Band Carnival Is Set Today at Rec. Building

School officials and local people are likely to get wet Saturday night, during the Ranger Band Carnival activities, as they will be in a precarious position — sitting on the ducking board.

Activities, starting at 6 p.m., will be highlighted with an auction and program in the Recreation Building. The progressive auction, to be conducted by Al Larson, will start at 8 p.m., and the program of music will follow.

In a progressive auction, each bidder is required to pay the amount of his bid and the merchandise goes to the highest bidder.

The Band concert, directed by Dan Whitaker, will feature several numbers, including "76 Trombones" from "The Music Man" — currently playing in Dallas at the State Fair. "Colonel Bogey," the theme music from "Bridge on the River Kwai" will also be performed. A March, "Little Champ," "Witch Doctor" and "Shine" are also part of the band's program.

Whitaker said entertainment would be available for the entire family. He said "Come and bring the whole family. There'll be entertainment for people of all ages."

A processional march will be played for the coronation of the King and Queen. The "royal couple" were selected by popular vote of the band members this week. Whitaker will present flowers to the pair.

The Teddy Bears are also slated to appear on the program. Performing several numbers will be Teddy Neely, Joe Barker, Maxine Vandergriff, Mike Sanders, Freddie Grant and Billy Patton.

The Country Store, in charge of

Kenny Wells, SC president

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Squiers, Jr., will feature hand-made items, home-canned foods, and jams and jellies.

A concession stand, manned by Mr. and Mrs. M. Owens, will be available for drinks and candy.

Mrs. Dempsey will sell snow cones and Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Sutton will sell cakes, pies and sandwiches at separate stands.

Games will be featured at several booths. Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Craig will be in charge of the "Break-a-Record" Booth. Mrs. C. J. Offield and Mrs. W. P. Hatfield will be in charge of the Fish Pond. The dart board will be managed by Mrs. Fred Lamb, and the bottle-throw booth will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Chennet.

In charge of the ducking board will be Norman Huffman and Paul Fonsville. Mr. and Mrs. Finis Wheat are head of the souvenir stand, featuring balloons and toys.

General chairman is T. C. Weaver and assistant general chairman is J. D. Barker. Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Capps are co-chairmen of the program.

Students and children will be admitted free to the carnival and admission for adults is 25-cents.

Tempting Tortoni Treat

Tortoni, popular dessert of Italian origin, becomes a new dessert thrill when made with the sweet crumb of cake quality doughnuts. It's a dessert to choose for guest occasions as well as for family treats because of its handsomeness, good taste and ease of making.

Doughnut Tortoni is made by adding doughnut crumbs to softened vanilla ice cream. Use the packaged powdered sugar doughnuts from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. The only other ingredients you need are vanilla ice cream, maraschino cherries, and paper souffle cups or paper cup cake liners.

Doughnut Tortoni

1 quart vanilla ice cream ½ cup chopped maraschino cherries 4 cake quality doughnuts whole cherries for garnish

One-Third Of Dairy Cows Don't Return Profit

estimated that one-third of the 728 thousand dairy cows on Texas farms don't produce enough milk or butterfat to return a profit on the feed and labor they require.

A herd of uniformly good cows must be developed gradually — by effective culling, proper feeding and careful selection of breeding stock, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy husbandman, in order to practice these herd improvement methods intelligently. Dairymen must have records of the production and feed consumption of every cow in the herd. Guesses and estimates may serve the purpose for a while, but worthwhile improvement is seldom obtained without actual production records.

Meekma recommends using any of the three record-keeping plans sponsored by the National Cooperative Dairy Herd Improvement Programs. The three are the standard DHIA, the owner-sampler and the weigh-a-day-a-month.

Under the standard DHIA plan the local supervisor visits the members' dairy once each month to weigh and sample milk from each cow and to collect other information from which he calculates production and feed records for the herd as well as for each cow.

The owner-sampler is similar to the standard DHIA except there is no outside supervision, explains Meekma. Milk weights, samples and other necessary information is collected by the dairyman and is turned over to the local DHIA supervisor who conducts the butterfat tests and prepares the books. It is not recognized to any degree beyond the dairyman's operation.

Under the last plan, the dairyman collects all necessary information and records it on forms provided by the county agent. These forms are then mailed to some individual who completes the recording chore.

Just keeping records is of little value, reminds Meekma. They must be analyzed and used as a guide for herd improvement.
