Two Arrested For Murder of Holmes

Former Constable Sam Jones, and Jim Hodges indicted Saturday at Stinnett. Nov. 16.

STINNETT, Nov. 16.—Former Deputy Constable Sam Jones and Jim Hodges, former manager of a boiler works, were indicted Saturday afternoon for the murder of John A. Holmes, district attorney, assassinated at his home at Borger on the night of Sept. 13 last.

Both are in the Hutchinson county jail here.

The murder indictments were returned to Special Judge Perry Pearson, Amarillo attorney, who qualified Saturday morning to relieve District Judge J. E. Pickens from the necessity of hearing the civil docket here during the next two weeks. Judge Pickens has gone to Canadian, where two important murder trials are scheduled. The first, that of Charley Hale, will begin Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Scott will be tried for murder Monday week.

All are charged with slaying persons at Borger. Hale for the murder of Roy Martin December 22, 1928, and the Scotts for the killing of Mrs. Barney S. Turney last April.

District Attorney Holmes had prepared to prosecute these cases before he himself was slain. The prosecution will be in charge of his successor, Clem Calhoun, formerly of Hamlin and chief legal adviser to the military court of inquiry that investigated Holmes' death.

Calhoun said he would announce ready in both cases. He will ask the death penalty for Hale.

The former deputy constable, Jones, who was stationed at Borger, in addition to the murder charge, is under indictment charging that he accepted a bribe in connection with liquor traffic in the oil boom town. Hodges, accused with Jones of Holmes' murder, is also under indictment charging a liquor law violation.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17.—Sam Jones, former deputy constable at Borger, and Jim Hodges, former manager of a Borger boiler works, were brought to the Fort Worth jail early today and removed late this afternoon to an unannounced destination.

PAMPA, Nov. 17.—The twentieth annual session of the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference came to a close here tonight with the reading of the appointment of preachers for the ensuing year by Bishop John M. Moore.

The day was featured with sermons by visiting Methodist ministers in local pulpits. Bishop Moore preached at the morning hour to a vast congregation. An old fashioned love feast featured the morning service. This afternoon a memorial service was held for five of Methodism's dead of this conference.

FINDING FAULT.

Mr.—"If you hadn't been so long dressing we wouldn't have missed the train."
Mrs.—"And if you hadn't hurried me so we wouldn't have had to wait so long for the next one."

The thing that will help the farmer most is less dieting, more eating.

If you save ten cents a day from now till Christmas—you'll be broke January 1st.

COLORADO SPRINGS TO BAN CIGARET ADS OF DAINTY GIRL FORMS

COLORADO SPRINGS, Nov. 15.—Dainty feminine forms used to advertise cigarettes may grace posters and billboards of this city just ten days more, if the women of Colorado Springs dictate their intentions to the city council.

"Display of these vile pictures has gone far enough," they declared. "As Christian women, we are not willing to be longer represented in this manner."

Thereupon four church women mustered 200 cohorts and charged the city council. A petition was presented with 2,025 signatures. The council passed the ordinance on first reading.

Ft. Worth & Denver "Will Not Oppose"

Clear Path to North Plains for Santa Fe if Rock Island Takes Same Attitude.

AMARILLO, Nov. 16.—Official announcement that the Fort Worth & Denver does not intend to stand in the way of the Santa Fe's proposed new lines north out of Amarillo to Las Animas, Colo., and to Spearman, was made yesterday.

In a statement wired to the News-Globe, F. E. Clarity of Fort Worth, vice president and general manager of the Denver road, said his road had decided to adopt the "broad viewpoint" of permitting the Santa Fe to carry out its plans without protest.

"The trade territory of Amarillo will be enlarged by reason of the new Santa Fe line," said Mr. Clarity, "and as Amarillo prospers the Fort Worth & Denver hopes and expects to benefit."

This action on the part of the Denver practically gives the Santa Fe clear sailing on its big project north out of Amarillo. It was reported that negotiations are being carried on with the Rock Island with a view of that road withdrawing the formal protest which it recently filed.

Mellon Would Cut Income Tax Rate

Schedule Submitted Gets Approval of Party Leaders. Applies to this Year's Report Only.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Another tax reduction—a one per cent cut in rates to all individual and corporation income taxpayers on next year's federal dues—was on its way today with congressional leaders of both parties hopeful of its approval before Christmas.

While the price-collapsing stock after this news from the capital, a new message bearing hope to business went forth from the treasury late in the day, the federal reserve board announcing a reduction in the discount rate of the New York bank from 5 to 4 1/2 per cent.

Both propositions were regarded by many as the outgrowth of the White House conference yesterday attended by the treasury and reserve board officials, but Secretary Mellon stated explicitly today that the tax reduction had been considered previously, that its announcement was merely a coincidence with the stock market situation; and that it was proposed because of a confidence in the continued prosperity of the country.

The tax reduction is intended to apply only to incomes of this year on which taxes are to be paid during 1930, beginning Mar. 15. For that reason it is planned to have congress adopt merely a resolution applying to the one year, rather than authorize a permanent revision of the tax rates.

Testimony Given In Suit Against Tunney

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 13.—A number of witnesses gave testimony before Dudley K. Kent, Forty-Eighth District Court reporter, in the $500,000 alienation of affections suit brought against Gene Tunney, former heavy-weight champion, by John S. Fogarty, former Fort Worth plumber.

Among those who appeared were Kate Dobbs, former proprietress of a local rooming house, and Johnnie Givens, negro maid at the house, both summoned by Mr. Tunney's counsel.

Phillips Petroleum Sta. Changes Hands

C. J. Duggan has been appointed agent for the Phillips Petroleum Co. to succeed J. L. Ser-ratt, who has been in charge of the business since its opening in Sudan.

Ben R. Beck, well known in this and the Amherst community, will be in charge of the station.

I. D. Onstead, present truck driver, will remain in the employ of the firm.

Mr. Duggan also has the agency at Littlefield, having recently been checked in there by the company.

Business Is Good; West Is Cheerful

Farmers Have Not Been Speculating. Middle West More Cheerful Than East.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—General optimism as to the future volume and profitability of American commerce characterizes a summary of views of 600 representative business men throughout the country, as shown in their responses to queries circulated in the last week by W. M. Kiplinger, conductor of a business information service here.

More than ordinary official attention has been given the consensus elicited by the survey, the frank but confidential opinions having been scanned by cabinet members closely in touch with the commercial world. Practically all of those questioned are leaders in business and financial enterprises of consequence.

Taking all the replies, it was noticeable that the Middle Western writers expressed much more cheer than the average Eastern writers. Scores of the letters insisted that the fundamental soundness of American business could be gauged by the lack of stocks on hand in any lines of importance and the lowness of general commodity prices.

Actual earnings of business enterprise, it was concluded by the majority, during the fourth quarter of this year would be fair for small as well as large enterprises, though it was also expressed by many that the first quarter of 1930 would not show as large returns for corporations generally as the first quarter of the present year.

"No business panic ever happened when corporations had ample cash," one writer said in pointing to the business position of several organizations of his acquaintance.

"Farmers have not been speculating, and the Christmas trade with them will be good," another westerner observed.

INCOME TAX EXPERT TO FACE NEW CHARGE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—Miss J. Marjorie Berger, Hollywood income tax counselor, who was sentenced Wednesday to two and one-half years in federal penitentiary for falsifying income tax returns of Dorothy Mackall, film actress, today was ordered to trial January 28 on charges of similarly aiding Tom Mix, film cowboy, and Eleanor Boardman Vidor, also of the movies.

COURT HOLDS OFFICERS OF CITY OF BORGER ARE LEGAL

STINNETT, Texas, Nov. 14.—Efforts of more than 200 petitioners to force a city election in Borger to name a mayor and commissioner, failed before County Judge H. M. Hood Wednesday.

Judge Hood denied the petition on the ground that Borger is in charge of three city commissioners, duly elected, duly qualified, and acting as required by the charter since October 15. All three commissioners were appointed after resignations resulting from martial law in Borger.

"The said city commissioners," Judge Hood continued, "are the judges of the qualifications and election of the members of the City Commission."

The petition was denied on the further grounds that there never had been more than one vacancy in the commission at any one time.

New York to London In Six Hours In $5,000,000 Plane

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 13.—New York to London in six hours in an airplane accommodating 500 passengers and a crew of 104 is a possibility of the near future, according to Harry R. Westcott, president of Westcott & Mapkes, engineers of New Haven, who said Wednesday his firm has been asked to aid on structural work for the plane.

The superplane, Westcott said, may be built in New York at a cost of $5,000,000. His firm will submit bids within 30 days.

The gigantic aircraft, Westcott said, would have 12 1,000-horsepower motors, and would be designed to overcome wind resistance at an extremely high altitude.

Beyond the fact that German engineers are negotiating with an American concern on motive power, Westcott would divulge no further information. He said he had seen drawings for the plane, and that plans call for construction of two of them.

WEIMHOLD SHIPS TURKEYS.

Mr. H. H. Weimhold on last Friday and Saturday loaded and shipped two cars of fine turkeys, almost the entire two loads grading number one. There are many turkeys on the farms of this and adjoining counties, but the low state of the market has caused many to hold in hopes the Christmas market will be stronger.

$35,000 If Taken Alive, $75,000 if Dead

That is the Way the Reward is Offered for Seven Bandits Who Robbed Waco Girl at Party.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 15.—A reward of $35,000 if taken alive and $70,000 if dead, was offered Friday for seven men, who armed and masked, raided the suburban home of John L. Carson, Jr., Thursday night during a prenuptial dinner party in honor of a prominent young couple.

Lining the fourteen guests and half a dozen servants against a wall, the robbers stripped them of jewelry valued by the guests at $400,000. They also obtained a small amount of cash and fur wraps from an upper floor.

The most valuable item in the list of stolen jewels is a triple string of matched pearls, owned by Mrs. Ray Van Clief, said by one of the guests to be worth between $250,000 and $300,000.

Mrs. Phillip Metz, wife of one of the business executives of the Buffalo Evening Times and a daughter of Norman E. Mack, estimated the value of her jewelry taken by the bandits at $65,000.

Miss Eleanor Cameron of Waco, Texas, who, with her fiancé, Courtland Van Clief, was the guest of honor at the party, also lost jewels valued at a high total.

Miss Cameron and Van Clief are to be married on Nov. 20.

Sweetwater to Have Next M. E. Conference

PAMPA, Texas, Nov. 15.—Sweetwater was unanimously chosen the 1930 meeting place of the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference today by that body in 20th annual session here. Sweetwater had no opposition.

If the general conference of the church meeting in Dallas next April accepts the resolution adopted by the annual conference here today, the ecclesiastical territory embraced in the Panhandle of Oklahoma will become an integral part of the Northwest Texas conference. A similar resolution adopted by the West Oklahoma conference memorializing the general conference gives perfect agreement between the two conferences. The territory is about 158 miles long and 38 in breadth.

It comprises 8 pastoral charges, now detached from the Western Oklahoma conference by a wedge territory allocated to the Methodist Episcopal Church (North). The annexation is subject to the general conference, the law making body of the denomination.

OBJECTED TO MARRYING, BUT WOULD BE BEST MAN

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 15.—R. V. Robinson was just passing by. He did not intend to get married, but he had, in his own words, "a very narrow escape."

Leave Robinson for a moment and consider Sebastian Fersinger and Miss Etta Frame, who did want to get married. They said as much to Justice of the Peace Harrison.

"If you insist upon being married," said the justice, "I won't argue. However, you need a best man. Pardon me while I get a best man."

Justice Harrison went outside. Robinson was passing by.

"How," said Justice Harrison, "would you like to be a best man?"

"I don't mind," said Robinson. "Anything to help out."

Back in the justice's courtroom, the folks lined up.

"Do you," inquired Justice Harrison, "take this woman to be your lawful wedded wife?"

"I should say not," said Robinson, reaching for his hat. "I'd be willing to be best man, but I won't marry anybody."

Justice Harrison reached for his glasses, put them on and looked the situation over. He had placed the best man where the bridegroom should have been, and vice versa.

"My error," said the justice; and soon thereafter Miss Frame became Mrs. Fersinger, and Robinson went home.

Federal Aid For Schools Suggested

National Grange Would Use Treasury Surplus for Schools Instead of Reducing Income Tax Rate.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 15.—Criticizing the action of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon for recommending a $160,000,000 income tax cut, one of four resolutions introduced on the convention floor of the National Grange here Friday advocated the use of such a surplus for rural school development. The amendments were held over as future business.

Such money, Grange officials argued, should be apportioned according to population throughout the rural districts of the Union for school purposes. The plan would not only relieve the farmer of a considerable portion of his taxation, but also would place the cost of education partly on the national government, they asserted.

The plan, as proposed by the Grangers, would bring the federal government into educational work in a manner similar to its activities in road construction.

The delegates refused to consider suggestions that successful farm relief can be given them without the debenture plan.

Three Churches Confer On Religious Issues

Catholic, Jew and Protestant Sit Together in First Seminar Sifting Religious Intolerance.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 13.—Catholic, Jew and Protestant sat down together at Harvard Tuesday to discuss the causes and effects of religious intolerance in the first seminar of its kind ever held in New England and one of the first in America. Rabbis, priests and Protestant clergymen, educational and business leaders were among the 490 persons who took part.

The seminar was conducted by the Calvert Round Table of Boston, an organization including equal representation of the three religious groups, recruited from business and professional leaders.

President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard opened the session. He traced the history of religious enmities and said:

"Is mankind doomed forever to have its love linked with its hatred, its best with its worst propensities? Our problem for the future is to arouse religious fervor without religious rancor. An attempt to prepare the way for a better state of that kind is the mark set by the round table and there can be none greater."

The seminar divided into three round tables, one on vocational adjustment, presided over by George W. Coleman, president of Babson Institute of Wellesley; a second on misrepresentation of religious practices and beliefs, conducted by Prof. Harrison S. Elliott of Union Theological Seminary, New York; and the third on community conflict and cooperation, led by Prof. John J. Mahoney of Boston University.

JUNIOR B. Y. P. U. Sunday night the Juniors had twenty present and a very interesting lesson on "Baptist Doctrine in Other Lands." Group one had charge of the program and the following numbers were rendered:

The First Medical Missionary—Virginia Davis.
Africa—Harold West.
China—Delbert Harvey.
South China—Flossie Lee Long.
Richmond, Virginia—Louise West.

Says Uncle Sam Should Pay for Street Work

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas Wednesday introduced a bill authorizing the federal government to pay its part of the cost of street and other improvements adjoining its building sites throughout the country.

The bill provides that the federal government pay in the same amount as if it were an owner legally subject to assessment under the laws of the city and state where the federal property is located. Exemption of federal property from local taxation has been a subject causing considerable irritation in many cities throughout the country, Senator Sheppard said.

Report Says Labor Still Is Steady

Industry Was Not Disturbed by Recent Financial Upheaval. Employment Not Reduced.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Department of Labor in its monthly employment bulletin issued Thursday, said October reports indicated the "recent financial upheaval" had not disturbed industry or caused any reduction in employment.

The report said this was held to be "self-evident proof" that industry is fundamentally sound and that "the future may reveal that more money will be available for the further development of industry and the establishment of new industry."

Seasonal decreases in the production of automobiles caused a drop in employment in this industry and a similar decreased employment in the iron and steel mills was attributed to the automobile depression. Conditions in the cotton-textile industry improved somewhat, but were said to be "spotty" still, while large forces were employed in the silk goods manufacturing plants.

Increased employment in the shipyards, in the jewelry manufacturing business, in radio and electrical equipment plants and in the boot and shoe factories was noted. Greater employment was also reported in the anthracite and bituminous coal mining districts.

Increased Aid For Highways Advocated

Road Officials Claim Federal Assistance Is Now Inadequate. Should Increase Appropriation.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Nov. 14.—Complaining that many states are compelled by public demands to build more highways without federal aid than with it, the American Association of State Highway Officials Thursday urged congress to increase the federal aid and highway appropriation in to $125,000,000 for each of the fiscal years 1932 and 1933.

A request was made that the appropriation for the year 1931 be increased to $100,000,000. The government is now allotting $75,000,000 annually in aid for construction of highways on the federal system.

It was recommended that the present limitation of $15,000 per mile placed on federal aid participation in highway construction be removed and the Secretary of Agriculture authorized to fix a base of participation in all cases with the sole limitation that federal aid should not exceed 50 per cent of the cost.

It was declared that the present limitation was "burdensome" to many of the states, "in that it has no relation to the actual cost of construction." It was claimed that in many of the states projects have cost more than $100,000 per mile for grading alone.

Chiropractic Not Gulity, Says Jury

DALLAS, Nov. 14.—"Not guilty" was the verdict returned by a jury in Judge Roland G. Williams' court after sitting all day in the trial of Dr. S. P. McMurray, head of the McMurray Chiropractic Sanatorium, on a charge of violating the medical practices act.

Two counts of the information were submitted to the jury: that is the counts wherein Dr. McMurray with publicly professing to be a physician unlawfully and with treating a human disease without first having obtained a license of professional qualifications from any authorized State Board of Medical Examiners of Texas.

Dr. McMurray, on the witness stand, said he practiced his profession but that he did not practice medicine. A defense witness testified that the defendant did not use medicine in his treatment. Dr. McMurray is one of five Dallas chiropractors against whom charges of violating the medical practices act were filed in Judge Williams' court a few weeks ago.

HITCH-HIKER A NUISANCE.

"The hitch-hiker has become first a nuisance and finally a menace. As you drive along the highways there is almost a constant string of men and boys walking along the road waving their hands to induce one to stop and 'give them a ride.' It looks hard to pass a fellow up when you have plenty of room in your car, but can you afford to take the chance?"

Every day as you pick up the papers you find just such articles as the above. There is no way of telling just what kind of a man or boy it is who is asking for the "lift." Often they, in order to get you to stop, dress as a student, even to carrying books, or as a working man, when they are just plain crooks. BETTER RURAL LIFE.

In progressive localities the farmer no longer wallows in mud, when he comes to town to sell produce or to see a movie. Feeder roads with low cost waterproof wearing surfaces or oiled or asphaltic materials are rapidly replacing the cow trails. The telephone, the radio and the automobile have done much to make farm life more attractive, more comfortable and wholesome, and now good roads are finishing the job.

The dividends from good roads come to every citizen. They reduce the cost of operating motor vehicles. They make it easier and cheaper to move crops. They make it cheaper and easier to trade. They improve church and school attendance. And they better our social life by reducing distances and banishing isolation.

WORTH-WHILE EDITORIALS

NEW OWNERS AND NEW CARS.

"Vital statistics" in the automobile industry are apparently taking on that complexion which indicates that the much-discussed saturation point is in the way of being arrived at, despite the fact that production is steadily increasing. The automobile division of the Department of Commerce supplies some of these suggestive statistics. Last year, while production was 4,358,748 cars the automobile registration in the United States increased by only 1,359,981.

It is this latter figure that indicates where the much mooted saturation point may be, although obviously all the difference between the two cannot be given weight in such a consideration. In 1929 the output of new cars has been far in excess of 1928, although production has slowed down in recent months. But the figures show that even with no new car owners, more than 3,000,000 new cars are required every year for replacements. These are not by any means all included in the figures for cars traded in; for it must be evident that every year a large number of cars go to the scrap heap, thus being utterly retired from the figures. It appears that while about 65 per cent of the number of new cars bought represented old cars traded in, or a total of 2,823,185, almost an equal number of old cars, or 2,416,720, went on the scrap heap. Some of these were duplicates, being first traded in and then scrapped. But that approximately 2,500,000 cars must be scrapped every year must be added to the fact that several million automobile owners want a new car every year whether their cars are worn out or not, to arrive at any figure of demand for new production. Even though the saturation point should be reached, therefore, there will be a demand for as many cars as were actually produced in 1928, or for a greater number.

It is the opinion of the automobile division of the Department of Commerce that the limit to the demand for automobiles is not to be looked for in capacity to buy, but "the ability of the country to absorb more cars depends upon the capacity of the highways." Highways are being increased in aggregate mileage every year, old highways are being widened to accommodate growing traffic. Altogether it appears that continuing prosperity is in store for the automobile industry.

Trading-in is nevertheless the bane of this industry. The percentage of traded-in to new cars was 65 per cent last year against 62 in 1927 and but 48 in 1926 and 26 in 1925. Before it ever reaches 100 per cent, which it cannot do because of the scrapped factor, the saturation point will have arrived.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S ADDRESS.

The President's address at the Armistice ceremonies last night was impressive and not fitting to the occasion. It was not a glorification of war, world supremacy, but rather a prayer that the United States may lead in the development of a spirit of peace among the nations. His most radical suggestion was that in time of war food should be made free from interference. War, he asserted, should not aim at nor result in the starvation of women and children. To this suggestion the hearts of all Americans are sympathetic.

The address rightly senses the mature opinion of our citizens in respect to war and war preparation. The nation stands for world peace, yet believes in effective preparedness against attack; it stresses far more the use of means whereby wars may be avoided through peace pacts and arbitration, and advocates the elimination of causes of war by joint compromise, open diplomacy and face-to-face contacts of those in charge of governments. The world is becoming unified through social and commercial intercourse, and the fears, suspicions and hatreds, generated through misunderstandings, will die out whenever people mingle civilizations.

Naturally our government has in such matters defined policies. It advocates freedom of the seas, the peaceful settlements of controversial disputes, preparedness against aggression, but not for offense, and it is displaying a hearty willingness to limit armaments in proportion as other great nations limit theirs.

The nation stands for the preservation of the sovereign rights and peaceful prosperity of the states of the Western Continent. It is striving for peace among the nations of the Pacific, and expects to cooperate in the settlement of international disputes through the World Court. It prefers good will to enmities, and appreciates the fact that all nations prefer peace and fraternal relationships to the horrors of warfare, and would substitute for international distrust a confidence one in another.

The World War was not the war that ended war, but the World Peace that Hoover advocates and that the United States believes in is drawing nearer with each annual celebration of the Armistice.

Home Demonstration Agent's Report

Tuesday, Nov. 12, 1929, the home demonstration agent met with the women northwest of Amherst and organized the Sod House Club.

The remainder of the day was spent in a beef canning demonstration, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin White. Some fourteen friends and neighbors were present and a pleasant as well as a profitable day was spent. Mrs. White served dinner to all present.

One hundred seventeen No. 3 cans of steak, roast, soup broth and chili meat was prepared. Miss Margaret Roebuck of the Circle community was a special guest of the Spring Lake 4-H Club Thursday, the 14th.

Miss Roebuck was an outstanding club girl of Baylor county four years. She won two trips to the annual Short Course at College Station, Texas. The work done and an excellent description of her trips was used as the basis for a very charming, though modest discussion by the young lady. Mrs. Roebuck, mother of Margaret, was also present at the meeting.

The club girls spent the rest of the afternoon mastering and applying the principles of button-hole making.

No Cause For Alarm Over Cotton Advances

To the Members of the Farm Bureau Cotton Association:

As some of our members are disappointed over the fact that our initial advance has been cut from 12c to 9c here at home, I will state I have a copy of a letter that was mailed to all the banks in the state, saying that this cut in the advance would not affect our seasonal pool cotton except from here to Houston.

As soon as the cotton reaches Houston and is classed, the office at Dallas will mail out checks from time to time as the cotton is graded, to bring all seasonal pool cotton up to the special Farm Board loan advance, which will be 16 1/4c an middling 3/8 staple cotton, less the freight and overhead expense.

We have the assurance from the compress and railroad representatives here that the cotton will be delivered in Houston if there are no delays in about a week from the time it reaches the compress.

We have a letter from Farm Bureau headquarters informing us that the checks will be mailed out this week, bringing our advance up to the 16 1/4c loan advance on such cotton as has been classed this season and is in the seasonal pool.

So in reality our advance has not been cut on good cotton shipped to the seasonal pool, except just from here to Houston, which should be a matter of about two or three weeks.

Respectfully,
J. W. HAMMOCK.

THE THANKSGIVING MENU.

(The Progressive Farmer.)
The thought that Thanksgiving is an opportunity for a family feast, at which the home maker can exhibit her culinary powers to advantage, sometimes leads to lack of balance in the menu. Another point it is well to keep in mind is whether each dish chosen is easy to prepare under holiday conditions. Consider the necessity for the home maker's seeing that the house and table arrangements are at their best, the interruption caused by arriving guests, the fact that the turkey or roast will probably fill the oven and necessitate cooking everything else on the top of the stove.

It may be advisable to prepare parts of the menu the day before, and to choose between a course or dish that must be served hot and something in its place that will not occupy stove space. For example, if you want an appetizer course why not have fruit cup, rather than hot soup? The table is always attractive with the colorful glasses or dishes of cut-up fruit in place when the meal is announced. Celery, radishes, olives and pickles are accessories that add color and flavor to the dinner. All of them may be arranged on serving plates hours before the meal, and kept cold.

The Thanksgiving dinner will be enjoyed better by everyone, if the home maker and those who help her are not all tired out with the effort of cooking it. Your dinner menu may be built around the royal bird—a turkey of medium size, not too large to be tender, not too light to be well padded on the thighs and breast. The turkey can be cleaned and prepared for stuffing the day before and the bread crumbs and some of the other ingredients for the stuffing made ready. The stuffing should be freshly mixed and hot, however, when it is put into the turkey just before roasting. If a chicken or ham is chosen for the main dish, either of these can be prepared the day before.

To keep a good balance in your menu have only one starchy vegetable—sweet or white potatoes, rice, macaroni, or whatever it may be. As contrast you will need at least one succulent green vegetable, such as string beans, spinach, Brussels sprouts, or delicate green quick-cooked cabbage. A salad can well take the place of a third vegetable and let it be something fresh and green. Lettuce, greenpepper, cress, and grated carrots is a good combination, or if you can get them, tomato and cucumber with lettuce, or tomato aspic on a crisp lettuce leaf.

Tradition indicates pumpkin pie for dessert. That is one of the courses that can be prepared the day before. An attractive dessert can be made by putting the pumpkin filling into tart shells rather than one big pie. And if a little whipped cream is obtainable for the top, with a spoonful of quince jelly in the middle, the tarts will look very festive.

Here's a complete menu as suggested by the Bureau of Home Economics of the U. S. Department of Agriculture:—

- Fruit cup
- Celery Olives Salted nuts
- Turkey with chestnut stuffing (or holiday chicken or baked ham)
- Potatoes or rice Baked beans
- Spinach
- (or some other succulent vegetable)
- A light salad
- Pumpkin tarts with whipped cream
- Coffee Mints

OR TRADE FOR A SECOND-HAND CAR.

"I have a horse that at times appears normal, but at other times is lame to an alarming degree. What shall I do?"

The reply came: "The next time that your horse is normal, sell him."

Morton

(Cochran County News.)

The board of review appointed by the commissioners' court have brought in a recommendation that the highway from the Neely Ward school, ten miles northwest of Morton, be designated as a county highway, later to be taken over by the state. This is the connecting link of the Lubbock-Portales Highway.

Some three weeks ago a franchise was given Harris & Lloyd of Abilene for a lighting and ice plant, with the provision that the plant for lighting must be installed and lights for the court house and the business district must be ready for service by Jan. 1. The builders are now arranging the work of construction.

Mr. P. W. Calhoun of Slaton arrived in town Monday with a truck load of tools and material and will start the work of building four houses at once.

Walter Taylor, former teacher, has been chosen successor to Gordon F. Morrow as principal of the grammar school, and assumed his new duties Monday.

New houses popping up in nearly every section of town makes things look like there is something bigger and better coming just over the hill.

Four big truck loads of turkeys, with coops piled deep, left here Tuesday and by Saturday night Cochran county will be represented in New York City, Boston and Philadelphia.

FOR THE LAND'S SAKE, GET SOME LIVESTOCK

(The Progressive Farmer.)
Farmers who take up livestock raising will not become rich overnight. As a matter of fact, for the first few years, at any rate, they are not going to make appreciably more per acre by growing feed and marketing it through livestock than they would if they planted the same land to cotton. We say this in spite of the fact that some exceptional records have been made in feeding beef cattle and in producing dairy products here in Texas.

Our reason for making this statement is that the cost of producing livestock and livestock products. In producing hogs it amounts to about 75 to 80 per cent of the total costs. Furthermore, the cost of feed depends pretty largely on the acre yield. The same land that makes a poor yield of cotton is going to make a poor yield of feed. And when you get a yield of only fifteen bushels of corn or grain sorghum per acre, this feed will cost plenty.

Just recently, we read a statement from W. W. Shay, swine specialist in North Carolina, in which he said that, "When the market price of corn is a dollar a bushel, and so charged along with other feeds and expenses, the cost of gain on good hogs will be around $7.50 per 100 pounds. When corn is grown and fed to hogs, the two operations should be considered as one farm project, and the charge for the corn should be the actual cost of growing. When corn fed to hogs is grown from land yielding forty bushels per acre, the actual cost of producing 100 pounds of gain will be around $5, leaving a clear profit of $5 per 100 pounds of gain when hogs are sold for 10 cents per pound on the market. If the corn was raised on land yielding only 15 bushels per acre, the actual cost of gain will be $10 per 100 pounds, which does away with the profit."

Mr. Shay has hit the nail on the head. Until our feed can be produced more economically, Texas farmers are not going to make a killing with livestock.

But this does not mean that we should not go into livestock raising. If we can merely break even on our livestock enterprises, they will pay big dividends. Not in immediate cash, but in more fertile land.

In restoring a large area of depleted Texas lands to their former fertility, a rotation system providing for a third of

The following inscription was on the band: "Notify Biological Survey, Washington, D. C. 600478." The department was notified.

The Dimmitt Troup of Boy Scouts have undertaken the task of cleaning up the city, the proceeds of their efforts to be used for scout purposes.

Work was started again last week on the new Baptist church building, a contract having been recently awarded to complete the building started several months ago.

The siren for Dimmitt's fire department will be placed on the new city water tower.

Can't Talk to Wife, Too Cross and Nervous

"Even my husband couldn't talk to me. I was so cross and nervous. Vinol has made me a different and happy woman."

Mrs. N. McCall.
Vinol is a compound of iron, phosphates, cod liver peptone, etc. The very FIRST bottle makes you sleep better and have a BIG appetite. Nervous, easily tired people are surprised how QUICK the iron, phosphates, etc., give new life and pep. Vinol tastes delicious.—H. G. Ramby, Druggist.

Bobby Burns will be remembered long after Bobby Jones.

the land to be planted in cotton and two-thirds in feed and soil-building crops is needed. Then these feed crops must be marketed through livestock. Feed sold on the open market is certain to be a losing proposition. Livestock will pay more for the feed than the open market. But even though the profit on the livestock is small, the land will be richer, and the next year it will produce more feed and more cotton. After a few years of this good treatment, cotton yields and likewise cotton profits will show a marked increase. Large yields of feeds will also be produced, and that will mean cheaper feeds and larger profits from the land.

So even though livestock farming may not pay large profits at first, it is the system that is needed to put the poor old land on its feet. Once the land is strong and productive, both livestock and cotton will be profitable. For the land's sake, keep livestock, even though the profits are small the first few years.

Landlord Law
"Uncontitutional"

Court of Criminal Appeals Hands Down Scathing and Humorous Opinion.

AUSTIN, Nov. 13.—In an opinion drafted by Judge O. S. Lattimore, a ruling that carries much that is humorous as well as scathing, the Court of Criminal Appeals Wednesday knocked out as unconstitutional the "Landlord Law" passed by the Forty-first Legislature and signed by the Governor.

The statute prohibited anyone moving tenants or laborers from any one's ranch, farm or premise, at night, between sunset and sunrise, unless permission were obtained from owners of the property.

The ruling was assigned because Dilley Lane, Harris county, was convicted and fined $200 in district court for violating this law. Lane filing a motion to have his appeal reinstated, which was granted. The statute violates both the state and federal constitutions, Lattimore declared, and the appeal referred specifically to the Texas bill of rights and the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution.

The statute, the opinion held, would apply to judges of the appellate court and governor of the state, would make a landlord a potent force in the United States and deprive wage earners of guaranteed liberties because they might not have the product of the "sweat of Henry Ford."

The bill of rights guarantees all free men equal rights, while the Fourteenth amendment forbids states to make any laws that abridge the privilege of citizens.

Here is Lattimore's opinion in part: "Just what is meant by laborer? Certainly it ought to include members of this court, the governor, and all men who work who earn their bread according to the scriptural injunction 'by the sweat of their brow.' Has this country come to the point where honest men who labor to make a living dare not call on any person to move them or their effects? What a tremendous power it would put in the hands of the landowners. How humble the laborers of this country would have to become, if, forsooth, they desired to leave their houses at night, or to carry their grips to the train between sunset and sunrise, for if they happened to live in rented houses they could not call a taxi without the consent of the tax enthroned ruler over the liberties of the people, to wit, the owner of such premises.

"This law seems to us, with deference to the makers, to inflict heavy burdens upon him who is too poor to own the means of transportation for himself or effects if he happens to own a wheelbarrow or product of the genius of Henry Ford he might go where he pleases at any time. If, however, fate wrested from him such means of transportation and he were too poor to own such, he would be compelled to use Shank's mare or remain where he was until daylight.

"Father, mother, relative or friend might not be able to come to his aid unless he first humbly sought and obtained permission from his overlord. It is barely possible the makers of the law thought it would cause a laudable rush on the part of some people to become the owners in fee of land which others might seek. We do not know. We are constrained to hold the law is violative of both the state and federal constitutions, and is impossible of enforcement, so the case is ordered reversed and the prosecution dismissed."

BOULDER DAM QUESTIONS.

The Department of the Interior's action in stopping all work on the Colorado River project, known as the "Boulder Dam," until Arizona's contemplated suit attacking the constitutionality of the law authorizing the project is decided, is a reasonable one. The government might go ahead and subject Arizona to the necessity of suing out injunction proceedings, but this would only entail unnecessary expense, and it is perfectly evident that the question of legality of the project must be settled so long as anybody objects to it. Arizona has objected, and objected strongly. It is wholly dissatisfied with the allocation of water under the project, deeming its position as the state in which the reservoir is to be located as calling for less alienation of its resources for the benefit of California.

There are many problems still unsettled about this vast Colorado River plan which have nothing to do with the engineering question of whether the dam can be safely built to the height projected. Not the least of these preliminary problems concerns the rights of Mexico. Irrigation for a considerable section of that country depends on Colorado River water. It is well to have all the problems settled before the engineers get on the job. But that the supreme court will take measures to lessen the delays is quite likely, and its conclusions will not be questioned in this country, although they may lead to some diplomatic protests from Mexico.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

LABOR AND THE MEXICANS.

George H. Slater is executive secretary of the Texas State Federation of Labor. Recently he had an article in the News setting forth the position of his organization toward immigration coming from Mexico. He would put Mexico under the quota. As reasons for that he declares that there are 500,000 Mexicans now illegally in the country, that Mexicans entering this country are brought in to break down working conditions obtained by organized labor in this country, and that a poorly paid laborer is a poor consumer of goods sold in this country.

Of course, if there are half a million Mexicans illegally in this country their presence is no chargeable to the law, but to the laxity of its enforcement. Passing another law cutting down the number who can legally come in will not in itself reach the problem of keeping out the illegal entrants. On the other hand, a practical form of border patrol, which enforces laws might easily obviate the necessity of further legislation.

In general we need to remind ourselves that Mexico is not like an Italy or a Germany with excess population. Mexico is a population hungry country. It is sparsely settled, and could support millions more than it now has. Mexican laborers come here chiefly because of the unsettled conditions in their homeland. They serve a temporary need of this country, with every prospect that the service itself is temporary. A little patience, and they will be glad to go back to a restored Mexico as they were to leave its turmoil for our country. Forcing these people to do what they will surely do of themselves, once Mexico gets on its feet economically, seems unnecessarily harsh.—Dallas Morning News.

WASHING DIRTY EGGS A POOR MARKET PRACTICE

Washed eggs are really a product of lower value than dirty eggs, says W. D. Buchanan, extension poultry specialist for the Washington State College of Agriculture, for, although they look better when clean and bring a better price, the quality of an egg is the final check on its sales value. If quality is sacrificed for looks the final consumer will eat fewer eggs and the result is a lower price for all eggs.

"Some people have been told that washed eggs keep just as well as unwashed eggs, but this is an error," says Mr. Buchanan. "Washing removes the protective 'bloom' from the egg, leaving the shell porous. Consequently the contents evaporate more rapidly, the shrinkage is greater and the air cell larger than in unwashed eggs. Such eggs bring from two to four cents a dozen less, and, if put in storage, many of them will spoil. The net result of washing is a loss."

The way to get extra money for clean eggs is to keep them clean, advises Mr. Buchanan. To do this he suggests:

"Keep the nests clean. Clean the dropping boards early every morning. Keep the litter clean and dry. Keep the hens out of wet yards till late in the afternoon. Do away with broad boards in front of the nests; a board on edge will stay cleaner. Gather the eggs frequently."

Matador

(Motley County News.)

Joe Lancaster held the lucky number that drew the Jersey cow last Saturday. The first number drawn was 78443 and Joe was on hand to lead the cow home. This is the second cow that Joe has won since the drawing started last summer.

J. R. Meacham, local agent informs us that he has been notified by officials of the Q. A. & P. that the Interstate Commerce Commission has granted the permit for that road to extend out of Matador in a northwesterly direction for a distance of 15 miles. It is reported that surveying crews will be on the ground in the near future. Construction is expected to start sometime during the early spring.

These fine fall rains have been a wonderful benefit to the wheat crops of Motley county, and are putting a season in the ground that insures the production of a good cotton crop next year.

The people of Matador have realized more the past week during this rainy, muddy weather the value of the Matador branch of the Q. A. & P. railway than ever before. The trains into Matador have been running practically on time, while the bus lines and other means of hauling and transportation have been extremely late, or failed to run.

This section has had its share of rain this fall. At least 3 inches of moisture fell during Friday and Saturday of the past week.

We are informed that the Burton-Lingo Company are contemplating the erection of a 75-foot building fronting on Commerce street on the east side of the square, in the early spring.

The city of Matador was without light and power last Wednesday as a result of some drunk or mischievous kid shooting seven insulators off the high line poles east of Paducah.

Would Market Surplus Feed Through Hogs

Texas Swine Breeders Association Would Encourage Feeding of Texas Feed on Texas Farms.

Its object to help Texas farmers make profits on hogs already on the farm rather than to promote hog sales, the Texas Swine Breeders Association, recently organized at the State Fair of Texas, has begun active work for good premium lists for hogs at next year's county fairs and special prize lists at the large shows as a means of encouraging young Texas breeders. E. M. Regenbrecht, extension swine specialist at the A. & M. College of Texas, and secretary-treasurer of the new association, has pointed out. Mr. Regenbrecht added that the price of hogs has reached its periodically low level, and that, while hundreds of farm demonstrations the past year have shown good profits at these levels, the price is very likely to go up again during the next two or three years.

In line with the plan of the organization to support farmer demonstrations, in cooperation with county agents, having as an object the sale of farm grown feed stuffs at high prices through hogs, Charles Franz, Turkey, president of the association, said before the group in session at Dallas.

"We have many instances of corn or grain sorghums bringing several dollars a bushel fed to hogs."

Ten litter contests of recent years have clearly demonstrated this point, as well as the fact that the most desirable hog can be quickly developed under proper management in 150 days, instead of a year as by old-fashioned methods, Mr. Franz said.—Southwestern Stockman-Farmer.

Coccidiosis Can Be Conquered

Strictly Enforced Sanitary Measures and Milk the Most Potent Force for Combating This Serious Disease.

"No matter how you slice it, it's bologna," runs the refrain of a song recently popular, and no matter how you pronounce it, Coccidiosis is still the same menace to the health of your growing chicks. It might help some, so far as pronunciation is concerned, to adopt the suggestion of one writer and call the disease "Coxy." It will require something more drastic than a change of name, however, to stamp out this disease if it once gets a start in your flock.

"Coxy" is one of the most widely spread and fatal diseases of baby chicks there is at the present time. Baby chicks from three to eight weeks are the ones that usually have the disease. It often runs a rapid course and may kill a large percentage of a flock in a short time. Many chicks that survive are permanently affected, stunted in growth and of little value.

The disease is caused by tiny parasites which during a certain stage in their development bury themselves in the intestinal walls of infected chicks. The irritation and damage to the intestines cause the chicks to become droopy and dispirited; their feathers appear ruffled and dull; they huddle together, lose interest in food and sometimes cease eating altogether. They grow light, walk unsteadily and the droppings are frequently but not always, tinged with blood.

If chicks showing such symptoms really have coccidiosis, a post mortem examination of the blind guts will usually reveal them considerably enlarged and full of a bloody material of cheesy consistency.

While the disease is most common among chicks, it is sometimes contracted in chronic form by older birds usually from four to eight months old. In such cases, it develops slowly and may affect only a few fowls. The symptoms of chronic coccidiosis are much like those caused by worms, lice and other parasites or by nutritional diseases.

If the disease is found in your flock, immediate steps should be taken to conquer it. A milk diet and sanitation and isolation of infected birds are your most effective weapons. Then keep an untiring campaign of sanitation. Your advantage lies in the fact that germs are expelled with the droppings during their inactive period and must develop outside the body, which requires about 4 days' time. Droppings should be removed from the chicken houses every day, and the yards swept and cleaned every 3 or 4 days. All feeding and drinking vessels should be protected so the chicks cannot roost above them and be fouled them with droppings. Where chicks can be raised on wire floors such as is seen in battery brooders, this disease is seldom seen.

It is also a good idea to cover the floors of the houses where infected chicks are kept with several layers of paper. Remove one layer each day and burn it. Spray every nook and cranny of every house with a strong dip and allow no one who has been working among the diseased chicks to go among healthy ones until their shoes have been disinfected.

President Plans to Stabilize Business

Calls Leaders of Industry, Agriculture and Labor to Work Out Program.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Leaders of industry, labor and agriculture will be called into conference by President Hoover next week to lay preliminary plans for a concerted action for business progress.

The President revealed Friday that he had been conferring with such leaders and believes that in a case of economic disturbance, action is more effective than the repeated issuance of statements of confidence.

The conference will undertake to lay broad plans for business progress, stimulation of exports and business expansion and to correlate these in such a way that agriculture as well as industry and labor will be benefited.

Mr. Hoover said American business conditions are fundamentally good and that market booms are often the result of unjustified circumstances.

Market booms, he continued, develop acute optimism but there is always a corresponding acute pessimism and he believes both frequently are not based upon the facts as they exist in the economic affairs of the country.

The unhappy phase of such booms, the President said, is that they frequently draw unfortunate people into their vortexes.

He took the position that ideas of the national business being un-sound were foolish.

In expressing his reasons for assembling this conference, Mr. Hoover, among other things, says:

"One of the results of the speculative period through which we have passed in recent months has been the diversion of capital into the security market, with consequent lagging of the construction work in the country.

"The postponement of construction during the last month, including not only building, railroads, merchant marine and public utilities, but also federal, state and municipal public works, provides a substantial reserve for prompt expanded action. The situation is further assured by the exceptionally strong cash position of the large manufacturing industries of the country.

"The magnificent workings of the Federal Reserve System and the inherently sound condition of the banks have already brought about a decrease in interest rates and an assurance of abundant capital—the first time such a result has been so speedily achieved under similar circumstances."

the tiny parasites that cause the disease. Remove all water and either give the chicks all the fresh buttermilk, semi-solid buttermilk, of fresh clabber milk they will drink in clean vessels or mix from 20 to 40 per cent powdered milk in mash feed which contains no meat scraps and let them eat all of it they will. Give plenty of green feed and feed lightly of grain for a few days.

After all trace of the disease has vanished, which should take from one to two weeks, gradually reduce the amount of milk and increase the mash and grain until normal feeding is resumed. Do not make the mistake of thinking that a milk diet alone will give results. The most important part of your campaign is the sanitary measures and these should be continued after the disease has run its course. With the right kind of feeding and sanitation, Coccidiosis can be conquered.

ECHOES FROM SCHOOL PLATEAU

The Office.
Reports from the different departments show that there are about 730 pupils in school now. Work is running more smoothly with the return of those who have been absent in harvest fields. Tuesday of this week showed that only about 18% of the bus children are absent. New ones are coming in in place of some who are still out. None of the bus drivers have delivered 50 children at school within several weeks. However, three of them have all most reached 50 this week. The heaviest loads of the present are being hauled by Horn, Crain and Essary busses.

Next week, the day before Thanksgiving, reports will be delivered to all children who have been in school long enough to obtain them. These will be the second regular reports of the year. If you do not see your child's reports, call for them. In the grammar grade all reports will appear on one card. In high school they will be separate reports, or one for each subject carried by the child. There will be six such reports delivered to children this year.

Efforts to repair leaks in the roof of the high school have been made this week. The efficiency can be told only when another rain falls.

All teachers have been at their posts this week, a feature unusual in a faculty of twenty-five and a feature for which one may be thankful.

All books necessary for the use of the school have been received giving opportunity for consecutive work. Discipline is reported much less a matter of compulsion in high school since the new system was put into operation over a week ago. The organization of the grammar school into the unit study plan is having a beneficial effect on the discipline there.

Senior Group.

We have this week received the last order of class rings. Every senior now is wearing his class ring. The present week also saw the receipt of our senior sweaters and emblems. Should a friend of the school meet a pupil wearing the image of an owl and asking who! who! do not be surprised. It is only some senior of '3, struggling along. We intend to do our very best to live up to a standard of wisdom befitting our position.

Our class has decided on the play which we intend to present Friday, Dec. 13. We shall give a dramatization of Longfellow's famous Indian poem, Hiawatha. This poem is the great epic of an original American life. Miss Lucille Jordan, the expression teacher, is assisting us in the preparation of this splendid play. In itself, should assure all interested persons that the play will be good.

Football Squad.

The football team played their inter-school game Wednesday Nov. 13 with the sophomores and juniors coming out on the ion end of a 50-0 score. In a meeting held Friday, T. J. Findley was selected captain for next season. T. J. played quarterback this year and he was one of the most consistent ground gainers on the squad. We are sure that T. J. will set an example that the other members of the squad will want to follow. In order to follow this appreciation of the work of the pep squad this season and to their loyal support of the team the football squad decided to entertain them with a theatre party Wednesday night. The party was at Mrs. Lyle's and went on mass to the local theatre. Everyone reported an enjoyable evening. There is to be a gigantic box supper in the high school auditorium Friday night. This supper is for the benefit of the Swearer Award fund. Let us all be there and buy that favorite box. Be prepared to vote for the Prettiest Girl and the Ugliest Man.

Pep Squad.

Our work has been very light for two weeks, most of it being only some inspirational work in the assembly. Inspirational work is to be a feature of assemblies hereafter. Singing a few songs give enthusiastic yell and "peppy" speeches are hoped to keep up and even to raise our standard of citizenship. We have adopted a school song. Everyone who attends our rallies, or hears that song is asked to stand while it is being sung. That song should become as much a part of us as "The Eyes of Texas" is to the State University. Let us make it such.

Freshmen.

We are welcoming back this week many of our mates who have been in harvest fields, as well as seeing new faces in our membership.

Our home economics girls are now taking the intensive review of breakfasts, and getting ready to finish up the work of this term. We take up the task of a chapel program after the sophomores have finished theirs, and we are promising people that the freshman program will far excel that of the other high school classes. We have the largest class in high school. We have two of the top ranking pupils of the high school in studies, and we have the best sponsor in the school. Why should we not present the best program anywhere? We had some of the best football material in the school, we are going in strong for basketball and track, and we promise to meet competition as cheerfully as any group in the whole school.

Home Economics Club.

We had our last club meeting Tuesday, November 19. Some new members were initiated into the club. Our club exceeds in membership any other club in school and we are working for a definite purpose. Just at present we are working for a book fund, hoping to pay for books already purchased for our own library. Our aim is to make home economics of interest as well as profit to each girl who enters high school, and to create interest in the school as well. Sometimes we think that a home economics course should be available to boys, or many boys are going some day to become cooks, dietitians, etc., again a course in home economics teaches right living, and what is more necessary than the knowledge of how to care for this body of ours. Right relationships in society should be taught in this course and here again girls need it, even as badly as do boys.

Sophomores.

We may well be proud of our class. This was the only class to make its regular report last week. We have had little but daily work or several days now. We had hoped for a trip to Carlsbad, but it seems that there is too much dread of cold weather this week to even think of making the trip. Cold weather seems so much more regular this fall than last, and the cold to be more intense.

Two weeks from this will be sophomore day in chapel. The program follows as it will be delivered:

Invocation and Bible Reading
Vocal Duet, Misses Runnels and Taylor

Story Period for Little Children, Mrs. Hay.

Song, Group of Sophomore Girls.

Reading, Miss Jordan.

Inspirational Period, the entire Student Body.

Be sure everybody that you come and attend our program. It will probably be one of the best of the whole school year and you should not miss it. On this occasion a portion of the school will be seated in the balcony as there is coming to be too little room in the auditorium for all who attend these functions. You will some day be glad that you were present when the first group was required to move to the balcony.

The sophomores have another distinction. Last Monday we had a new bride in our class. Florence Phipps married Sunday afternoon in Clovis, came back to school Monday, and then withdrew to go to her new home in Mountainair, New Mexico. We regret to lose her, but give her our wishes for happiness wherever she may go. Her husband is Mr. Taylor and his home is in New Mexico. Florence's father, Elder W. B. Phipps, formerly pastor of the Baptist church here, has now moved to Littlefield, and the pastorate just across the street is vacant, awaiting the coming of the new pastor.

In our English groups a prize of five points in grade is being offered to those pupils who write the best group themes. This is creating considerable interest in the writing. If prizes and awards are appropriate, why not make them in grades for special work?

There were five present for the lesson at Mrs. Foster's. We concluded the study of the Kings of Judah. This division has been very interesting, but we expect each succeeding division to be more interesting.

The class meets with Mrs. C. A. Daniels next Tuesday.

Let us begin making plans for our Christmas box to the orphan's. We will decide later whether it will go to Tipton or Greenville.

A banquet consisting of seventeen plates was served at the Busy Bee Cafe Tuesday evening, Nov. 19th, for the Huto Chevrolet Co. of this city. Directly after the banquet the organization returned to the meeting room and held their regular meeting, the topic for discussion being "Our Daily Problems."

The personnel of the Huto Chevrolet Company consists of 16 persons besides the head, Mr. J. A. Huto. It was decided at this meeting, for the sake of lively competition in sales, to divide the force into two groups, which was done, one group being headed by C. L. Daniels, shop foreman, and the other by T. C. Florence, manager of sales department. These forces will compete in sales, the outcome of the race to decide who shall eat beans and who shall eat turkey—the losers of course to be regaled on beans while the winning side feasts on the national bird. The score in the game will be one point for new cars and two points for old cars. The outcome of the struggle will be watched with interest.

Reports From the Extension Service

Club Boys Raise Corn for 34c Per Bushel
COLLEGE STATION.—It costs nearly as much per acre to raise a poor corn crop as it does a good one, and much more per bushel harvested, demonstrations by 4-H club boys are showing. Twenty-five records just examined by Extension Service officials show that it cost all the way from $12 to $39.60 per acre for these boys to raise an acre of corn, including labor at 20 cents per hour, horse labor at the same rate, rent of land at $5 per acre, and seed and fertilizer at market rates. The average cost was $25.26, and the cost per bushel was slightly more than 34 cents.

On the other hand, the yields per acre ranged from 27½ bushels to 121 bushels with an average yield for all these boys of 73½ bushels. The average corn yield in Texas runs around 20 bushels per acre most years, and while figures are not available yet for 1929 it is believed that the yield has been low rather than high. Figuring corn at $1 per bushel, the 25 boys whose records were examined made an average net profit of $48.76 per acre this year from their single acres of corn.

While most of these yields are extraordinary, most Texas farmers in corn growing sections can rather easily increase their corn crop harvest from one half to double by using similar methods, in the opinion of E. A. Miller, Extension Service Agronomist. The East Texas boys who have been successful corn growers plowed rather deep and early, often turned under a green crop of weeds or the refuse of a preceding crop, used the best seed obtainable, fertilized according to the recommendations of their county agents for their particular sections, and kept their crops clean of weeds. A side dressing of a fertilizer high in nitrogen at the rate of 100 to 200 pounds per acre when the crop was knee high gave uniformly good results.

Cattle Feeding Profitable, Boys Show.
COLLEGE STATION.—The feeding of baby beefs is a profitable enterprise according to the results of 4-H club boys' feeding demonstrations. 19 of these records submitted in recent state contests have just been summarized by G. W. Barnes, Beef Cattle Specialist in the Extension Service. These boys averaged $26.40 profit per animal on 19 junior calves fed last season, after deducting purchase price of calves, market value of feed stuffs used and labor at 10 cents per hour. The calves weighed an average of 450 pounds at the start, were fed an average of 222 days, and gained an average of 438 pounds each. The total cost of the average calf at selling time last spring and summer was $94.52, and 13½ cents per pound was received on the average for these baby beefs, not including premium prices paid for champion animals.

"These boys got very good prices for their calves, but they deserved to, for their animals were carefully selected and wisely fed in accordance with instructions of county agents," Mr. Barnes explains. He adds that farmers can expect to make profits of $10 per head and upwards, feeding large bunches of calves on the farm if care is used in buying good feeders at reasonable prices, and the feeding is carefully conducted. "Numbers of farmers last year sold grain sorghum crops through beef animals for $50 or more per ton, and this beats getting less than $20 per ton for it cash," he declares.

LOWBROWS GET A LAUGH.

Those of us who have been sneered at as "lowbrows" because we couldn't tell whether a futuristic painting was a quiet pastoral or a battle scene should either have a good laugh or feel encouraged at the action of the judges in a recent art contest at the National Academy of Design in New York. If the Associated Press is to be believed, as it nearly always is, the judges awarded the prize to a painting that was hanging upside down. The error was not discovered until a photograph arrived to make a photograph of the winning canvas.

The painting was described as "highly individualistic," and it must have been. It seems that the fair thing would have been to have called the judges back for another attempt. The Associated Press did not indicate that this was done, but it should have been done. If the judges were so impressed with the thing hanging with its top down, they might have doubled the prize if they had seen it in its correct position. Or they might have given the prize to another artist.

Anyway, the action of the judges is a weapon for those of us who think the picture on a calendar advertising ammunition is perfectly grand. One merit in a picture like that is that you can tell for sure whether the handsome bird dog has treed a squirrel or run a rabbit into hole.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Baptist Convention Meets at Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Nov. 17.—Baptists from all parts of the state were gathering here tonight for the general convention of Texas and meetings preliminary thereto. Beaumont was prepared to care for 4,000 visitors—the largest gathering ever entertained here. It will exceed in numbers the state Democratic convention held here in 1928.

While the general convention will not meet until Wednesday night, about 1,000 women will participate in the meetings of the women's missionary union, which will convene tomorrow night for its 43rd annual session.

Dr. J. H. Pace, pastor of the First Baptist church of Beaumont, chairman of the general committee handling the convention, said indications were good for one of the biggest and best conventions in the history of the church. He predicted the sessions would be harmonious.

Waco and Amarillo are asking for the 1930 convention.

MEETING OF W. M. U.
The W. M. U. of the First Baptist Church of Sudan met Monday the 18th in the home of Mrs. J. O. Covington with ten members present.

A very interesting program was rendered on "Our Unchanging Task in a Changing World." At the close of the program a short business session was called, and it was decided to have our Christmas Bazaar December 7th. Every member of the church is expected to have a part in this, the proceeds of which will be applied to the building fund.

It was also decided that in the near future we would have a birthday social. All those whose birthdays come in October, November and December are to be hostesses. If you don't know just what this means, come to the meeting next Monday and find out. Every Baptist woman in town and surrounding territory is invited and expected to be present.

Everybody is invited to hear our new pastor next Sunday, and the Baptist is expected to be there.
