 7½, 5 and 4½ pounds. A couple of smaller ones were also on the line, and the anglers also were displaying a four pound bass caught while casting.

Second Meeting To Plan July 4 Celebration Set

Further plans for the July Fourth celebration will be made at a joint committee meeting of Ranger and Eastland chambers of commerce members next Wednesday night at 7:30 in the Ranger Chamber of Commerce office.

This committee last met April 30 in Eastland to make plans for the fishing rodeo, water skiing contests, and a grand entry boat parade.

Other details will be worked out at Wednesday's meeting.

Previously it was decided to award cash prizes to both the adult and child catching the largest catfish, to the adult and child catching the largest crappie, and to those bringing in the biggest bass.

Special awards will go for the biggest string, with a division for adults and youngsters.

The fish rodeo will get underway at 12:01 p.m. and continue until 4 p.m., at which time all the fish must have been weighed.

Skiing contests, to be held from 3 to 5 p.m., will feature trick skiing. Prizes will be awarded to both the best man and woman on regular skis, to the best trick skier, and to the best all-around skier.

A grand parade of boats is planned to take place at the dam, at 11 a.m., under the direction of the Lake Leon Boat Club.

A Ranger man was released from county jail Wednesday upon paying a fine for passing a bad check here.

He wrote a check in the amount of $19.76, and was fined $47.76 including costs, in Justice of the Peace Court No. 1.

Insurance Talk Given Lions

C. E. May, Jr., discussed package insurance policies before the Ranger Lions Club Thursday noon.

Package policies are a combination of theft coverage, personal liability, fire and wind damage, plus other benefits for home owners, he explained.

In 1944, a total of $250,000 in insurance was collected in Ranger from hail storm damage, May said.

Coverage for homes was extended in 1967 to all of full trade-in value on better-than-average homes. Theft coverage includes items in the house or car (on a separate policy), and personal liability protects the owner from law suits resulting from injuries, May said.

Changes in automobile insurance were also outlined during the talk. Comprehensive insurance covers fire, theft, collision, and personal liability. About 90 percent of the claims are for windshield damage, May indicated.

Residents Urged To Be Informed On Payments

Residents of Eastland county are urged recently by R. H. Wiley, Jr., district manager, to get in touch with the Abilene office of the Social Security Administration for information regarding payments under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Tuley stated that his office encounters numerous instances of applicants for benefits who have relied on erroneous or misleading advice received from friends or relatives. As a result they have mistaken ideas about requirements for social security payments and the amount of the payments which they will receive. In several recent cases, failure to obtain correct information before reaching retirement age has had serious effects on the applicant's plans for retirement, he added.

The Abilene office of the Social Security Administration receives all applications for retirement and survivors payments from residents of 15 counties. In addition the office receives applications in and around Taylor county for disability payments from qualifield workers 50 years of age or more and applications to "freeze" the wage records of disabled workers under age 50. As of May 8, in 1958, the Abilene office had forwarded 2513 applications for retirement or survivors payments and 279 applications for disability payments.

Informational material regarding all phases of the social security insurance program is available and a representative of the office is normally available to meet with groups desiring a speaker.

Tuley suggested that all students who plan to work during the summer vacation, and who have not obtained a social security card, do so immediately. Application blanks for cards can be obtained at the Abilene office or at the post office nearest their homes.

Puryear returned to Tyler Friday evening.

Insurance—

(Continued From Page One) mobile insurance, May said, but three other states do. This is not a safety measure, however, as the rate of accidents has increased in Massachusetts since the law went into effect, May said.

The majority of insurance companies oppose compulsory insurance. It is not the final answer, May indicated, because about 100 bills are proposed in Massachusetts each year to amend the present law.

He closed by urging Lions to oppose any compulsory insurance bills that may be proposed in Texas.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

By OMAR BURLESON 17th District

By OMAR BURLESON 17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In 1950 the International Association of Chiefs of Police recognized the need for a nation-wide report on crime and for statistics connected with problems of law enforcement.

Among other things, the Police of our nation want to know: (1) How much crime there is; (2) Its geographical distribution; (3) Whether it is on the increase or decrease; (4) Different types of offenses; (5) The success by the Police in their investigations.

As a former F. B. I. agent, I have been interested in these annual reports. Since 1930 the F. B. I. has been the clearing house for the data sent in by the Police Chiefs and Sheriffs all over the United States.

When received, the F. B. I. classifies the offenses committed by: (1) The nature of the crime; (2) Place and time the offense occurred; (3) Age of the offender, sex and race and other details.

When the Uniform Crime Reports are finally compiled, it presents an accurate picture of the crime situation as it exists in the U. S.

The latest such Report has just been released to those interested. Figures can become pretty dry, and most are not long remembered. However, there are some which should impress us.

First, the 1957 crime rate is up 9.1 percent above 1956. It is up 28.9 per cent above the average for the past five years.

In terms of volume alone, crime has risen 56.2 percent above the 1950 level and has risen four times as fast as the population.

Percentage changes from year to year indicate the arrests of persons under 18 years of age have increased 55 per cent since 1952. During the same period the population in the 10-17 age group has increased only 22 percent.

Persons under 18 years of age were arrested in 10.3 per cent of all arrests for crimes against the person such as murder, negligent manslaughter, rape and aggravated assaults. For crimes against property, such as robbery, burglary, auto thefts and other larcenies, young people under 18 represented 5.1 percent of all arrests. In cases of automobile theft, the under 18 category represented 67.6 percent of all arrests.

It is interesting to note that the crimes of murder, rape and aggravated assault tend to occur more frequently in the warmer months. Other crimes against the person and crimes against property tend to increase in the cooler months of the year.

Police reported number of cities reported recovery of 58¢ for every dollar's worth of property stolen. Over 93 percent of all the stolen cars were recovered.

The crime problem in areas outside cities is about one-half that inside cities, per unit of population. At the same time, areas outside the limits of towns and cities of less than 2,500 inhabitants increased 11.1 per cent in major crimes. Consideration, however, is given to the fact that many suburban areas of cities come within this classification.

The F. B. I. Report cautions against comparing the rate of crime between cities and between areas. Such comparisons are not necessarily significant because of the wide variety of factors involved.

Some of these factors are, however, very significant and include such things as the composition of the population with reference to age, sex and race. Also affecting the circumstances are economic conditions, climate, education, recreation and religious facilities.

The standards governing the efficiency of the Police in certain areas are also an important factor. In comparing some cities and communities there is no question but that the crime rate is lower in those places where there is a strong attitude and consciousness on the part of citizens for law enforcement. Crime is lower in those places where qualifications for Police and other law enforcement officers are higher.

It obviously follows that when the community attitudes is good in opposing crime, law enforcement is going to be more effective, resulting in lowering the rate of crime. This brings the responsibility directly down to the citizens. A part of this consciousness is a willingness to pay decent salaries to law enforcement officers and then demand the highest possible efficiency. Law enforcement officers are the best friends any community can have. They want and need the support of every citizen and can only do their job if they have the individual citizen's highest respect and cooperation.
