FADING OUT of the scene is football, although it should be in the news for another week before we start reading about the bowl games.

Disregarding classes (4-A, 3-A and 2-A) and just for fun, Roaming Ron came up with the top ten high school football teams in the state.

1. Breckenridge (which beat Wichita Falls and is headed for State Championship). 2. Wichita Falls (which surprised many by downing Abilene and Highland Park).

Other impressive teams, that received consideration, included Berger, Temple, Brady, Perryton and Cisco — which took early defeats but still proved their power.

More Fatalities Occur Each Christmas Eve

CHICAGO — More fatal traffic accidents, including more pedestrian deaths, happen each Christmas Eve than at any other comparable time of the year.

Abundant Quail Crop This Year

AUSTIN — Quail kills throughout Texas on opening day seem to bear out the forecast of the heaviest quail crop in the state for many years, according to the director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

There has been so much cover, however, shooting and finding the birds in many areas has been difficult. Some places the cover is so heavy it is almost impossible for even the dogs to work good. The slight freeze during the Thanksgiving weekend improved conditions some. The hard freezes of the last few days has reduced this weedy cover and has made hunting much better.

This is the story of a man's life and the growth of his soul as revealed in his prayers — to which the reader is allowed to listen in at intervals of five years.

At five years of age: "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep, I pray the Lord my soul to keep, If I should die before I wake, I pray the Lord my soul to keep, Amen."

At ten years of age: He repeats the Lord's prayer, "Amen," and "Please, God, help me to lick Jim Martin, and don't let Eloise like him better than she does me, and don't forget to send me a car for Christmas."

MYSTERY FARM—Here is the 35th Eastland County mystery farm. The names of all persons correctly identifying the farm will be placed in a hat and one name will be drawn out. Two free passes to the Majestic Theatre will go to that lucky person. The owner of the farm will receive a free enlargement of the aerial photo if he calls for it at the newspaper office. Last week's mystery farm was the Edward Greer place. Mrs. Tommy Huling correctly identified the last farm.

Research Is Underway On 'Calling Fish'

AUSTIN — Constant research by fisheries biologists is leading the way to new control methods and improved fishing, according to the Director of Inland Fisheries. Recently a statewide program of research projects was initiated in each of nine regional laboratories of the Game and Fish Commission of the division.
Each project is different so overlapping of work has been eliminated, the director explained. This program will help determine principles to adopt in the future concerning management practices.
Of interest to fishermen as well as the biologists is the "fish calling" project being carried on at Austin. Different species will be placed in a large "live box" where a hydrophone will pick up sounds made by the fish. The noises will be tape-recorded then played back to the fish to study their response.
Selective kills in flowing streams may become practicable with the tests being run at San Marcos. Chemicals are metered out for a certain portion of the stream. As a point downstream neutralizers are introduced, therefore limiting the treatment to that part of the stream between the two points.
Biologists at Mathis are making pellets that will float on the water surface. If no fish takes them, reaction with the water will dissolve the pellets after about 30 minutes.
Control of alligator weed on the Gulf Coast has been undertaken at Houston. This weed has defied all herbicides to date.
Excellent results have been obtained in lab tests at Marshall for selective control of suckers and bullheads in the acid waters of East Texas.
Denison biologists have noticed a low survival rate of channel catfish in acid waters. They are studying harmful levels of acidity affecting this species.
Testing and developing new types of fish traps and nets is one project at Fort Worth. One phase is an effective net for removing gar in quantities.
Tests are being run at Wichita Falls on the lethal dosages of all toxicants on different fishes as well as trying out new control chemicals. This includes the effects of insecticides such as heptachlor on fish.
Biologists at San Angelo are trying to run currents of water in a lake at different temperatures and using different odors to attract fish into the current.
Besides these and other special projects, these regional laboratories conduct inventories and surveys to note trends which will determine management needs. The main jobs still are the development of better vegetation and fish population controls.

Timber Shortage Is Possible

COLLEGE STATION — Even if all forest land in the United States capable of growing commercial crops of trees is put fully to work, this country may have difficulty meeting its future timber needs.
Increases in population point to future urbanization of land, further development of our national highway system, more needs for reservoir sites, and additional use of forest land for recreational and water yield purposes.
The answer to the question of whether such land pressures might prevent us from meeting our future timber needs lies largely in the hands of farmers and other small forest tract owners. Three-fourths of our commercial forest land — land capable of growing trees as a crop — is privately owned. This land is distributed among 4.5 million owners, of which 3.4 million are farmers. Virtually all farm tracts are less than 500 acres, with a large percentage consisting of less than 100 acres.
Commercial forest area in Texas is 11.6 million acres. Of this, 93 percent, or 10.8 million acres, is privately owned.
The current productivity of much forest land in the U. S. is low in relation to physical capacity of the soil and climate. For one thing, production depends upon keeping the land growing as many trees as it can. An extensive survey by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service in 1952 indicated that one-fourth of our commercial forest area is poorly stocked. Over 40 million acres have less than 18 percent of the trees they are capable of maintaining.
On the brighter side, trends in tree planting have improved and the Forest Service reports that over a billion trees were planted on about a million acres of forest

Two Grass Fires Occur Monday

Two grass fires kept volunteer firemen busy Monday. One of the fires was caused from burning trash in an open barrel and the other from burning a lot.
The first fire, on Blackwell Road, occurred at 1:15 p.m. when a burning trash barrel behind St. Rita's Catholic Church caught the grass on fire. Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze.
The second fire occurred at 2:04 p.m. Monday on Highway 80 east, caused from burning a lot. The blaze got out of control, but firemen kept it from spreading.

SOVEREIGNTY UP THERE
Down through the ages man has dreamed of traveling through space, but for once we now seem to have the machinery to do it, perhaps to the moon or to Mars soon.

Space flight creates new relations and conflicts, surely among earth people and maybe between us and denizens of other worlds. The satellites, for example raise problems, though right now fortunately sovereignty is not one of them.
But suppose some country claimed that our satellite held a T. V. camera which threatened its security. Can that nation claim violation of its sovereignty up there? Such questions of sovereignty might involve communications, flight control, traffic regulations, ownership, moon mineral rights and what have you.

How much is one nation entitled to high-altitude unimpeded flight over another? Or how much may one nation restrict the overhead passage of satellites, missiles, etc? New international agreements might set out low-altitude zones of national control, with unrestricted freedom beyond them.

But first just where does "space" (outside the earth's gravitation) begin? Nobody knows just where sovereignty over lower space should stop and unrestricted sue begin.

Do we need a space navigating code? space rescue code? rules of governing transport of passengers and goods?

We'll have brand new problems of neutrality, nationality, domicile, statelessness, internment, asylum, embargo, piracy, smuggling, customs, colonies, legal jurisdiction—all coming with the space age.

Physical science certainly does not present all the problems. Many people in fact claim we do not know enough about the nature of outer space to write laws defining the rights of nations to explore it. State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person

Orient-Inspired Holiday Dessert

FROM THE ORIENT COMES THIS WONDERFUL IDEA of topping fluffy vanilla tapioca pudding with the tantalizing, sweet-sharp taste of diced candied ginger. A treat at any time of year, we recommend it highly as the perfect finish to a hearty holiday meal.

CHRISTMAS PUDDING

- 1 egg white
  - 2 tablespoons sugar
  - 1 egg yolk
  - 2 cups milk
  - 3 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 2 tablespoons sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
  - 1/2 cup whipping cream
  - Diced preserved ginger
  - Nuts, coarsely broken
- Beat the egg white until foamy. Add 2 tablespoons sugar and continue beating with egg beater until meringue stands in soft peaks. Set aside.
Mix egg yolk, milk, quick-cooking tapioca, salt, and 2 tablespoons sugar in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil (5 to 8 minutes). Pour a small amount of hot mixture gradually into meringue, blending well. Quickly stir in the remaining tapioca mixture. Add vanilla. Let stand 15 to 20 minutes; stir. Then whip cream and fold into tapioca cream. Chill. Serve in sherbet glasses. Sprinkle with diced preserved ginger and nuts. Garnish with additional whipped cream and a cherry, if desired. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Dublin Takes Third Victory

Dublin knocked the Ranger Bulldogs out of the DeLeon tournament, handing them a 47-26 loss and marking the third victory of the Lions over Ranger, Friday night.
For the second time in succession the Bulldogs outplayed the Lions in the third period, but were unable to gain enough points to overcome the deficit. Dublin led 12-4 in the first period, 30-8 at the half and 36-21 in the third.
High point man for the Bulldogs was Jerry Anderson, forward, with three field goals and one free throw for seven points. Tommy Warford, forward, and Walter Hutchins, center, both gained six points each. Earnest Stephen, guard, earned five points.
High-point man for the Lions gained 12 points.

More Fatalities—

pedestrians and enforcement officials take extra precaution.

During the 1956 Christmas-New Year holidays, each of four days, traffic claimed 706 lives at Christmas and 409 during New Year's.

Last year, when most persons had only a one-day holiday, the traffic toll was 224 for Christmas and 160 for New Year's.

Council surveys of last year's toll show that 72 per cent of the fatal accidents involved speed too fast for conditions.

Drinking drivers were involved in 55 per cent of the fatal and non-fatal accidents.

In an effort to combat holiday drinking and driving, the Council has asked its 8,000 business and industrial members to take a new look at their office parties. "Keep the cork in the bottle or eliminate the parties," the Council asks.

Social drinkers — not the obvious drunks — are the big menace on the highway and the Council warns that three hours are needed to eliminate the effect of two cocktails.
"If office parties are kept dry, workers and their families may escape the tragedy of a saddened Christmas Eve," the Council said.

YOU MAY SUFFER SERIOUS TV TROUBLES unless you know these facts

Because your TV picture tube is subject to wear and the aging effects of time, it will have to be replaced at some time during the life of your set. When this time comes, remember these important facts:
• A good picture tube requires the best high-grade materials and the best manufacturing skills. So don't buy a bargain-priced picture tube.
• Insist upon a reputable brand picture tube with a familiar trademark. A compromise in quality will give you little satisfaction.
• A 12-month warranty card is your protection. Insist upon and get your warranty card.

Customer satisfaction is the foundation of our success, and that's why we recommend and install RCA Silverama Super-Aluminized Picture Tubes.
