COMMISSION PASSES TRAFFIC ORDINANCE

GRAFTERS USING SUDAN AS THEIR FINANCIAL UTOPIA

NEWS PASSES HAND-SET ERA TO LINOTYPE MACHINE

Traffic Ordinance Is Epoch Making Act

You boys who have been taking your flivver out for a spin down Main Street and its connecting thoroughfares, and who have been parking with the tail light to the setting sun and the nose about two feet in somebody's doorway, will have to revise your manner of procedure from here on out. This thing of turning her on two wheels at a corner is gone forever. The other thing of ramming her up against your buddy's wreck is also a thing of the past, for the Sudan City Commission this week passed a city ordinance with that unluckiest of all numbers, 13, hitched to it, and you can believe it or not, this will mean disaster for not a few of these speed merchants or highway remodelers. And, along with this remember, "Ignorance of the law is no plea in court," so The News would advise you to peruse this ordinance, take Old Liz down and practice with her before the law becomes effective, so as to save your Christmas money.

This city parking ordinance marks another step in the progress of Sudan, and The News is fain to compliment them on their action, the City Commission, we mean, as one well worth high commendation. It proves conclusively that the Commission has the welfare of Sudan at heart and is doing all in its power to modernize the city.

The ordinance is a good one, and our efficient city marshal, Captain Cooper, will see that it is observed, thus all working harmoniously together for a better and bigger Sudan.

Read this ordinance in this issue of The News in another page, and digest it thoroughly, for it will be rigidly enforced, say the Commissioners and City Marshall.

"M" SYSTEM STORE PLEASES THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES DAILY

The "M" System of stores is of national expansion, being found in every live city throughout the nation, and is a rendezvous for thrifty buyers who appreciate quality and moderate prices on their food accounts.

Sudan has such a store and by the volume of business it is doing daily, it behooves the hustling buyers of Sudan to shop early and late so as to secure exceptional bargains for their kitchen supplies.

L. C. Grissom is the owner and popular manager of this store. He started in business three short years ago, and has been in charge of the local store nearly a year.

That success has crowned his efforts is evidenced by the continually increasing business and the exceptionally low prices he is now making.

You can do no better elsewhere, so why not trade here?

NOTICE TO THE WORLD

Notice is hereby issued to the world at large—but that's a big territory, and there might be a person who doesn't care a rap—so we'll cut it down to Sudan and surrounding territory where The News trickles into the homes of hundreds weekly, and notify them that on Saturday, December 15, 1928, The News is asking $2.00 for a year's subscription.

Now don't lose your temper—keep it, nobody wants it—concerning this rise, raise, uplift.

That's 50c more than you have been paying, that's all.

The Reason

Every act must have a reason, and the reason The News is making this move is because, in plain English, it costs more to produce The News. We have installed high-powered machinery, high-powered printers, and the deducts are going to get us like the pink boll worm got the cotton farmer, unless we make this raise in price.

This price includes everybody from Santa Claus to President Hoover. No favorites are played. We believe we give you value for your cash, and you do not want something for nothing.

Remember this, too.

MILLER RADIO SHOP HAS SECURED AGENCY VICTROLA

The Miller Radio Shop recently secured the agency for the Victrola in Sudan and adjacent territory, and now can supply your needs in this line of famous musical instruments, as well as records. This is quite an addition to Sudan's supply ability, and annuls the necessity of searching out your mail order catalogue or going hence to make your purchases in this line.

Go in and hear your favorite record. It will cost you nothing.

LAMB COUNTY GAINS 2,586 BALES AS PER RECENT REPORT

That Lamb Co. is either increasing in cotton acreage or producing more per acre, or the farmers have resorted to intensive cultivation, is apparent from the most recent gin report issued by the Department of Commerce a few days ago and received by The News yesterday.

The report reads: There were 7,629 bales of cotton, counting round bales as half bales ginned in Lamb County, from the crop of 1928, prior to November 14, 1928, as compared with 4,943 bales ginned to November 14, 1927.

That's fine. It evinces a desire on the part of Lamb County agriculturists to put Lamb County in the foremost ranks of highly productive counties, and keep it there.

The gins of Sudan ginned 2,000 bales during the same period.

EVERYBODY'S CASH STORE IS BUSY PLACE ALL THE TIME

There are two main reasons why Everybody's Cash Store is the center of the dry goods business in Sudan.

1. High grade quality at reasonable prices.
2. The pleasing personality and good business acumen of the store's popular manager, Harry Wilson.

Mr. Wilson, with a number of years of successful merchandising to his credit, has gathered around him a pleasing force of helpers, and his keen buying ability has loaded his shelves with desirable merchandise, stylish, high grade and reasonably priced.

That he has hit upon a popular crowd and is pleasing the people is evidenced by his increasing business and continued success.

The popular store has an ad in this issue of The News, and it will be to your advantage to peruse it carefully.

MERCHANTS EXPRESS THEIR THANKS IN TIMELY ADS

Throughout The News this issue you will find ads intensely pertinent to the season, and replete with special items of intrinsic value at greatly reduced prices.

The merchants whose names appear on these advertisements have the welfare of their customers at heart, have real bargains to offer them from high quality stocks, and are imbued with a spirit of public uplift that is admirable.

You positively cannot go wrong in your trading when you patronize The News advertisers, for they are a progressive lot, and are not afraid to let the world know that they are in Sudan with values of exceeding worth, and good, first class stocks to choose from. They will treat you as you like to be treated.

And, besides, you will find their stocks marked in plain figures so that a child can purchase with as much confidence as an adult.

Read the ads and patronize all News advertisers.

BOOTLEGGERS, ANENT

A good joke is being related on a local citizen who went up to Amarillo recently, and during the course of his nocturnal prenegations some one put him hep to a filling station where he could get a drink.

Rushing in excitedly he called to the bootlegger: "Speed up, my friend. Give me a shot before the trouble starts."

The bootlegger obligingly handed him over a full pint and he commenced guzzling it down.

"What is this trouble that's going to start," he queried.

"Oh, there'll be plenty of it," replied the local citizen. "I haven't any money to pay for this whiskey."

Grafters Call Sudan "Easy Money Town"

Sudan has a Business Men's Association whose paramount object is the upbuilding of Sudan, and tributary territory. Its a live organization, too, up on its toes and doing every hour of the twenty-four. Every member is a Sudan booster. W. W. Carpenter is secretary of this organization, and is a live wire in every respect.

Sudan is prospering, and as evidence, The News offers the influx of grafters of various worth, who have drained the coffers of local merchants the last few weeks. They, (the grafters), have been here by scores, each with a new dollar making idea, and every time the merchant is the fall guy.

The News likes these boys, and it likes for them to come to town. It truly does like the boys, personally, but it says in plain undiluted English, "To lieh with their methods." There have been offered to our merchants at least twenty (20) different ways of making $$$$ quickly that Creesus would turn over in his sepulchre, or rise up in his great white chavat and yell.

"What's that?" And on and beyond all this not one scheme is worth a tinker's baloney, except to furnish a board bill for the promulgator.

The News is opposed to these business leeches—absolutely and unalterably set opposite them. They are non-productive, unnecessary, undesirable, uncouth and some of them savor of the ridiculous and rough in their methods.

Of what advantage is an ad on a sheet of card board tacked up in a hotel lobby? Or an ad on a sheet of card board in a cafe menu holder? Or an ad on a band bridge head or fence post? In the first place, a fan walking down a road is venturing one eye on the road and the other for a car going his way to pick him up, and nine chances out of eight, he has not a thin dime on his person. And when a man goes into a restaurant he is hungry and hungry men do not read ads. He wants thick and tough steaks or ancient eggs, and he wants them rapidly, and he has no time to fool away reading a dead horse ad. For proof ask the blonde-headed waitress.

The legitimate, safe, sane, highly productive manner to get be-

LIST OF IMMORTALS

If you wish to get your name on the rolls up yonder or down there, or even right here, for that matter, you had better dig down on that old reservoir of reserve cash and deduct a samoeleon and a half and pass it on to The News, so that we can retain you on the subscription list.

A farmer weeds his crop of corn, and likewise the printer weeds his list of delinquents, the only difference being the time and process—the weeds are gone forever, but the delinquent can again become in good standing and white-washed by paying the kaal on the mahogany. Those who fail to pay for The News by December 12 will find themselves cut off from the best paper they ever read, and is saying a mouthful. The News is going to contain features, maybe yours, who can tell, the ensuing year which will startle as well as entertain the 1929 flapper, her dad and ma, as well as her shiek brother, and we are anxious that you nit miss an issue. The price of The News is $1.50 per year, in advance, from here on out and on, and the free list is indefinitely suspended.

The News has many friends. It has a few non-fiends. The former we cherish, the latter we would like they do not want to cherish. Among the former we cite Bob Goss, good, staunch supporter, who this week laid down the cash and said: "Send her on, Bill, she's a dinger," and a dinger is some thing worth while, especially when it dings. Many thanks, Bob, and may you live long and prosper. And besides, Bib is a good farmer, who does things worth while, is always boosting, and who gets results where others fail.

And, also added to the list this week, is Miss Dorinda Bond, instructor of English as she is written and spoken properly, in the local school, high school, we should say to be exact. We have proof positive that Miss Dorinda is our good friend, because she wrestled us to the mat and started several beautiful scandals on us, that depicted us as about to sprout wings and having trouble tuning up our harp, while we were pitch-forking the Herd-Trail, student paper, out of this office. Her paper that is the admiration of the entire student personnel of the state. We have other proof in the fact that she nickered her bank roll for a year's subscription, did so right in our sight and hearing, and remarked: "Pour on The News for another year; it's so bad it's good."

With Mr. Goss and Miss Bond on the subscription lists the future seems rosy with success and encouragement. We thank them both.

Another friend of The News is E. T. Bates, high-powered agriculturist, who lives on Star Route, 12 miles west. He was in town Monday and made a good report of his farming operations. He is a stout booster for the Plains and incidentally remarked that the admiration of the entire student personnel of the state. Thanks.

The thing to do to get you a harp and a golden chair, is get your name on the sub list and keep it there.

NEWS INSTALLS A REAL Mystery In Machine

All you newspaper boys and thin-space printers; all you boys who put a galley of slugs in a half galley of hand-spiked ten point; all you fellows from the short grass country who voted for Willie Jennings or Smith; all you short-fused printers who even now are huddling about the office stove hoping against fate that this day's mail will bring in some raus-house plate from the W. N. U., all you boys, we want to gather 'round for we want to tell you how The News rose from its swaddling clothes of hand-pegged pica to a late model 14 linotype that does stunts.

On the right-hand side, about head high to a graffe, is a little outfit that sputters about and when we ram a key, empties down head letter. It is called "head letter," because if you let your head get in the path of one of these chunks of brass it will let your brain leak out through the hole it rent. Immediately in front, and a wee bit to the side, is what is known among the cult as the "key board." This is called key board because it is the key to more grief than a widow woman with a car-load of springers trying to land a rich bachelor. The grief comes in when you hit the wrong ding-bat one time to a line and have to re-set the galley just as you are on the eve of skipping to press on a cold winter's night. Then again, to the rear of the key board and revolving with the velocity of an Oklahoma cyclone, art what are known as the rubber assembling rollers. They are called "assembling rollers," for nobody save an

AN EDITORIAL

The Thanksgiving Crop of Lamb County turkeys has gone. They have been shipped to the four corners of the United States, and their carcasses will decorate the tables of epicureans in all climes. No human being can conceive the pleasure these birds will bring to the thousands who will consume them.

The birds were of high class. They were fat and sassy, tender of flesh and healthy. They were large, weighing from 8 pounds for hens to 20 pounds for Toms. Also, and chiefly, they brought a good price at the cars.

The sellers of these birds were farmers, all of whom are traders with the merchants of Sudan. These farmers have been patrons of Sudan merchants for years, some of them more recent, but all at least one year. The merchants have accommodated these farmers in numerous ways—by credit, money loaned, wares provided, and various other manners, too numerous to mention. Some of these farmers still owe Sudan merchants for purchases made a year ago, some of them have reduced their accounts a little, others have made no effort or arrangements to this end.

The total amount paid farmers for their turks aggregated around $8,500. This was all cash in hand. The checks were nearly all cashed at the Sudan National Bank, and the cashier poked the money in his safety deposit pocket and walked out of the financial institution with a broad grin and knowing look.

Up the street, parked in a convenient spot, was the farmer's flivver, steam up, family laden, and all occupants on a nervous strain for dad's rapid return. Ma was figuring on that new coat, Sue on that new flapper hat, Benuring on that new suit, and baby on a new-nippled nursing bottle. And Dad—he was figuring on how much time it would consume to make foreign ports so that said family could satiate their desires.

All aboard! Lubbock bound! The juice is applied and we are merrily on our way, the old fliv running like heck, and we go down southward about twenty per!

Then night comes and we are back in Sudan! The old fliv is bulging with bundles full of merchandise from every port. Shoes, hats, caps, sweaters, pants, and whatever. Dad is flat on his credit again, but we are all supplied with winter wear!

Across the street from where we are parked, stand, silently and remorsefully, our friend the Sudan merchant—our friend when we needed a friend. He says nothing, but silence is golden. He must not feel hurt, for the money was ours and we'll pay him later—he's our friend.

Listen to this—$2,000 or more was sent to foreign mail order houses by turkey sellers!

Here's another—scarcely $1,000 was deposited in the local bank.

Men, this is all wrong! It is dirty! This cutting a friend, for when you are up and prosperous you do not need friends, but it is when you are down that that old pal counts! As long as you owe a man, the money you have is your creditor's—not yours!

The nice way to have done would have been to visit local stores and see what you could purchase there first, buy what you could here and then finish the debauch in some other town. How many did this?

You can't build up Sudan sending Sudan money to foreign ports. Sudan merchants stand the gaff of town building with all modern conveniences, and every dime you send away builds up some other port instead of your town—Sudan.

And we are not saying a word about ingratitude. Ingratitude to a friendly merchant who saw you across those dark days last summer, who was your friend when you needed a friend, is the basest of all human crimes, barring none. But The News sincerely hopes that this bunch of foreign patronizers will be gone soon, so that that room will be made for a home-building clique who will stand shoulder to shoulder for Sudan and Sudan institutions.

May the day be hastened!

THE LIARS' CLUB

(Editor's Note: If you know a good story that exceeds the reasonable, send it in. It doesn't make any difference whether it is original or not, just so it is good.)

The world's record for tall stories is held by the rangers of our national parks, says the Boston Globe in discussing the new book about the parks. Their prize creation is as follows:

A ranger doing patrol duty on the boundary line, having run out of supplies, grabbed his trusty old gun, for which only one shell remained, and, going beyond the park line, maneuvered around carefully, hunting diligently so as to be sure to get the best possible results with the one shot.

Finally he came upon a brace of quail perched in a cluster of brush close enough to gether for both to be bagged at one shot. Carefully raising the gun, he fired. Imagine his great joy when on running to the spot to pick up his two quail he found that he had killed six more, which were on the other side of the bush and which he had not seen.

Hearing a great commotion out in a small lake nearby, he saw a big buck deer that had become frightened at the sound of his shot and had run into the lake and bogged down in the mud.

In carrying the deer out, he nal or not, just so it is good.)

up over his boot tops. Upon reaching the shore he sat down and pulled the boots off to pour out the water and found in them a dozen nice fish.

Placing the quail, fish and deer together so that they could be more easily carried, he was struggling to get the load on his shoulders. This put a great strain on his suspender buttons, and one of them flew off with such force that it killed a rabbit 100 yards in the rear.

HUTTO CHEVROLET ANNOUNCE CHANGES MADE RECENTLY

Hutto Chevrolet, that progressive firm of Chevrolet dealers, announce several important changes in their organization, the principal one being that that expert mechanic and old friend of the automobile owner C. L. (Carylye) Daniel is back with the organization and is prepared to attend to all your wants in repair work.

That Mr. Daniel is an expert in the repair department there is no question, and many a car owner will testify to his ability.

The grading gang has the streets of the city in first-class condition.

ADAMS TELLS THE FARMERS OF COWS

Much interest is being manifested throughout Lamb County in dairying, states D. A. Adam, County Agent, who has begun on work of getting purebred females and males into the farms of this county. Dairying is one of the most important links in the diversification program that is being carried on almost universally by the farmers here, and to get highest production for the same amount of feed fed, one should get cows, and bulls into the herds that have been bred for high production. At present most interest is being shown in Jerseys, and some few farmers are wanting some Gues-seys. The county agent is wanting to help the farmers of this county get these, and of the biggest help is he in pooling the wants of all farmers that are wanting good cows, and bringing them into the county in car lot shipments, which to a great extent cuts down the initial investment. D. A. Adam, County Agent, reports that he has gotten in touch with several breeders who will sell high quality cows and bulls reasonable enough, but it will be almost necessary to get these in car lot shipments or the expense of moving these will be too great. Grade cows all through the plains country are selling for $65 to $100, and the production of just the ordinary amount, when with an addition of from $25.00 to $40.00 you can get cows, bred heifers, or bulls that have been bred

OPEN SECOND HAND AUTO STORE IN FORMER STAND

The Hutto Chevrolet Company, in its usual spirit of progress, has installed a second hand parts, car and other paraphernalia pertinent to an automobile, in their old location, which is familiar to you. As Mr. Hutto tersely puts it, "It is strictly second-hand in every respect except mechanics." That well known auto man, Chris Stauffer, is in charge at the second-hand department, as well as Tom Hargrave in the battery department. The Hutto Chevrolet is a high grade institution handling high-quality wares, and it is a safe conjecture that this second hand department will be well worth patronizing.

Mrs. C. L. McKinley, of this city, is now confined in the Lubbock sanitarium, the cause being for another minor operation. She is reported as getting along nicely.

for high production for several which will produce twice the amount of milk, with a great butterfat content, with the same amount of feed fed. Bull circles are going to be organized, wherever the interest warrants the county agent to begin work on it. All farmers that are interested in bringing into their herd some pure bred dams or bulls by early spring should get in touch with the county agent so that he might pool the order of all those interested.

Jack Sudberry, of the Spring Lake community, has begun this work, and several registered high producing calves have been added to his herd, and the grade animals done away with. The county agent usually knows where cows are to be found, and is always ready to help anyone select a cow that fits his herd, and will go with him to help in the selection of the animal if the farmer wanting these is desirous of his doing so.

Get in touch with the county agent at once, by card, letter, or personally in order that he might be able to fulfill your needs in the dairying line. Cows should be brought in as soon as possible in order to start the work of building up the grade herds of Lamb county

Just Like An Ostrich

A medical authority says that a person who tries to cover up skin blemishes and pimples with toilet creams and powders is just as foolish as an ostrich that buries its head in the sand to avoid danger. Skin eruptions are nature's warning that constipation is throwing poisons into your blood stream and weakening your whole constitution. Remove the constipated condition and you will strengthen your system against disease and clear up your disfigured skin. The best way to do this is with a course of Herbine, the vegetable medicine that acts naturally and gently, which you can get at H. G. Ramby Drug Store

Thanksgiving, 1928

When the Puritans landed they found virgin forest. The woods were filled with song of birds, joyous in their wild homes.

Today families of happy people enjoy this class of lumber in their home-building, and our modern manner of sorting the good sticks from the bad give every buyer first-class material from which to construct a home.

Build your home in Sudan! Buy your material from us. Then you, the city and we are satisfied.

SUDAN, TEXAS

Celebrate With Us Today

Lumber—and all that is made from the forests—is ours today.

Also, everything you wish in the building line can be supplied by us.

This Thanksgiving we wish to thank every customer, large and small, for the favors they have bestowed upon us all the year that is gone forever.

We sincerely hope we have given utter satisfaction in every transaction, for we have striven hard.

During the ensuing year we wish a reputation of past business, and an increment, which we believe service, quality and price merits.

When you think of lumber think of us.

"Boost or Move"

Do one or the other.

All we've got to say is: "We ain't going to move."

The News is here to stay, like the ground that's its foundation, here for a long, long time, building ever to an ideal—making Sudan better and bigger.

No clique or clan ever boosted more than newspaper men—and never will.

If The News had its way, Sudan would be a town of unlimited population tomorrow, by sun up.

But we must go slowly, surely, permanently, upward and onward to the ideal.

The way to boost The News is advertise. "Boost or Move."

Thanksgiving

We need more than ever the ability to find contentment.

Contentment is peculiarly a condition of home life, and it is therefore, through the family dinner that Thanksgiving can so aptly be expressed. In the savory steam from the turkey, in the tart appetizement of the cranberry, and in the reverie of the hour afterward, let us contemplate the real pigment of happiness. Let us, in short, bow our heads to the triumph of Home, where all happiness must begin and endure—Home, the inspiration of Plymouth Rock.

GOODFELLOWS' CHRISTMAS

Sudan and its citizens are going to have a fine and dandy, high-faluting Christmas—going to smear it on thick and heavy, with good cheer and all the trimmings, going to give and take presents, some of them not worth ten cents on the dollar, intrinsically, but given and received with a feeling of good fellowship that made the Nazarene famous for His charity and even disposition.

But away somewhere, hidden from public view, there are a few whose worldly possessions have been so fraught with misfortune that Santa Claus is going to have a hard time making the grade, and filling the kiddies' stockings with goodies. These are the boys we good fellows are after.

Let us not forget in our joy and prosperity these lowly kiddies. Let us all chip in and fill a truck with goodies and stop at every one of these doors and put that basket where it will do the most good. That's good fellowship.

Don't lose sight of this little kindness, for by doing this act you do what He bid you do. You remember He said in that book He edited, "Give till it hurts," and further down the ages, that great prophet, Willie Shakespeare, remarked in a rather terse manner, "It's a darn sight better to receive than to take," or words to that effect. Any way, the big idea is this—do not let a single kiddie in Sudan wake up Christmas morn, look at his empty stocking and yell mid his tears: "Well, I'll be flabbergasted, there is no Santa Claus!" Get the idea? Loosen up!

THANKSGIVING

A well-worn and well-loved festival comes around again, welcome as always for its significance, its good cheer and its pleasant habit of drawing friends and families together for a moment of rest and rejoicing.

It is a festival well hallowed by observance and adorned by tradition, and it touches the heart of all humanity by its embodiment of a universal impulse. The generous outpouring of the free gifts of nature and its Creator, bespeaks the thanks and justify the rejoicing of us all.

After the first harvest of the New England Colonists in 1621, Governor Bradford made provision for a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer.

Since that day the national boundaries have grown until they stretch from Atlantic to Pacific and across to the isles of the Eastern seas.

If Governor Bradford's little band had occasion to gather in church and thank Almighty God for blessings, what should be the hymn of gratitude rising to Heaven from America on Thursday, November 29th? Year by year our people make formal expression of gratefulness for the joys and blessings of existence, upon a day set apart. And this is well. So is kept linked together a chain of spiritual character which holds the American nation firmly to enduring moorings.

We today realize more of true humanity than was ever known on this earth before the gentle preachments by the shores of Galilee were made. Thanksgiving should be observed with happy hearts and cheerful voices.

Let us crowd into its flying hours the pleasant memories of the past, the happiness of the present and the fairest prospects of the future and make it a bright and glad some day.

THE TURKEY GOBBLER

The great American bird is not the hen or the eagle, but the turkey gobbler. The gobbler is lord of the barnyard and field marshal among the fowls. See him strut in the fullness of his pride, tall feathers spreading, head up, wings trailing, but not ingloriously. His crimson comb and purplish wattles give him the appearance of a red-faced and important gentleman who is querulously concerned in everything going on about him. Such pomposity, dignity and swagger is rare. His irritable "gobble, gobble, gobble," strikes terror into the hearts of little children, but is music in the ears of the more sophisticated who envision him trussed up in a roaster and stewing in his own juice.

The turkey has been closely associated with American history from the beginning. It will be remembered at the famous Thanksgiving feast of the Pilgrim Fathers in November, 1621, in which the friendly Indians participated, wild turkey was the chief delicacy. Once this elusive bird was plentiful but now the wild species is all but extinct. In only a few sections of the country the wild turkey may be found. It begins to look as though the domestic turkey is destined to go the way of its progenitor. Young turkeys are hard to raise and the Thanksgiving and Christmas demand exceeds the supply. No one wants to see the day when the turkey has disappeared from the land and the proud gobbler struts and fumes no more.

There is no substitute for the turkey gobbler in sight. As compared with him the rooster is plebian and the gander a lesser breed without the law. The gobbler is the symbol of prosperity and a token of hospitality as well.

JUST ABOUT THE SAME

Old timers insist that the weather in recent years has undergone a marked change—that winters are not so cold and summers not so warm as they used to be. But the U. S. weather bureau flatly contradicts the old inhabitant. Official records show that weather conditions are just about what they were 50 odd years ago—that from year to year there is little difference as to heat, cold and precipitation. However, old beliefs no doubt will persist and the goosebump prophets will continue to get a hearing. But when it is a matter of putting up stoves or donning winter weight wearing apparel one would do well to disregard them.

ON THE DIAMOND

The press of citizens to watch Babe Ruth swat the fly is so great that the Yankee stadium in New York is to be enlarged to seat 125,000 patrons. That would be the most impressive baseball arena in the world, but if it is going to place any limitations upon the performances of the Babe the seats will have to be taken out at once. He must have breathing space.

TOO MUCH FOR IT

An exchange says a newspaper corrects the mistakes it makes. The weather office never does.

NOT THE REASON

That scratching the freshies are doing is not caused by what the Sophs think it is. It is woolen underclothes that have not aimed it yet.

OSTENSIBLY GUSPICIOUS

The local Western Union boy came into deliver a telegram, the other day, and was awe-stricken by the sight of the linotype.

"Don't be afraid," he said gently.

"I ain't afraid," he answered, "but that thing looks suspicious to me."

ANCIENT SPORTS

The man who left his money to buy checkers and checkerboards for the Y. M. C. A. is not likely to arouse any great enthusiasm for his philanthropy. In these days anybody who seeks to stimulate the nation's checkerboard is likely to be considered as a foe to progress. Nowadays we want something to break the speed limit. You can't do it with a checkerboard.

A LIVELY SESSION

Congress will reconvene next Monday, December 3, for the short or "lame duck" session. Scarred senators and representatives from every sector of the presidential battleground are back at the capital for the short but lively session of congress. Senator McNary, father of the McNary-Haugen farm relief measure has a revised bill minus the equalization fee which he hopes to see passed at this session. Congress will have a heavy legislative program before it. The old congress will sit until March 4 next, and President Coolidge then will sign or veto what the old congress does before turning over the office to his successor, Herbert Hoover, president-elect.

START NOW!

Mr. Business Man, why not make your appeal for holiday partonage through the columns of The Sudan News now? With every issue it carries its message into the homes of the best people in the community. Don't blame the people for flocking to the store of your competitor. Tell them about your nice holiday goods and if your prices are right, you will get the business. Advertising pays when you use space in this paper.

HALF THE FUN

Half the fun of the holidays comes in planning. You might as well start enjoying Christmas right now. Sudan merchants are getting ready. Their shelves and counters are becoming loaded with glorious gifts. Whatever your requirements are in winter merchandise you can fill them satisfactorily and economically in Sudan. Remember this and give your home merchant—the Sudan merchant—the first opportunity of supplying your needs.

CAN'T GIVE INFORMATION JUST NOW

One of our mainest (not meaneast) subscribers is the author of this in today's mail:

"I like your paper, but how in hades am I going to get it delivered, now they have cut off the rural route?"

Brother, we concede the point as being unobvious, to say the least. We never knew until today that they had a rural route down there, though we did know that rural routes detoured considerably. And we never knew they had free delivery, though we concede the point that they have several things down there which we are not familiar with. But we offer this suggestion: We will take the matter up with Postmaster General New, and we believe he can arrange delivery satisfactorily, as he has made a real your kind of mess of the postal service up here. We will write him tonight. Thank you for calling our attention to the matter, for no matter where you are you have paid for the paper and should have it. But we will positively not bring it down. We'll send it.

Probably you want to read the Christmas ads of Sudan merchants.

WILL PRINT LETTERS

The News, in its usual spirit of co-operation with everybody and everything, will this year print all letters it receives addressed to Santa Claus, care of The Sudan News. Santa Claus is one of our million or less constant readers, and he has a way of finding out things that little boys and girls desire. We send him the news regularly, and this year he has requested us to see that every little boy and girl, good, bad and indifferent, tells him just what they want, how much candy, fruit, nuts, oranges, etc., so that on Christmas Eve, when he makes his rounds, he will miss no one. He also requests us to announce to the little girls to darn the holes in brother's sock so the goodies will not pour through on the floor.

And no human being is barred from this paper, in this respect, or any other for that matter, and little boys and girls who do not believe in dear old St. Nicholas had better have a care and produce a nice neat letter for him. Letters will be received until December 15, but not later, as Santa is then too busy to read them.

GIRL AND GARB

According to some college compilations it costs the average girl student $307 a year to dress her part. This is suite a bill on behalf of a young girl, but it must be remembered that nowadays a short skirt costs as much as a long one.

STUFF'S OFF

Now that they have saved the country a lot of amateur politicians can go back to work.

THREE "RUTHS"

Three "Ruths" will have seats in the new congress which meets a year from now, unless called in special session. In the recent election three women were elected to the house of representatives, and, strange to say, they are all "Ruths."

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, republican, of Illinois and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, democrat, of Florida, were elected to congress. Both are daughters of two leading figures in political history and it will be interesting to watch their careers. The other "Ruth" Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, republican, of New York.

ass would have used soft rubber for the purpose for which these rollers are used. (See diagram p. 2 fig. 123, M. L. Co.) what ever that address is. When they function properly they are the mosquitoes' pajamas, but when they are obstinate they are the hinges of hades without any oil. Rubbing against these rollers are little tumbler that cause the letters to pitch, toss and tumble when the roller turns, which it does occasionally in cold weather. These are called tumbler, because the bird who put them there started to take a small nip in a wine glass for his stomach's sake, and next morning was dipping down in a barrel with a tumbler, trying to get them to work, for his nerves' sake. Printers are great for nicknames.

Just below these tumbler is the base. What base we have never been informed, but by carefully studying fig. 8, p. 269, M. L. Co., we learn that the base sits rather close to the floor, and is there for that reason—to cover the floor and for the mats to get under, as well as screws, copy, lead pencils, the baby's nickels, etc. The base is undoubtedly an important part of the mechanism of this wonderful labor-increasing machine, for it says in the directions, "Oil every base thoroughly daily," and we have ours knee-deep in Mobiloil No. 4. Just below the base is the floor. This floor serves three distinct purposes:

1. To hold tobacco juice mixed with cigarette snipes and paper. It also has a life-size photograph of a brown mule in the puddle of amber fluid, which is adhered as closely as does the base.

2. To keep the wonderful head-acher from setting on the bare ground.

3. To catch the editor's hat and coat when he is in a hurry to wrestle said tumbler.

The said machine, in its entirety, sets nearly on this floor, or as the poet would say, "In juxtaposition to its foundation," for the aforementioned foundation is yet to be built and is still sacked up in the lumber yard. When this machine is moved to its permanent home six varas n. t. by two varas e. by s. e., as the surveyors' laughing say as they hand you a bunch of field notes, we know that what is under the base will make Old King Tut's tomb's contents look like Woolworth's after a busy day.

We must detour here, for our machine is ready to run, we are ready to run it, and we have a large and interested audience to view it in transit. But the thing does not fit, somehow, our chest gets in the way of our fingers.

In short, ad liberatum, ad intersectum, as the lawyers' tersely remark, as the judge says, "Ten years," we are in a hessofamell if

History of Red Cross

From Origin Until Now

(Columbian Missourian)

Though the Red Cross is well known and its workings perfectly familiar to every human being throughout the world, the facts relative to its origin and development are known but to few. However, below we give a concise history of this great charitable organization, which should be clipped for your scrap book.

On Armistice Day the Red Cross began its roll call drive for membership this year, the centenary year of the founder of the organization.

It might be of interest to recall some of the facts connected with the founding of the Red Cross, so that we may see how this organization has grown from one man's prophetic vision to a world-wide brotherhood working for the alleviation of suffering.

Jean Henri Dunant, born at Geneva on May, 1828, worked, wrote and spent his fortune to make warfare more humane. It was in June of 1859, while he was traveling thru Lombardy, that Dunant saw at first hand the battle between French and fore the purchaser is through the columns of The News. The News covers Sudan and adjacent territory like the morning dew, and the prospective purchaser can sit him down comfortably by his fireside, take an inventory of his financial worth, and figure out where and how much he can buy, and he reads the ads to see where his jack will harvest the most.

We are in favor of this: Let every merchant who is approached by these grafters refer them to W. W. Carpenter, secretary of the Business Mens' Association for an O. K. of his project if Carpenter O. K.'s the offering, put it up, if he turns it down pass it up. Why not?

establish in every country of Europe, aid societies whose aim would be to provide, during war, volunteer nurses for the wounded, without distinction of nationality? * * * These societies, by their permanent existence, could also render great service in the times of epidemics, floods, great fires, and other catastrophes; the Italian soldiers and Austrian soldiers. Forty thousand men died there on a field that historians have named for the hill of Solferino. Dunant wrote of the battle in his "Souvenir" and pictured the scene so vividly that artists have transferred his word picture to canvas.

After he had written his book, he said, "Why relate with complacency, these lamentable details and dwell upon these distressing pictures? Would it not be possible to human motive which would have created them would disintegrate them to act on all occasions in which their labors could be exercised."

All Europe became interested. Dunant visited the courts of the nations and gained support everywhere he went. Finally, in August, 1864, the International Red Cross Treaty was drawn up at Geneva. The two representatives Lincoln sent from the United States did not sign because of the traditional fear of entangling alliances, and it was not till 1882 that America entered.

Dunant was honored at the conference, then was allowed to disappear. He was again brought to public attention in 1897. In 1907 he was awarded half of the first Nobel Peace Prize "for the most meritorious endeavor to promote general brotherhood."

It is such an organization, founded by this devoted humanitarian, that you are being asked to join and to support in this 1923 Roll Call drive. Join!

Res. 11

Sudan, Texas

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE NO. 13

BE IT ORDAINED: By the City Commission of the City of Sudan, of Lamb county Texas.

1. That no person shall operate, or drive a vehicle within this city, other than on the right side of the street, or alley, upon which such vehicle is being used. No person shall turn any vehicle upon any street or alley within this city, except at the intersection of two streets, and in turning such vehicle said person shall always keep to the center of the intersection of such street, and no person shall turn such vehicle without having immediately, prior to the turning thereof indicated his intention to do so, as follows: If such person intends turning to the left, extend the hand and arm horizontally at the right angles to the vehicle which such person is driving. If he, or she intends turning to the right, extend the hand and arm in the same manner, except the hand elevated at an angle of about 30 degrees. If his or her intention is to stop, extend the hand and arm as above stated, but with the hand lowered to an angle of 30 degrees. The above mentioned signs, indicating the intention of the operator of any vehicle must be made so the hand and arm thus extended shall be clearly visible to persons in front or behind such vehicle. And no vehicle shall back, except when leaving the curb, or side walk.

2. No person shall park any vehicle except on the right side of the street, and against the curb; and in leaving the parking position, shall only back such vehicle far enough to clear such other vehicles as may be stopped, or parked, and immediately proceed on the right side of the street. Parking shall be done only at an angle of 45 degrees to the curb, with the right front wheel against the curb, and not closer than two feet to any other vehicle. No person shall stop, or park a vehicle within 20 feet of any of the following described places: (1) The intersection of two streets; (2) The intersection of a street with an alley; (3) Any fire plug.

3. State laws regulating speed limit, and prescribing lights for motor vehicles shall be enforced

AMERICA KEEN TO SEE NEW SIX-CAR

Detroit, Nov. 24.—Motoring America was on its tip-toes tonight as two of its large metropolitan centers were viewing for the first time the sensational new valve-in-head six cylinder Chevrolet, which was announced November 16. Interest was keyed to a high pitch in New York and Detroit as the financial and motor capitals of the country respectively, prepare to greet this most advanced offering of the world's largest automobile producer for 1928.

The two advance showings opened simultaneously at noon Saturday, November 24th, the New York premiere taking place in a brilliant setting in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and the Detroit debut in the Auditorium of the General Motors building. Both showings are to continue up to and including Thursday, November 29th.

Meanwhile the gigantic Chevrolet manufacturing organization is applying itself to a heavy production program so that cars may be shipped to dealers starting December 15 and within the limits of this City.

4. All stop signs shall be observed.

5. Any person violating any provision of this ordinance shall, upon conviction, be punished by a fine of not less than five, (5) dollars, nor more than Two Hundred ($200.00) dollars.

6. The fact that there is no ordinance governing the traffic of this city which is of sufficient protection to human life, and property, creates an emergency and that this ordinance be passed at the meeting of its introduction and be in effect immediately after its passage, and publication, as prescribed by law.

Passed, approved and ordered published, this the 23rd day of November, 1928.

J. C. Barron, Mayor.
J. R. Dean, Commissioner.
J. A. Hutto, Commissioner.

deliveries to the public may begin promptly January first.

Chevrolet's dealers are in readiness to take care of a deluge of advance orders. For several days prior to the announcement the sales division of the company, under direction of R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales, made use of every information medium available in preparing dealers and salesmen for the advent of the new six.

Tons of literature were mailed from Detroit, fully descriptive of the new product. Lighted shadow boxes with full color illustrations of the new models, and slide films for projection on the screen or wall of darkened room, proved invaluable aids in disseminating the facts. Special talking records, so timed as to synchronize with the slide film pictures and descriptions were also used and proved to be just another instance of the ingenuity the sales division exemplified in getting all the facts to its dealers and salesmen for use during this announcement period.

In the company's announcement last week of "a six in the price range of the four," there was indicated a smashing triumph for quantity production. It pointed out that the new car with the advanced features it embodies, was made possible at its price chiefly through the influence of great volume production. W. S. Knudsen, president and general manager, stated on the announcement that only volume production made possible by the tremendous popular reception accorded Chevrolet in recent years enabled the company to offer a car with the speed, acceleration power and smoothness of six cylinder performance at practically the same price that contributed so much to the world-wide popularity of the four.

So that the entire country might have an opportunity of seeing the new car before it goes on the road, January first, the Chevrolet Motor Company arranged a series of eleven advance showings in as many leading cities strategically located throughout the country. The showings now under way will take the form of an elaborate miniature automobile show with attractive settings and suitable entertainment features. Provision has been made to accommodate more than a million people who are expected to attend one or other of the showings that will take place from coast to coast from now until December 22. Included in the legion of automobile enthusiasts who will be in attendance during the course of the showings will be 30,000 Chevrolet dealers and salesmen, many of whom will travel 300 miles or more to be present at the various premiere showings of the new Chevrolet.

Immediately following the advance showing in New York and Detroit, there will be three important showings. The New York cars will go to Washington for a gala opening at the Mayflower Hotel in the Capitol city, December first. This showing will continue up to and including December 4.

Meanwhile the Detroit display will be moved to Chicago, where the mid-western metropolis will see the new Chevrolet line December 1-6 inclusive. This particularly elaborate exhibit will take place in the Pure Oil Building at Wacker Drive and Wabash Avenue.

The Pacific Coast will get its first glimpse of the new line on the same day with Washington and Chicago. When the Los Angeles display is opened in the auditorium of the Ambassador Hotel. The time required to ship cars from the Flint, Mich., factory to the coast accounts for the fact that the initial showing on the western seaboard will be seven days behind the New York and Detroit premieres. The Los Angeles showing will continue from December 1-

Following the showing in the Capitol City, the Washington cars will go to Cincinnati, where a similar display will be staged in the Sinton Hotel, December 8 to 14, and then to Atlanta, where the Capitol city of the old South and the home of the new Chevrolet assembly plant, will greet the cars from December 18 to 22 in the Auditorium-Armory.

At the conclusion of the six day run, the Chicago exhibit will be moved to St. Louis for a seven day showing in the Arcadia Ballroom, beginning December 8. Dallas in the center of the Lone Star state, will be next in line, receiving the St. Louis show cars on December 18, when the display will open at the Adolphus Hotel and continue until December 22.

San Francisco will claim the Los Angeles cars on December 8 when the Golden Gate display opens in Civic Auditorium-Larkin Hall for a

FARMERS MAKE 3 WAYS PAY THEM

Practically everybody would be glad to see some practical means of farm relief brought about by legislation, but the wise farmers not depending too much on politicians for a betterment of his condition.

Some instances in which farmers have successfully sought relief thru better methods are related in recent magazine articles which give food for thought. Here are a few:

John D. Brader, of Oswego, Kan., rented out three-fourths of his land seven years ago and devoted the rest to dairy cattle and poultry. From 17 cows and 350 hens he cleared $2,600 last year. Fifteen years ago he was a renter; now he owns his farm and is president of a bank.

A. E. Nelson, of Govick, Minn., found a few dairy cows profitable so he increased his herd, likewise increasing his monthly milk check to an average of $308.

Henry Hogeman, of Emmet county, Iowa, got out of the beaten path by raising 30 acres of beets which brot him $3,600 last season. William Mollison, another Iowa farmer, raised a big flock of poultry in connection with his other farming operations and made money.

In many sections of the South the "cow, sow and hen" are bringing prosperity to farmers who formerly grew poorer and poorer through depending on cotton alone. In every state many progressive farmers are bettering their condition by similar means.

There is no denying that agriculture is in a bad way generally, but a better planned farm program would enable many farmers to overcome this condition to a great extent.

TOO GOOD

A linotype operator in another state has received a legacy of $125,000. He can buy himself a newspaper and make all the mistakes he wants without a chance of being "called down."

six day run closing December 13. From San Francisco the west coast show cars will be shipped to Portland, Oregon, where the Pacific Northwest will view the exhibition in the public Auditorium from December 18 to 22.

The Outstanding Chevrolet
of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History... a Six in the price range of the four!

Spectacular as Chevrolet's achievements have been in the past... notable as its engineering triumphs have proved themselves to be—this remarkable new car dwarfs every previous Chevrolet accomplishment. Not only does it introduce into the low-priced field an entirely new measure of performance, comfort, beauty and style—but it is sold at prices so low as to alter every previous conception of motor car value.

The new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—developed from more than a hundred motors designed especially for this sensational car—stands out as an engineering masterpiece. With a power increase of approximately 32% over the previous Chevrolet motor, with sensationally greater speed and faster acceleration—it offers a type of performance that is literally astounding. And it affords an economy averaging better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

In appearance, this Outstanding Chevrolet is destined to become an automotive sensation—so smart, so stylish and so distinctively appointed that it rivals the costliest custom creations! The marvelous new Fisher bodies are longer, lower and roomier with adjustable driver's seat in all closed models—and reveal the matchless artistry of Fisher designers. With their modish new colors, their smart dual mouldings and their distinctive concave pillars, they achieve a degree of original beauty that has seldom been equaled in motor car design.

You are cordially invited to visit our showroom and secure complete detailed information about this sensational new car which will be ready for delivery beginning January 1st.

PRUIETT WITH HI-WAY MOTOR

S. R. Pruitt, an experienced mechanic in the automobile business, is now connected with the Hi-Way Motor Co., and will be pleased to see you when you need him. This gentleman needs no introduction to the Sudan public for he was mail carrier here for several years and has only recently resigned his mail position to accept that with this favorite motor company. The Hi-Way is to be congratulated upon securing his services, and the public will do well in partonizing him.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dryden and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ormand were among the Sudanites who attended the annual conference at Lubbock, which convened recently. Both parties declare that this conference was brim full of good business and kept those attending interested all the time.

NEW METHODIST PASTOR

For youths who have been laying about Sunday morning and letting the world go by and the Sunday School and church services with it, the time is here when you will have to reform, for the Sudan Methodist church has a new pastor for the ensuing year, and he is coming with a reputation for constructive work and hustling.

The gentleman is no other than Rev. C. H. Hooten, and he will be on the job in a few weeks.

HERE ON BUSINESS

J. B. James, of Abilene, is a visitor to Sudan this week and will remain for a couple of weeks, as his business affairs demand that much time.

We are glad to have the gentleman with us and anticipate his stay proving both pleasant and profitable.

BUY LABOR OF LAND

A. T. Walker, of Sentinel, Okla., and J. M. Carpenter, of Dill, Okla., were here this week and each purchased a labor of land through Sudan's progressive real estate man, V. C. Nelson, who says he is not going to move. These men will improve and move to their purchases in the near future, and The News takes this opportunity of welcoming them.

FREE DEMONSTRATION OF FAMOUS W W FEED GRINDER

The Sudan Mercantile Company has now been appointed agent for the famous W W Feed Grinder, a machine which revolutionized this branch of business.

The mercantile company is going to stage a free demonstration in the near future, and will announce the time and place through the columns of this paper. Watch for the ad, and subscribe now for The News so you will be up to date.

THE REASON

Santa Claus was making post haste. He was headed toward Amherst, according to what we understood, but we waved him down.

"What you got on your mind," we questioned.

"Ah, I'm busy," he retorted, rather testily.

While we were conversing we raised the tarp and looked over his load, which consisted of a big sledge hammer, a thousand or so lead pencils, and a thousand or so automobiles.

"What you doing with the load?" we asked.

"It's Christmas Eve," said Old Santa and I've got a real night's work cut out for me. I'm bound for Amherst first and Sudan next. I'm going to fill those girls' stockings at Amherst, that's the why of the lead pencils, and I've brot the sledge along to drive them in with. I'm taking the autos to Sudan for the same reason. See you later," and he hurried away.

Automobile Etiquette.

Authorities on etiquette agree that when a man and woman are riding together in a carriage or automobile the woman should be seated on the right. If the vehicle is not so placed that the woman, in stepping in, can easily move over to the right side, good form permits her to take her seat and allow the man to step across to his seat. Some authorities regard it as extreme for a man to walk to the left side of the car to enter. In case there is no door in attendance the man can close the door as he steps into the car.

Unlucky Greek Letter.

Theta is sometimes called the unlucky Greek letter, from being used in ancient Greece by the judges on their ballots when condemning a prisoner to death. It was used because it was the first letter of the Greek word for "death."

Boring Metals.

Brass, copper, iron, steel and other metals are easily drilled if you use oil or grease as a lubricant. Do not try to drill too rapidly, and when peary through the metal go very slowly, as a drill may easily be broken by trying to turn it too rapidly as it pushes itself through the surface.

Anthony the First Active Monk.

The first monk who drew such attention to monastic life as to spread abroad its fame was Anthony. He was born in the village of Coma, in the province of Heracleopolis, about the year 251. He lived to be about 100 years old.

Fish Not Brain Food.

It used to be believed that certain foods, especially fish and other foods containing phosphorus, were especially valuable for the gray matter of the brain. This is not believed any more. Brain cells apparently use the same kinds of food materials as all other living cells do. The best way to feed the brain well is to keep the body in good health.

Under Glass Roofs.

Dutch East Indians may truthfully be said to "live in glass houses" and neither is it a stony country. The homes of Europeans and many of those of the wealthiest natives have roofs of uniform red tiles, made of the red clay of Java, and glass tiles, giving a skylight effect over the entire roof.

RETURNS FROM FUNERAL

V. C. Nelson was called to Fort Worth the latter part of last week where he attended the funeral of P. G. Dedman who died in that city of heart attack while playing golf.

Mr. Dedman was a brother-in-law of Attorney Frank Potter, of Levelland, and was well and favorably known in this territory. He was also a booster for the South Plains.

ANENT TELEPHONY

A well-known official of the Illinois Bell Telephone Company was rudely aroused from his sleep by the ringing of the telephone. After bruising his knee on a chair he reached the phone.

"Hello," he growled.

"Are you an official of the telephone company?" asked the voice.

"Yes, what can I do for you?"

"Tell me," said the voice, "how it feels to get out of bed at two o'clock in the morning to answer a wrong number."

"(?!), (?!), (?!)," said the official.

The Busy Bee.

In order to store up a kilogram (two and one-half pounds) of honey, bees have to visit at least 6,000,000 heads of red clover, according to computations based on observations of their work by Dr. L. Arnbruster of Berlin. Clover honey requires the most work. Fewer visits to other honey-producing plants are required, as low as 80,000 in the case of peas.

Golfers' Numerals.

A French caddie, after listening to many visiting players, British and American, informed a friend that he learned how to count the strokes in English, viz.: "Von, do, three, four, five, zes, damn, six, damn." Being asked how seven was distinguished from nine in this scoring he replied that when the latter was meant it was pronounced with double force.

Announces Birth of Son.

To announce to his musical friends the birth of a son a Welsh musician sent a card simply bearing four bars of music. They were recognized as from "The Messiah." "Unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given."

Cook Without Fire.

The people of India, when fuel is scarce, cook an egg without fire. The egg is placed in a sling and whirled around for about five minutes, until the heat generated by the motion has cooked it.

St. Augustine, Fla.

St. Augustine, Fla., was settled September 8, 1565, by Spaniards under Pedro Menendez de Aviles; but the place had been visited as early as 1512 by Ponce de Leon.

England's Coal Output.

A wall 30 feet high and 13 feet broad could be built all round England with the coal annually mined in that country.

A Great Discovery

When Pasteur discovered, in 1852, that the infection of worms was caused by malignant bacteria, he performed a service of inestimable value to mankind. Since then medical science has been producing better and better antiseptics, to kill these germs that may enter the smallest cut and give us diseases such as typhoid, tuberculosis and lockjaw. Now, all you have to do to be sure that these dreadful germs will not infect a wound, is to wash that wound, however small, thoroughly with Liquid Borozone, the modern antiseptic. You can get Liquid Borozone, in a size to fit your needs and purse, from H. G. Ramby Drug Store.

BAND CONCERT LAST SUNDAY

The local band gave a delightful band concert last Sunday, which was enjoyed by a large crowd. As a whole the band has improved wonderfully in the last few months, and is now playing some real classy music. The organization anticipates giving another concert in the near future.

WRONG

Some how or other the election returns for Lamb County have been mixed up so badly that in the daily papers the county is given to Smith with 1,266 votes, and Hoover being totaled with 443. That's all wrong.

The thing is exactly backwards. Smith received 443 in the official count and Hoover 1,266. That's the way it should be, and is.

AN EXPLANATION

The young clerkman was a frequent visitor. It was thought that Grace, the eldest sister, was the cause of it. One day he was dining with the family, and the moment everyone was seated, Amy, the youngest sister, began to talk. "Hush, Amy," said the mother, as the preacher started the blessing, "Mr. Penick is about to ask Grace."

"Well," said she, "it's about time. We've all been expecting it for months and so has she."

ANSWERED

Suspicious Husband: "Who called this afternoon?" His Better Half: "Only Aunt Sophie."

S. H.: "Well, she left her cigar stub."

DRAFTS NEW AUTO FEE BILL FOR LEGISLATURE TO SEE

S. E. Barnett, of Greenville, floratorial representative of Hunt and Raines counties is preparing a bill proposing a minimum automobile highway registration fee of $4.00 and a maximum fee of $10.00 to be presented at the next session of the Texas Legislature. Under the provisions of the proposed bill, all automobiles would be divided into three distinct classes based on weight and eliminating the horsepower fee entirely.

The first class would include all cars up to 2,500 pounds with a registration fee of $4.00, the second class cars weighing between 2,500 and 3,500 pounds with a tax of $7.50 and the third class all motor vehicles weighing above 3,200 pounds with a maximum registration fee of $10.00.

Thanksgiving

The old Puritan New Englanders were the first to set aside November 25th as a day for giving thanks for the blessings they had received during the year.

The fine old custom, has endured and so we are about to observe with prayers of thanks another Thanksgiving Day.

And think of the many things we have to be thankful for.

Health, safety, peace and prosperity and many, many more. Let us enter into the spirit of the day. Also give thanks for the modern banking systems which have made our prosperity possible.

OURS ARE THE BLESSINGS FOR WHICH THEY JOURNEYED FAR!

In 1621, our Pilgrim Fathers landed at Plymouth Rock.

They have made it unnecessary for us to journey to strange lands, as they did, in the quest for happiness.

Our happiness is available to us right in our own home town.

We have the sort of community for which the Pilgrims strove. Ours are the blessings for which they journeyed far! Let us nurture these blessings by upholding and supporting our home community to the greatest extent in our power. Let us make our town grow by contributing to its general welfare through the medium of patronizing our own home town merchants, whose success means the success of the community.

The business growth of our town means the growth of our recreational, educational and social activities.

When you make your purchases out of town, you are fighting against the community spirit which animated the Pilgrims and which is the mainspring of all American progress!

Get the community spirit!

Down Through the Years Our Thankfulness Increases

When the Pilgrims observed that first Thanksgiving Day 307 years ago, they gave thanks that their lives had been spared and that harvests had been plentiful.

Today, how much more we have to be thankful for than our Pilgrim forebears. Liberty, for which they braved the dangers of a new land, had become our unquestioned right, and the spirit of our liberty has lighted the fires of freedom throughout the world.

We thank the farmers, our old friends and new ones, for their liberal patronage this year, and trust our service will warrant an increase in business next year.

SCHOOL NEWS IS EVIDENCE OF ALL SCHOOLS PROGRESS

Freshies Display Versatile Talents In This Week's Items of School Happenings

These re What We Wrote About First attempt, change of sponsors, New teacher, Stage scenery to be installed, Morton Basketball games cancelled, Girls' first basketball game Tuesday of this week. New suits for boys' basketball now in. Girls have only part of their suits. Play, "Lone Star," to be staged soon, Chapel program last Tuesday one of best of the year. New pupil, compliment from Superintendent Harrison. Report Cards will go out from High School next week. Theater party Monday night. Adjustment of classification of Grammar School next Monday. Supt. Wilkins' daughter visits over week end, etc., etc.

According to the law of inheritance, we, the Freshman Class of Sudan High School, now enter upon a month of service as news gatherers to let the readers of The Sudan News know what is taking place in our school. We feel that we owe much to its jolly editor for the privilege of keeping our home folks informed of what we are doing. This issue and three others will complete the work of this class in this present venture; so do not grow too impatient with us.

Orphans Adopted

Last Friday our formally elected sponsor, Coach Brown, appeared before a class meeting and placed his resignation as sponsor. He is too busy to take the time we need. It seems that we poor Freshmen have been the orphans of the school all along; therefore, we appealed to Mr. Wilkins to adopt us by being our sponsor, a duty which he has undertaken. Now, we do not feel that we are orphans. We are at least "adopted members" as Uncle Walt puts it in the funny sheets.

School Is Growing

The growth of our school had placed twelve to fifteen pupils more in some of the high school classes than we had seats for in class rooms. The state supervisor required that we remedy this condition. The school board met as promptly as possible and gave instructions that a teacher be added to take care of classes formed by creation of sections in these overgrown classes. The teacher came in Friday evening, and began her duties Monday morning of this week. She is Miss Doris Ware, of Taylor, Texas. Miss Ware is a graduate of Baylor College, a former fellow student of Miss Bond, holds her A. B. degree, having majored in history, and is well-equipped for her work here. She has daily three sections of history and two in arithmetic. Her home room is the northeast room, second floor of the high school building, and she is sponsor for another set of orphans, section B of the seventh grade.

Stage Scenery To Come

The Parent-Teacher association, loyally supported by our business men have arranged for the purchase of stage scenery for our high school auditorium. We have not yet been given details of the new scenery, but we are assured that this furniture will be the equal of that in far larger cities than Sudan.

The basket ball games for Wednesday of this week with Morton were called off by the Morton coach; therefore we shall not have any games at Sudan this week. The girls, however, have a game on Tuesday with Fairview, but it will be too late for information about the game to appear in these columns this week. We are glad to tell you that the old suits for the boys basketball teams have arrived. The suits for the girls are here only in part, part of them having been delayed. The suits for the boys are beauties. We wonder why Coach thought so much of them that he had to put on one and exhibit it to the boys? It looked fine on him even if he is not a team member.

The faculty, with the help of Mrs. Dean and Elwin Hamilton, is preparing to stage a good western drama about December 14. This play, "Lone Star," is said by competent judges to be one of the best ever composed by the American playwright, Oliver P. Parker. The proceeds will be used under the auspices of the P. T. A. to help defray expenses of the new stage scenery. It is only fair to our girls' pep squad to state that they, also will be heavy contributors to this worthy cause. We shall state in a future issue what they are contributing.

The chapel program given last Monday by the third grade under the direction of Mrs. Grissom, was one of the best of the year. Her pupils showed drill, care and supervision.

Another new pupil has come to the grammar school this week. She is Opal Clendennin and is in the fifth grade. We wonder when our present rate of increase will stop.

Last week, while at his night class with Dr. Garlin in our school Superintendent Harrison, of Littlefield, paid our high school a compliment that we certainly did appreciate. He spoke in the highest terms of our care of our buildings. We are glad of this because the houses are ours and we respect and love every brick and stone in the old walls. The time will come when we believe we shall find that these old buildings here mean more to us than any others in the world, except those of our homes.

The reports of the high school pupils due this week will be delayed until next Monday as we are to have a two-day holiday this week, and teachers want cards back immediately after they are inspected Thursday and Friday as holidays. This will enable us to have a chance for three days of work at home without loss of time from school. We appreciate this thoughtfulness on the part of the faculty.

Among the Thanksgiving trips to be made are: A motorcade to Carlsbad Caverns by the Senior Class, accompanied by Clint Dyer, Miss Bond and her mother, and some of the other teachers whose names we have not learned. Mr. Wilkins expects to make a business trip to Central Texas, visiting Indian Gap, Stephenville and other points. Mr. and Mrs. Newton are to make a trip to visit his old home at Cross Cut, near Brownwood. Mrs. Wilkins expects to visit her mother at Ralls. Her mother is still ill, having been the victim of a slight attack of paralysis.

Last Monday night the football squad treated the pep squad to a theater party. All report an enjoyable occasion at the theater. At that time the screen play was "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Adjustment of pupil standing in the grammar school will take place next Monday. It is hinted that there will be several changes in the daily program as a result of it. The intention is to so classify the entire grade school that no pupil be deprived of his opportunity to secure all the training possible. We have been told in the office that it will probably lead to a regular division of the school into high and low sections of the grades after this year. If it keeps farm children from losing all their year's opportunity it will be a long step forward and upward, as one of the complaints formerly made against our system was that it did not take care of the farmer's children who had to stay out two or three months to work.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Wells spent a few hours last Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins. Mrs. Wells is their oldest daughter. Her husband is a dairyman in Lubbock and he was scouting for a few Jersey dairy cows to add to his herd in Lubbock, he being one of the few men who cater to an all-Jersey trade in Lubbock.

There will be one event of particular importance here Thanksgiving Day. The Sudan All-Stars will meet a similar football team from Amherst at Amherst that day. Neither of these teams is representative of the schools. They are independent players, past team members of the two towns, and may be expected to give a splendid account of themselves. Sudan All-Stars are equipped with suits that beats the suits of Amherst. Earlier in the season, and the prestige given by them may encourage the home team to play over their heads to beat Amherst again.

One of our Juniors, Addie Belle Spires, is wearing a very prominent smile recently, and for a very good reason. No, it is not for a diamond ring. She does not want of them for many years yet. Her uncle sent her a saddle pony for a present the fourth of this month. This pony is a splendid little Arabian named "Domino." He is spotted, splendid, spirited, a lovely pet for anybody. We wish her joy of him. The giver of this wonderful present is L. C. Spires, of Lovington, New Mexico.

The treats given by Professors Brown, Hammock and Bond to the Freshmen last Friday were certainly enjoyed. At its close we were told that we should lose them as teachers of some of our classes, they had had during the months

I. C. C. REFUSES TO PERMIT NEW ROAD

That a railroad will not be built through Olton and the northern part of Lamb County was the virtual meaning of the decision handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D. C., recently, when a ruling was made against an application of the Pecos and Northern Texas railway, of the Santa Fe system for construction of 66 miles of line from Hale Center to Parmerton.

The examiner declared the proposed line would not serve the public convenience because it would parallel the new line of the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains Railway company at an average distance of 13 miles and would divert from the proposed railroad a large part of the traffic that it might otherwise secure.

A hearing on the application of the Pecos company relative to the proposed road was held at Lubbock last May 21-22, before Examiner H. C. Davis, and was hotly contested by officials of the Denver system. At that time there were numerous witnesses called from Lamb, Hale and Castro counties, giving testimony pro and con in the matter. The Denver officials insisted that the potential resources of the section through which the proposed railroad was to run, were not sufficient to create tonnage warranting two railroad lines so close together.

AN INSPIRATION

Have you an interesting picture in the kitchen—hung where it catches your eye many times during the day?

In this sensible age, you know, no one denies the appropriateness—if not the psychological necessity—of a glimpse of sunny, winding road over country hills when one is confined at kitchen tasks. Or perhaps the picture might be some fragrant, old-fashioned garden, or a child at play.

Cheerful scenes in the kitchen are often invaluable, both for decorative purposes and as a counter-irritant.

BAILEYBORO SCHOOL CASE COMES UP FOR AN AIRING

The Baileyboro school case was aired before the County Judge and County Board of Education at the county seat recently. The case involves the building of the new school. The location of the school is now on the north line of the district, and the hearing was to determine whether or not it should be moved to a more central location.

DIMITT INCORPORATES

Incorporation of the township of Dimmitt was voted 63 to 1, at an election held there Tuesday. The Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations are working to secure city water and other conveniences for Dimmitt soon.

gone by, but we still have Miss Runnels in English and Mr. Brown in algebra. We lost Miss Bond in English, Mr. Brown in history and Miss Hammock in algebra. To our present faculty we have added Miss Ware in history; so we have no cause for complaint.

Recently Miss Bond asked Mitchell Simpson to define barn. He answered that it was a garage to keep wild animals in.

Mr. Brown, not long ago, was angry at Mr. Newton for whipping Mrs. Newton and told him he ought to be ashamed of it especially as Mrs. Newton was sick that day. Imagine his astonishment when Mr. Newton told that he whipped Mrs. Newton while she was sick because he was afraid to undertake the job any other time.

Mr. Newton had his class studying up on astronomy not long ago and asked what is called a star with a tail. Ernest Willingham told him it is Rin-Tin-Tin. Mr. Newton is still sulky over it.

CARPENTER SAYS "BOOST OR MOVE"

(By W. W. CARPENTER, Secretary of the Sudan Business Men's Association.)

Now, faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.—Hebrews XI, 1.

Faith is the corner stone, or fundamental principle of the Christian religion.

It is, also, a pre-requisite to successful business operations. The Star-Telegram recently published a series of articles entitled "What Can a Man Believe?" in which the author clearly proved that the most essential qualification of a business man is faith. If a man has not faith to believe that he can make a success of an undertaking, he is not apt to invest his money and give his time to the project. If one happens to become involved in an enterprise in which he has no faith, failure is almost certain.

If a man has no faith in the town, or community in which he lives, or in his neighbors, he ought to move; because he will not cooperate in any progressive enterprise, and is very apt to be a hindrance to any progressive move; a nuisance to his community.

Some smart man has well said: "One man, acting alone, may accomplish something, but one hundred men, by concert of action, each co-operating with the others, can accomplish almost any thing they undertake." If this is true, and I believe it is, have not we enough people in Sudan to make it just what it ought to be?

If we have faith in our town, our country and our neighbors, let us get together and make Sudan a bigger and better town: a town that will cause people "to sit up and take notice," and a town that other people, as well as ourselves, would like to live in. But if we do not have faith in our town, and a kindly feeling toward our neighbors, let us see if we can not cultivate faith and brotherly kindness and a desire to co-operate, or let us move.

PROTECTION

TEACHERS' WILL STAGE PROGRAM IN SUDAN DEC. 15

Teachers Plan Intensive Institute For This City On December 15, Which Is All Day Affair

On Saturday, December 15, a joint session of Teachers' Institute will be held with Sudan combining Bailey County and Sudan High School. There are two additional speakers on the program for the day. They are Supt. B. M. Harrison, of Littlefield, and Supt. H. P. Webb, of Olton.

Program

Invocation, Elder Hooten, Pastor of the Methodist Church.

"What Proportion of Pupils May Be Expected To Fail In Their Work," Supt. H. P. Webb.

"Why a Greater Proportion Do Fail," F. B. Talbot.

"How To Develop Penmanship In the Grades," Miss Velma Killough and Mrs. Lillian Dyer.

"Our Truck Problems," B. M. Harrison.

"Consolidation and Unification of Rural Schools," A. L. Stringer.

"The Value of the Interscholastic League," W. B. Brown, J. A. Sloan, D. H. Hargrove, Miss Dorinda Bond.

Prepared by J. C. Jenkins, and W. I. Wilkins, Committee.

EARTHQUAKES

There is a new clerk down at Stokes' drug store and at his expense the following story is going the rounds.

A few days ago two local citizens stepped up to the soda fountain of that dispensary, one of them asking for ice cream sodas for the two. "We've just made a bet of ice cream sodas for the two of us. We'll have them now and when the bet is decided the loser will come in and pay for them."

So they had their sodas and were departing when the new clerk asked what the wager was.

"Well," said the spokesman, "my friend here bets if we ever have an earthquake in Sudan the third story of the Sudan National Bank building will topple over and hit the Ramby Drug building about the middle of the windows on the ground floor, and I'm betting it won't."

MISTAKE

Captain Cooper says he knows of a fellow who thought he had influenza and by mistake took some gasoline for medicine. Now instead of sneezing he honks like a Chevrolet.

BAPTIST HAVE PREACHING

The Rev. J. E. Anderson, who is now missionary for the West Plains Baptist association, preached for the Baptist people in the Grammar School auditorium, Sunday and Sunday night. After preaching Sunday night, the Church, which has been without a pastor for some time, went into the call of a pastor, which resulted in the call of Rev. Mat Harder, of Crosbyton, with a request that Bro. Harder move to Sudan. So, if he accepts the call, we will soon have another minister in our town, trying to lead us in "the church also appointed a committee to draft plans and make arrangements for the erection, at once, of a pastor's home, of not less than five rooms, with bath and modern built-in features.—Reporter.

Doctors Disagree

When children are irritable and peevish, grind their teeth and sleep restlessly, have digestive pains and disturbances, lack of appetite, and have itching eyes, nose and fingers, doctors will not always agree that they are suffering from worms. Many mothers, too, will not believe that their carefully brought up children can have worms. The fact remains that these symptoms will yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge, the sure expellant of round and pin worms. If your child has any of these symptoms, try this harmless, old fashioned remedy, which you can get at 35c per bottle from H. G. Ramby Drug Store

Get the Highest Price for Your Cotton

The price the spinner pays for cotton is based on its spinning value, which is determined by the way cotton is opened, cleaned and moted.

Spinners know from actual tests that cotton put through the Mitchell Double Saw Extractors has a higher spinning value than other cotton. This famous machine not only prevents shale from getting into the lint, but removes stems, dirt and foreign matter. It loosens up the cotton around the seed and preserves all long fibers. The turnout is clean and smooth in character.

The Mitchells pick cotton from snaps and bollies at this gin and raises the grade of best hand-picked cotton.

To make your cotton worth more, put it through the double cleaning system this gin gives.

May we have some of your 1928-29 patronage, and love, peace and joy be yours this glad Thanksgiving.
