LOOKING AT WASHINGTON

HOOVER TO STUDY TARIFF
INSISTS UPON TREATY
BISHOP CANNOT SILENT
PENSION BILL VETO
HOUSE FAILS HOOVER

While Republican leaders in congress have asserted that President Hoover will sign the tariff bill when it is presented to him a statement from the White House last week makes clear that he has made no decision but will give the measure close and careful scrutiny before making up his mind as to what he will do. In the face of this statement most of the Republican leaders insist that he will sign the bill.

In the senate the line is so tightly drawn that many observers predict that Vice-President will be called upon to cast the deciding vote. Prior to final action by the senate both sides were carefully watching the situation and fighting to obtain every possible vote. As a whole the tariff measure has precipitated waves of protest and seems to be the result of trades made by certain senators interested in particular rates.

In the face of advice from Republican leaders in the senate, urging that he postpone consideration of the naval treaty, President Hoover lets it be known that he will call the senate into special session for the purpose unless the treaty is disposed of before adjournment. There can be no doubt but that this is not popular with many senators and in fact, some observers report a feeling of hostility between the president and the members of the senate.

Interesting was the appearance of Bishop James Cannon of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, before the senate lobby committee where he declined to answer numerous questions concerning his political activities in the last presidential campaign. Faced with an admonition from Senator Walsh of Montana, that his refusal might constitute a penal offense, the bishop persisted in his attitude, asserting that such questions transcended the authority of the investigating body. In this he was supported by the chairman, Senator Caraway, who telegraphed his position from Arkansas.

The action of President Hoover in vetoing the bill liberalizing pensions for veterans of the Spanish-American war was overridden by congress by overwhelming votes. The senate was 61 to 18 against him while the house snatched him under 298 to 14. All of those voting to uphold the veto were Republicans. In the senate 28 Republicans were against him and in the house 118 Republicans.

President Hoover objected to three features of the bill, (1) that pensions would be paid veterans whose disability resulted from "vicious habits," (2) that the minimum period of service was reduced from 90 to 75 days and (3) that pensions would be paid regardless of whether the veteran was in need of it or not. The new law will cost the government $11,000,000 annually. Scores of representatives of the veterans were actively buttonholing the members of congress before the votes were taken and Governor Green of Michigan, national commander, U. S. W. V., and Ex-Senator Means of Colorado, former national commander, were on the floor of the senate doing the work.

Some surprise was expressed at the failure of the house to stand by the president, as it has in the past, and as it was confidently expected to do. However, all the members of the house face elections this fall and acted about like everyone has been led to believe congressmen will act in such circumstances. The incident illustrates the apparent fact that an aggressive body of voters, well organized and insistent, can, at least, get everything that is coming to them and sometimes a little more.

Wheat Harvest Now On In Panhandle

AMARILLO, June 16.—The wheat harvest is now on. Farmers of Potter, Carson, Gray and other counties in this section of the state began cutting in earnest this morning, though the wheat is yet a little damp and runs a high moisture content.

By the middle of the week the harvest will be well under way. Ample labor is available in this section for the harvesting of the crop and there will be no necessity of importing help from other sections farmers report.

Reports from the early harvesters indicate that the yield is going to go considerably higher than had been expected. Where the farmers had estimated a crop of from 8 to 10 bushels, it is running 10 to 12 bushels to the acre.

Around Hale center, Tulsa and Lockney the harvest started the latter part of last week. The wheat there was not as wet as in this section and tests of around 60 pounds were made. This wheat is yielding around 10 to 15 bushels to the acre.

Mr. Hoover's idea of heaven is probably a place where the senate submits the nominations, and he is asked to give his advice and consent.—Virginia-Pilot.

Frank Putnam Classifies Candidates

Well, here we are, fifteen of us in as picturesque a race for governor as Texas ever saw. The temptation to an old-time Texas political writer to make a news story out of it, for future historians to ponder, is irresistible.

First off, I want to say that whoever wins, Texas will have an able, honorable governor. In spite of differences of opinion on issues—even on so ornery an issue as prohibition—I shall cheerfully vote for the winner in November, whoever the winner may be. And I don't doubt all of the other fourteen candidates feel the same way about it. I haven't asked them, but I am willing to bet my old ten-gallon split-palms hat against anything you like that if Frank Putnam, wettest of the wet, by any chance finishes in front, Tom Love, dryest of the drys, will vote for him in November. And that goes, the other way around.

Now let's look over the entries, while they are lining up at the post: On the rail, Dan Moody, young, handsome, ambitious for a third term. If I were Dan's dad, and I'm old enough to be, I'd advise him to drop it and get busy at law practice making a fortune for Mildred and Baby Dan.

Second, Mrs. Ferguson, wife of a former governor, herself a former senator, railroad commissioner, one, running to vindicate Jim again, Bill Gray and I made Jim governor in 1914, but it appears he never heard about it, for he never thanked us. Extra dry—wants to make our state prohibition law even harsher than it is now.

Third, Earle B. Mayfield, former state senator, railroad commissioner and United States senator, with lots of ability and good ideas for Texas, dry in principle, but maybe not so dry in practice. Been using radio a lot lately—seems to have struck oil somewhere.

Fourth, State Senator Tom Love, who claims the right to be either democrat or republican, on election days, whichever best satisfies his conscience, though there is some argument whether he ought to be allowed to make his conscience the guardian of the democratic party. I have known my conscience to misguide me one time or another. It could happen, even to as able a man as Tom Love.

Fifth, Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller, a bold wet before prohibition came, a bold dry ever since. I expect Barry would turn wet again if by any chance Texas ever discards prohibition as a failure which I insist it is.

Sixth, former Congressman James Young, a quiet, conservative country lawyer, so dry he says he has always refused to defend citizens accused of violating the liquor laws. Something queer here, Jim, with all his dryness, is being backed by the younger leaders of the wet Al Smith-John Rankob democrats in Texas. I'm wondering which crowd Jim will decide to turn down, if and when he as governor has to choose, in the next democratic state convention.

Seventh, State Senator Clint Small, favored by the independent oil operators, and as dry as they make them.

Eighth, Ross Sterling of Houston, worth over fifty million dollars, they say, starting from nothing as a boy. If Ross knew politics as well as he does business, he would promptly resign as the head of the state highway commission, so folks couldn't say he is using that big state money-spending machine to boost himself for governor, or classifier, I suppose, as the Standard Oil candidate. It looks like Standard Oil meant to acquire the state government as an additional Texas subsidiary. If we have a big business control of our state government, I'm in favor of Standard Oil's man. He's a real man—didn't fix a committee to "draft" him, but bought his ticket and walked into the show on his own feet; and Standard Oil is the best managed big business outfit in this country. If the state committee would agree next Monday to arrange a prohibition repeal referendum in the July 25 primary, I would be in favor of all the rest of us, wet and dry candidates, withdrawing and making Sterling's nomination unanimous. We would learn, then, just how strong repeal sentiment is in Texas. Texas would get probably the ablest business man in the bunch for governor, and I feel sure, if repeal got a majority, Sterling, regardless of his own dry opinions, would respect the will of the party.

Ninth, State Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock. If he runs as fast as his home town grows, he will finish in the money all right.

Tenth, Lynch Davidson, with lumber yards all over the state and reputed a multi-millionaire. Tom Love says Lynch has been trying for months past to draft himself into the race. I don't know how true that is, but he has finally been drafted. My impression is that if Lynch runs through, he better wear hip boots or he will get his legs pulled to twice their present length by enterprising newspaper advertising men. The boys have laid off me, knowing I haven't a dollar to spend for advertising.

Eleven, Paul Loven, the big butter and egg man of New Braunfels, who says he is wet but doesn't tell us how wet nor what he aims to do about it. If elected, here's hoping Paul and I together poll enough repeal votes to prove that at least a respectable minority of Texas democrats are ready to declare prohibition a failure and to ask for some such state-controlled liquor system as Canada, Denmark and other countries have established after they too found prohibition produced worse social diseases than the one it cured—the old open saloon.

Twelfth, State Senator T. N. Mauritz, an able, high-class public man, who would do credit to Texas as governor. I don't know him personally, but he runs with the drys politically.

Thirteenth, C. C. Moody, the Fort Worth laundry wagon driver, who has proven he has wit, and who would probably make as good a governor as any of the rest of us. He says he wants "to redeem the family name," but doesn't say what he wants to redeem it from. At this tenth place, he is an unlucky spot; but, then, thirteen was Woodrow Wilson's lucky number. You never can tell.

Fourteenth, Dr. C. E. Walker of Grapevine. I never had the pleasure of meeting Dr. Walker or of reading his platform, but the fact he is a physician sufficiently proves he is a gentleman and a scholar, and, in these prescription days, he is probably also a good judge of whiskey, although politically as dry as all the others.

Fifteenth, Frank Putnam of Houston, who honestly believes prohibition is a failure; who wants to reduce drinking fifty per cent, especially among the young, by making it legal, respectable and unromantic. As he sees it, he is the only real dry in the race. He thinks the prohibition candidates, defending existing conditions, are "a wet" both ways. He is an advertising man by trade, and entered the race at his own expense to advertise the idea of repeal and reform; of a return to an era of good feeling, united effort for the advancement of Texas, and good times certain to follow. He believes with John Garner that Texas is too big a state to be well governed from

HEALTH and ...BEAUTY

By Dr. Sophia Brunson
TUBERCULOSIS

Many untimely deaths from tuberculosis (and other diseases) would be prevented by periodical examinations. A careful examination may clear up the diagnosis. If he has the dread disease, perhaps it is not too late to save his life and effect a cure if proper measures are instituted.

The probabilities are that adults who late in life develop tuberculosis received the infection in childhood. The germs remained inactive but lay in ambush waiting for a favorable opportunity to pounce upon their victims. The opportunity came when a severe cold, overwork or some other cause lowered the natural resistance.

As a rule the germs of tuberculosis are picked up within doors. The sun is a natural enemy to all forms of disease germs and the tubercle bacillus is no exception. Careless, dirty consumptives are a great menace to society, for many of them go about spitting on floors, walls and other places. By and by this spit becomes dry and germs which it contains fly about and float in the atmosphere, where they infect children, who have less resistance to the disease than adults, readily acquire it.

Dark, poorly ventilated houses frequently harbor the germs. Unfortunately many of the poor and ignorant inhabit just such dwellings. They often have a consumptive among them who has no regard for cleanliness and who spits on the floor, on the street and in the place where he works. His sputum is alive with millions of tubercular germs which cannot be seen without the aid of a microscope.

In this way one ignorant, dirty consumptive can spread the disease to his neighbors. He is spreading germs on sidewalks, not only on the sidewalk, but in the gutter, and in the community, but it is indecent and reprehensible in the highest degree.

A mad dog that runs amuck is sought out and shot on sight, while the selfish, careless consumptive sows his germs from one end of the continent to the other without being arrested and put in jail, as his crime deserves.

one state capital, and if elected governor he would be glad to help put through Sam Houston's plan to divide Texas into five states, so that each section could get real attention by state government to its vital needs, and Texas as a whole could gain the influence and prominence in the national government. Texas had mighty few leaders in the same class with Sam Houston and John Garner.

Lightning Kills Two Women Near Lamesa

LAMESA, June 15.—Tragedy borne by a bolt of lightning, turned a happy gathering of neighbors at a party near O'Donnell Saturday night into a rendezvous of death, killing two women and injuring five other persons.

The fatal bolt, which struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Durham killed the two women while they were carrying their infant children in their arms. The two children were injured.

The dead: Mrs. Morris Durham, 30, Dawson county; Mrs. Cora Whitaker, 30, Dawson county. The injured: The baby son of Mrs. Whitaker; the infant daughter of Mrs. Durham; "Red" Best, Tom Best, Mrs. E. Vandiver, all of Dawson county.

Those injured were expected to recover, although they suffered from the shock and severe bruises. The tragedy was enacted in the little home during one of the most severe rain and electrical storms ever to strike Lynn and Dawson counties.

Crops in both counties were destroyed and several head of livestock were killed by either lightning or the floods.

County Committee Certifies Candidates

At the meeting of the County Executive Committee at Olton Monday, the county ticket was certified for use of the voters in the coming primary election July 25.

Six members of the committee were present, as follows: Guy Willis, chairman; Joe Covington, precinct chairman; Zeb Payne, Sudan; W. P. Cox, Littlefield; Otto Jones, Littlefield; W. A. Schreier, Olton, clerk; three members were absent, Jack Sudway of Earth, G. A. Teagley of Amherst, and H. A. DeYong of Fieldton.

Names of all candidates were placed on the ticket except Capt. Cooper of Sudan, who arrived too late. Capt. Cooper was a candidate for constable.

A review of the census figures for Lamb county revealed that the population exceeded 10,000, which figure was necessary to separate the combined offices of Sheriff and Tax Collector, County Judge and County Superintendent, and District Clerk for these six offices were enrolled, separately.

The news was able to secure the census figures for three of the justice precincts of Lamb county which are as follows: Prec. 1—2657; Prec. 4—4991; Prec. 5—2848; total—10,497.

In these precincts the following totals of farms were listed: Prec. 1—415; Prec. 4—323; Prec. 5—310. At this meeting the following fees were assessed candidates filing for office: Precinct offices, $10.00; Judge, $7.00; Sheriff, $7.00; Tax Collector, $7.00; Tax Assessor, $7.00; County Clerk, $70.00; County Attorney, $70.00; County Treasurer, $55.00; County School Superintendent $55.00; County Commissioner, $30.00; District Clerk, $30.00.

At the time this paper is published the ticket had not been completed, but will be published next week.

A SUCCESSFUL POULTRY RAISER

As a concrete example of what can be accomplished by the expenditure of a little care and attention, we cite the work of Mrs. G. C. Terry of the Bula community, with her flock of White Leghorn hens.

Mrs. Terry started the season January 1st with 210 hens, and on June 1st counted up the results of the five months. Her sales of eggs on that date totaled $244.48; expenses (not counting time devoted to the flock) amounted to $77.00, leaving a net profit of $167.48 in five months, from 210 hens—an average of 80c per hen.

Note also that during this period the family was supplied with eggs for use from the flock, besides several small lots traded at the stores for groceries, etc.

Considering the extremely low prices paid for eggs this spring, this would seem to be a positive answer to the question as to whether or not there is anything to be made from poultry.

POPE APPEALS CASE TO COURT CRIMINAL APPEALS

John M. Pope, convicted in Garza county district court by jury, June 3, and sentenced to six years in the penitentiary, has been released on a bond of $7,500 signed by local citizens and friends of the defendant, who is charged with having accepted deposits in the Southland Bank when he knew the bank to be insolvent.

Notice of appeal has been filed by Pope's attorneys, Bills & Hazel, and the case will be heard in the court of criminal appeals, Austin, probably sometime during the month of February.

It is understood that six other charges of a similar nature are pending against Pope, and it is likely a motion will be made by Pope's attorneys for change of venue from Garza county.—Lamb County Leader.

FARM NOTES

D. A. ADAM, County Agent

Forty farmers and farm women attended the field day held in connection with the dairy demonstration conducted under the supervision of the county agent, J. H. McClain, head of the Bureau of Dairy Industry with the U. S. D. A., the principal talk, and discussed the importance of proper feed methods, and record keeping in the success of dairying, whether one was milking two cows or fifty. M. B. Oates, agricultural agent of the Santa Fe, made a fine talk on pastures and stressed very highly the importance of sweet clover pasture for the Plains district. Those in attendance besides the farmers were: J. H. McClain, M. B. Oates, H. L. Gantz, field editor of the Farm and Ranch; Sterling C. Evans, district agent of Extension Service; Miss Myrtle Murray, district home agent; Miss Ruby Masburn, county home agent, and County Agent D. A. Adam.

The following figures have been obtained from dairy demonstrations this past year: Robert L. May averaged six cows for the year; produced 37,666 lbs. milk with an average test of 4.75 per cent, with a production of butter fat of 1755.9 lbs., worth $633.20; produced 35,912.1 lbs. skim milk worth $139.89, with a total feed cost of $317.00 and a total profit of $454.99 above feed cost, and an average butter fat cost of $1.77 per pound; average butter fat production per cow was 292.15 lbs.

J. E. Holland averaged 11 cows in the herd for the year, producing 54,060 lbs. milk, with butter fat test of 4.9%, with total butter fat production of 2663.8 lbs. worth $968.61, with skim milk worth $205.01, and total feed cost of $556.24; profit above feed of $616.30, with average butter fat production per cow of 242.15 lbs. Butter fat production cost per pound was $2.43.

C. V. Harmon averaged 3 cows with a production of milk of 20,135 lbs., with butter fat percentage of 5.1, with total production of 1027.4 worth $387.71; and skim milk worth $74.56, with profit above feed cost of $217.11, and average butter fat production per cow of 242.5 lbs., and butter fat production cost of $1.75 per pound.

G. E. Bohner averaged 2 cows for the year producing 13,143 pounds of milk averaging 4.67%, with a total production of 602.2 pounds of butter fat, with cost below $12 per pound of butter fat during the year. Mr. Bohner states that his low cost of butter fat production is due primarily to plenty of sweet clover pasture. His low month for the year was $0.7 per pound, and the highest never 12 cents.

Harvey Love, Littlefield, reports a perfect stand of sweet clover that was planted before the last rains.

Farmers contemplating feeding some calves this winter in order to get a better market for feed crops, should see their banker in regard to this at once, or see the county agent. Calves will be bought worth the money this year from all indications, and the banks are ready to back the farmers in the move. Double your feed profits by sending it to market on the hoof.

Disease control demonstrations among poultry were conducted during the past week on the farms of W. L. Thomas, Spring Lake; Mrs. Samuel Roberts, Littlefield; W. B. Hill, and most of these report good results in the control of colds and roup, and cholera.

C. V. Harmon reports his soy beans up to a stand.

All farmers and their wives of Lamb county are invited to be in Littlefield next Friday afternoon to help C. O. Moser of the American Cotton Cooperative Association, the new national cooperative set up by the Federal Farm Board. Mr. Moser is vice president of the national co-op, and will be here only that day to discuss setting up of a branch office in Littlefield, and we must have the farmers in to show that we are interested in getting this. The branch office will enable farmer members or non-members to get their cotton classed by a federal licensed classifier, and the members' entire accounts will be kept by this office, so that from now on we shall be able to secure 90% of the value of the cotton on delivery, and with the records here in the county the members will be able to keep up much better with their accounts. This is the one most important meeting that the farmers can attend with the idea in view of a better market for cotton. So come, bring your family, and meet with fellow farmers to discuss this with one of the heads of the national set-up. The meeting place is Littlefield, and all farmers who are interested are expecting you. Come, Friday, June 20, at 2:30 p. m.

"BOOST OR MOVE"

MUST SHARE BENEFITS.

Out in California the Pacific Gas and Electric Company sought permission to acquire the properties of several other public utilities. The officials of the company in their petition estimated that by consolidated operations a saving in operating expenses would be made of more than a million dollars each year.

The California Railroad Commission, which also controls other public utilities, in consenting for the first steps to be taken towards such a consolidation, very properly called attention to the requirement that the public would have to receive some of the benefits of this huge saving in lower rates.

One of the commissioners wrote in his opinion: "Should the applicant fail voluntarily to do that which it should do and transform these economies, when realized, into lower rates, then, unless the system of regulation breaks down, this commission, representing the power and authority of the state, should be able to see that the consumers get from the consolidation such advantages as they are entitled to."

This viewpoint of the commission is fair and proper. It shows that the commission is acting in an effort to protect the consumers, which is usually badly needed.

A $10,000,000 TAX.

Lord Dewar, of Great Britain, who died in April, left an estate of $25,000,000, and the government takes about $10,000,000 as death duties.

The British, incidentally, have no court that can set aside any act of Parliament, and apparently little belief in the theory that the best way to take care of the people is by taking care of the rich men and expecting them to help the underdogs.

Wishes never yet filled a purse.

A NOBLE EXPERIMENTER.

(The Dallas Morning News.)
Mr. Wickersham, head of Mr. Hoover's commission whose business it is to relieve Mr. Hoover of saying first hand what ought to be done about the noble experiment of prohibition, has unloaded upon the public the personal opinion that the penalties of our liquor laws are too heavy and that, in general, Great Britain does the thing more decently and, on the whole, more acceptably. Al Smith must have enjoyed reading the Wickersham deliverance.

Mr. Wickersham notes that in Britain reliance is put upon education. In Britain the pubs are open only certain hours in the day. A heavy tax is put on liquor. But, from the standpoint of the out-and-out dry, there is a slight omission on the part of Mr. Wickersham, and that is that the British system provides for liquor—which is what the real prohibitionist aims to prevent.

If Mr. Wickersham seriously proposes the British system, he is no modificationist. He is for downright repeal. He is for light wines and beer, heavy wines and gin, highballs and all. The truth probably is that this is actually what Mr. Wickersham thinks would be better than the present system.

Al Smith never went that strong in 1928. Mr. Wickersham's status as spokesman for Mr. Hoover, of course, is not assured. But possibly a statement from the President would be in order. Certainly it would make reading of a character to insure its first-page appearance in practically every newspaper in the land.

AN ALL-TEXAS CANDIDATE.

(Amarillo Daily News.)
Resolutions scoring gubernatorial entrants who are charging that Senator Clint Small is a sectional candidate, representing only the Panhandle, were passed by the Shamrock Small-for Governor Club Wednesday night. Copies of the resolution were ordered distributed throughout the state. It is well that the Shamrock supporters of Senator Small are checking this propaganda at the outset. It is the usual cry of political opponents whenever a particular candidate goes to developing strength in districts outside his home city.

Senator Small emphasized in his opening speech that he was not the candidate of the Panhandle, but that he was seeking an opportunity to serve the entire state. Much of the enthusiasm over his candidacy came from friends, political leaders and interested citizens from South and Central Texas, and this proffered support played no small part in his decision to enter the race.

It is apparent that the other candidates are worried over the showing Senator Small is making, and by charging that he is a Panhandle candidate are seeking to divert attention from the real issues of the campaign.

If Senator Small is a candidate of the Panhandle, so is Jim Young a candidate of East Texas, Tom Love a representative of Northern Texas, Mayfield a candidate of a small area in Central Texas, and on down the list. The charge is absurd, like so many of the thrusts in a political campaign.

RECIPROCTY—WILL IT WORK?

(The McLean News.)
The editor of the Terry County Herald wrote up his turn-down of a Sox peddler, and the Brownfield merchants each donated him a pair of sox, netting him seven pairs of the best sox handled in the town, and one of the best neckties. Now if they will turn down the printing peddlers the same way the editor did the sox peddler, it will be showing genuine gratitude.

Sunday School Lesson

(By Henry Radcliffe, of Editor's Copy Staff)

THE GREAT COMMISSION.

International Sunday School Lesson for June 22, 1930.

Golden Text: "Go ye therefore and make disciples of all nations." Matt. 28:19.

(Lesson Text: Matt. 28:1-10.)

Our lesson last week concerned the crucifixion and death of Jesus. Our lesson this week relates his resurrection and his final command to his apostles.

The Christian faith is based on the resurrection of Jesus. As Paul said, our faith is in vain if there was no resurrection. The triumph of Jesus over death is the assurance of immortality to every man and the confirmation of the divine in the personality of Jesus of Nazareth.

Our lesson text gives us some details of two occasions upon which Jesus appeared to his followers after his resurrection. In all the New Testament accounts eleven different appearances of Jesus during the forty days between his resurrection and his ascension. In connection with this week's lesson, it would be interesting for each reader to follow these, and therefore we give them in chronological order with the scriptural references.

(1) The first appearance on Sunday morning was to Mary Magdalene near the sepulchre, recounted in Mark 16:9 and John 20:11-18.

(2) Shortly afterwards Jesus appeared to a group of women returning from the grave, as related in Matt. 28:8 and 10.

(3) Luke 24:34 tells about an appearance near Jerusalem to Simon Peter alone.

(4) Disciples on the road between Emmaus and Jerusalem were met by Jesus, who talked and walked with them. Luke 24:13-31.

(5) On Sunday evening at Jerusalem Jesus appeared to all the apostles except Thomas. John 20:19-25.

(6) Eight days after the preceding appearances (one week according to our count) Jesus appeared to the apostles including Thomas. John 20:26-29.

(7) Sometime subsequently, probably two weeks, Jesus appeared to seven disciples who were fishing in the Sea of Galilee. John 21:1-3.

(8) At a mountain rendezvous in Galilee Jesus appeared to the eleven disciples. Matt. 28:16-20.

(9) Paul, in I Corinthians 15:6, in relating some of the appearances of Jesus, mentions one to more than five hundred of his followers in Galilee.

(10) Paul in I Corinthians 15:7, tells of an appearance to James alone, the place not mentioned, but probably Jerusalem.

(11) The final appearance, just before the ascension, which took place at the Mount of Olives, near Bethany, in the presence of all the disciples, related in Luke 24:50, 51, and Acts 1:6-12.

There are skeptics who question the dependence which can be placed in the gospel story, but these are in the minority. The story itself rings true. Minor conflicts of detail indicate an independence of testimony, which would not be present had the entire narrative been manufactured. Then, we have the admitted difficulties encountered by some who refused to believe, all faithfully related in the gospel story, which would certainly not have been the case had the story been an attempt to deceive.

The facts as related are so unusual, so unlike those which a creator of a story would have invented, that they testify to the authenticity of the episodes. One would never fabricate the details of Jesus appearing first to the women, not in that far-off day when women's rights were unrecognized. The writer of an imaginative narrative would have had Jesus appear after his crucifixion before Pilot, or kings, or some great personage, rather than the simple Galilean followers.

Probably one of the most effective justifications we have for the acceptance of the resurrection of Jesus lies in the miraculous change which occurred in his disciples between the crucifixion and the day of pentecost. When Jesus was arrested, his disciples fled; later they were back in Galilee at their old tasks. Then they saw Jesus, believed in his resurrection, and received the gift of the holy spirit, after which they were aggressive leaders having new faith which they preached and for which they died—surely no one can question the sincerity of the belief of these men that Jesus lived.

Before his ascension Jesus delivered what has been termed the great commission to his followers. So confident was he of the eternal nature of the principles which he taught and that they could be successfully applied by man through the successive centuries that he commanded his apostles to win the world by teaching them to observe his doctrines. Coupled with the injunction, was a promise of support and aid, and assurance of his everlasting presence with them at all times. The apostles believed, suffered, and died to establish this faith, which has found an answering affirmation in countless millions of human hearts.

Blue Bonnet Club

The Blue Bonnet Club met Thursday, June 12, at 3 p. m., having the most pleasant of any meeting yet and the most present—21. Two new members were added, Mesdames C. L. Williams and B. J. McGee. Our club has 29 members enrolled, ranking fourth in the county. Our pleasant hostess for the evening was Mrs. Clifton Holly.

Our vice-president, Mrs. A. F. Wilson, resigned and Mrs. E. L. Yarber was elected to succeed her.

Our president, Mrs. H. F. Meyer, went on the field trip with other interested members from Amherst. She was able to visit Mrs. Holland's living room. Mrs. Holland won first in the living room contest for Lamb county.

Eleven members from our club attended the meeting of the County Council last Saturday and received the full benefit of the demonstration of making American cheese, the home made dress forms, and seeing the program the Littlefield club rendered. These members were Mesdames Harris Brantley, E. L. Schovajsa, Ervin Yarbrough, W. E. Logan, H. F. Meyer, C. H. Matthews, C. M. Crawford, C. L. Williams, E. W. Baccus.

Miss Mashburn asked three members to take gardening for their year's project. These were Mesdames

C. M. Crawford, W. E. Logan and H. F. Meyer.

The club voted that each member pay one dollar to our secretary at our next meeting. This is to send our delegate to the A. & M. College. The club also voted that we send Mrs. W. E. Logan as delegate.

Other business transacted was in regard to our club booth at the County Fair, each lady agreeing to take certain articles, the list covering practically the entire list of garden and household products.

We had some nice baking for the evening. Mrs. E. W. Baccus made a delicious angel food cake, Mrs. W. E. Logan, cream puffs and Mrs. Clifton Holly, raisin cookies. These appetizing cakes were served and enjoyed by all.

Our next meeting will be on the evening of the 25th, promptly at 2:30, with Mrs. H. N. Humphrey. The lesson will be Alteration of Commercial Patterns, and Miss Mashburn will be with us. New members solicited and visitors welcome.

Value of It Unbelievable

Wichita Woman Says: "I Didn't Have Breath Enough to Sing a Song; Suffered Fifteen Years; Orgatone Restored Me."

"Orgatone is the only medicine I've ever taken that brought me relief and I've suffered fifteen years," said Mrs. J. A. Caphart of Rural Route 2, Wichita Falls, Texas, while in Allison's Drug Store.

"Really, when I bought my first bottle of Orgatone, I didn't think it would help me as it has," she continued, "the value of it is unbelievable."

"Before taking Orgatone, I was very nervous and was tired and worn out all the time. I had a chronic case of stomach and digestive troubles, and nothing I ate seemed to do me a bit of good and gas formed and crowded my heart until I couldn't get my breath enough to sing a song. I was so nervous and restless that I appeared unpleasant and angry to everyone. I didn't get any rest at night and had severe sick headaches most all the time. I had terrible pains in my back and sides and at times I would have to lie down to get relief. After eating anything, I would have heart burn and could never seem to get relief from my troubles."

"One day while reading the papers, I saw where a friend of mine had given a statement about benefits received from Orgatone, so I decided to try it, and it has certainly been the right medicine for me. I haven't had a pain since, and sleep wonderfully every night. I am glad to recommend Orgatone to others for it has proven a great success to me."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Sudan at the H. G. Ramby Drug Store.

"I Cannot Praise
This Konjola
Too Strongly"

Says Wichita Lady Suffered For Twelve Years From Stomach Trouble.

MRS. DELLA SETTLE

"I cannot praise this Konjola too strongly, because I tried many other medicines and treatments, but none gave the remarkable relief that Konjola did," said Mrs. Della Settle, 1719 Mildred avenue, Wichita. "I just had to force myself to eat, and nearly everything I ate made me sick. I had cramping pains in my stomach and bowels until I could hardly endure them, and I simply felt miserable all the time. "Finally I decided to put Konjola to the test. That proved a wise decision. Right from the start I noticed improvement. I now have a much better appetite, and meals are a pleasure as food digests without pains or misery in my stomach. My bowels are functioning as they should, and it is certainly a relief to be rid of that tired, worn-out feeling. I gladly endorse this splendid medicine that restored my health." Konjola has become the most talked of medicine in America because it makes good. And Konjola makes good in the most stubborn cases when given a fair trial and from four to eight bottles are used. Konjola is sold in Sudan, Texas, at the H. G. Ramby Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Adv.
