THE FOREMOST ISSUE

At the recent American Banker's Association convention, excessive taxation and public expenditures were the leading subjects presented by nationally prominent speakers.

It is literally amazing how many financial and industrial organizations are regarding the tax problem as the most important of all our difficulties at this time. We have reached a point in our affairs where the cost of government is becoming an impassable barrier in the way of the investment of capital, the development of industry, the creation of estates, and the employment of labor. Money that once flowed into productive enterprise, which sorely needs new funds now, is either hoarded or invested in tax-free government bonds. Millions of American investors have found a real and personal meaning in the old saying that "the power to tax is the power to destroy."

We have seen what expanded governmental activities with their resulting influence on the tax bill, have done in England, Germany, Australia and lesser powers. The dose, which was created to aid the unemployed and the distressed, has had precisely the opposite effect—it has created more unemployment and more distress by stifling industry. So with the rest of those governmental panaceas which have taken billions from the pockets of the taxpayers of the world. Whether America's tomorrow will be bright or clouded depends on what action we take in handling the tax problem now.

WHAT IS THE ANSWER

A few reasons why government should keep out of business:

1. Because government in business opens the flood gates of public expenditures at the taxpayers' expense; many of the expenditures being for special services to a limited number of persons from which services the general taxpayer, who must pay for them, can derive no benefit.
2. It creates new classes of political agencies and gives them unlimited power to incur debts, levy taxes and spend public money.
3. It discourages industry and prevents the investment of private capital in new enterprises because a private citizen cannot compete with tax-free, government-owned projects.
4. It invites the worst kind of political gerrymandering for promotional schemes at public expense.
5. Each time the government goes into business, it removes taxable property from the tax rolls and loads the taxes thus lost onto remaining taxable property, plus additional taxes for new governmental ventures into the field of industry.

The question of the government in business in competition with its private citizens should be considered from the standpoint of the principle involved, rather than from the interest of any particular line of business. The business itself is incidental to the principle. If we subscribe to the theory that public ownership is good for any business, even in a small degree, we should be honest enough to go all the way and sanction complete public ownership and control of the means of production and distribution. We should not single out one line of business to stand the brunt of such unfair and killing competition. Government competition might better apply to the local meat market, grocery store, or clothing store, than to ocean shipping, insurance, public utilities, railroads, printing, and banking, for it is much more important that the average family get the first three items at cost than it is that they get the latter items at cost.

RACES OF 600 YEARS AGO LEAVES TRACE ON PLAINS

An unidentified race, whose advent and departure are unknown, reached a high state of civilization in the Texas Panhandle 600 years ago. The date is fixed by W. C.

Holden, professor of history at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, who with a party of students, has excavated two of the many ruins in the Panhandle. It was announced after Holden had removed some of the pottery of anthropology at Santa Fe, N. M., for close study. "These people lived in large and substantial communal houses, built of stone, maintained a settled order of municipal life, and made various experiments in agriculture," Holden said.

More than 100 ruins of homes ranging in size from one room to 300 rooms, have been located and mapped by Floyd V. Studer, Amarillo, business man and director of archaeology and paleontology of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society museum at Canyon. Most of them are found in the Panhandle.

Holden's work was done through the courtesy and under the auspices of the museum. One of the ruins excavated by Holden contained 39 rooms and the other 33. The first

10 BUSHELS OF CORN FOR DEMOCRACY

F. A. Rogers, Hunt County farmer and lawmaker, swaps 10 bushels of 10-cent corn for a $1.00 Roosevelt-Garner Medallion at the Democratic booth at the State Fair. "It's the only way I can do my part towards getting Hoover out and a friend of the farmer in the White House," says Farmer Rogers.

measured 163 feet long and 50 wide. He found three types of masonry, slabstone, horizontal and combination of the two. The walls of horizontal masonry are of smooth and evenly placed stones, reflecting a high-grade of workmanship.

"Their arrowheads, knives and hide scrapers made from flint, and their many bone artifacts were far superior to those of the later plains Indians," Holden said. "Plain methods were used in their pottery construction. Every piece shows fabric impressions. It was tempered with quartz and mica, and was harder than Pueblo pottery."

"They smoked pipes of soapstone and pottery construction. Their many ornaments included inlaid turquoise objects from the mines of south of Santa Fe, N. M., and shell beads from the Pacific coast. They also used local material for ornaments, including bones and polished pebbles.

"Buffalo meat was the chief source of food, but they also ate deer, antelope, bear, turkey and small wild game. They grew corn on small sub-irrigated tracts along the streams."

It was the identification of intrusive pottery belonging to the period of about 1350 which enabled Holden to establish the date. He believes these people inhabited the Panhandle. They probably had been here hundreds of years prior.

They've Never Tasted a Tonic!

THESE are not patent medicine children. Their appetite needs no coaxing. Their tongues are never coated, cheeks never pale. And their bowels move just like clockwork, because they have never been given a habit-forming laxative.

You can have children like this—and be as healthy yourself—if you follow the advice of a famous family physician. Stimulate the vital organs. The strongest of them need help at times. If they don't get it, they grow sluggish. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin is a mild, safe stimulant.

When a youngster doesn't do well at school, it may be the liver that's lazy. Often the bowels hold enough poisonous waste to dull the senses! A spoonful of delicious syrup pepsin once or twice a week will avoid all this. It contains fresh laxative herbs, active senna, and pure pepsin, and does a world of good to any system—young or old. You can always get this fine prescriptive preparation at any drug store. Just ask them for Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin.

Get some syrup pepsin today, and protect your family from those bilious days, frequent sick spells and colds. Keep a bottle in the medicine chest instead of cathartics that so often bring on chronic constipation. Dr. Caldwell's syrup pepsin can always be employed to give clogged bowels a thorough cleansing, with none of that painful griping, or burning feeling afterward. It isn't expensive.

Twelve new log and mud potato storage houses have been built recently in Jasper county by plans furnished by the county agent. They are cheap and efficient, he says.

Clarence Anderson, 4-H club boy living near Sanger in Denton county has produced 1577 pounds of lint cotton on five acres, giving him $97.19 for his labor and investment and use of land.

"I didn't fully appreciate my terraces," said a Commanche county farmer to the county agent recently, "until I compared my 50-bushel-to-the-acre oat yield with the 30-bushel yield of my neighbor who hasn't terraced. He's doing it now, though."

List Robert Randow of De Witt county among the converts to Hubam clover. Five acres of it grazed 20 head of cattle for 30 days in the spring and then cut 4 1-2 tons of hay. "It produces more grazing and lasts longer in the spring than any clover I've tried," he says.

"They may not be golden eggs but those of my flock of 114 leghorns are laying are the source of some mighty handy silver these days," says Mr. J. V. Green, poultry demonstrator for the Sand Hill Home Demonstration Club in Floyd county. Mixing her own laying mash from home grown feeds she has netted $1.17 per hen above feed cost the first 10 1-2 months of the poultry year.

"Eliminate the poor producer from the flock and reduce the feed bill" is the slogan adopted by the 4-H club girls of Wharton county. Records kept on 258 hens by 14 girls show a profit of $253.29 so far this year, with 395 pullets on hand.

Sales of "Chuck Wagon beans" amounting to 3000 cans since early March, have brought a monthly income of $45 to $65 to Mrs. P. H. Gilliland, home demonstration club member of West way Club in Deaf Smith county. She also sells canned black eyed peas under the "Better 4-H Products" label of the home demonstration clubs.

A profit of $114.06 from a quarter acre garden is reported by Gene Harwell, member of the Bialock 4-H club in Cass county. Fresh vegetables used at home weighed out 1276 pounds, and 167 quarts of products were canned.

STERLING BACKS BULLINGTON FOR TEX. GOVERNOR

There is but one thing left for Texans who love their State and Democrats, who love their party to do; and that is to throw the whole weight of their influence and their vote behind Orville Bullington for Governor. Texas Democrats cannot render the Democratic Party a better service than by smashing Fergusonism with their votes at the November election, and I predict that this is what they will do by substantial majority.

As a life long Democrat I rejoice in the glowing prospects of the election of a Democratic President and a Vice-President of the United States; but the Democratic banner must not be tarnished with the slim of Fergusonism. It would make the Democracy of the nation hang their heads in shame for the Democratic hosts of Grand Old Texas to be led by Jim Ferguson when Roosevelt and Garner are inaugurated in Washington next March.

I feel that it is my duty to the people of Texas, in the crisis which confronts them, to leave nothing undone and make any sacrifice within my power to prevent the return of Fergusonism to the control of our State government.

Two years ago I was nominated Governor by more than 88,000 majority; and I have served the People of Texas with absolute fidelity and to the best of my ability and at enormous personal sacrifice. When I became Governor I was well-to-do and now I am returned to the ranks of the poor from which I sprang but I have no regrets. To serve the people of Texas even at such a sacrifice has been a glorious privilege.

I have been a candidate for Governor again this year, because I was convinced that it was my duty to the people of Texas. During my two years in the Governor's office at Austin and four years before that as Chairman of the State Highway Commission, I have had opportunities which few others have had to study Fergusonism at close range and to appreciate and understand this terrible menace to the people of Texas. When the Legislature is in session and when it is adjourned, Jim Ferguson operates out of Austin and all his pirate gang make this their headquarters; and to have known the desperate organized effort that was going to be made to elect him Governor in his wife's name this year; and I have felt as a candidate for a second term I could probably make a stronger race than any other anti-Ferguson candidate that might be chosen out of the vicissitudes of a campaign with the field if I had not run. Besides, my business training and experience, as applied to the Governor's office, convince me that a Governor who serves one term owes it to the people at least to offer for a second term; for a Governor who serves honestly and faithfully during his first term preeminently fits himself for valuable services to the people in his second term.

Thus believing it to be my duty I submitted my candidacy to the people in the Democratic primaries this year; and I received a majority of many thousands.

So believing I had no doubt that it was my duty to the people of Texas and to the cause of good government to take the necessary steps provided by law to secure a review and a recount in the courts of the result as Certified by the Chairman and the Secretary of the State Democratic Convention; and I appealed to the people for their support and financial assistance in seeking this review, and I am grateful for their generous and hearty response to my appeal. I received more votes in the run-off primary this year than I received two years ago when I was nominated by over 88,000 majority and I have never had the slightest doubt that a recount of the ballots cast in the run-off primary would establish my legal right to the nomination for Governor beyond all question and I have hoped such a recount would be ordered by the court, so that the correct result could be ascertained and declared by the court in ample time for the name of the nominee to be printed on the official ballot. Certainly, no one ought to object to a recount of the ballots in an election in order that mistakes and frauds and illegalities may be corrected and the true result ascertained.

But a condition and not a theory confronted the people of Texas at this time. Jim Ferguson and his lawyers and henchmen have been determined that there should be no investigation of the run-off primary election and no recount of the ballots and they have done everything possible, by filibustering methods of delay and otherwise, to make such a recount impossible.

Under these circumstances my duty is clear and I am determined to do all that I can to consolidate the forces opposed to Fergusonism and render its return to power impossible. There can be no doubt that the old crowd which fattened off of the people and the State Treasury are in high feather and are licking their chops over the prospects of again getting access to the public trough. The leaders in the Old American Road Company gang and the old Hoffman Construction Company gang and all the other small outfits have been and still are in the fight for Ferguson this year up to their necks.

If Jim Ferguson should again become Governor in his wife's name he will urge upon the Legislature and use all the power of the Governor's office to pass a bill creating a new highway commission, in place of the present highway commission, which he will appoint and in this way secure absolute control of the millions of dollars in the State highway fund for the next two years.

It will be found that he will urge and if possible force through another bill creating a commission to be appointed by the Governor to take over the work of the present Railroad Commission; and control the output of oil by the Texas oil fields and thus put under his control every oil producer big and little doing business in the State.

And he will endeavor to pass various measures adding to the power of the Governor's office and to his own profit. If the people of Texas could understand the situation as it really exists they would know that the menace of Fergusonism threatens them with greater damage than they have ever been confronted with before; and they would agree with me that absolutely nothing must be left undone to prevent its return to power.

The issue is plain and simple. It is the issue of common honesty and responsible government. Texas must be saved from Fergusonism.

CLAYTON NOW HAS MACHINE GUN FOR BANDIT RECEPTION

Clayton (N. M.) News: Bandits thinking about holding up the Clayton bank had better take another think before tackling the job.

This week the officers are looking for a new Lewis machine gun ordered for use of the local peace officers in just such an emergency. It is one of the latest model guns of this class, air cooled, capable of shooting as fast as one man can pour the shells into the hopper, some six hundred times a minute. It is a shoulder gun and will be kept near the bank for immediate use if the occasion arises.

A gun like this is hard to get away from. It will spray lead all over the road at a long range. It shoots a 30-05 shell.
