

ROAMING THRU RANGER WITH RON...

By Ronald Waters

BET YOU THOUGHT I wasn't goin' to say anything about the high school annuals. Well they arrived, everyone had a good time signing them, and the results were apparently satisfactory.

MRS. HELEN HAGAMAN, sponsor, members of the staff and students seemed delighted with the new annuals.

Only draw back—was the shortage of five copies which we hope will be worked out.

Well, we suppose you know by now that AL N. LARSON'S real name is Albin (but we won't tell you what the "N" stands for).

He was the subject of our last "Mystery Cut" and lots of Rangerites identified him, although a few seemed confused about his real name.

Al is an active civic leader, local manager of Texas Electric Service Co., an active Legionnaire, past president of the Lions Club, and a "live wire." More men like him are needed in Ranger.

Here is a cut that may prove a little more difficult.

Protection Is Must For Soil, Experts Declare

(Editor's Note: The following article was prepared by the Upper Leon Soil Conservation Work Unit).

Productive soil cannot exist for long without protection. Uncover soil and the wind and rain will blow or wash it away. Keep it covered and there is less soil loss and less loss of the moisture in it. Small grain straw left on the land is a natural soil mulch which can do much to keep the earth cool and save moisture.

Proper management of small grain residue is one of our most important conservation practices. The present summer season is a critical period in the management of stubble mulches. Benefit to the land from straw or other plant residue is in proportion to the amount of residue left on the surface in tillage operations. Any tillage method in preparing a seed bed for fall sowing that leaves the residue on or at least near the surface will give the best protection to the soil. Best jobs are usually done with chisel or sweep type implements. However good work is often done with disc implements provided the discs are run at the correct angle to not turn the soil excessively and cover too much residue.

An important factor in stubble management of course is in the management of grazing in order to leave sufficient residue for soil protection. In addition protection of stubble from fire can be awfully important.

Chief benefits from stubble mulches is in the role of the mulch serving as a cover to the land. Cover serves to reduce raindrop splash, increase water intake, reduce evaporation.

"Rip" Galloway Returns Thursday

R. V. "Rip" Galloway, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, returned to Ranger Thursday afternoon, following a vacation in Colorado.

Galloway was accompanied by his son and family, Dr. and Mrs. Jack Galloway and two daughters of Kingsville. He reported a catch of 11 trout—including a German Brown, Rainbows and native—The largest was 12-inches long.

The Galloways spent the first three days fishing at Creede, Colorado on the Rio Grande. Later they went to Gunnison, where they fished on the Taylor River. They finished out the trip at Aspen, on the Colorado River.

Two Men Shoot At Lights Here; Go to Jail

Charges were filed against a Ranger and Comanche man, both 22-years-old, for carrying a concealed weapon and shooting inside the city limits. Both were turned over to the Sheriff's office Thursday.

They were picked up Thursday morning, about 1:30 a.m., for shooting at street lights near Oak Street and Prairie Crossing with a .32 Smith and Weston pistol. A few lights were hit, officers said.

The young men were held in city jail until turned over to the county officers.

Social Security In County Shows Jump

Ninety-five thousand dollars in social security benefits were paid to some 2043 persons in Eastland County during the month of December, 1947, according to official figures just received by R. R. Tuley Jr., district manager for the Social Security Administration in Abilene.

This represents an increase of some 30-35 per cent over comparable figures for December, 1946, he added.

These payments went to retired men and women past retirement age (62 for women, 65 for men), to severely disabled persons past age 50, to wives and dependent husbands of retired persons, to children of retired or deceased parents (either under 18 or disabled since before age 18), to widows, dependent widowers, and dependent parents (if no spouse or child eligible for payment).

Tuley urged all persons past retirement age to contact a representative of the Abilene social security office as soon as possible, if they have had as much as two or three years of social security credits on their past and present earnings, to avoid possible loss of benefits through a misunderstanding of what is meant by "retirement." Too, upon the death of anyone holding a social security card, inquiry should be made regarding the possibility of survivor benefits due some members of the family. Delays in making inquiries can result in the loss of some

Rogues Win; Down Albany Friday Night

Rogues overcame a 5-4 score at the top of the sixth inning to down Albany 9-6, there Friday night.

They will travel to Baird Sunday to play a double-header of seven inning games, beginning at about 1:30 p.m.

Three home runs were hit in Friday night's game. Gerald Ables of Eastland was the outstanding hitter, making two home runs, and Haymen Thomas of Olden made the other.

Randall Hoover of Ranger pitched until the sixth inning, at which time he was relieved by David Wharton (Ranger).

Ronald Carroll of Ranger made a single in the sixth (when the score stood at 5-4.) Rayburn Hogan (Ranger) sacrificed Carroll to second base and Thomas made a home run to come out on top by a score of 9-6.

From there on out, through the seventh inning, it was the Rogues game. They have lost only one game this season.

A Glance Backwards ...

... Progress is Made As Time Moves On ...

By Ronald Waters

This time a year ago, things were moving along in Ranger at about the same rate of speed as they are now—if not a little faster (because news is pretty scarce here)—a check in our files shows.

On Aug. 8, a meeting of the Trade Extension Committee of the Chamber of Commerce was held to plan the fall selling campaign for Ranger. A few nights before, directors voted to ask Ranger merchants to decorate downtown windows on Main St. for the season.

Both of these meetings were successful, and both seemed good ideas. "Rip" Galloway plans similar projects for Ranger this September. He said that the fall selling campaign, last year, was a big success.

In about three short weeks, students will be going back to Ranger Public Schools (Sept. 1) following a last "spree of freedom" over the Labor Day holidays.

They will find schools newly painted and re-decorated for a

County Highway Projects Progress

Construction on highway projects in the county are progressing, according to various reports. Work on the Caddo Road, FM 717, north of Ranger, is progressing as workmen are straightening the route, widening the highway, and making general improvements. Construction on the road has been in progress for some time.

Work on the Dealeman-Gorman highway is well under way, and a bridge about two miles from Gorman has been replaced with a larger span.

Changes are also being made on bridges over the Leon River, and dirt has been filled in where the dip was located. A new channel has been dug for the river, so that water can drain faster.

Progress is also being made on the Duster - Gorman Farm-to-Market Road, with a base being laid at the rate of about one-half mile per day. The base has been completed from Duster to the Sabanna River bridge, and it is now being laid from Gorman to the river bridge.

Work on the Sabanna River Bridge is about three-fourths completed.

Contract for construction of 3.7 miles of Interstate 20, beginning about seven and one-half miles east of Ranger and extending to the Erath County line, will be let in Austin on Aug. 19.

Rising Star city officials met with members of the State Highway Dept. Monday to confer on the problem of keeping State Highway 36 running through the business district.

Benefit Ball Game Set To Raise Funds For Jimmy Arrendale Drive

When those Saints go marching in—funds will be raised for the Jimmy Arrendale Hospital Fund Drive, now in progress.

Going into their third practice session Monday in Little League Park at 6:30 p.m., the "Saints" will make a line-up for their benefit game with the "Sinners" Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Park.

"Sinners" will include members of the Rogues, from Eastland, Olden and Ranger. "Saints" will include members of Ranger Ministerial Alliance plus volunteers.

At last report, it appeared that volunteers would consist mostly of members of the "Ranger Dads" team that played the Fort Worth Amputees, earlier, in a Little League benefit game at Ranger. They will also be aided by members of the Ranger Teen-Age League and by soft-ball players in Eastland and Olden.

Leonard Pounds and Rev. Lively Brown of Ranger, who have taken over the "reins" for the "Saints," urge local and area citizens to turn out for the practice session Monday. It will be difficult for their team to have too many substitutes, they said.

Jimmy Arrendale is a 19-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arrendale of Ranger, who injured his back when a car top

Mrs. Marcus Matthews will man the concession stand Tuesday night in Little League Park. Bar-be-que and tuna fish sandwiches, made by wives of the players, will be sold along with cold drinks and candy.

Quilts, mattresses and old clothing needed by Child Welfare Club, in current drive.

Used Clothing Needed By Group

A drive for used clothing in clean and usable condition, is being launched by the Child Welfare Club in preparation for fall distribution.

Needed by the organization are clothes of all types and sizes, quilts, blankets and mattresses. These will be distributed, here, to needy families in the area.

Donations will be picked up, by calling Mrs. James Ratliff, president, at 838, or Mrs. Leroy Pearson, Sr., at 522.

Earlier, most of the accumulated clothing was distributed. And an appeal has been issued by Mrs. Pearson for a new stock of clothing.

County Girls To Compete for Queen in Contest

Nominees from throughout Eastland County will vie for the title of "1958 Eastland County Farm Bureau Queen" at the annual beauty contest to be held in conjunction with a barbecue in Eastland City Park on Monday, Aug. 25.

Any single daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member in the county, between the ages of 16 and 22 years old, is eligible to participate.

Winners of the county title will compete with the 12 other winners for the District 7 title, to be bestowed the first week in September. All district winners will compete in the state elimination contest at Corpus Christi.

The state queen will be crowned at the state convention, in Corpus Christi, beginning Nov. 9. Charlotte Hilley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Hilley of Gorman, was county queen last year.

Scope of Featherlite Outlined for Lions

"As we grow, I hope Ranger grows with us," said Carl Black, superintendent of Featherlite Corp. of Ranger in outlining the scope of the mother company and its subsidiary, American Aggregate Corp., before the Lions Club Thursday noon.

Black pointed out that the local plant is the largest of its kind in the world, with a promising future. In July of this year, a total of 299 car loads were made, in comparison with 226 in July of last year, he said. A total of 311 cars were loaded in April of this year, as compared with 252 last year.

Featherlite has furnished materials for the Republic National Bank Building, part of the Southland Center, the Adolphus Addition, and other buildings in Dallas, Black stated.

Eighty-five percent of the average monthly production is sufficient concrete masonry to build a 10-foot high wall for 21 and one-half miles, the speaker indicated. The other 15 percent of production is structural concrete (monolithic), Black said.

In another breakdown of production figures, Black indicated that 85 percent of the materials go into large construction work, about 12 percent of the block production into fences and similar items, and three percent into residential construction.

The average monthly production in Ranger is 22,000 yards per month, a considerable increase over the past, said Black.

With general offices in Austin, the corporation maintains plants at San Antonio (with five kilns), Lubbock, (a glazing and block plant), Chicago, Abilene (block and concrete pipe), Midland (block plant), Irving (block plant) and Waco (block and pipe plant).

Six County 4-H Club Camp to Open Wednesday

Eastland County will play host to some 150 4-H Club Boys plus adult leaders, extension agents and assistants at the annual six-county 4-H Club camp which begins Wednesday at Lake Cisco Park.

Club boys from Eastland, Calahan, Shackelford, Jones, Palo Pinto and Stephens counties will be on hand for the big two-day event, which has been held at Lake Cisco for the past 10 years.

Activities will include baseball, swimming, horseshoe pitching, washers, track events and other sports.

Meals will be served at the camp site in Lake Cisco park. A cooking area will be set up with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McBee in charge. The McBees have handled the cooking at the camp for several years, according to Curtis L. Boone, assistant Eastland County agriculture agent.

Bedrolls are to be brought by each camper. The boys will sleep in the park area.

Boone said all area 4-H boys and their fathers are urged to attend the affair.

YOU AUTO BUILD NOW—For the do-it-yourselfer who wants a car that won't be like all the other cars on the road, a British firm has the answer. The Nobel 200 is a kit-car which comes in two versions. One is the truck-convertible (top) and the other is a sedan (bottom). It will have either three or four wheels, depending on builder's preference. The sedan is said to have a top speed of about 50 m.p.h., and gets 80 miles to the gallon.

Pageant Set At Cisco, Aug. 29

A pageant commemorating the 100th anniversary of Eastland County will be presented Aug. 29-30 at Lake Cisco swimming pool, sponsored by the American Legion Post of Cisco, operators of the pool and pavilion.

Fortified in the pageant will be periods of the county's history and other scenes. Ted Waters of Cisco is director of the event.

A committee is at work preparing the script and making plans for the program, which will include various types of entertainment.

Details will be announced later.

Christian Science

The true nature of God as infinite Spirit will be set forth at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Spirit" is the Golden Text from Zechariah: "Not by might, nor by power, but by my spirit, saith the Lord of hosts" (4:6).

Selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (200:4): "Moses advanced a nation to the worship of God in Spirit instead of matter, and illustrated the grand human capacities of being bestowed by immortal Mind."

The vital importance of understanding God is also emphasized in Bible passages to be read, including this one (John 4:24): "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth."

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health
HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

Like other living things, bacteria need food, warmth, and moisture to grow in numbers. That's why, in the summer months, certain kinds of bacteria so often team up with heat and lack of refrigeration to spoil food.

That's why food poisoning is much more common in warm weather—and why you need to be especially careful now about preparing food and storing it.

With proper safeguards of cleanliness and cooling, food poisoning can be avoided. Here are a few suggestions to help you make sure that the food you eat this summer will be safe to eat.

It is well known which foods are most susceptible to bacterial growth, as these are especially dangerous unless they are properly prepared, handled and stored. Egg and milk mixtures, including custards and mayonnaise type also dressings, ham, turkey and chicken, either in salads or sandwiches, and potato salad—one of the popular picnic foods—are often suspected when food infections occur in summer.

Ham sandwiches used to be considered safe because of the slow salt curing methods employed in the past. But today, most hams are tenderized and are subject to spoilage without proper refrigeration.

Making ham sandwiches and wrapping them in wax paper, then allowing them to stand at room or outdoor summer temperatures for a few hours, has caused many cases of food poisoning. Ham sandwiches are delicious, but they should be refrigerated until time to eat them.

Potato salad can be another trickster, unless all ingredients are thoroughly chilled before mixing, and the salad stored in shallow containers in the refrigerator. Deep bowls filled with the mixture retain the room temperatures in the center portions. This salad usually contains eggs and milk and mayonnaise mixture that encourage bacterial growth.

So, never take perishable foods on a picnic unless you have a way to keep them ice cold until served.

When eating out—be particular about the cleanliness of the eating place, and select foods that are not risky in summer. Remember a food can taste and smell good, even though it is loaded with bacteria. And always wash the hands before handling and preparing foods.

Protection

Legally Speaking

You can tell a lot about people by the way they regard time. Do they put stock mostly in the past—their record; the present—their direct joy in work of play; or the future—their plans. Why not use all three dimensions of time? Past experience to guide, the present for zest, and the future to realize dreams.

Lawyers report a sharp shift in the way people regard time and the law: Of old they thought of law in terms of past fact like failures to meet legal duties, misdeeds, etc.—fact useful chiefly in lawsuits.

You still have to think of the record, since you may have to go trial some time. So keep good records of your affairs.

But more and more people now also think of the law in the future tense—in terms of built-in safeguards for plans which they want to go through without legal hitches.

Our heavy income and death taxes have made people plan ahead legally, rather than wait for the axe to fall.

Any time you buy or sell a home or a business or make an investment you have choices of how you may do it—some wise, some not, in view of your circumstances. Should you insist on an abstract or accept or offer instead a title insurance policy, (Your lawyer has a definite part to play in either event.)

Should you do business as a sole proprietor, a partnership, or corporation? Do your contracts set out ways of meeting unexpected events? How best may you serve your estate (and also carry out your wishes)—by a will or a trust, or by direct gifts.

While all of these things point forward, the past in the form of court records can serve you by showing where trouble may come from.

As more and more people know the symptoms of legal trouble—where to look for legal hitches in plans before big trouble starts, there will be fewer law suits and better human relations.

And where does trouble sometimes start? Most often where you lack a clear grasp of your relationship, your rights and duties, and your own and the other fellow's resources—in transactions involving large personal or financial stakes.

Progress

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority is planning a local style show, here on Thursday, Aug. 28, with many local merchants participating. This should be good for local business and local people. Perhaps it will become an annual event.

In somewhat of a coincidence, the late editor—Norman Wright—was editing the Eastland Telegram while Virgil Moore was on vacation. Now—Virgil is not on vacation exactly, but rather attending a press meeting at Alpine to receive an award for column writing. (This writer has his eye on the same award—next year.) The first in a series of articles on the history of Eastland County began with its first appearance in the Aug. 11th Times. In a similar vein—look for a forthcoming series on the history of Ranger's Public Schools.

Also of interest is the fact that the annex to Teen Town had been moved into place. Later—it became known as the Norman Wright Annex.

The next issue of the Times (Aug. 13) shows that 25 bushels of peanuts per acre were expected. And we fully expect a similar report soon.

History repeats itself, but progress is made.
