

ANSWER TO PROPORTED DEFENSE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' COURT

Gentlemen of the Court:

In your feeble defense published in last week's News you overlooked the main point—the point in which "Farmer and Taxpayer" is mainly interested. You failed to inform News readers that you reduced commissioners' salaries to $80.00 per month, county judge $150.00, county attorney to $60.00, county clerk $40.00, district clerk $50.00, sheriff $160.00, deputy sheriff $120.00, county agent $80.00, home demonstration agent $80.00, county treasurer not over $1600.00 per year. "Farmer and Taxpayer is delighted to disseminate the report of this commendable action on your part, which was published in all Lamb county papers except The Sudan News. Why so, Gentlemen? And why has it taken five months of 1932 for your Honorable Body to come to a decision to cut salaries? With practically all commodities down from 25 to 50 per cent the cut in salaries fails to impress the majority of people as over liberal. In particular, the slash in the treasurer's check seems trifling, when it is known that a few days' work in the month covers the actual time required of this officer.

But you want the identification of "Farmer and Taxpayer." He is at least 95 per cent of the adult population of your county. If you doubt it, ask the first ten farmers you meet in Sudan and you will get ten answers: "them's my sentiments." There is generally a proxy in each case as you all know yourselves that you merely signed your "defense" after it was prepared by proxy. Farmer and Taxpayer needs no personal cognomen, no identifying signature. He merely says what the 95 per cent say.

As to the "weaklings and unsympathetic men" as you have been designated and which seems to rile—does it not show considerable weakness and lack of sympathy to wait over two years, in "the worst depression in the history of the world," to quote your own words, before you decided to reduce county expense by cutting your own salaries? The farmers' and taxpayers' income for the past two years has been cut almost to the vanishing point, while you have drawn the regulation monthly checks until now. And if you are so strong for "government of the people, for the people and by the people," as stated in your "defense," pass the opportunity to least at the public trough along to others of the people and learn what it means to make a living by working during a depression.

You herald the news that by your able direction Lamb county valuations are reduced from eight and a half million dollars in 1930 to seven millions in 1932. There is no room for boasting in this. There is not a farm in Lamb county that could be sold for more than half it would have brought two or three years ago. And there is no house in the county worth more than half what it cost.

Farmer and Taxpayer is mainly interested in Lamb county affairs, and if Hockley, Hale, Cochran, and Lubbock county taxpayers permit their commissioner's courts to run wild, that is not my concern.

Farmer and Taxpayer would gladly accept the invitation to visit the Commissioners' Court, but the court house would not hold him—there are just too many of him.

Farmer and Taxpayer.

SUMMER CAMP HAS INTERESTING HISTORY

Scouts of the South Plains who attend the annual summer camp at Post, Texas, during the middle of July, will camp in the midst of an estate endowed with an intensely interesting history.

In the fall of 1925, K. N. Clapp, L. S. Harkey, and H. B. Palmer, well known scout leaders in Lubbock, began an extensive search for a suitable camp site for the council. Weeks were spent in combing the surrounding country for a camp. After considering many locations they finally decided that the C. W. Post estate near Post, Texas, best met the requirements for the camp. These men, aided by outstanding citizens of the South Plains and Lubbock, began negotiations for a half section of land, centering at the old ranch headquarters. They were generously given this plus another strip of land, which brought the total to 420 acres, by the heirs of the estate in the month of June, 1926. The site was to be used at least every other year as a camp for the development of the Scouts of the South Plains.

More than a few historical spots and happenings set the camp forth as more than a mere plot of rough wild country. On the camp site is the old ranch headquarters, built in the early eighties by C. W. Post which is still in an excellent state of preservation. The materials used in its construction were freighted from Colorado City. In this house the first baby girl born in Garza county, came into the world and in its kitchen were made the first of the famous Post Toasties. A short distance from the house, a rock filled cleft marks the location of the first road off the Cap Rock. A few miles to the south, through what is now called Cooper's Canyon, the Old Spanish Trail once found its descent to the levels below. Nearby on the edge of the canyon was a small dug-out post office, the first in Garza county. Its outlines are still visible to the careful observer. At the time, the country was full of Comanche Indians who often raided the ranchers plundering their homesteads ruthlessly.

The primitive pioneering atmosphere still exists the estate despite the advances of civilization and newer and more interesting facts are discovered about the camp site every year the boys camp on it.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Rone spent Sunday with Mrs. Rone's parents Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lumpkins and family.

Joe Salem was attending to business in Lubbock the first of the week.

The winner of last week prizes were: First, $5.00, Cal Cecil; Second, $3.00, J. H. Rudd; Third, $2.00, Mrs. W. R. Sebring; Fourth, $1.00, R. C. Totten; Fifth, $1.00, J. M. Case; Sixth, $1.00, Jess Williams; Seventh, $1.00, Lavelle Wright; Eight, $1.00, Mrs. Payne; Ninth, $1.00, W. L. Foust; Tenth, $1.00, G. W. Powell.

Ten cash prizes will be given away this Saturday afternoon in Sudan. Everyone is invited to come to Sudan and do their trading. Highest market prices are paid for all farm products in Sudan.

FARM NOTICES

D. A. Adam, County Agent

Four-H boys in Lamb county are reporting their field crops up to a stand. These boys are growing 861 acres of feed-crops in their demonstration. They are demonstrating spacing, pure seed, smut control, and cultivation. These boys also have 155 acres of cotton demonstrations, using Acala cotton seed, ceresan treatment, spacing, and cultivation methods. Four-H boys are planning on feeding out of 150 calves this fall beginning in September, and many are carrying dairy calf demonstrations, and poultry demonstrations. There is a total number of over 300 boys that belong to Four-H clubs in every school district in Lamb county. All of these boys will come together during the month of August in Four-H club encampment at which time we shall have a good program and is to be conducted by the boys, and a review of the years work will be given.

Lamb county Four-H club judging team is making preparations to work out, getting ready for the Annual Farmers Short Course in July, at which time they will be entered into dairy and swine judging contest.

Broomcorn growers of Lamb county met with Mr. Alquire from Washington, D. C. in a grading school held at Littlefield, Monday, May 23. Grading standards were given these men, and discussed harvesting, care at harvesting time, and preparation for market. Mr. J. G. Bryant, of Littlefield stated that this meeting was very educational, and that he appreciated very much the opportunity to get this information.

Caponizing demonstrations have been held during the past week by the County Agent at W. E. Healy Farm, W. C. Lackey Farm, and J. E. Hamilton Farm with an attendance of 53 people, and 150 cockerals were caponized, and 10 people trained to do the work.

Caponizing demonstrations are to be conducted by the county agent, at the following places: Millard Phillips Farm, Monday, June 6; I. V. Fent, Friday, June 10; W. T. Whitaker Farm, June 10, afternoon.

Lamb County Farmers Improve Quality Of Cotton

During the past two months four car loads of State Certified cotton seed have been delivered to Lamb County farmers all of one variety—John D. Acala.

In an effort to bring about a better quality of cotton for farmers, and not forgetting that maturity and yield are two big factors in this country, the county agent, and seed committee conducted a series of meetings during the spring of 1931, and 92 farmers agreed to grow seed blocks of Acala cotton. All farmers that grew this cotton were unanimous in their praise for that cotton. As a result of this the seed sales, R. N. Carpenter, Ben J. McGee and others this year placed the four car loads of certified seed to 300 farmers within the county. All the farmers who had seed blocks last year, had some first year seed for sale, and as a result of the efforts put forth, there will be 600 farmers in Lamb county who will have Acala cotton on their farms in an effort to improve their quality, and still maintain yields and maturity.

It is believed that some communities, stated the county agent.

In setting on the one variety, the county agent, and seed committee composed of R. N. Carpenter, chairman; L. C. Gregg; C. T. Mason; J. A. Boone; and J. W. Hammock visited the Experiment Station at Lubbock, and studied the records and after going over these carefully decided to push the Acala variety as far as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cowan and daughter, Bobby, of Lubbock, were visiting friends in Sudan Wednesday.

FIRST MEETING OF TAXPAYERS HELD AT JANES TABERNACLE LAST NIGHT

The largest crowd of farmers and taxpayers that has ever met in Lamb county for the purpose of getting organized, to have some influence in the amount and manner in which their taxes are being paid out, met at Janes Tabernacle last night. Practically all parts of Lamb county was represented and splendid talks were made by a number of Lamb county taxpayers and farmers.

Mr. V. C. Nelson, president of the First National bank of Sudan, presided at the meeting. He spoke on both the school boards and the county officials. His talk included a plan of draft in which the farmers and taxpayers could draft some capable man to serve in the various office for the next two years at the small salary of $100 a year, or as he put it bed and board. He said "I believe that there are ten men in Lamb county who could be secured to fill the offices of the county at a great deal less than one-half of what is being paid at the present time."

Dr. King, of Vernon, a large land owner of Lamb and Bailey counties, was next to talk. His remarks brought out the staggering facts that his land is valued at $20 and $40 per acre for school purposes: He asked, "Could anything be more unfair, when the land cost me from $10 to $19 per acre and I am willing to see it tonight at one-half of what it is assessed for school taxes?"

Mr. P. E. Boesen, Vice-president of the First National bank of Sudan, talked at length and gave the purpose of the meeting. In his talk he stated that he had been instrumental in locating over 400 farmers and that after they had been located that his work had just begun and that he was interested in the farmers to see that they got a square deal. Mr. Boesen also stated that if something was not done to relieve the tax burden in a few years that many of these farmers would be compelled to give up their homes for taxes and that that would be the saddest experience of all his years.

Mr. Jack Brannen, postmaster of Littlefield, made a short talk in which he set out that many schools, and especially one he represented as member of the board, had cut the taxes but had not cut operating expenses in line with the reduction in taxes and that the people would some day wake up with an extra burden of debt on their hands and one that would eventually wipe out the school system if not attended to at this time. He said, "No institution can operate and stay in business continuously pay out more than it takes in."

H. G. Ramby, mayor of Sudan, talked of his work as a member of the equalization board of the Sudan district and stated that after considerable argument with other members that he was able to get a meagre 10 per cent reduction on the taxes for the Sudan Independent School district. He also stated that since elected mayor of Sudan that he had been able in cooperating with other members of the city commission to reduce operating expenses considerable and that it was the aim of the new city commission to cut operating expenses as fast as possible until the expenses were brought in line with the income.

Mr. Nix, farmer of the Amherst community, spoke and in his talk stated that the organization of a taxpayers league of Lamb county was in order and that he was ready to go to the last ditch to assist in organizing a league in which the taxpayers would have some control over the taxmakers.

At the close of the meeting a paper containing a pledge to organize a taxpayers league was presented by Mr. Nelson and every one present signed the pledge and expressed their willingness to cooperate to the fullest extent with such an institution.

Talks from the gentlemen were gentlemenly, kindly and free of sarcasm and the meeting contained a spirit of good humor throughout.

IT MUST BE DONE

Uncle Sam in the past has shown himself capable of performing some pretty tough jobs—all the way from digging the Panama Canal to pitching in to help win the World War.

Today he faces a new job, one of the toughest and one of the most important that he has ever had to tackle.

He has got to catch the man or the men who killed the Lindbergh baby. It doesn't matter in the least what branch of the government system does the job—federal secret service, New Jersey state police, city officers or private investigators. But somehow the job has got to be done, and done thoroughly and swiftly.

It is not simply a matter of public grief and public indignation that makes this necessary.

It is a matter of proving that government in this country is capable of meeting one of the most insolent and shocking challenges it has ever received.

The pitiful tragedy of the Lindberghs is a thing that touches every home in the land.

If a family of wealth and high positions, enjoying contacts with the most powerful people and institutions in the nation, cannot provide security for a child in the child's own home, cannot recover the child alive after the crime of kidnaping has been committed—then what child is safe?

The only way in which any of our lost feeling of safety can be regained is by finding the criminals swiftly and punishing them sternly.

This does not mean that we need give way to hysterical demands for more severe punishment. People are already talking about setting up more severe penalties for criminals, the old demand that death penalty for kidnaping be incorporated in the federal law is being heard again. But all of that is beside the point.

We have plenty of laws now to deal with the kidnapers and murderers—if we can catch them. The concentration must be concentrated on now, to the exclusion of everything else.

It does not matter how expensive the job may be, or how much work it may involve, or how difficult it may be. The murders of Baby Lindbergh must be brought to book, if every policeman and detective in the land has to join in the hunt. Until this has been done, all of our pride in American civilization is meaningless. For if a crime of this kind cannot be punished, then our criminals have an immunity greater than anything the most lawless frontier mining camp ever dreamed of.

DREAMS OF YOUTH

Every year, in May and June, an army of boys and girls set out to conquer the world. They are confident that their diplomas will help them cope with any situation. They haven't a doubt but that they will be able to take every bend in the road, sight banners all the way, and come into a Promised Land.

They haven't tried to tackle reality as yet. Their dreams haven't had a chance to grow tarnished in the struggle. So they start on the uphill road gaily, gallantly, unafraid.

Instructors who are wise in the ways of life as well as the routine of the classroom will not teach boys and girls, young men and young women, that all battles go to the strong. They will not tell them that every race belongs to the fleet. They have learned better.

Rather, they will tell those who are new in the conflict that there are things of the spirit that mean infinitely more than material success can possibly mean. They will try to inspire them to make lives, not merely a living.

It would be a splendid thing if the far-flung visions that are such a glorious part of youth could span every long tomorrow as they dream of doing. But they can't. The play isn't written that way. There are few all-star casts. The vast majority of May and June Graduates must stay in the wings, waiting for cues that seldom comes. They are going to be disappointed and restless, unless they have some abiding, deeper interest.

Then, too, the sorry plight of the present economics system may make them think that there are no holes, either round or square, for their pegs, in the industrial structure. If their dreams are entirely materialistic this will be tremendously discouraging. If they are built from firmer stuff they will stand the strain.

Youth is such a buoyant time. It is only right that boys and girls should have a period for dreaming before life brings problems for solving. However, if the loss of a little transient glamour will supply more durable stuff for tomorrow's building, it is well worth the cost.

which has been shown in me will be a constant inspiration and challenge to give of the best I have in filling the position to which I have been elevated.

No one could have attended the sessions of the Sweetwater convention without coming away deeply impressed with the great spirit of West Texans to press on with an unexcelled determination in times of economic stress and difficulties such as we now have.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce met the challenges of the times during the year closing with the convention in an admirable, loyal and worthy fashion. At no time in its history has the organization given a better account of itself than at the Sweetwater meeting. Under the magnificent leadership of President Houston Hartie many worthwhile and far-reaching projects were inaugurated and carried through to successful consummation. Others were begun and advanced which it will be my purpose to carry forward in my administration.

The Sweetwater convention adopted many constructive and vital resolutions and I shall regard these as the work program and platform of my administration. One of our first tasks will be to formulate plans for getting positive result upon the resolutions. These plans will be announced soon in the form of a definite work program with an organization plan for the performing of the work.

I have three definite objectives in mind for my administration which I think are of paramount importance.

Reduction of Public Expenditures and Taxation

First, I want to carry forward the excellent program already under way for the reduction of public expenditures and taxation. The leadership of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Texas upon this project is generally recognized and firmly established. It shall be my foremost purpose to advance this program and carry it out to the fullest. There is no problem of more vital concern than that of the increasing cost of all government. In fact, I want every county in West Texas to have a Tax Payers Committee.

I am firmly convinced that we must have lower taxes before we can expect a full measure of prosperity. To have lower taxes we must curtail public expenditures. To curtail public expenditures, we must demand less services of our government, and perhaps cut off some which we have come to regard as highly essential. This will only be done when demanded by the taxpayers themselves. I believe we have in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and our splendid local chambers with their tax committees the kind of organization that can most easily and effectively accomplish the ends desired. Many of the resolutions adopted at Sweetwater have to do with the problem, and I sincerely hope that all West Texans will familiarize themselves with them so that we may have their intelligent cooperation.

We are pledged to the promotion of the following activities and policies: to memorialize public officials to reduce expenditures, to organize budget making proceedings in all forms of local government, to require proper auditing of county claims, to compel tax collections, to provide less costly county administration, to provide less costly state administration, to provide less costly judiciary administration and to lessen public school affiliation requirements.

Beautification Plan

The second objective to which I expect to dedicate my administration is the furtherance of the West Texas beautification plan started under President Hartie's leadership. One of the common complaints from visitors to West Texas is its barrenness. This condition can be eliminated to a great extent through cooperative effort such as the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is fostering through the eighty odd local beautification committees in as many towns. We have the plan in operation. We expect during this year to stage a big inter-city beautification contest whereby communities will vie with one another in planting trees, shrubbery, and flowers. Soon we shall announce the contest plan which will be conducted until the Big Spring Convention in 1933.

Buy at Home Shows

The third objective I have in mind is that of having all of our one hundred and seventeen affiliated towns conduct and stage "Buy-at-home Shows," with the particular purpose of getting the women interested in the promotion of this activity in each town. These shows may be held at one time all over West Texas. Towns will be surprised themselves to find just how many products are manufactured and produced right in their own confines. They will be further surprised to find the great variety of products carried on the shelves of the local merchants. I believe this idea can be made a great factor in promoting Texas industrially. If West Texas is to expand industrially it must come from small beginnings we already have. Most of our large industries were once small. By encouraging the small ones we now have through these shows we shall be promoting larger ones for the years ahead.

While I expect to major on the above three projects it shall also be my purpose through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to carry the other projects outlined at the Sweetwater er convention, to continue the organization's effort of ever fostering and strengthening that spirit of loyalty, progressiveness, and determination so thoroughly characterized by our West Texas citizenship.

The accomplishment of the objectives I have in mind for this organization is only possible with the cooperation of our one hundred and seventeen affiliated towns through their accredited directors. With all these pulling together under the banner of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, we can do what we make up our minds to do.

If I were to select a slogan for my administration, it would be "Press On," because only by pressing toward the objectives we have set up can we expect to be successful in our aims and ambitions for West Texas.

STORM CELLARS MOST POPULAR FOR FARM FOOD STORAGE

College Station—The great majority of the thousands of 4-H pantries now in process of filling by farm women are located in storage or storm cellars in back yards, reports from home demonstration agents indicate. Spare rooms and unused portions of the house have pressed into service in many cases, but because canned stuff, vegetables and cured meat keep better in cooler places the outdoor cellars are more popular. The inconvenience of having to run from kitchen to cellar and back again for food is avoided by many housewives who built shelves in the kitchen where small supplies are kept ahead for immediate use.

There is a growing tendency to build cellars of concrete, the reports reveal, and some of the newer ones are models for convenience, arrangement and cleanliness. Many are painted white or whitewashed, and some have steps on a gentle incline of the steep, sharp ones of older days when cellars were used on rare occasions. A few are reported built into the sides of hills, doing away entirely with steps. In one case the concrete roof of the cellar serves as the floor for a wash house where the family laundry is located.

Rusk—Through an exchange of $15 worth of pecans, Mrs. Henry Todd of Central High community, Cherokee county, secured the first fruit trees and berry vines needed to supply her family with the proper amount of fruit. For the pecans she received 36 fruit trees, 24 everbearing strawberry plants, 2 dewberry vines 6 grape vines, and 13 grape cuttings 1 pecan, 1 butternut, and 1 English walnut.

Quick Service Saved More Than A Million Dollars

San Benito—Prompt action a year ago by county agent and experiment station saved 70 per cent of the Cameron county Irish potato crop from late blight, a brand new disease to the Valley, and kept the losses in the 1932 season to less than 5 per cent, a recent check-up discloses. The disease also attacked tomatoes in 1931 and the losses there were limited to 50 per cent. Bordeaux mixture was found to give perfect control where properly applied but due to the fact that no liquid sprayers were on hand in 1931 many resorted to dusting with copper-lime dust which was less effective and more expensive. Where nothing was done losses of both potatoes and tomatoes were 100 per cent according to H. L. Alsmeyer, county agent.

Growers were ready with 22 sprayers when late blight appeared again last spring, and 25 per cent of the 10,400-acre potato crop was saved by spraying and the rest by the dusting method. The cost of spraying an acre ranged from $1.25 to $1.50. The value of the crop in 1931 was $25,000, and in 1932 was estimated at $660,000. The value of the tomato crop saved in 1931 was $993,000.

Fort Worth—Terracing begun in 1915 by a county agent explains why poor washed-away soil on the farm of J. W. Maxwell in Tarrant county is now the most productive land in the neighborhood, says M. C. Counts, present county agent. Mr. Maxwell values his land at $100 per acre on a productive basis, where as unterraced land in that section is in worse condition than 20 years ago and worth no more than $25 per acre in many instances, it is said.

San Antonio—Corn parched when his barn burned last fall was saved from total loss by feeding it in self feeders to 30 hogs that paid 10 cents per bushel for it, Richard Schirmer of Bexar county reports at the end of a feeding demonstration in cooperation with O. W. Thompson, assistant county agent. The parched corn was substituted for the undamaged corn and fed with a home-mixed protein ration. Mr. Schirmer plans to continue feeding hogs by self-feeders, using half cottonseed meal and half tankage for the protein concentrate.

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. Darrow, Ext. Editor

Control of intestinal worms of poultry and of coccidiosis in chicks has become almost universal on Texas farms as a result of thousands of demonstrations, the extension poultry husbandman believes. He bases it on reports from county farm and home demonstration agents, on common observation, and on the fact that the volume of inquiries on these subjects has steadily decreased for the last five years. "Worms used to cut production 25 per cent or more," he says.

Since December 1st, 384 farm wives in Collin county have been helped in some tangible way such as canning or gardening by the members of 21 home demonstration clubs. In a Wilbarger county contest 10 home demonstration clubs report the installation of 85 sanitary pit toilets.

From a garden 300 feet long and 150 feet wide, Ruth Guttery, a 4-H club girl of Jim Wells county sold 318 pounds of cabbage in a recent two-week period, and a bit earlier sold off 1050 tomato plants.

Forty-one home demonstration club members in Deaf Smith county recently re-modelled dresses at costs ranging from 5 to 50 cents each. The total estimated saving in one month from this sort of work was $121.20. "Terraces had as much to do with our good crops last year as the season, because what water fell did not run off but benefited the crops," says E. L. Jones who was helped by the Kaufman county agent to terrace a 95 acre field last year. The year before the tract produced only four bales of cotton and very little feed. The year 22 bales of cotton were gathered, 700 bushels of oats, 300 bushels of corn, and 7 tons of sorghum hay.

The Art Names Dramatic Company has been showing vuled with laughter a great part of the time. Another liberal feature of Mr. Names' show is that most of the time he made no charge at the front door, charging only for the reserved seats, and only a small fee for those, thus allowing many to see and hear the show who would not otherwise have been able to do so. Plenty of good vaudeville was another popular feature of the show.

The Star wishes to express its appreciation of the kind of plays which has been represented by Mr. Names and his troupe of splendid actors. The plays have been of a decidedly clean, moral nature, presenting a good moral story, but at the same time so filled with wit and humor as to keep the audience con-

Questions and Answers
about
Conoco Germ Processed Oil

Q: WHAT DOES "GERM PROCESS" MEAN?
A: The words "Germ Process" describe the scientific method by which this oil is manufactured. Such processing adds immeasurably to the oil's lubricating properties. North American patent rights to this process are owned by Continental—only CONOCO oils are Germ Processed!

Q: IS IT DIFFERENT FROM OTHER OILS?
A: Yes. It is the only oil of its kind, and does what no other oil can do. The Germ Process gives it the ability to penetrate and combine with metal surfaces in your motor. The Germ Process also gives more "oiliness" than any other oil. Any oil would be better if it were Germ Processed.

Q: WHAT IS THE "HIDDEN QUART?"
A: The "Hidden Quart" is tangible evidence that CONOCO Germ Processed Oil penetrates metal surfaces and gives surer, safer lubrication. During the first 250 to 350 miles after your first fill with Germ Processed Oil, a pint to a quart seemingly disappears. On later fills, it does not. That's the Hidden Quart—it stays up in your motor and never drains away! Other oils drain away when your car is idle, leaving vital parts unlubricated during the starting period, when almost half of all motor wear occurs. CONOCO's Hidden Quart lubricates before your motor starts—cutting down costly starting wear!

Q: WHY SHOULD I CHANGE TO CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL?
A: Because, by cutting down starting wear, it gives your motor longer life, keeps it sweet-running and saves expensive repair bills. Because Germ Processed Oil's extra oiliness makes your car run better. It forms a stronger piston-ring seal, making starting easier and giving more power. It withstands crankcase dilution and high temperatures. CONOCO Germ Processed Motor Oil gives you the safest, surest lubrication you can buy. Change now to this better oil at any CONOCO Red Triangle station.
