HENRY FORD'S PHILOSOPHY

The three contributions from Henry Ford, published last week in The News as a contribution to public welfare, are really rather remarkable statements of his philosophy of life. In the last two he asserts that—"Our times are primitive. True progress is yet to come. The industrial age has scarcely dawned as yet; we are pioneers." "Our hopes for agriculture need a wider and steadier market; industrial workers need more and steadier jobs. The link between is chemistry." In the future "we shall grow annually many if not most of the substances needed in manufacturing. When that day comes the farmer will not lack a market and the worker will not lack a job. We are going to renew our stake in the end; for the land is the foundation of the economic security which we seek."

This is the lesson that Texas must take to heart. Texas is fundamentally agricultural but it is richest of the States in its natural resources and in its possibilities of industries. Texas should avoid antagonism between city and county. Each should help the other and both combined should make the greater Texas of the future, the coming Empire State.

Many of the industries of the North are bound to move to Texas in due time and other industries will develop here through native energy. They will utilize our raw material, our fuels, and our abundant labor of native American stock. Many of these industries will settle in the smaller cities and in villages using the resources of the county and obtaining capital often from local resources.

Times are hard now, but there is a brighter future. Each region or county should study its industrial possibilities and develop these so as to combine industry and farming into a co-operative partnership each helping the other. As Henry Ford would say, let every family plant itself firmly on the land, owned without mortgage, and then take a deep interest in the promotion of native industries that would afford opportunity for reciprocal employment. Such a policy would be in time result in a class of farmer industrialists—a class family on a farm but also interested in neighboring industries.—Dallas News.

SHOULD BACK WARNER

The list of aspirants for congressman-at-large now includes thirty names and the Panhandle's own Phebe K. Warner has announced for place Number Two. She has eight opponents, scattered around the country from Houston to Fort Worth and it is just up to the Panhandle to vote solidly for her, otherwise we shall get what the little boy shot at in the matter of representation. Apparently Senator Pink Parish as decided not to enter the race and consequently the Panhandle will not get the two representatives to which it is entitled, even if we succeed in electing Mrs. Warner. Houston and Ft. Worth both have a candidate for each of the three places and South Texas will hog all the places if possible. The fact that there are so many candidates to divide up the vote in that part of the State should make it possible for the Panhandle to elect Mrs. Warner if the people will stand by her and their rights of representation loyally. It is probable that Mrs. Warner is better known generally over the State than any of her opponents. There is scarcely a corner of this big commonwealth to which she has not been called at some time or other in her capacity as State and National Chairman of Rural Work of the General Federation, but the calls have not been limited to addresses to women. As a member of the State Park Board, she has visited many different parts of Texas. Chambers of Commerce and other organizations from El Paso to Texarkana and from Tuxedo to Brownsville have persuaded her to appear upon their programs. And wherever she goes her common sense and high ideals have made thousands of friends for her. We who know her intimately know that the words she speaks come directly from the heart and that her whole life has been a living example of devotion to her home her town, her county and her State. Her greatest work has been with the individuals who compromise those civic divisions and most of all has she been a crusader for the farmer and the farm woman. She believes that "if the same time, thought and energy were being used by both the government and the farmers seeking ways to increase the profits on the farm, that are being used to find ways and means to loan the farmers more money and sink them deeper in debt, the farm problem would soon be solved." It is her ambition to see the farm dollar stabilized so that the farmer will be able to get a dollar's worth of goods for his dollar and she hopes to witness the creation of a marketing system whereby the law of supply and demand will control the markets instead of the markets controlling the law of supply and demand. The insurance of a just share of our national income to the farm homes would revolutionize both our far mlife and our industrial life and if the farm women and children received the ten billion dollars which they earn annually—but never get—farmers would live better and industry and commerce would be immensely stimulated. Mrs. Warner believes that giving the whole farm family a square deal will make the whole world more prosperous. Let's see that every Panhandle vote is cast for Phebe K. Warner.—Southwest Plainsman.

Too Much ACID

MANY people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and a once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes. You will never use crude method when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store. The ideal dentifrice for clean teeth and healthy gums is Phillips' Dental Magnesia tooth-paste.

resources. And while banking, manufacturing, transportation, shipping, insurance and other industries have been subsidized decade after decade to enable them to flourish and obtain net dividends that would not only provide proper standards of living for all engaged in such industries, but permitted huge accumulations of wealth to amass large volumes of governmental tax exempt securities while agriculture was not only neglected to shift for its own economic standard, but has been bled white by taxation to maintain such governmental subsidies and to pay sinking funds and interest on such tax exempt securities. An injustice more gross in inequality of economic opportunity would be difficult to conceive of perpetration on the part of a Federal Democracy. In the light of the above facts, where a policy of favoritism and special privilege has been pursued so long that 4 per cent of the nation's population owns about 90 per cent of its wealth, would it appear difficult for one of average intelligence to comprehend the major fundamental cause of our present economic chaos and decadence? I think not. The mass consciousness of those engaged in other industry than agriculture, and that includes most of our governmental officials, and especially those named above who have fattened at the expense of agriculture most, seems to hold those engaged in agricultural areas as a breeding ground to maintain a populous personage for an abundant and inexhaustible supply of basic raw materials solely for the benefit of those who so long have usurped the resources of government for their selfish interest and greed. Such a policy of special privilege and plunder on the part of our government could not but produce, as certainly as the night follows the day, our present catastrophe.

More than thirty years ago, in the settlement of our grievance with Spain, we took over the Philippine Archipelago for their protection and to give them independence. In the mean time, a generation, our government has allowed a few of its special privileged class to buy up those citizen's huge coco plantations and subject its natives to toil practically naked at a wage of a few pence per day and in a state of practical peonage in the production of millions of tons of vegetable oils and ship same free of duty to our shores and dump the product of such labor and standard of living directly upon the backs of our native American farmers, who have been paying the larger share in the maintenance and growth of our government and who have a larger share for the credit of our ideals and institutions than any other class of our citizens, in direct competition with his dairy products and vegetable oils. Not only tariff free but the oil product of those naked negroes, I am told, is freighted from Galveston to Cincinnati at a charge of thirty cents per hundred pounds, while our natives sons of agriculture are charged 100 per cent more or sixty cents per hundred pounds. Again those naked Indian peons are similarly used in those huge jute plantations and factories, and the product of their labor is allowed to come to our shores free of duty and likewise dumped upon the backs of our farmers in direct competition with the fibers grown by our native sons, upon whom rests the security, perpetuity and prosperity of this nation. Likewise the United Fruit Company who have amassed great holdings of agriculture lands in our little neighbor republic to the south, with the strong arm of our government have practically subjugated large areas and numbers of those native farmers, who have at times manifested, through inherent desire of liberty and independence, resentment to encroachment of foreign title to their native soil, not only to be classed as bandits and subdued or shot by those submissive to subjugation but seemingly always headed and directed by an official of the United States marine. Senator, in the light of such a background of policy, practice and facts, do you wonder that there would come a time of limit? When exhaustion, palsy and decadence would inevitably supervene? I am sure you would not. In a Christian nation as ours, founded upon the faith and credence of the Holy Writ, wherein is taught to love thy neighbor as thy self, and to do unto others as thou would have them do unto us; a nation founded and gives its ideals, precepts and institutions by the leading farmers of its natal day, and upon such foundation, a nation whose stability and growth within the span of one hundred fifty years has attained a civilization, matchless, and without peer in a comparable span of time, who would doubt to day that an economic chaos would envelop as a pall our fair land of a once true and cherished democracy, had the spirit of the enunciation of our government obtained where in the spirit of universal individuality and equal economic opportunity had been preserved to accompany the thrift and initiative of all citizens alike? Also, greed, graft, and a wolfish desire to obtain the lion's share without equity, right or necessity has pushed our nation, tottering on the brink of disaster.

No nation of democracy ever has, or ever can, exist, where the right of suffrage is equal and uniform, part master and part slave. I must confess my lack of faith in the sincerity of the congress and high government officials to apply militant spirit of unselfish patriotism, imbued fully with altruism, in its effort to fully restore fundamental conditions that would serve as a base upon which equal economic opportunity could be had and enjoyed by all classes of industry and its people, especially agriculture our most essential and basic industry, with the conditions and facts of the above picture of necessity staring them in the face.

What congressmen that would expose his moral turpitude and falter the faith and betray the high obligation assumed in the acceptance of the oath and exalted office of the congress that carries the responsibility of directing the welfare of this nation and all its individuals and all its classes of industry, by daring to impeach the intelligence of the American farmer by stating agriculture had not been discriminated against by the government. That it is right to make the farmer pay a higher rate of freight than any other industry. That it is economic equal opportunity, as pledged as its purpose in the agricultural marketing act, to make the farmer sell the product of living and labor wages of the peons of the earth, and to buy what he consumes in the most highly protected market on the earth, and at the same time assess him for this privilege a higher cost by taxation to maintain and perpetuate such privilege.

Senator, the congress should no longer make an ass of itself by simulating justice to agriculture with the record of facts and its acts as a sample of which is above given, but should at least be frank and consistent with the farmer and tell him candidly that he must not hope for equal assistance and consideration at the hands of congress with the view of obtaining equal economic opportunity, but rather to turn his back upon the hopes, ideals and aspirations he may now cherish, and the pride of his greater contribution in the lay-out of a nation that has wrought so much and so fast in our broad and wide the foundation his guiding hand and influence, but instead turn his thought and time to his humble little domicile and plot of ground to accept the life of peon or surf and become satisfied to breed as large a number of little ignorant surfs as the laws of reproduction will permit and with such a bountiful gift from God, to produce all the food and fiber that is possible for the government he founded and the masters who disfranchised him and took it away from him.

The McAdoo plan as applied to Wheat and Cotton is the simplest, most equitable and sensible it has been my privilege to have suggested. It comes nearer to recognizing and placing the American farmer on an economic equality with other industry than any plan that I have yet read or heard. It is a real challenge to the government and the congress as to the sincerity claimed in the interest of agriculture.

In conclusion I wish to make the following statements. All statesmen and economists are agreed that no nation or civilization can endure without its agricultural industry. That the most prosperous its agriculture the more secure and thrifty its government and people. That agriculture is the governor and balance-wheel that shields and preserves the ship of state in the storms of war and revolution, and in the storms of That if these honored statesmen econo. depression and chaos and economists are correct, the times is now for our privilege few, who largely through the instrumentality of the government, control the wealth and purchasing power and therefore the consuming power and standards of living of our people, and in no small degree the government itself, to recognize the facts and conditions confronting this government itself to recognize the facts and conditions confronting this government, and for their own welfare as well as the nation's welfare to right about face and to do those things that deep down in their hearts they know that an honest, conscientious, God fearing man would do, and to cease doing those things that their heart, they know is impeding the opportunity for progress in the spiritual, moral and intellectual lives of our people that belong to and measure the attainment of a higher civilization, to say nothing of the necessity of an economic equilibrium as an essential base to build such a progress in the affairs of human endeavor.

Again I thank you for your consideration and courtesy, and express my kindest personal regards.

You sincerely,

THE PEOPLE OF TEXAS MUST DECIDE THE FATE OF TEXAS RAILROADS

● THE WELFARE of Texas and Texans has gone and will always go hand in hand with the welfare of Texas railroads. Their dependency upon each other is absolute.

In 1929 Texas railroads gave employment to 82,956 employees, to whom they paid annually $128,674,543 in salaries and wages. In 1930 this number decreased to 70,739 while the payroll declined to $109,892,226. In 1931 the number of employees fell to 57,098 and the payroll to $89,505,918.

This represents a decrease of more than $37,000,000 in purchasing power in Texas communities. There has been a corresponding decrease in purchase of materials and supplies by Texas railroads. The ability to have maintained railroad payrolls and purchases would have been a very important factor in overcoming the present trying economic condition.

The decline in railroad payrolls and purchases is due only in part to economic conditions. The revenues of the railroads have been affected not only by business conditions but to a very large extent by loss of traffic to trucks and buses using the public highways in competition with the railroads.

● The time has come when the people of Texas must decide whether the traffic of this state can best be carried by the railroads, using facilities which they built and maintain at their own expense, or by trucks and buses using the highways built and maintained at the taxpayers' expense.

STANDARD RECEIPT FORM FOR BONDED WAREHOUSES ISSUED BY SHACKELFORD

Austin, Texas, June 16.—Declaring the situation among Texas bonded warehouses in regards to receipt forms is "pitiful," L. L. Shackelford, chief of the warehouse division of the Department of Agriculture, has issued to all warehouses a standard receipt form which they will be required to adopt.

"In the past there has been such a multifarious conglomeration of receipts that it has become necessary and expedient to adopt one of uniformity that will be acceptable as collateral by the Federal Reserve Bank," he said. Warehousemen were instructed that forms for both negotiable and non-negotiable receipts are the same but that non-negotiable receipts must be so marked on the face of the receipt. Warehouse charges must be inserted on the face of the receipt and a warehouseman cannot issue a receipt signed by a public weigher, Shackelford further advised.

THE TENDERFOOT

It is rumored, fellows that the first troop in the council which gets 75 per cent of its membership enrolled for camp will receive a one dollar refund on their camp fee. Whoops! Doesn't that sound good. And all others who get 75 per cent of their membership by a certain date will get a nice pennant. Whoops again!

Life saving is going to be stressed at the camp this year as much as it has in the past. To Everheart who is Scoutmaster of Troop 8 up at Lubbock will have charge of all water front activities. Tom is a great scouter and has certainly done a nice piece of work with his troop. He says that they are going to win that trophy easily. I wonder—How about it?

There is one man whom we are going to miss very much this year. He is little George Eaton. Known around the camp as "Chief Prickly Pear". George got that moniker because of his knack of riding donkeys and landing in prickly pear patches when the donkey got tired of his company. He is now serving in the army at Fort Bliss.

Delbert Jones, reknowned leather expert, from New Mexico, will be at the camp this year to teach us the gentle art of leather craft. Delbert and his craft were very popular at Camp We-Hin-Ah-Pa last summer.

Say, gang, this Troop 23 at Lamesa, lead by Stevens and Pratt are going to be making a mighty strong bid for that McMullan Trophy. At least that's what I've been told.

I wouldn't be surprised if Troop 16 at Post, the present possessor of the cup wouldn't want to have a word or two before giving that cup up. They were the winners in 1930, maybe they will repeat.

Joe Spikes' Troop also of Lamesa will probably be giving the rest of these troops, who think they've got the trophy tied up in a sack, quite a few fits. That is if they will come to the camp.

I wonder about these other troops. Where are they going to be. Write in fellows and let me know whats up. If you have any suggestions about the camp send 'em in to the "Tenderfoot" at Scout Headquarters. I'll be see'n you at camp I hope.

FEDERAL OFFICIALS TO CONSIDER REQUEST FOR MORE FARM CROP LOANS

Governor's Committee Seeks Aid For Farmers in Getting Feed to Livestock

Austin, Texas, June 16.—Reconstruction Finance Corporation officials and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde will seriously and carefully consider the request for additional crop loans to farmers of the southwest, they promised a delegation from Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, which recently appeared before the relief agency.

Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald, a member of the Governor's contact committee, declared upon his return that "we were assured by the administration that a continuance of agriculture loans will be given serious and careful consideration."

"The Secretary of Agriculture has been pronouncedly opposed to loaning the farmers money to add further to the already burdensome surplus of farm products," he said. He stated that some means must be found to curtail production if farming is to be returned to its proper economic status."

Texas members of the delegation were A. P. Barrett of Fort Worth, Leon Goodman of Midland and Commissioner McDonald, who, in Washington, joined Col. Albert T. Woods of New Mexico and former Governor T. E. Campbell of Arizona. Jon W. Carpenter and John E. Owens, of Dallas, chairman and member of the Governor's Committee, did not make the trip.

The delegation carried to Washington the plea that government funds should be available to aid farming just as long as funds appropriated by Congress are available to aid industry.

"It is discrimination to shut the door in the face of the farmer on May 1 when they continue loans to industry, commerce and transportation," Commissioner McDonald said. "We asked only for emergency crop production loans and aid for the farmers in purchasing livestock to consume their surplus feed.

"With a carryover of surplus feed from last season and a new crop coming on with no market, funds are needed to obtain livestock through which the feed can be marketed.

"We realize that livestock prices are very low, but it is about the only avenue through which the surplus feed may be marketed."

SOUTHERN DELEGATES TO DEMO CONVENTION ASKED TO WEAR COTTON SUITS

Austin, Texas, June 16.—Southern delegates to the Democratic National Convention, to be held in Chicago June 27 are being urged by the National Association for Increased Use of Cotton to wear a cotton suit on at least one day of the convention.

Regional presidents of the Association are forwarding personal letters to all of the delegates from the cotton states. J. E. McDonald, Commissioner of Agriculture and President of the Texas Division of the National Association, forwarded the letters to Texas' 144 district delegates and 40 delegates at large.

"National delegates render an unselfish and patriotic service to their State and Nation, and this service can be materially broadened if every delegate from the cotton states should provide himself with a cotton suit to be worn on at least one day during the Chicago convention," Commissioner McDonald wrote. "The National Association for the Increased Use of Cotton respectfully urges that you provide yourself with a cotton suit."

"A letter similar to this is going to every southern delegate to our National Convention. Our only motive is the promotion of more uses for cotton, and we have implicit confidence in our delegates co-operating in this endeavor."

We are a nation dedicated to the principles of individualism... yet we have built up the biggest and most expensive governmental machinery created anywhere at any time. We strenuously object to "government in business" and yet we spend more money on governmental promotion and regulation of business than any country in the world except Russia. —The Index.

TRACE WEAR ON CLOTHING TO AUTO UPHOLSTERIES

It's not the clothes; it's the upholstery.

Sudan merchants who have been troubled by a growing number of complaints of unsatisfactory wear of clothing were able today to place their finger on the cause of their difficulties:

Harsh automobile upholstery.

The fact was established in a series of laboratory tests conducted by leading garment manufacturers in an attempt to discover which fabric commonly used auto upholstery resulted in the least and greatest amount of wear to the passenger's clothing. A complete summary of the results of the tests is contained in the current number of "Tomorrow's Merchants", copies of which have been received by the local business men.

The tests consisted of rubbing various upholsteries and garment fabric together 100,000 times in an abrasion machine. This is the equivalent of more than a year of hard service in a car. It was found that pure mohair plush, the better grades of velveteen pile upholstery left virtually no wear on the suit or overcoat material. Broadcloth was decidedly hard, leaving the cloth in an unsightly condition. Whipcord practically ruined both suit and coat fabrics.

In view of the results of the tests, the article states, negotiations are being carried on with leading automobile and body makers, urging them to give up upholstering their cars in cheap flat fabrics damaging to clothing and again specify mohair fabrics which have proved to be least injurious to garments.

In the meantime, if your clothes show signs of excessive wear, blame it on the car upholstery and not on your clothing merchant.

Word received from Supt. O. L. Davis stated that twins were born to he and Mrs. Davis the first of the week. A boy and girl. Mrs. Davis and the babies are getting along fine. They are visiting relatives in Lometa.

WATCH THOSE FRONTS

You will probably be visited by numerous office seekers in the next few weeks who have been preparing their approach for the past six months, and will meet you with a Hello-O John, Jim or Tom! How's the wife and children; what about old Beck and Jude, are they still rendering that good service they were two years ago? Well, I'm glad to see you doing so well and getting along so nicely. By the way Jim, here's my card, of course I suppose you know that I'm in the race for—? And since I am honest and highly qualified for the office I want your support at the coming primary.

Well the officer seeker is so sweet and kind and has met you with the best front that he can put on. You ask him a few questions and he has a quick answer in the affirmative. And without looking into the duties of the office or without knowing that officer's duties. Jim will say, "Well he is a nice fellow and he complimented me and puffed me up so I think I will vote for him," And they decide to vote for him because he has a good front.

After you dig in back of that front and all of those wonderful promises you find that even the voter does not know what is required of an officer or does not know what would constitute a first class officer. We do not need fronts, we need real men, we need men who are qualified for the job, we do not care about the front.

When your child tosses and cries out in his sleep, it means he is not comfortable. Very often the trouble is that poisonous waste matter is not being carried off as it should be. It contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. Don't let your child's rest—and your own—be interrupted. A prompt dose of Castoria will urge stubborn little bowels to act.
