SOUTH PLAINS GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION MET IN LUBBOCK FRI.

The South Plains Good Roads Association met Friday afternoon in the Hilton Hotel in Lubbock for the purpose of organizing their efforts to get federal funds for the purpose of completing the pavement of highways on the great plains of Texas.

Much enthusiasm was shown in the meeting over the prospects of getting the funds for road construction. More than 150 men representing 16 counties were present at the meeting. Judge Simon D. Hay of Olton, Ellis Foust, county commissioner of Littlefield, and F. H. Weimhold of The Sudan News represented Lamb county.

P. B. Ralls, president of the South Plains Good Roads Association, of Ralls, was chairman. Guy R. Johnson, district resident engineer of the state highway department; Marshall Diggs, Dallas, financial secretary of the Texas Good Roads Association; and A. B. Davis, Lubbock, were the principal speakers.

Three sets of resolutions were adopted by the association. One will go to Congress from this district; another will go to the state Legislature; and another to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. These resolutions ask that these different groups support the bill which is now in Congress to give Texas $6,000,000 for road construction for the next two years. This money will not have to be matched by the state. The resolutions also asked that West Texas' part of the reforestation fund be used for highway construction rather than reforestation.

Presents State Situation

District Engineer Johnston was the opening speaker, presenting the state situation on further road construction. Older states, he pointed out, were opposed to federal appropriations for building roads because, for the most part, their systems were completed. They were "diverting state highway funds to other purposes," he said. "The people have decided that highway construction is a good way to relieve unemployment." "You do not have a single connected highway out here," Mr. Johnston pointed out in speaking of the South Plains system. "We were just ready to give you a connected system."

Figures on the work of road construction the past two years were given as: 214.11 miles of highways built; 100 miles of highway ready for surfacing; plans completed for construction of 332 miles more. "With $3,000,000 we could finish these 332 miles, but at that we would have only about half completed the roads of the district," Mr. Johnston added. "We would have only about half completed the roads of the district," Mr. Johnston added. "We would then have 1,000 miles more to pave. This includes 102 miles recently designated. All of the allotments from the federal government due the state, have been put under contract."

Would Employ 5,000

"If the South Plains got its share of what the federal appropriation should be, this district would have enough construction to employ 5,000 men," the engineer added.

A. B. Davis said he was "pinch hitting" for E. L. Pitts, county judge, unable to be present. He outlined the handling of R.F.C. plans in meeting the unemployment situation the past winter and this spring. Lubbock county's experiences in receiving funds were cited as typical of the situation during March and April. So far in April, he added but $4,000 of the $8,000 promised, was paid.

"We want something of a more permanent value for this sec-

Don't Kill The Goose That Lays The Golden Egg.

Two months ago a new President stepped into the White House to the tune of "Happy Days Are Here Again." A sore and weary people were expressing in that song their deepest longing. Some, of course, wondered deep in their hearts if it could be true, but we were all eager to believe.

We needed this enthusiasm; we need it more than ever now, and must keep the spirit. People must also have confidence in other branches of government—state, county, city and our school. All of these governing bodies need backing, and plenty of it, to be able to re-establish our governments and our schools.

A President has been elected who knows how and what to do; therefore the people should co-operate with him in everyway possible. Let the President and our Congress run our national government; they are in a position to see the needs of the entire nation. He-gossipers cannot see the need of this great nation because they do not know the functions that it must carry out. If these officials whom we have elected do not make efficient servants of the people, it is no one's fault other than the people themselves. We must all co-operate with them and help.

Sudan is needing more assistance at this time than the national government. Street talk does not effect the national government to a very large extent, as the gossip has no influence in this line. In small towns these street gossipers have a little more influence and are able to stir up a stronger stink, as the field is smaller.

Crows are an interesting, as well as disgusting, type of bird. A thousand crows may be in one bunch and all be resting peaceful, but one old crow will begin flapping his wings and squawking, and before you know it the whole bunch of crows will be all excited and in the air.

The worst type of these agitators are those who receive a government pension, have retired from business, living on charity, or are dependent upon some other means for a living. Then, too, there is the man who owns no city property, has no home and is merely camping here. This class of people are not interested in the town, community, and school; they do not care what happens to the whole thing; they are only interested in their own selfish interests.

Another man who is usually included in one of the above, but is afflicted with another ailment is the fact that he is in debt to someone. A very prominent citizen of Sudan once stated, "That man was once my friend, but now he will not even speak to me. I did not find out until yesterday what was the matter. I found that I have a note on him for $200 I have found that if you want a man for your friend that you must not loan him any money, or let him get in debt to you." We have also found this to be true. We find a few men dissatisfied with our paper and are criticizing it; we find this agitator is usually behind on his subscription to the Sudan News.

Why these men want to do this, no one knows, not even the men who do the criticizing. These men do not have anything to do except to sit on the street corner, chew tobacco and criticize between spits. These men are the same thing to a town that the old crow is to a flock of crows.

There are two kinds of criticism—constructive and destructive—the latter is the only kind of criticism the street "crows" dabble with. If these men would use constructive criticism they should be an asset to the town as they have plenty of time to solve problems, but this type seem incapable of giving constructive criticism; so why don't they attend to their own business (perhaps they have none) and co-operate with the men who are spending their time and money for the betterment of the town and community.

We cannot lay all the blame on these "crows", as they would not talk so much if they did not have an audience. Men who will permit themselves to be convinced with such trash, are as bad as the fellow that puts it out. Of course, everyone makes mistakes in judging human nature, and we have been disappointed in men in Sudan; but a person should never blacken a man's character, business ability, governing ability, or knock on the efforts he is making to improve the town and school.

If these two classes would co-operate with the backbone of the town—the property owners—Sudan's troubles would be over and our town and school would not only thrive but would be an example for other towns.

Don't kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

PAVING OF HIGHWAY NO. 7 IS COMPLETED

Completion of the paving of 12.5 miles of State Highway No. 7 between here and Muleshoe was made recently by the Womack-Henning Construction company, according to Project Engineer H. N. Roberts, when the asphalt top was laid on this strip.

The work of paving this section north of Sudan was begun last year, but had to be stopped during the winter months because of the temperature being too low for the pouring of asphalt to secure the proper binding with the gravel underneath.

The caliche base on this road was laid 22 feet wide, and the asphalt top was 20 feet wide there being approximately one-half gallon of asphalt used to each square yard of road surface.

Approximately 70,700 gallons of asphalt was used during the 11 days required to complete the task, or an average of 6,400 gallons per day. It was heated to an average of 335 degrees to form the proper binder when poured onto the gravel base.

LAMB COUNTY TO BE PLACED IN 19TH CONGRESSIONAL DIST.

Lamb county will be changed from the Eighteenth to the Nineteenth Congressional district, as the result of the redistricting bill which has been passed by the Texas Legislature. The change was necessary as a result of the rapid growth of population in this section of the state.

Counties embodied in the Nineteenth district are: Lamb, Hale, Cochran, Hockley, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Foard, Lubbock, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Dickens, King, Kent, Yoakum, Stonewall, Haskell, Gains, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Parmer, Castro and Swisher.

Potter county, the home of our present Congressman, Marvin Jones, still remains in the Eighteenth District, together with the counties in the Panhandle north of Lamb, Hale and Floyd counties and off the Plains to Hardeman.

This district will elect its first representative in the election to be held next year.

No changes were made in the Fifth, Eighth, Tenth, Thirteenth or Twenty-First Districts, as arranged by the authors of the Metcalfe bill. The fifth District is composed of Dallas county, while the eighth comprises Harris county and the twenty-first includes Bexar county.

"CLOSED LIPS" DRAWS GOOD AUDIENCE.

The Senior play "Closed Lips" was presented at the High School Auditorium on Tuesday night, and was enjoyed by a well filled house. The play was a success from a financial standpoint, as well as an entertainment, and the Seniors put it on in a commendable way.

METHODIST NOTES.

After the rushing and hurried times of completing the exercises of school we shall resume operations in church work as usual.

Sunday School 10:00 A. M.
Preaching Services 11:00 A. M. and 8:00 P. M.

Leagues Services 7:15 P. M.

We would like to ask the cooperation of parents in training their children. Don't send them to Sunday School and church BUT COME AND BRING THEM. We cannot hope to be able to help your young people and children unless they have encouragement from home sources. Surely you will be as interested in your own children as your pastor or Sunday School teacher? Our progress has been wonderful, but lost enthusiasm or self-satisfaction means disintegration.

BUSINESS MEN'S MEETING COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS BY DR. JACKSON

While many of the business men of Sudan were unable to attend the luncheon on Tuesday on account of being out of town, or being detained in other ways, about a dozen men were present. A committee on attendance, and also, one on RFC help was appointed. The committee on RFC help will attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Big Springs which will be held on May 11, 12 and 13.

Mrs. W. C. Boyd and sons, Orville and Grady, and Mr. Finney, of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Alderson and three sons, of Lubbock, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Alderson and daughter, Marjorie.

Commencement exercises were held at the high school auditorium Wednesday night for the 1933 Senior Class. Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the department of Government at Texas Technological College at Lubbock delivered the address.

Thirty-one Seniors were in the 1933 graduating class.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

The Baccalaureate sermon for the Sudan High School was delivered by Rev. Sam Thomas at 11 a. m., Sunday to an appreciative audience. The special music under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Dean was very much enjoyed.

tion here," he said in speaking of the proposals for reforestation and flood relief.

Prospects Are Bright

Mr. Diggs said before leaving Abilene at 11:30 Friday morning, Chairman W. R. Ely of the state highway commission had received a wire from Colonel Markham, at Washington, concerning a federal appropriation for construction work in Texas. "Prospects brightest for federal appropriation, wires to White House will help."

A proposal for an appropriation of $100,000,000 for primary roads to be built in cities and towns, is expected. In addition a $50,000,000 appropriation for secondary roads and an additional $100,000,000 for grade crossings and underpass work was mentioned, giving $250,000.00 for work in 1933 and in 1934, for all the states for road construction programs.

Can Get Ready

Texas can "get ready within two weeks, because it takes two weeks to advertise for bids on contracts," Mr. Diggs quoted Chairman Ely as saying. In the tree planting program along Texas highways, only 212 men will be used if the federal plan is followed.

In 1931, federal road expenditures were $80,000,000 and with this 115,146 men were employed. Counting two men necessary to keep one man at work on roads, only 345,000 men were used in road work. This is only a fraction of the unemployment army he pointed out.

AMERICA NEEDS MORE HOMES

"It is obvious," says the current annual report of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation, "that the growth of population is steadily creating a deficiency of housing capacity under existing conditions."

The report shows that in the United States, based on the standard of past generations, there is a yearly need of new living accommodations for about 900,000 families—a figure which provides not only for growth in population but for depreciation, obsolescence, fires, etc. In the years 1923 to 1929, inclusive, new residential accommodations were provided for 2,889,000 families in 257 similar cities surveyed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics—an average of 412,700 per year. In 1930 the number of new accommodations totaled 125,000. In 1931 it fell to 98,200 and in 1932 reached the extremely low figure of 27,100. Between 1925 and 1932 the country's population gained about 10,000,000.

As a consequence, whatever building boom we experienced in the years following the war—a boom reaching its major dimensions in 1926—has long been offset by subsequent years of below-normal building.

During the last several years thousands of people with jobs and money to spend have refrained from building—precisely as they have refrained from making needed improvements on existing property—because of fear. And this attitude has simply added to the stress of depression.

We can build or repair now at the lowest cost in more than a generation. And the money we spend will do more good than at any time in living memory—it will create jobs, stimulate industry, speed the work of recovery.

Jobs are cheaper and better than charity—and we can furnish the jobs to those who need them and benefit ourselves at one and the same time.

WE NEED SUCH INDUSTRIES

There are two facts concerning the electric utilities, entirely aside from any question of service or rates, that should receive wide public attention.

These facts are: The gas and electric utilities of the country give direct employment, with a payroll totaling $600,000,000 a year, to about 500,000 workers, and provide indirect employment for thousands more.

For every customer receiving electric service, the industry pays in taxes $8.60 a year, and for customers receiving manufactured and natural gas service it pays $4.23 and $1.66, respectively.

Perhaps no other major industries are so dependable in the matters of employment and taxation. We have passed through the years of unprecedented economic disorder and business disorganization—but the utility payrolls have been maintained far above the average. This is due, of course, to the nature. A certain standard of service must be provided whether business is good or bad. Too, we have become so accustomed to freely using electricity and gas that these are among the last things we conserve on. As a result, the utilities have been able to maintain remarkable stability.

This means a great deal to the nation. If there were more of such industries, our depression would have been a great deal less severe. Those who would destroy the industry, or cripple it with excessively stringent laws, should think the problem over again carefully. Stable employers and taxpayers are easier to eliminate than to create.

YOUR COMPETITOR—THE GOVERNMENT

The report of the special committee of the House of Representatives which has been investigating government competition with private business, is a surprising document.

It shows that government competition extends to the amazing total of 232 different businesses which are legitimately of a private nature. They include the fields of transportation, manufacturing, merchandising, farming, banking, printing, architecture—and even amusements. The government operates cleaning and pressing establishments, sells serums and other medical preparations, makes paints and varnishes, conducts a warehousing business, and so on through a long and amazing list of activities.

In most instances, this government competition can not be met by private concerns. No business has the prime advantage of government—tax freedom. None is able to conceal its deficits through treasury appropriations. Few are large enough to exert the purchasing power of the government. When the government steps in to any field of business a certain part of that field is definitely lost.

Every added item of government competition, by reducing the profits of private industry, diminishes the government's source of taxes and adds to the tax rate of what is left.

So far, government competition with the bulk of businesses has been on a comparatively small scale. But once such competition starts, its growth is simply a matter of time. The committee's facts are immutable—and they show vividly the need for a thorough reorganizing of government to take it out of the field of business, in the interests of economy, efficiency and opportunity for our citizens.

Extending the Influence of Extension Work in Lamb County

Early in the year of 1932 the Council Chairman, Mrs. I. V. Fent appointed a committee to assist in formulating plans for extending the influence of Extension Work in Lamb County. Mrs. J. M. Whitfield of Amherst, Mrs. H. H. Allen of Spade, and Mrs. Tobe Matthews, of Olton composed this committee. Their plans were as follows: 1. Each club member assist four non club members by teaching them extension method as canning meat, use of cooker and sealer and giving receipts, as in the Farm Food Supply Demonstration conducted by club members. Improving bed rooms, and ward robe. 2. Inviting people to the club meetings and special events county clothing contests and fairs and achievement days. 3. Regular and more definite reports through the club reporters.

There are eight 4-H clubs in the County and fifteen Home demonstration clubs composed of 511 and 385 members. The families helped by club members out side of clubs by one demonstration to groups. 2. Personal help and 3. visitors to club meetings are 844. Families reached by agent outside of club by 1. demonstration to groups 2. Personal help 3. telephone and 4. letters are 123. Total numbers of families reached in this county by November 1st. are: In active club work 897, reached by agent 123, reached by club members 844 or 1904 families which is 80 per cent of the farm families of this county.

Poison for Field Mice
R. R. Reppert, Extension Entomologist, suggests the following in formation for poisoning field mice.

Use the following formula and spread two weeks before planting:

- Strychnine (sulphate) 1 ounce
- Boiling water.....2 quarts.
- Laundry starch .....2 tbs.
- Cold water .....1-2 pt.
- Oats (Clean grain).....1 bu.

Directions for Mixing
Dissolve the strychnine in the boiling water; add the starch to the strychnine solution and boil a few minutes until the starch is clear. Pour the solution over the oats in a metal tub and stir thoroughly until each is evenly coated. Let the grain stand over night to absorb the poison. The poison should be spread over the infested area, not more than a teaspoonful in a place. Care must be taken to put it in the runs and at the openings of the holes. It should be covered wherever possible by weeds, boards, or brush, to lessen the chance of destroying birds.

How to train BABY'S BOWELS

Babies, bottle-fed or breast-fed, with any tendency to be constipated, would thrive if they received daily half a teaspoonful of this old family doctor's prescription for the bowels.

That is one sure way to train tiny bowels to healthy regularity. To avoid the fretfulness, vomiting, crying, failure to gain, and other ills of constipated babies.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. For this, you have the word of a famous doctor. Forty-seven years of practice taught him just what babies need to keep their little bowels active, regular; keep little bodies plump and healthy. For Dr. Caldwell specialized in the treatment of women and little ones. He attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby.

MODERN METHODS

Combined With Time Honored, Conservative Principles to Dominate

A new period in American business is here. With it has come back the old ideas of integrity and responsibilities that were evident in the building of the industry of this country. Confidence is the most necessary element in business, and it can be built upon nothing less than absolute honesty and conscientious efforts to serve the public good.

In times of great prosperity, we, as a people, sometimes lose our bearings and wander far from the sure and tried paths; but, we are soon brought back to a realization of true values. Character is a greater possession than money, for when it is gone we find that the confidence of our fellowmen went with it, and all is lost.

The above is as true of institutions as it is of individuals. Our greatest pride is that even through the long period of depression and uncertainty, we have maintained the confidence of our customers. That we have been able to protect those who have unfalteringly stayed with us through thick and thin. We solicit your business on true and tried principles of safety and of good business.

There May Be a Difference of Opinion on Some Subjects!

Some people believe this way and some people that way, but all will admit that selling an idea is usually more difficult than selling a commodity—and especially is it easier in selling the commodity, if advantage is taken of the modern, the economical and the quickest method. That method is in the use of advertising space in the SUDAN NEWS. Whether you are a merchant or a citizen, when you want to buy or sell, trade or lease, rent or find a commodity, read and use the advertising columns and let people know of your needs or offerings.

SUDAN, LAMB COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1933

No. 38

SOUTH PLAINS GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION MET IN LUBBOCK FRI.

The South Plains Good Roads Association met Friday afternoon in the Hilton Hotel in Lubbock for the purpose of organizing their efforts to get federal funds for the purpose of completing the pavement of highways on the great plains of Texas.

Much enthusiasm was shown in the meeting over the prospects of getting the funds for road construction. More than 150 men representing 16 counties were present at the meeting. Judge Simon D. Hay of Olton, Ellis Foust, county commissioner of Littlefield, and F. H. Weimhold of The Sudan News represented Lamb county.

P. B. Ralls, president of the South Plains Good Roads Association, of Ralls, was chairman. Guy R. Johnson, district engineer of the state highway department; Marshall Eggs, Dallas, financial secretary of the Texas Good Roads Association; and A. B. Davis, Lubbock, were the principal speakers.

Three sets of resolutions were adopted by the association. One will go to Congress from this district; another will go to the state Legislature; and another to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. These resolutions ask that these different groups support the bill which is now in Congress to give Texas $6,000,000 for road construction for the next two years. This money will not have to be matched by the state. The resolutions also asked that West Texas' part of the reforestation fund be used for highway construction rather than reforestation.

Presents State Situation

District Engineer Johnston was the opening speaker, presenting the state situation on further road construction. Older states, he pointed out, were opposed to federal appropriations for building roads because, for the most part, their systems were completed. They were "diverting state highway funds to other purposes," he said. "The people have decided that highway construction is a good way to relieve unemployment." "You do not have a single connected highway out here," Mr. Johnston pointed out in speaking of the South Plains system. "We were just ready to give you a connected system."

Figures on the work of road construction the past two years were given as: 214.11 miles of highways built; 100 miles of highway ready for surfacing; plans completed for construction of 332 miles more. "With $6,000,000 we could finish these 332 miles, but at that we would have only about half completed the roads of the district," Mr. Johnston added. "We would have only about half completed the roads of the district," Mr. Johnston added. "We would then have 1,000 miles more to pave. This includes 102 miles recently designated. All of the allotments from the federal government due the state, have been put under contract."

Would Employ 5,000

"If the South Plains got its share of what the federal appropriation should be, this district would have enough construction to employ 5,000 men," the engineer added.

A. B. Davis said he was "pinch hitting" for E. L. Pitts, county judge, unable to be present. He outlined the handling of R.F.C. plans in meeting the unemployment situation the past winter and this spring. Lubbock county's experiences in receiving funds were cited as typical of the situation during March and April. So far in April, he added but $4,000 of the $8,000 promised, was paid.

"We want something of a more permanent value for this sec-

Don't Kill The Goose That Lays The Golden Egg.

Two months ago a new President stepped into the White House to the tune of "Happy Days Are Here Again." A sore and weary people were expressing in that song their deepest longing. Some, of course, wondered deep in their hearts if it could be true, but we were all eager to believe.

We needed this enthusiasm; we need it more than ever now, and must keep the spirit. People must also have confidence in other branches of government—state, county, city and our school. All of these governing bodies need backing, and plenty of it, to be able to re-establish our governments and our schools.

A President has been elected who knows how and what to do; therefore the people should co-operate with him in every way possible. Let the President and our Congress run our national government; they are in a position to see the needs of the entire nation. Heggossipers cannot see the need of this great nation because they do not know the functions that it must carry out. If these officials whom we have elected do not make efficient servants of the people, it is no one's fault other than the people themselves. We must all co-operate with them and help.

Sudan is needing more assistance at this time than the national government. Street talk does not effect the national government to a very large extent, as the gossip has no influence in this line. In small towns these street gossipers have a little more influence and are able to stir up a stronger stink, as the field is smaller.

Crows are an interesting, as well as disgusting, type of bird. A thousand crows may be in one bunch and all be resting peaceful, but one old crow will begin flapping his wings and squawking, and before you know it the whole bunch of crows will be all excited and in the air.

The worst type of these agitators are those who receive a government pension, have retired from business, living on charity, or are dependent upon some other means for a living. Then, too, there is the man who owns no city property, has no home and is merely camping here. This class of people are not interested in the town, community, and school; they do not care what happens to the whole thing; they are only interested in their own selfish interests.

Another man who is usually included in one of the above, but is afflicted with another ailment is the fact that he is in debt to someone. A very prominent citizen of Sudan once stated, "That man was once my friend, but now he will not even speak to me. I did not find out until yesterday what was the matter. I found that I have a note on him for $200 I have found that if you want a man for your friend that you must not loan him any money, or let him get in debt to you." We have also found this to be true. We find a few men dissatisfied with our paper and are criticizing it; we find this agitator is usually behind on his subscription to the Sudan News.

Why these men want to do this, no one knows, not even the men who do the criticizing. These men do not have anything to do except to sit on the street corner, chew tobacco and criticize between spits. These men are the same thing to a town that the old crow is to a flock of crows.

There are two kinds of criticism—constructive and destructive—the latter is the only kind of criticism the street "crows" dabble with. If these men would use constructive criticism they should be an asset to the town as they have plenty of time to solve problems, but this type seem incapable of giving constructive criticism; so why don't they attend to their own business (perhaps they have none) and co-operate with the men who are spending their time and money for the betterment of the town and community.

We cannot lay all the blame on these "crows", as they would not talk so much if they did not have an audience. Men who will permit themselves to be convinced with such trash, are as bad as the fellow that puts it out. Of course, everyone makes mistakes in judging human nature, and we have been disappointed in men in Sudan; but a person should never blacken a man's character, business ability, governing ability, or knock on the efforts he is making to improve the town and school.

If these two classes would co-operate with the backbone of the town—the property owners—Sudan's troubles would be over and our town and school would not only thrive but would be an example for other towns.

Don't kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

PAVING OF HIGHWAY NO. 7 IS COMPLETED

Completion of the paving of 12.5 miles of State Highway No. 7 between here and Muleshoe was made recently by the Womack-Henning Construction company, according to Project Engineer H. N. Roberts, when the asphalt top was laid on this strip.

The work of paving this section north of Sudan was begun last year, but had to be stopped during the winter months because of the temperature being too low for the pouring of asphalt to secure the proper binding with the gravel underneath.

The caliche base on this road was laid 22 feet wide, and the asphalt top was 20 feet wide there being approximately one-half gallon of asphalt used to each square yard of road surface.

Approximately 70,700 gallons of asphalt was used during the 11 days required to complete the task, or an average of 6,400 gallons per day. It was heated to an average of 335 degrees to form the proper binder when poured onto the gravel base.

LAMB COUNTY TO BE PLACED IN 19TH CONGRESSIONAL DIST.

Lamb county will be changed from the Eighteenth to the Nineteenth Congressional district, as the result of the redistricting bill which has been passed by the Texas Legislature. The change was necessary as a result of the rapid growth of population in this section of the state.

Counties embodied in the Nineteenth district are: Lamb, Hale, Cochran, Hockley, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Foard, Lubbock, Crosby, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Dickens, King, Kent, Yoakum, Stonewall, Haskell, Gains, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Parmer, Castro and Swisher.

Potter county, the home of our present Congressman, Marvin Jones, still remains in the Eighteenth District, together with the counties in the Panhandle north of Lamb, Hale and Floyd counties and off the Plains to Hardeman.

This district will elect its first representative in the election to be held next year.

No changes were made in the Fifth, Eighth, Tenth, Thirteenth or Twenty-First Districts, as arranged by the authors of the Metcalfe bill. The fifth District is composed of Dallas county, while the eighth comprises Harris county and the twenty-first includes Bexar county.

"CLOSED LIPS" DRAWS GOOD AUDIENCE.

The Senior play "Closed Lips" was presented at the High School Auditorium on Tuesday night, and was enjoyed by a well filled house. The play was a success from a financial standpoint, as well as an entertainment, and the Seniors put it on in a commendable way.

METHODIST NOTES.

After the rushing and hurried times of completing the exercises of school we shall resume operations in church work as usual.

We would like to ask the cooperation of parents in training their children. Don't send them to Sunday School and church BUT COME AND BRING THEM. Surely you will be as interested in your own children as your pastor or Sunday School teacher? Our progress has been wonderful, but lost enthusiasm or self-satisfaction means disintegration.

tion here," he said in speaking of the proposals for reforestation and flood relief.

Prospects Are Bright

Mr. Diggs said before leaving Abilene at 11:30 Friday morning, Chairman W. R. Ely of the state highway commission had received a wire from Colonel Markham, at Washington, concerning a federal appropriation for construction work in Texas. "Prospects brightest for federal appropriation, wires to White House will help."

A proposal for an appropriation of $100,000,000 for primary roads to be built in cities and towns, is expected. In addition a $50,000,000 appropriation for secondary roads and an additional $100,000,000 for grade crossings and underpass work was mentioned, giving $250,000,000 for work in 1933 and in 1934, for all the states for road construction programs.

Can Get Ready

Texas can "get ready within two weeks, because it takes two weeks to advertise for bids on contracts," Mr. Diggs quoted Chairman Ely as saying. In the tree planting program along Texas highways, only 212 men will be used if the federal plan is followed.

In 1931, federal road expenditures were $80,000,000 and with this 115,146 men were employed. Counting two men necessary to keep one man at work on roads, only 345,000 men were used in road work. This is only a fraction of the unemployment army he pointed out.

BUSINESS MEN'S MEETING COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS BY DR. JACKSON

While many of the business men of Sudan were unable to attend the luncheon on Tuesday on account of being out of town, or being detained in other ways, about a dozen men were present. A committee on attendance, and also, one on RFC help was appointed. The committee on RFC help will attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Big Springs which will be held on May 11, 12 and 13.

Mrs. W. C. Boyd and sons, Orville and Grady, and Mr. Finney, of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Alderson and three sons, of Lubbock, were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Alderson and daughter, Marjorie.

Commencement exercises were held at the high school auditorium Wednesday night for the 1933 Senior Class. Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the department of Government at Texas Technological College at Lubbock delivered the address.

Thirty-one Seniors were in the 1933 graduating class.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

The Baccalaureate sermon for the Sudan High School was delivered by Rev. Sam Thomas at 11 a. m., Sunday to an appreciative audience. The special music under the direction of Mrs. J. R. Dean was very much enjoyed.

AMERICA NEEDS MORE HOMES

"It is obvious," says the current annual report of the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation, "that the growth of population is steadily creating a deficiency of housing capacity for normal living conditions."

The report shows that in the United States, based on the standard of past generations, there is a yearly need of new living accommodations for about 900,000 families—a figure which provides not only for growth in population, but for depreciation, obsolescence, fires, etc. In the years 1923 to 1929, inclusive, new residential accommodations were provided for 2,889,000 families in 257 similar cities surveyed by the Bureau of Labor Statistics—an average of 412,700 per year. In 1930 the number of new accommodations totaled 125,000. In 1931 it fell to 98,200 and in 1932 reached the extremely low figure of 27,100. Between 1925 and 1932 the country's population gained about 10,000,000.

As a consequence, whatever building boom we experienced in the years following the war—a boom reaching its major dimensions in 1926—has long been offset by subsequent years of below-normal building.

During the last several years thousands of people with jobs and money to spend have refrained from building—precisely as they have refrained from making needed improvements on existing property—because of fear. And this attitude has simply added to the stress of depression.

We can build or repair now at the lowest cost in more than a generation. And the money we spend will do more good than at any time in living memory—it will create jobs, stimulate industry, speed the work of recovery.

Jobs are cheaper and better than charity—and we can furnish the jobs to those who need them and benefit ourselves at one and the same time.

WE NEED SUCH INDUSTRIES

There are two facts concerning the electric utilities, entirely aside from any question of service or rates, that should receive wide public attention.

These facts are: The gas and electric utilities of the country give direct employment, with a payroll totaling $600,000,000 a year, to about 500,000 workers, and provide indirect employment for thousands more.

For every customer receiving electric service, the industry pays in taxes $8.60 a year, and for customers receiving manufactured and natural gas service it pays $4.23 and $4.65, respectively.

Perhaps no other major industries are so dependable in the matters of employment and taxation. We have passed through the years of unprecedented economic disorder and business disorganization—but the utility payrolls have been maintained far above the average. This is due, of course, to the nature. A certain standard of service must be provided whether business is good or bad. Too, we have become so accustomed to freely using electricity and gas that these are among the last things we conserve on. As a result, the utilities have been able to maintain remarkable stability.

This means a great deal to the nation. If there were more of such industries, our depression would have been a great deal less severe. Those who would destroy the industry, or cripple it with excessively stringent laws, should think the problem over again carefully. Stable employers and taxpayers are easier to eliminate than to create.

YOUR COMPETITOR—THE GOVERNMENT

The report of the special committee of the House of Representatives which has been investigating government competition with private business, is a surprising document.

It shows that government competition extends to the amazing total of 232 different businesses which are legitimately of a private nature. They include the fields of transportation, manufacturing, merchandising, farming, banking, printing, architecture—and even amusements. The government operates cleaning and pressing establishments, sells serums and other medical preparations, makes paints and varnishes, conducts a warehousing business, and so on through a long and amazing list of activities.

In most instances, this government competition can not be met by private concerns. No business has the prime advantage of government—tax freedom. None is able to conceal its deficits through treasury appropriations. Few are large enough to exert the purchasing power of the government. When the government steps in to any field of business a certain part of that field is definitely lost.

Every added item of government competition, by reducing the profits of private industry, diminishes the government's source of taxes and adds to the tax rate of what is left.

So far, government competition with the bulk of businesses has been on a comparatively small scale. But once such competition starts, its growth is simply a matter of time. The committee's facts are immutable—and they show vividly the need for a thorough reorganizing of government to take it out of the field of business, in the interests of economy, efficiency and opportunity for our citizens.

FARM NEWS
Extending the Influence of Extension Work in Lamb County

Early in the year of 1932 the Council Chairman, Mrs. I. V. Fent appointed a committee to assist in formulating plans for extending the influence of Extension Work in Lamb County. Mrs. J. M. Whitfield of Amherst, Mrs. H. H. Allen of Spade, and Mrs. Tobe Matthews, of Olton composed this committee. Their plans were as follows: 1. Each club member assist four non club members by teaching them extension method as canning meat, use of cooker and sealer and giving receipts, as in the Farm Food Supply Demonstration conducted by club members. Improving bed rooms, and wardrobe. 2. Inviting people to the club meetings and special events county clothing contests and fairs and achievement days. 3. Regular and more definite reports through the club reporters.

There are eight 4-H clubs in the County and fifteen Home demonstration clubs composed of 511 and 336 members. The families helped by club members out side of clubs by one demonstration to groupes. 2. Personal help and 3. visitors to club meetings are 844. Families reached by agent outside of club by 1. demonstration to groupes 2. Personal help. 3. telephone and 4. letters are 123. Total numbers of families reached in this county by November 1st, are: In active club work 897, reached by agent 123, reached by club members 844 or 1904 families which is 80 per cent of the farm families of this county.

Poison for Field Mice
R. R. Reppert, Extension Entomologist, suggests the following in formation for poisoning field mice.

Use the following formula and spread two weeks before planting:

- Strychnine (sulphate) 1 ounce
- Boiling water.....2 quarts.
- Laundry starch .....2 tbs.
- Cold water .....1-2 pt.
- Oats (Clean grain).....1 bu.

Directions for Mixing
Dissolve the strychnine in the boiling water; add the starch to the strychnine solution and boil a few minutes until the starch is clear. Pour the solution over the oats in a metal tub and stir thoroughly until each is evenly coated. Let the grain stand over night to absorb the poison. The poison should be spread over the infested area, not more than a teaspoonful in a place. Care must be taken to put it in the uns and at the openings of the holes. It should be covered wherever possible by weeds, boards, or brush, to lessen the chance of destroying birds.

How to train BABY'S BOWELS

Babies, bottle-fed or breast-fed, with any tendency to be constipated, would thrive if they received daily half a teaspoonful of this old family doctor's prescription for the bowels.

That is one sure way to train tiny bowels to healthy regularity. To avoid the fretfulness, vomiting, crying, failure to gain, and other ills of constipated babies.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. For this, you have the word of a famous doctor. Forty-seven years of practice taught him just what babies need to keep their little bowels active and healthy. For Dr. Caldwell specialized in the treatment of women and little ones. He attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby.

MODERN METHODS

Combined With Time Honored, Conservative Principles to Dominate

A new period in American business is here. With it has come back the old ideas of integrity and responsibilities that were evident in the building of the industry of this country. Confidence is the most necessary element in business, and it can be built upon nothing less than absolute honesty and conscientious effort to serve the public good.

In times of great prosperity, we, as a people, sometimes lose our bearings and wander far from the sure and tried paths; but, we are soon brought back to a realization of true values. Character is a greater possession than money, for when it is gone we find that the confidence of our fellowmen went with it, and all is lost.

The above is as true of institutions as it is of individuals. Our greatest pride is that even through the long period of depression and uncertainty, we have maintained the confidence of our customers. That we have been able to protect those who have unflinchingly stayed with us through thick and thin. We solicit your business on true and tried principles of safety and of good business.

There May Be a Difference of Opinion on Some Subjects!

Some people believe this way and some people that way, but all will admit that selling an idea is usually more difficult than selling a commodity—and especially is it easier in selling the commodity, if advantage is taken of the modern, the economical and the quickest method. That method is in the use of advertising space in the SUDAN NEWS. Whether you are a merchant or a citizen, when you want to buy or sell, trade or lease, rent or find a commodity, read and use the advertising columns and let people know of your needs or offerings.

If You Want to Sell

A home, a horse, a cow.
An automobile, a farm.
A bicycle, a gun, a dog.
A baby buggy, a canary.
Timber, poultry products.

If You Want To Buy

Clothes, hats, shoes.
Homes, automobiles, radio.
Eyeglasses, watches, gloves
Stoves, furnaces, fuel.
Foods, drinks, supplies.
